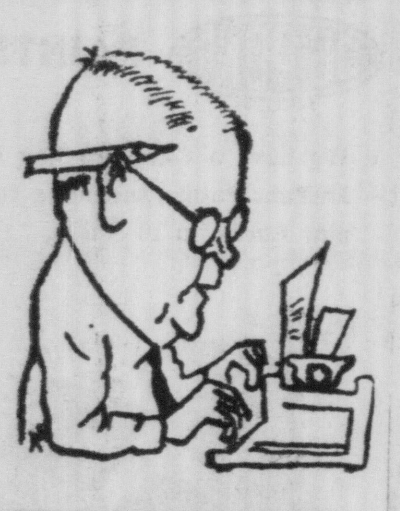
FLOOD THREAT IS URGENT PROBLEM

Editor's Column



STUART R. PADDOCK

That's not a seat belt you see on the driver's side of mail trucks, but it serves a similar purpose, allowing the driver to lean out of his seat when delivering mail. Let's call it a mail belt.

After taking a road test to renew our driver's license, we have become safety conscious and recognize that too many motorists are endangering lives on the highway. If those careless drivers were required to take periodic tests, there would be less slaughter on the highways.

Of course, we did not take the test incognito. Perhaps the representatives of the Secretary of State have been on good behavior since publication of a critical editorial last week, but we found all four officers to be very courteous.

On the long distance phone this week, a woman 2,000 miles away told us she had offered her services to help elect Richard Nixon. We mention it here to encourage the womenfolk of the northwest suburbs — Republican or Democratic — to take an active part in the Presidential campaign.

Both John F. Kennedy and Nixon cannot win. If your candidate loses, you will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that you did your best.

If you have a home garden, how about offering callers a sack of vegetables as well as a cup of coffee?

It happened to us the other day. Without a garden of our own, we thought it a wonderful idea.

A subscriber blames the present world condition upon late shows on television. He says:

"The public stays up so late, loses so much sleep and rest that they go to work half asleep. The average life span of men has supposedly gone up, but if those late shows continue, man will lose his energy and less of our population will reach the age of 65 years when Uncle Sam assumes responsibility for our care. Of course, Uncle Sam will save on pension payments."

If the above logic proves true, perhaps Congress will be able to reduce the income tax.

Some 34,000 Little League players between the ages of 8 and 13 attended the White Sox-Athletics baseball game August 13. As the flag was unfurled, the boys stood up, uncovered their heads, and silently stood at attention.

Their managers and coaches had reason to be proud of them.

A few minutes later, as the game progressed, bedlam broke out. But their recognition of our flag is proof of what Little League and our various youth organizations are doing today for the boys who will be men tomorrow.

Garbage Is Biggest Sanitation Problem

Carelessly scattered garbage is Arlington Heights' biggest sanitation problem, according to Mrs. Jane D. Terbell, village health officer.

"People try to pile too much garbage into a can, and end up by scattering it on the ground, or burning it, or not being able to get the lid on securely," she says, noting such acts violate a village ordinance.

In her second year on the job, Mrs. Terbell, armed with a flashlight (for looking into dark corners) and a thermometer (for checking refrigerator temperatures), is constantly on the lookout for sanitation violations. She has decided, aside from the scattered garbage and the rats it attracts, that Arlington Heights is a "very clean" village.

A REGISTERED nurse, Mrs. Terbell's bigest job is checking on the 55 businesses in the village that handle or serve food or beverage. This includes bars, dairies. food stores, and 25 eating places.

Her inspections range from a minimum of two a year to once a month for the places that need it.

While the village has no rating system, Mrs. Terbell has an extensive check-off sheet she employs for inspections. A copy of the report goes to the village hall.

If violations are found, the owner of the business is notified. He is informed that if the same violations are found on the next inspection, his business permit may be suspended.

Mrs. Terbell notes, however, that village businessmen are cooperative. She has never had to recommend revocation of a permit.

Other duties include inspecting rest homes, validating health certificates for people leaving the country, reporting communicable diseases to the county health department, and following up complaints having to do with sanitation.

A RESIDENT of the village for 10 years, Mrs. Terbell notes that the village, because of its growth, will eventually need a full time registered sanitarian.

Starting this fall she will begin inspecting beauty, barber, and machine shops. Next year she will add private swimming pools to the list.

While Arlington Heights rates high in overall cleanliness, Mrs. Terbell notes she occasionally uncovers conditions not associated with suburbs.

She recalls a case early in the summer when neighbors reported some children being neglected. A check of the home turned up a two-year-old and a three-year-old left by themselves. The home was a mess. Police were called into the case.

Mrs. Terbell welcomes complaints, but points out she won't investigate them unless the caller gives his name.

"I never give out the name of a complainant. Some people, however, call up, go into a long story, and then refuse to give their name."

Board Rejects Car Wash Plea

A proposed $150,000 service station-car wash for downtown Arlington Heights was unanimously rejected this week by village trustees.

Before upholding a plan commission recommendation to deny a Standard Oil co. petition to rezone the railway park at the southwest corner of Vail st. and Northwest hwy. to make way for the project, trustees debated whether they should formally notify Standard representatives that the matter was before the village board. The oil company was not represented at Monday night's meeting.

"Considering the gravity of this petition, I feel we should specifically notify Standard Oil we are considering the matter and delay action until the next meeting," suggested Trustee Eugene Schlickman.

"Since the oil company has indicated it will sue if the petition is rejected, I feel our denial should be on firm ground," he added.

THE MAJORITY of the trustees, however, left little doubt that they wanted to proceed, and Schlickman join them in turning down the petition that sought rezoning of the land from B-1 (limited retail) to B-3, which allows a service station. A variation would have to be secured for a car wash.

A spokesman for Standard Oil told the Herald last week that the company was prepared to go to the Illinois Supreme court if necessary to get the property rezoned.

Arlington Heights trustees are in the process of attempting to secure the site in question for parking through the sale of revenue bonds. Standard, however, claims it has a 20-year lease on the parcel.

Representatives of the company were present when the plan commission recommended denial of the petition.

Homes Hit Hardest Since '57

In the wake of last week's floods—worst in the village since the deluge of 1957 — Arlington Heights officials are pointing out the urgency of finding means for expanding the community's hopelessly inadequate storm sewer system.

With over 50 basements reported flooded by backed-up sewer lines which spewed two inches of mud and waste into the public library's lower level last week, officials agree the flood threat is worsening daily.

"Last Wednesday we had basements reported flooded in areas where there was never any trouble in the past," notes Bill Luehring, superintendent of public works.

HE CITES some homes on S. Belmont, Lincoln, and Pine as experiencing floods for the first time.

"At our present rate of growth it won't be long before no homes on the south side and few on the north side will be safe from backed-up sewer lines," says Luehring.

Village officials have been aware for some time that the village's antiquated combination sewer and storm system was inadequate. Trying to do something about it is another matter.

Residents rejected a $2 million bond issue in April, 1959 which would have allowed expansion of the sewer system.

THE SITUATION has been aggravated since then by continued growth accompanied by spreading asphalt plus the tying in of two Rolling Meadows sewer lines. Luehring notes everytime a street is widened or a parking lot expanded the situation grows worse.

At Monday night's village board meeting Harold Klingner, chairman of the board of local improvements, told trustees that his board intends to discuss the possibility of a village wide storm sewer system paid for by special assessments at a joint meeting scheduled for September 15.

Mayor Edward Carlisle noted there may be a possibility of getting help from the Metropolitan Sanitary district. The Sanitary district last year completed a "pilot" project in Mt. Prospect. Over a period of four years the district built up a relief sewer system in the village. The Sanitary district owns and maintains the system. Residents are billed $7.50 quarterly for service rendered by the $2 million project.

THE MAYOR also observed that Arlington Heights' drainage problem may be somewhat relieved by county construction of relief sewers in areas surrounding the village. He notes Arlington Heights receives much water from farm lands.

In his 1960-61 budget message Village Manager L. A. Hanson says an "all-out effort should be considered in 1960" to solve the village's flood problems.

Noting the failure of the bond referendum for sewer expansion last year, Hanson suggests a promotional expert should be retained by the village board.

"To insure success, no detail should be overlooked. Where the 50's failed, the 60's must succeed," he warned.

UNTIL SUCH date as official action is taken Luehring notes that if he were building a new home in the village, he would have cast iron overhead plumbing installed with a sump pump for the drains. He notes the drain tile around the house should be directed toward the sump pump to prevent seepage into the basement.

Luehring observed that several older homes have installed combination manual and automatic check valves to keep the sewers from backing up through toilets, tubs and drains.

200 Dogs to Compete In Obedience Trials

"Every dog has his day" and more than 200 pure-bred dogs will be competing for top honors to make it "their" day Sunday, Aug. 21, at Prospect high school when Northwest Obedience club stages its third annual obedience trial and tracking test.

The show, an AKC licensed trial, will feature all breeds of dogs from German Shepherds and Poodles, to the rarer species of Pulik and Rottweiler.

Five rings will be in operation simultaneously on the school property with tracking tests taking place on the Becher Hungerford estate in Barrington. Trials are divided into three classes: Novice A and B which includes walking at heel, standing on command, figure eights, long sits and downs and recalls; Open A and B which adds retrieving over high and broad jumps; and Utiiity, which includes scent discrimination and hand signals.

RECOGNIZED AS one of the largest and finest obedience shows held in the United States, 135 ribbons and trophies will be awarded to top scoring dogs in the various classes and among the various breeds.

Chairman of this year's show is David W. Terrill of Long Grove, who states that judging will begin at 9 a.m. and continue throughout the afternoon until all dogs have performed.

The show is open to the public with adults paying $1 and children 50 cents for admittance. Plenty of free parking space will be available and plate dinners as well as barbecues will be served in the school's cafeteria.

Park Planners Urge Artificial Ice Rink

Construction of an artificial ice skating rink in Recreation park and development of a natural ice rink at Douglas and Olive sts. has been recommended to the Arlington Heights park district by a park planning firm.

The detailed 22-page study, made by McFadzean, Everly and associates of Winnetka, was requested by the park board because of the increasing popularity of ice skating and the limited number of days the present rinks may be used.

Ice skating days in Arlington Heights last winter numbered 20. An artificial rink would more than triple this, allowing skating from November until March, notes the report.

ESTIMATED cost of the rink plus multi-purpose building, floodlights, loud speaker system for music, skates for rental purposes, and other accessories would total $200,000.

The only method of financing such a project is through a general obligation bond issue. The report notes that to pay off the interest and principal on a $200,000 bond issue, the park district would have to levy approximately $15,000 a year for 20 years. Assuming an assessed valuation of $82 million, cost to the tax payer would amount to 18 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation for 20 years, figures the report.

The study notes, however, the possibility of retiring the bonds through admission fees to the rink. Such fees would also be expected to cover the estimated operating cost of $20,000 annually.

If principal and interest on the bonds as well as operating costs were paid from receipts, the rink would have to be used by an average of 570 persons daily at an average of 50 cents per admission.

IN ADDITION to the many off season uses to which an artificial rink could be put, such as roller skating, and other games and sports, the report notes if the rink were located in Recreation park, the accompanying multi-purpose building could also be used for a bath house for the swimming pool. The basement of the fieldhouse is presently used for this purpose.

While the report cites Recreation park as the best location for an artificial rink, it notes there are three possible sites in Pioneer park for a rink.

The report recommends development of the village reservoir at Douglas and Olive sts. in north Arlington Heights, now used for ice skating, to attract larger numbers. A warming area, toilets, lights, concession, and music are recommended for the site.

The report is presently being studied by a park board committee.

Township Republicans Plan Spirited Drive

Wheeling township Republicans stepped up activity on three fronts this week.

—The regular organization opened new headquarters at 15 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, August 15. They had formerly met at the VFW post in Arlington Heights.

—An Arlington Heights resident announced the beginning of a Young Republican organization.

—Wheeling township Women's Republican club began a search for volunteer workers.

The regular organization has begun an "everyone register — everyone vote" campaign in conjunction with the opening of its new headquarters.

Workers plan to canvass Wheeling township to see if everyone is registered, particularly concentrating on new residents, according to a spokesman, Mrs. C. A. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

MRS. Hendrickson, president of the seventh district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, also said that the organization will invite Marguerite Stitt Church, United States representative from the 13th district, to the headquarters during September.

Thomas J. Houser, 416 Waterman, Arlington Heights, is looking for Wheeling township residents, 36 years old and under, who want to join a Young Republican's organization.

The organization is open to both men and women. Interested residents can contact Houser at CL 5-7780.

Wheeling township Women's Republican club needs ladies to assist in block canvassing, telephoning, typing, and other campaign jobs.

Interested women should contact Mrs. Eugene Coughlin at CL 3-8024.

MRS. COUGHLIN notes that a change in address, name, or failure to vote during the past four years makes it necessary for a citizen to register if he wants to vote in November.

Wheeling township residents can register at the Arlington Heights village hall anytime before the deadline, September 19.

The hall is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days. On Saturdays, September 10 and 17, the hall will be open from 9 a.m. to noon.

To be eligible to vote, a person must be 21 years of age or older, and must have lived in the state for one year; the county for 90 days, and the precinct for 30 days. (AF

INCREASED Republican activity in Wheeling township was marked this week by the opening of new headquarters for the regular organization at 15 N. State rd., Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Bronwell, 403 N. Douglas, owners of the building, show three Republican workers the way in. They are, from left to right, Mrs. Allan Mac Donald, 515 S. Belmont; Mrs. Leo Hunter, 940 N. Work Is Stopped On 'Row' Houses

A stop work order has been issued by Arlington Heights' building commissioner on four "row" houses under construction on Prindle ave. pending a full report to the village board.

Homeowners surrounding the controversial houses were on hand at Monday night's board meeting to protest to trustees that the six houses going up between Miner and Foundry violate a village ordinance prohibiting the construction of houses adjacent to or across the street from each other with the same exterior design.

VILLAGE Manager L. A. Hanson noted that the stop work order has been issued on houses number two, four, five, and six. Harmony Builders is putting up the homes.

After scanning pictures circulated by the protesting homeowners of the look-alike houses, village trustees agreed there appeared to be an obvious violation of the ordinance.

"I drove out and took a look at the houses, and I can't recall ever seeing six houses in the village that are more alike. We've denied permits in the past where houses were much less alike than these," said Trustee William Sauer.

TRUSTEE Bob Bukowski noted that the minutes of an April meeting made it clear the trustees wanted the ordinance, adopted in 1952, strictly enforced. In April, Best Built builders was denied permits after trustees agreed with the village's architectural committee that plans for proposed houses violated the ordinance.

"I can't understand why these permits were issued. I think we need a meeting of the minds between ourselves and the architectural committee," said Trustee Wendell Prunty. (AF

Township Republicans Plan Spirited Drive

Wheeling township Republicans stepped up activity on three fronts this week.

—The regular organization opened new headquarters at 15 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, August 15. They had formerly met at the VFW post in Arlington Heights.

—An Arlington Heights resident announced the beginning of a Young Republican organization.

—Wheeling township Women's Republican club began a search for volunteer workers.

The regular organization has begun an "everyone register — everyone vote" campaign in conjunction with the opening of its new headquarters.

Workers plan to canvass Wheeling township to see if everyone is registered, particularly concentrating on new residents, according to a spokesman, Mrs. C. A. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

MRS. Hendrickson, president of the seventh district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, also said that the organization will invite Marguerite Stitt Church, United States representative from the 13th district, to the headquarters during September.

Thomas J. Houser, 416 Waterman, Arlington Heights, is looking for Wheeling township residents, 36 years old and under, who want to join a Young Republican's organization.

The organization is open to both men and women. Interested residents can contact Houser at CL 5-7780.

Wheeling township Women's Republican club needs ladies to assist in block canvassing, telephoning, typing, and other campaign jobs.

Interested women should contact Mrs. Eugene Coughlin at CL 3-8024.

MRS. COUGHLIN notes that a change in address, name, or failure to vote during the past four years makes it necessary for a citizen to register if he wants to vote in November.

Wheeling township residents can register at the Arlington Heights village hall anytime before the deadline, September 19.

The hall is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days. On Saturdays, September 10 and 17, the hall will be open from 9 a.m. to noon.

To be eligible to vote, a person must be 21 years of age or older, and must have lived in the state for one year; the county for 90 days, and the precinct for 30 days. (AF

Work Is Stopped On 'Row' Houses

A stop work order has been issued by Arlington Heights' building commissioner on four "row" houses under construction on Prindle ave. pending a full report to the village board.

Homeowners surrounding the controversial houses were on hand at Monday night's board meeting to protest to trustees that the six houses going up between Miner and Foundry violate a village ordinance prohibiting the construction of houses adjacent to or across the street from each other with the same exterior design.

VILLAGE Manager L. A. Hanson noted that the stop work order has been issued on houses number two, four, five, and six. Harmony Builders is putting up the homes.

After scanning pictures circulated by the protesting homeowners of the look-alike houses, village trustees agreed there appeared to be an obvious violation of the ordinance.

"I drove out and took a look at the houses, and I can't recall ever seeing six houses in the village that are more alike. We've denied permits in the past where houses were much less alike than these," said Trustee William Sauer.

TRUSTEE Bob Bukowski noted that the minutes of an April meeting made it clear the trustees wanted the ordinance, adopted in 1952, strictly enforced. In April, Best Built builders was denied permits after trustees agreed with the village's architectural committee that plans for proposed houses violated the ordinance.

"I can't understand why these permits were issued. I think we need a meeting of the minds between ourselves and the architectural committee," said Trustee Wendell Prunty. (AF

Automobile Also Spurs New Suburbia

Increased Prosperity Helps Stimulate Suburban Growth

(This is the second in a series of articles concerning the growth of the northwest suburbs, their social-economic structure, their changing role in a metropolitan society, and their predicted future.)

by JACK MARTIN

While the advent of the automobile made the northwest suburbs possible, certainly Henry Ford's invention doesn't explain entirely why people in the 1940's and 1950's were willing to live 25 to 40 miles from their work.

Increased prosperity had its affect on the growth of such suburbs as Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Palatine. A person had to be able to afford to live "in the country"; he had to have the type of job which would allow him the extra time spent in commuting.

A changing pattern of American business, putting the emphasis on educated personnel who demanded higher salaries and better working hours, was, perhaps, as important as an invention which allowed suburban mobility. The movement was more than from Chicago to the suburbs. It was a national migration from rural to metropolitan areas.

So we find, in 1950, that the northwest suburbs, although lacking a Sutter's mill or a squatter's rights policy, were experiencing a land boom. The village fathers were concerned about Arlington Heights huge population, 8,768. Palatine and Mt. Prospect were both over the 4,000 resident figure for the first time.

WHILE IT IS difficult to realize that the villages were that small just 10 years ago, to persons living in the three suburbs in 1950 the census had been a revelation of growth.

Arlington Heights, chartered in 1887, reported a population of 1,943 in 1910. The figure rose to 2,250 in 1920, doubled to 4,907 in 1930, and soared to 5,668 by 1940.

Palatine's growth was much slower. The village had 1,144 residents in 1910, 1,210 in 1920, 2,118 in 1930, and 2,222 (only four more) in 1940. It is no wonder, then, why Palatine's 83 per cent increase in the 1940's was an awe-inspiring fact to the villagers.

MT. PROSPECT offers a more surprising history than its two neighbors. Few persons, other than natives of the area, realize that the village separating Des Plaines and Arlington Heights had only 349 residents in 1920. Indeed, Mt. Prospect wasn't even chartered until 1917. The village's population grew to 1,225 in 1930; 1,720 in 1940; and 4,009 in 1950, still the smallest of the three neighboring municipalities.

Villages under 2500 population, such as Wheeling and Prospect Heights, weren't listed in 1950, and keep in mind that Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Buffalo Grove, and Hoffman Estates were non-existent 10 years ago.

The whole northwest area from Park Ridge to Harvard, a stretch of 43 miles and some 16 villages of varying sizes, claimed only 88,100 residents in 1950.

The growth experienced in the 1940's had done more than change the population figures on the signs at the village limits. In 1940 the average rent paid in Arlington Heights was slightly less than $40 per month. The average person had only 8.1 school years, and the average income was around $3,000 per year.

Ten years later a sort of "Our Town" summary of suburban characteristics would have read like this:

ARLINGTON Heights, average age of residents, 33; median school years attended 12.1; 58 per cent white collar workers; 76 per cent owning homes, averaging $16,500 in value; and averaging $5,000 per year income.

Palatine was quite similar, although residents averaged 3 years younger, had .1 year more schooling, made $500 less per year, and had homes worth $5,000 less.

Mt. Prospect had a higher per cent of white collar workers, 66; had the highest average income, $6,300; highest average schooling, 12.4; and the highest valued new homes, $16,700. More Mt. Prospect residents owned their own homes, 87 per cent.

All three villages were listed as "upper middle income" suburbs, the "upper income" label being reserved for Lake Forest, Highland Park, Glencoe, Winnetka, Kenilworth, Wilmette, Evanston, Skoke, Lincolnwood, Elmhurst, Hinsdale, Northbrook, Northfield, and Glenview.

Arlington Heights and Palatine were termed "mixed residential" suburbs, but Mt. Prospect was listed as "dormitory," due to the high percentage of commuters in that village.

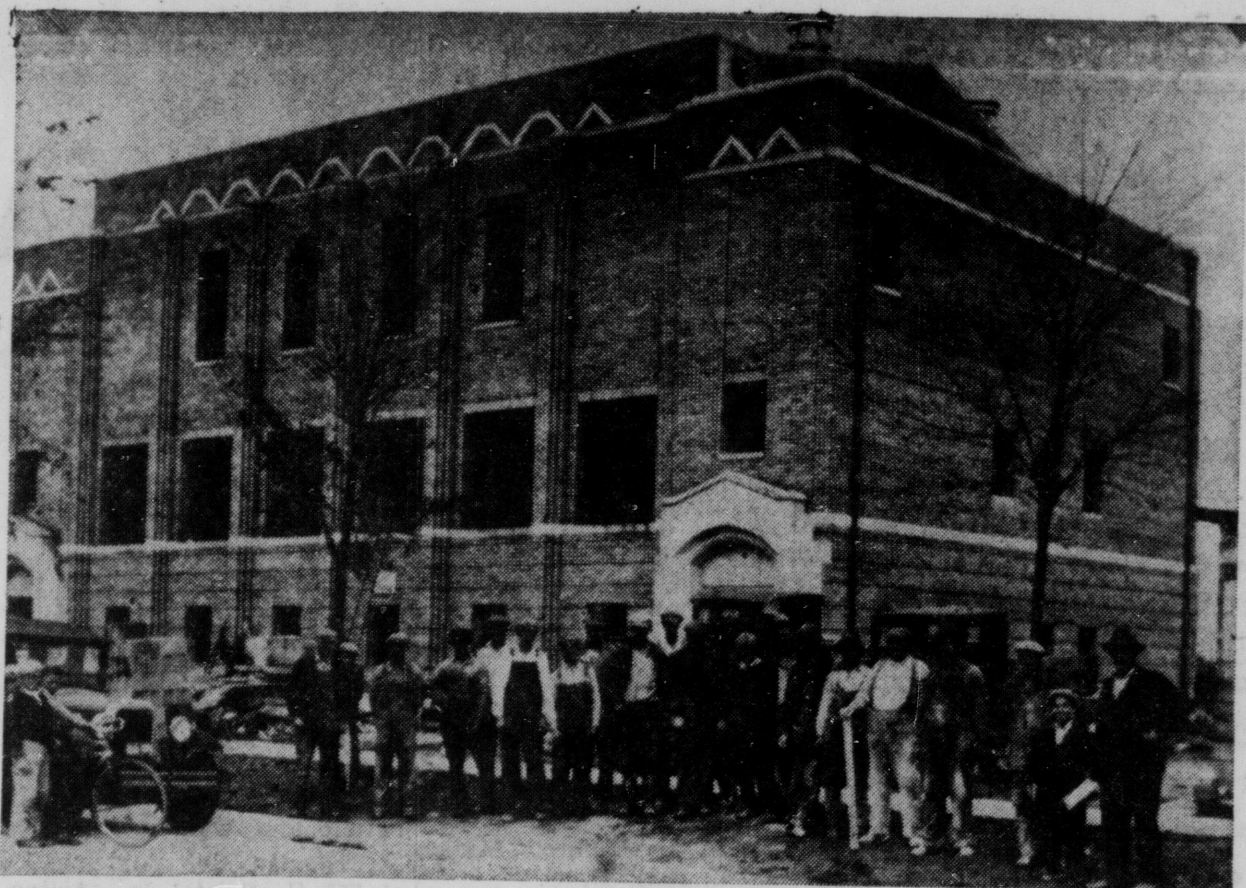
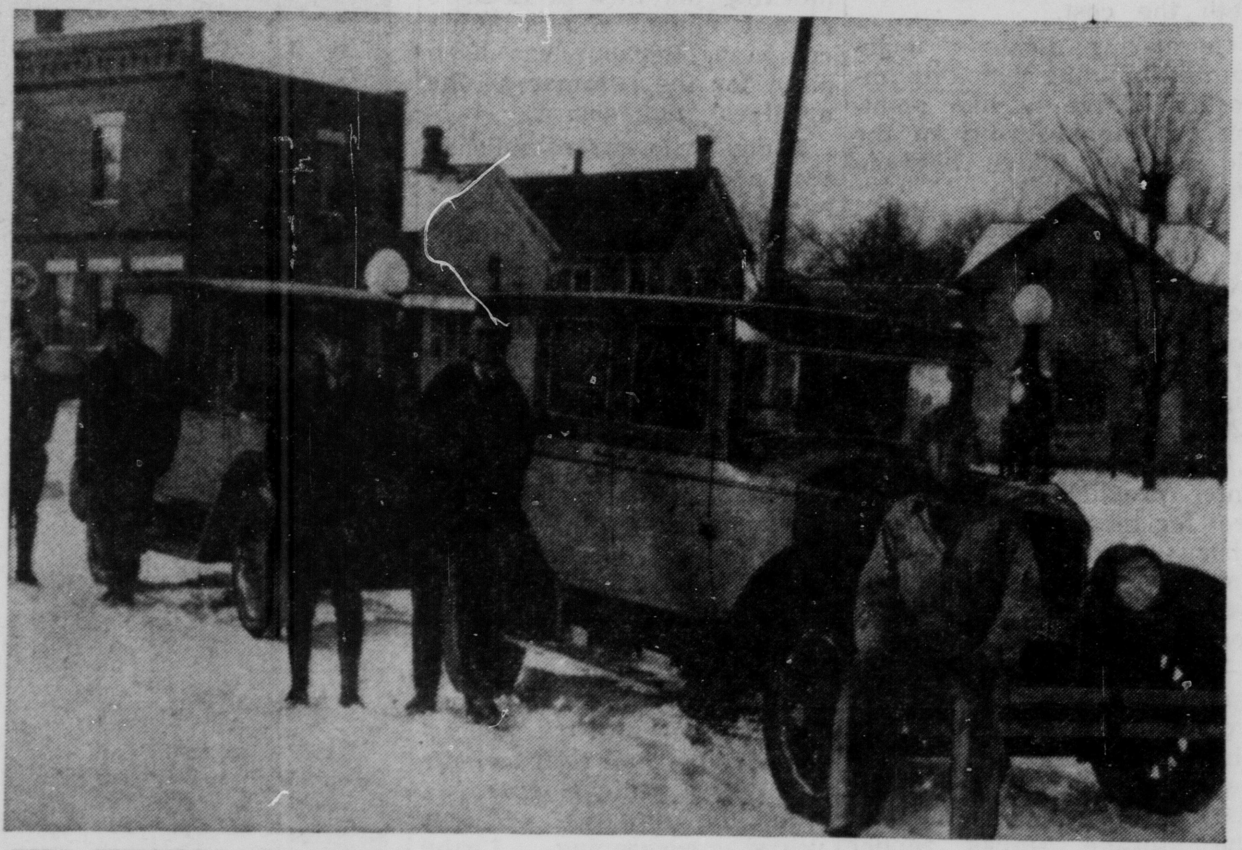
THIS WAS 1950, and persons who supposedly were "in the know" as far as village planning was concerned were predicting that Arlington Heights' population would reach 15,000 by 1960.

It did.

(Next week: a look at the suburbs today and the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission's forecast for the future.)



ST. PAUL Lutheran school met much of Mt. Prospect's needs for educational facilities before the swarm to the suburbs in the 1940's. The village had only around 1,000 residents when the school was built. The automobile in the lower left hand corner appears to be a Maxwell. (B8



THE SUBURBS' first taxi company was operating in Arlington Heights in the 1920's. The house at the right side of the photograph was the first built in the village. The picture was taken at the corner of State and Northwest hwy. (B8

Emergency Care Is Given at Hospital

Stitches — many many of them—were taken this week at Northwest Community hospital as patients with cuts came for emergency treatment.

Adults as well as children fell cutting themselves seriously enough to require hospital attention. Paul Amundsen, 6, of Itasca, fell from his bike and had a three-inch cut in his forehead sutured.

Raymond Wiltgen, 49, of Arlington Heights, had a two-inch laceration stitched. The cut in his right leg was caused by an object thrown from his lawn mower.

Eleven-year-old Richard Dahn of Rolling Meadows, needed eight stitches in his hand after he caught it in a screen door. Richard McMahon, 5, of Mt. Pospect, fell from his bicycle and got a four-inch laceration in his head.

Three-year-old Michael Fazzio, of Mt. Prospect, slipped in a bath tub and received a three-fourth inch cut on the right side of his head. Another youngster, Barbara Krause, 3, of Palatine fell on a candy dish and had to have two cuts sutured on her left arm.

Stitches were taken in the head of Dennis Gilbert, 7, of Roselle. He fell off a crane in Hoffman Estates Wednesday. The same day, August 10, Kathy Ganslow, 14 months of Rolling Madows, hit her head on a coffee table during a fall. She was admitted for observation and discharged Tursday.

A piece of steel chisel lodged in the left arm of Robert Coombs, 31, of Des Plaines. The emergency staff was able to remove the metal.

THOMAS Osborn, 7, of Mt. Prospect, fell on a flower bed edging made of tin and suffered a cut on his left arm that required six stitches. Sunday, John Borsa, 14, of Mt. Prospect, cut a finger on his right hand on a metal golf cart. The 1½-inch cut was sutured.

Two persons were brought to the emergency room—victims of dog bites. They are Burton Meyer, 27, of Elk Grove village, who suffered a bruise on his left leg, and Librado Torres, 4, also of Elk Grove, who suffered a four-inch bruise on his left hand.

Two girls were admitted to the hospital when their falls caused broken bones. Kathleen Cottingham, 7, of Palatine, fell off the slide at the Palatine Park pool, Friday, Aug. 12, and suffered a cut chin and fractured left wrist. Gail B. Heise, 15, of Barrington, was admitted Saturday, when she broke her collar bone in a fall from a horse.

Hospital's Director to Attend Meet

Alan B. Campbell, administrator of Northwest Community hospital, will attend two meetings in San Francisco this month.

He will represent the hospital, a member of the American Hospital association, at that group's 62nd annual meeting August 29 through September 1.

The other meeting, held concurrently, is the annual convocation of the American college of Hospital Administrators. About 1,500 members will be at the first meeting and between 2,000 and 3,000 at the second. Campbell this year became a nominee of the American College. He is eligible for full membership next year.

Today Is Hospital Employee Luncheon

There won't be any pesky picnic ants at the Resurrection hospital employee luncheon today, Thursday. As a new twist on outdoor eating, some 350 employees will flock to the hospital rooftop for the annual picnic fete given by the administration sisters.

Hotdogs and hamburgers accompanied by the usual picnic trimmings will be served on the sun deck of the institution at 7435 W. Talcott to personnel on duty between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., said Sister Gregory, C. R., administrator of the 260-bed hospital.

Eleven-year-old Richard Dahn of Rolling Meadows, needed eight stitches in his hand after he caught it in a screen door. Richard McMahon, 5, of Mt. Pospect, fell from his bicycle and got a four-inch laceration in his head.

Three-year-old Michael Fazzio, of Mt. Prospect, slipped in a bath tub and received a three-fourth inch cut on the right side of his head. Another youngster, Barbara Krause, 3, of Palatine fell on a candy dish and had to have two cuts sutured on her left arm.

Stitches were taken in the head of Dennis Gilbert, 7, of Roselle. He fell off a crane in Hoffman Estates Wednesday. The same day, August 10, Kathy Ganslow, 14 months of Rolling Madows, hit her head on a coffee table during a fall. She was admitted for observation and discharged Tuesday.

A piece of steel chisel lodged in the left arm of Robert Coombs, 31, of Des Plaines. The emergency staff was able to remove the metal.

THOMAS Osborn, 7, of Mt. Prospect, fell on a flower bed edging made of tin and suffered a cut on his left arm that required six stitches. Sunday, John Borsa, 14, of Mt. Prospect, cut a finger on his right hand on a metal golf cart. The 1½-inch cut was sutured.

Two persons were brought to the emergency room—victims of dog bites. They are Burton Meyer, 27, of Elk Grove village, who suffered a bruise on his left leg, and Librado Torres, 4, also of Elk Grove, who suffered a four-inch bruise on his left hand.

Two girls were admitted to the hospital when their falls caused broken bones. Kathleen Cottingham, 7, of Palatine, fell off the slide at the Palatine Park pool, Friday, Aug. 12, and suffered a cut chin and fractured left wrist. Gail B. Heise, 15, of Barrington, was admitted Saturday, when she broke her collar bone in a fall from a horse.

Hospital's Director to Attend Meet

Alan B. Campbell, administrator of Northwest Community hospital, will attend two meetings in San Francisco this month.

He will represent the hospital, a member of the American Hospital association, at that group's 62nd annual meeting August 29 through September 1.

The other meeting, held concurrently, is the annual convocation of the American college of Hospital Administrators. About 1,500 members will be at the first meeting and between 2,000 and 3,000 at the second. Campbell this year became a nominee of the American College. He is eligible for full membership next year.

Today Is Hospital Employee Luncheon

There won't be any pesky picnic ants at the Resurrection hospital employee luncheon today, Thursday. As a new twist on outdoor eating, some 350 employees will flock to the hospital rooftop for the annual picnic fete given by the administration sisters.

Hotdogs and hamburgers accompanied by the usual picnic trimmings will be served on the sun deck of the institution at 7435 W. Talcott to personnel on duty between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., said Sister Gregory, C. R., administrator of the 260-bed hospital.

Papers Pyramid into Profits

Virtue of Throwing Files Away Is Stressed by Expert

by DICK HOFFMANN

Americans' preoccupation with squirreling away papers has been paralayed into a pyramid of profits by a former government archivist who came to the realization one day that either the filing cabinets or the personnel would have to go.

Since that time, Emmett J. Leahy, 49, has been leading business and government bureaucrats away from their paper-saving instincts. He'll provide the cubbyholes for storage - to satisfy the hoarding urge - but continually preaches the virtues of throwing files away.

A case in point is the Leahy Archives of Chicago, located at 2255 Pratt blvd., Centex Industrial Park, Elk Grove Village.

Company officials confidently will tell you that the building, after a planned expansion, will house as many records as the National Archives of the United States in Washington, D. C.

AND THIS WILL be accomplished with one-tenth the floor space at one-twentieth the cost.

Comparing Leahy's unassuming building with this imposing edifice is like pointing out the absurdity of the old Biblical match between David and Goliath.

But Leahy leaves the frosting off the cake: instead of expensive steel filing cabinets, he relys on cardboard containers cradled on rows of open metal shelves reaching to the ceiling of his new $200,000 building.

The Elk Grove facility presently provides 80,000 cubic feet for records storage; provisions made for expansion, however, will bring it a total capacity of one million cubic feet.

The records are within telephone reach of the company executive who might want to check an account. Clerks equipped with headphones that can be plugged in at the storage stacks render prompt service. The files can also be dispatched by messenger or photocopies can be sent out on request.

But Leahy's forte is in the fact that he is comfortable with the contention that 40 per cent of all corporate records can be thrown away, and that only about four per cent of all records are worth keeping permanently (such as minutes of directors' meetings and notes of historical nature).

By convincing corporate management to periodically purge its files, Leahy can effect impressive savings. For instance, Leahy Archives figures it costs the average company between $225 and $250 each year to maintain a four-drawer file. In the business archive, the entire contents of the same file can be stored for about 24 years for $200.

FILES ARE "cremated" according to a retention schedule worked out between Leahy's clients and Harry J. Brown, regional director. When a client is first taken on, company records are indexed to show what exists where. The index affords a penetrating insight into duplication and waste.

Presently, Bob Barbour, 19, of 751 S. Bristol ln., Arlington Heights, a sophomore in business administration at Northwestern University, is indexing the files of Leahy's newest client, Harris Trust company. Barbour has been hired for the summer as the archives' manager.

Leahy, who has established two archives in New York, one in New Jersey and another in Miami, Fla., prior to extending his services to this area, was an associate archivist in Washington, D. C.'s National Archives when paper began multiplying in such volume that it was discovered the brand new multi-million dollar archives could hold only four per cent of existing records.

Leahy and his staff pruned the records down to fit the building. One result was the S.O.S. sent out by the late Frank Knox, then secretary of the Navy, who, swamped by rising tides of bureaucratic red tape, had heard of the archivist's achievements.

In the process of four years' revamping, Leahy earned a Navy citation and saved the sailors an estimated $21 million.

WHILE LEAHY was starting his own business in 1948, he was also pressed into service on two Hoover Commissions. Recommendations of his task force on Records Management led to a savings of $32 million; further, Leahy-designed centers were constructed to house all government records.

Underlining Leahy's claim that most records can be thrown away is the fact that for every 2,000 papers stored in his archives, only one is sought in a year.

What kind of information is requested once the records are filed away? "Oh, the railroad (Chicago & North Western) might call for some information for a court case," said Terry Barbour, 17, Bob's sister who is also working there for the summer.

"Or banks often call to get information on closed accounts," she added. A girl even called up once to ask for a popular singer's record; she thought the archives stored phonograph records, Terry related with a laugh.

CLIENTS ARE charged for search and refiling time plus the volume of records present in the archives. This cost is held down by the periodic destruction of old records, making room for a new crop.

Clients at the Elk Grove archives include law firms, banks, stock brokers, and manufacturers, while throughout the country among Leahy subscribers are also utilities, publishing houses, airlines and insurance firms now no longer plagued by the "pack rat" instinct.

Leahy employes are a little sensitive about the term "archives." It seems to suggest one of those musty monuments erected to trivia. They would rather compare the modern fireproof building in Elk Grove to the efficiency of a surgical room where files are no longer retired or buried; they're eliminated.

BOB NORDIN, 20, of 373 N. Quentin rd., Palatine, wrestles with cardboard container in which records are kept at Leahy Archives. Records are stacked on open network of steel shelves shown here, and archives - after planned expansion - will hold as many records as the National Archives in Washington, D.C. (B8

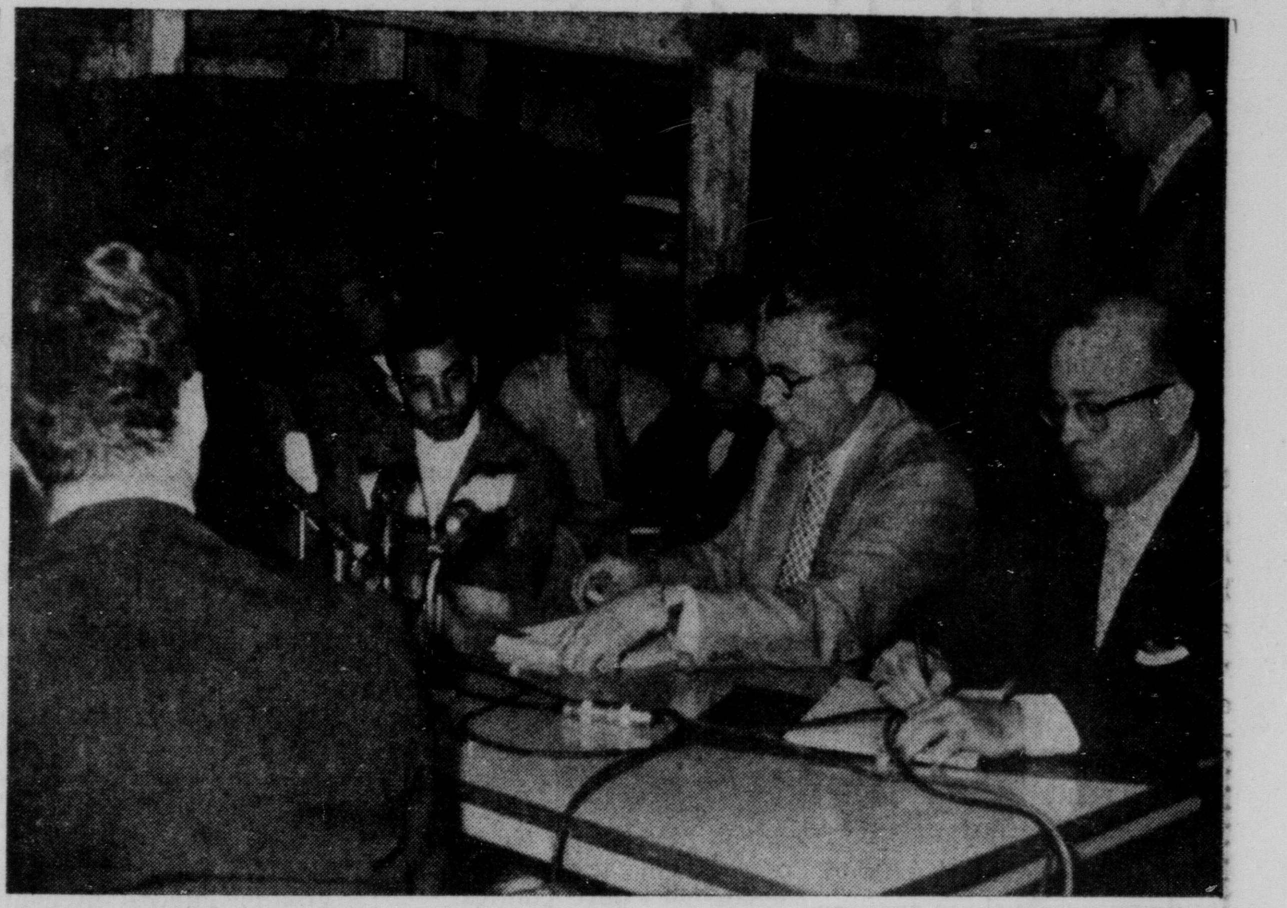
Tot's Death Spurs County Probe of Migrant Help

Farm Hovels Are Exposed

by STEVE FRANZMEIER



THIS SCENE in a low-ceilinged barn on a truck garden farm west of Roselle shows an inquest in progress. A coroner's jury was to determine the cause of the death of Ernesto Perez, 2, son of Bruno Perez, 33, fourth from right, behind the table. Others, from right, are William Bauer, DuPage county state's attorney; Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, county coroner, and Joseph Buenrostro, chief of the West Chicago police department, who interpreted for Perez. (B8

An inquest August 10 in a barn on a farm west of Roselle ostensibly was convened to determine the cause of death of Ernesto Perez, 2, son of a migrant laborer, father of seven other children.

But, the inquest became a far-ranging probe into the plight of the migrant laborer in DuPage county and exploitation of migrant laborers in America.

The boy died July 31. Later it was determined by Dr. Kenneth DuBois, University of Chicago pharmacology professor, that he most likely died of poisoning by an organic phosphate used to spray vegetable plants.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was read by Dr. O. T. Kirsch of Roselle, foreman. The initial paragraph pertaining to cause of death stated the jury's conclusion that the boy died accidentally of poisoning by an organic phosphate compound, "probably Parathion, though skin absorption or direct intake by the stomach."

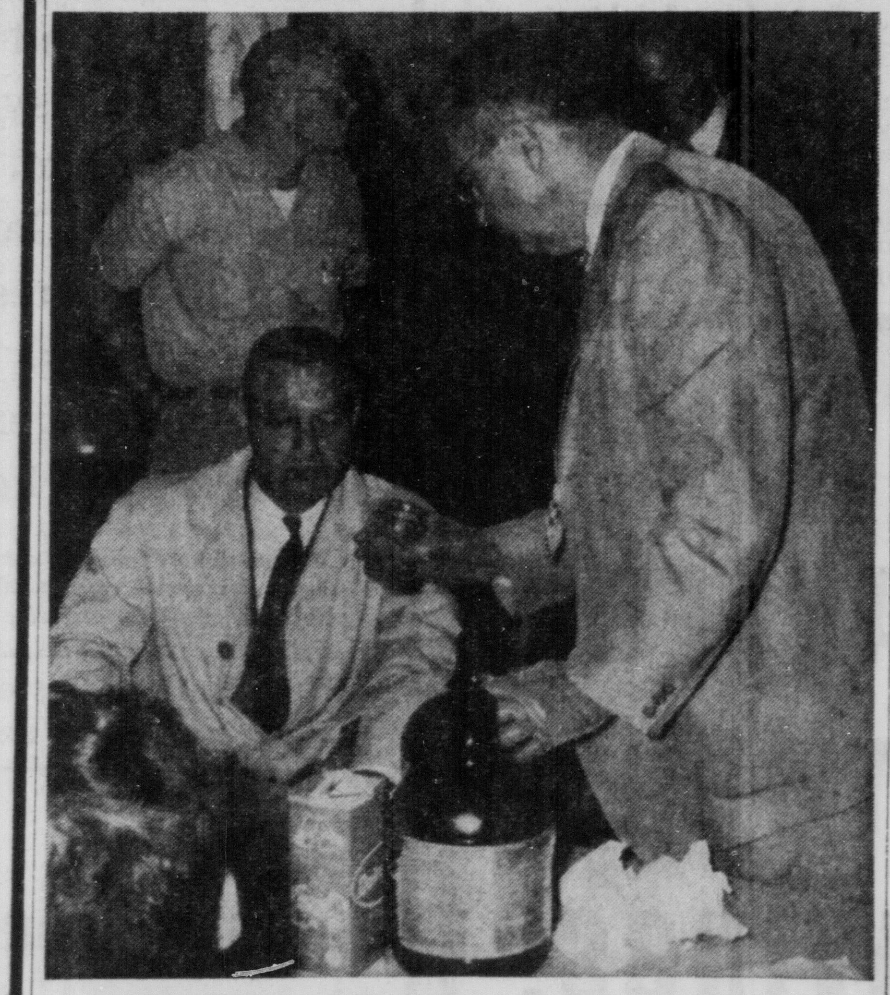
THE JURY'S report urged a grand jury investigation into the plight of the migrant worker in DuPage county on the basis of testimony which told of crowded, pest-ridden and unsanitary housing.



A TEST WAS conducted by Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, DuPage county coroner, standing, right, to determine if a subject could distinguish between Parathion, a highly poisonous insecticide which is believed to have caused the death of a boy, and milk. Ernest Volk of Elgin, seated, the subject was able to recognize the poison. Nevertheless, Dr. Lewis made the point that the poison and milk do indeed look alike and the boy could have died by swallowing the poison, thinking it was milk. (B8

It suggested cooperation in the investigation by state and local departments of labor, state and local public health departments, the Farm Bureau, state employment service, county school superintendent and representatives of Protestant and Catholic churches.

The jurors urged "that rules of manufacturers of insecticides be strictly followed. Canners and buyers of farm produce should also cooperate."

Building and zoning and health regulations do not now govern conditions on farms in DuPage county or Cook county.

John Kelly, chief sanitarian of the DuPage county health department, testified that until now migrant workers have moved into hovels on farms without occupancy permits or inspection of the quarters by the health department before occupancy. No records of when they arrive or when they leave are kept. They do not benefit from tuberculosis X-rays or immunization, he said.

The health department is preparing a suggested ordinance for presentation to the county board of supervisors which would close many of these loopholes in jurisdiction and services, said Kelly.

WILLIAM BAUER, state's attorney, said during the inquest that possibility of charges filed against Peter Panagiotaros, manager of the two farms on which the dead boy's parents and other Mexicans are employed, were to be discussed after the inquest with building and zoning and health officials.

Meanwhile, Mexicans on Panagiotaros' farms were remodeling their "homes" with material furnished by the farm operators. They were nailing plaster board to the bare wall beams, painting, installing windows, disinfecting and rewiring.

A reporter asked Panagiotaros how much all this was costing and he said: "I don't know yet. We just started."

Several hundred dollars would be a conservative estimate of the cost.

The health department presented Panagiotaros with a list of improvements which must be made if the migrant laborers are to be allowed to continue living in their quarters.

Wednesday was the deadline of eviction notices nailed on all the "homes." The health department was to review the progress made in refurbishing them and decide if they should be removed or not. Penalty for failing to observe the eviction notice is a fine of $200.

Officials must consider the impact of eviction upon the migrant workers. The question they ask themselves is 'Where would they live if they were evicted?' said Gary McCullough, supervising sanitarian in the county health department.

THE INQUEST convened in a barn where cows were milked once. Stanchions had been ripped out on one side, but were covered by a canvas on the other. Cobwebs and flaked whitewash hung from the ceiling, seven feet high.

The three men and three women of the coroner's jury sat on folding chairs with their feet practically in a gutter paralleling their chairs. Spectators sat on planks set on empty vegetable cases.

A dank, musty smell pervaded the atmosphere. Mexicans squatted against the walls. Television lights spotlighted the table from where Dr. Lewis conducted the inquest.

When testimony had been completed the six jurists retired to the haymow to reach their decision.

Bruno Perez, 33, father of the dead boy, displayed no emotion, even when Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, county coroner, probed the intimate detail's of his son's last minutes.

Dr. Lewis and Bauer asked Perez such questions as whether his children attend school when in Illinois (no); whether any deductions are made from his paycheck (no); whether his family attends church (no); how many hours he works a week (seven or eight hours a day, including Saturday and Sunday when necessary).

Whether he provides milk for his children (yes), and condition of his living quarters (worst of any he has lived in as a migrant laborer.

Perez and his family now have moved to Des Plaines.

THE CHECK THAT Perez receives weekly does not list any deductions, he said. Migrant workers are excluded from practically all state and federal social welfare laws, from protection of most workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, minimum wage laws and laws giving the right to organize.

Perez described his home when he lived on the Panagiotaros farm as a chicken coop with three small rooms. Here he lived with his wife and eight children. When he first moved in he was living with "one or two rats." The floor, walls and ceiling leaked.

When Panagiotaros was testifying he said that this was a fair description of the home.

Later he made the statement that he provided living quarters for all his workers.

Bauer retorted "By living quarters you mean a roof and four walls."

Dr. Lewis probed deeply with his questions into the danger of insecticides stored and mixed near the living quarters of migrant workers and sprayed in fields adjoining the farm yard.

Panagiotaros said that he keeps "in his head" knowledge of the amount of time which elapses between spraying of vegetables and picking them. He keeps no record of when he sprays, he said.

DR. LEWIS SAID, in answer to a reporter's question asking whether he sees any significance in unplanned spraying of vegetables: "I think it's terrific. It makes me wonder whether I want to eat (vegetables.)"

Answers by witnesses revealed that some of the insecticide was mixed in the barn, near the living quarters of the migrant workers. Dr. Lewis demonstrated with a glass of milk and a glass of the insecticide that milk and insecticide are very similar in color.

The assumption allowed was that the dead boy may also have drunk the insecticide. One drop of the concentrated solution can kill three 31-pound children, the weight of the dead boy, according to the toxicologist's report. The jury's verdict took into account the possibility that the boy may indeed have taken the insecticide internally or absorbed it through his skin.

A label on the bottle which contains the concentrated insecticide says, in part: "Warning. Poisonous if swallowed, inhaled or absorbed through skin! Rapidly absorbed through skin."

A MEMBER OF the jury, apparently an expert in such things, said that the United States department of agriculture approves insecticides only after four or five years of tests. This particular insecticide, Parathion, has been used for about seven or eight years, he said, and was approved by the department of agriculture.

Boy dead, squallor discovered, inquest conducted, remedy planned. This is the story of the latest incident of migrant worker exploitation, this one in DuPage county.

An inquest August 10 in a barn on a farm west of Roselle ostensibly was convened to determine the cause of death of Ernesto Perez, 2, son of a migrant laborer, father of seven other children.

But, the inquest became a far-ranging probe into the plight of the migrant laborer in DuPage county and exploitation of migrant la-

The boy died July 31. Later it was determined by borers in America.

Dr. Kenneth DuBois, University of Chicago pharmacology professor, that he most likely died of poisoning by an organic phosphate used to spray vegetable plants.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was read by Dr. O. T. Kirsch of Roselle, foreman. The initial paragraph pertaining to cause of death stated the jury's conclusion that the boy died accidentally of poisoning by an organic phosphate compound, "probably Parathion, though skin absorption or direct intake by the stomach."

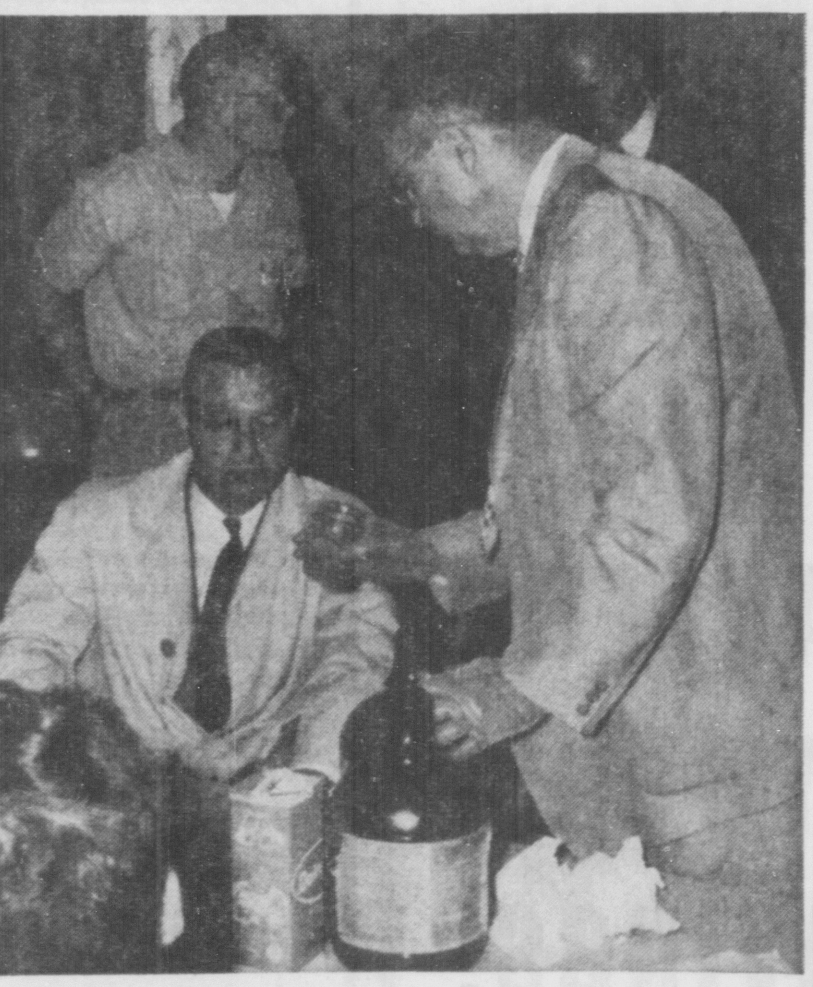
THE JURY'S report urged a grand jury investigation into the plight of the migrant worker in DuPage county on the basis of testimony which told of crowded, pest-ridden and unsanitary housing.



A TEST WAS conducted by Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, DuPage county coroner, standing, right, to determine if a subject could distinguish between Parathion, a highly poisonous insecticide which is believed to have caused the death of a boy, and milk. Ernest Volk of Elgin, seated, the subject was able to recognize the poison. Nevertheless, Dr. Lewis made the point that the poison and milk do indeed look alike and the boy could have died by swallowing the poison, thinking it was milk. (B8

It suggested cooperation in the investigation by state and local departments of labor, state and local public health departments, the Farm Bureau, state employment service, county school superintendent and representatives of Protestant and Catholic churches.

The jurors urged "that rules of manufacturers of insecticides be strictly followed. Canners and buyers of farm produce should also cooperate."

Building and zoning and health regulations do not now govern conditions on farms in DuPage county or Cook county.

John Kelly, chief sanitarian of the DuPage county health department, testified that until now migrant workers have moved into hovels on farms without occupancy permits or inspection of the quarters by the health department before occupancy. No records of when they arrive or when they leave are kept. They do not benefit from tuberculosis X-rays or immunization, he said.

The health department is preparing a suggested ordinance for presentation to the county board of supervisors which would close many of these loopholes in jurisdiction and services, said Kelly.

WILLIAM BAUER, state's attorney, said during the inquest that possibility of charges filed against Peter Panagiotaros, manager of the two farms on which the dead boy's parents and other Mexicans are employed, were to be discussed after the inquest with building and zoning and health officials.

Meanwhile, Mexicans on Panagiotaros' farms were remodeling their "homes" with material furnished by the farm operators. They were nailing plaster board to the bare wall beams, painting, installing windows, disinfecting and rewiring.

A reporter asked Panagiotaros how much all this was costing and he said: "I don't know yet. We just started."

Several hundred dollars would be a conservative estimate of the cost.

The health department presented Panagiotaros with a list of improvements which must be made if the migrant laborers are to be allowed to continue living in their quarters.

Wednesday was the deadline of eviction notices nailed on all the "homes." The health department was to review the progress made in refurbishing them and decide if they should be removed or not. Penalty for failing to observe the eviction notice is a fine of $200.

Officials must consider the impact of eviction upon the migrant workers. The question they ask themselves is 'Where would they live if they were evicted?' said Gary McCullough, supervising sanitarian in the county health department.

THE INQUEST convened in a barn where cows were milked once. Stanchions had been ripped out on one side, but were covered by a canvas on the other. Cobwebs and flaked whitewash hung from the ceiling, seven feet high.

The three men and three women of the coroner's jury sat on folding chairs with their feet practically in a gutter paralleling their chairs. Spectators sat on planks set on empty vegetable cases.

A dank, musty smell pervaded the atmosphere. Mexicans squatted against the walls. Television lights spotlighted the table from where Dr. Lewis conducted the inquest.

When testimony had been completed the six jurists retired to the haymow to reach their decision.

Bruno Perez, 33, father of the dead boy, displayed no emotion, even when Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, county coroner, probed the intimate detail's of his son's last minutes.

Dr. Lewis and Bauer asked Perez such questions as whether his children attend school when in Illinois (no); whether any deductions are made from his paycheck (no); whether his family attends church (no); how many hours he works a week (seven or eight hours a day, including Saturday and Sunday when necessary).

Whether he provides milk for his children (yes), and condition of his living quarters (worst of any he has lived in as a migrant laborer.

Perez and his family now have moved to Des Plaines.

THE CHECK THAT Perez receives weekly does not list any deductions, he said. Migrant workers are excluded from practically all state and federal social welfare laws, from protection of most workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, minimum wage laws and laws giving the right to organize.

Perez described his home when he lived on the Panagiotaros farm as a chicken coop with three small rooms. Here he lived with his wife and eight children. When he first moved in he was living with "one or two rats." The floor, walls and ceiling leaked.

When Panagiotaros was testifying he said that this was a fair description of the home.

Later he made the statement that he provided living quarters for all his workers.

Bauer retorted "By living quarters you mean a roof and four walls."

Dr. Lewis probed deeply with his questions into the danger of insecticides stored and mixed near the living quarters of migrant workers and sprayed in fields adjoining the farm yard.

Panagiotaros said that he keeps "in his head" knowledge of the amount of time which elapses between spraying of vegetables and picking them. He keeps no record of when he sprays, he said.

DR. LEWIS SAID, in answer to a reporter's question asking whether he sees any significance in unplanned spraying of vegetables: "I think it's terrific. It makes me wonder whether I want to eat (vegetables.)"

Answers by witnesses revealed that some of the insecticide was mixed in the barn, near the living quarters of the migrant workers. Dr. Lewis demonstrated with a glass of milk and a glass of the insecticide that milk and insecticide are very similar in color.

The assumption allowed was that the dead boy may also have drunk the insecticide. One drop of the concentrated solution can kill three 31-pound children, the weight of the dead boy, according to the toxicologist's report. The jury's verdict took into account the possibility that the boy may indeed have taken the insecticide internally or absorbed it through his skin.

THIS SCENE in a low-ceilinged barn on a truck garden farm west of Roselle shows an inquest in progress. A coroner's jury was to determine the cause of the death of Ernesto Perez, 2, son of Bruno Perez, 33, fourth from right, behind the table. Others, from right, are William Bauer, DuPage county state's attorney; Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, county coroner, and Joseph Buenrostro, chief of the West Chicago police department, who interpreted for Perez. (B8

Sharp Teenager Asks To Help GOP Campaign

Mary Ann Thurow, 16, of 205 S. George st., Mt. Prospect, wrote a letter the other day. It was addressed to John H. Bickley, president of the Young Republican club of Elk Grove township.

It was short, just a couple of paragraphs inspired by the two great national conventions just concluded, and some voracious reading of books, magazines, and newspapers.

Mary Ann wanted to know what she could do to help the Republican party this fall.

The idea of adding another worker to his fast-growing organization appealed to Bickley. The fact that the letter came from a teenager five years removed from a voting booth intrigued him.

And well it might.

FOR MARY ANN Thurow, though she talks plenty about school, teachers, parties, and boys, is far removed from the Fabian-chasing, Elvis-loving popular conception of today's teenager.

This fall she will start her junior year at Prospect high school. She has been a junior honor roll student during her first two years.

("She had to work very hard to make it," says her mother, Mrs. Raymond A. Thurow). This year she took a course in world history during the summer school session. She plans to go to college, but she isn't sure what she'll take. She's neat, cute, and serious about her politics.

And she can talk the issues with the best of them. A few samples:

THE RATE OF NATIONAL GROWTH: Kennedy believes we should increase the rate through government spending Nixon says we should encourage private enterprise. I agree with Nixon, but he will have to do a better job than Eisenhower.

CIVIL RIGHTS: We have to enforce all of the laws that have been passed. The Negro should have equal rights. The recent bill proposed in the senate was pure politics.

NATIONAL DEFENSE: We have no choice but to expand. We must keep up with the Russians or be destroyed. We have to go them one better all the time. (She says Russian Communism is the greatest issue her generation will face).

FOREIGN AID: We should have foreign aid on a loan basis. Here I disagree with Sen. Barry Goldwater's conservative Republicans. He says we should discontinue this program. I say we should continue it on the loan basis so that the other countries can maintain their self-respect.

MEDICAL CARE FOR THE AGED: I agree with the social security method proposed by the Democrats.

KENNEDY VS. NIXON: Both of the parties picked their best possible candidate. It becomes a question of whose philosophy you belie in.

JOHNSON VS. LODGE: Johnson doesn't seem happy. He is a very capable man, but he probably won't make a good vice president because he doesn't even seem to like Kennedy. Lodge, on the other hand, would make an excellent vice president, because of his United Nations experience and his knowledge of foreign policy.

Mary Ann says she leans toward the Republicans because she agrees with the party's stand on private enterprise. She did, however, write a letter to the Democratic committeeman, Otto Maleske, offering her services to his organization. The letter drew no response.

She wrote to both parties because, she says, "I am very proud to be an American, and I am very jealous of my rights as an American.

"I think people should take a greater interest in politics. And even though I can't vote, I would like to help in some way."

Bickley doesn't know yet what he's going to do with Mary Ann. But he has some ideas. First, he wants to establish a non-partizan political club in the high school. He feels there must be many more youngsters that would be interested if they were given an opportunity for expression.

SECONDLY, he would like to get more young volunteers for this fall.

"Just imagine how you'd feel if you weren't registered and a teenager came to your door and said: 'I can't vote but I know you can. Won't you?' "

Mary Ann Thurow's short letter probably has started something.

MARY ANN THUROW, 205 S. George st., Mt. Prospect, looks over a polling sheet with President John H. Bickley of the Elk Grove township Young Republican club. Mary Ann, a 16-year-old junior at Prospect high school, wrote Bickley last week volunteering her services for this fall's campaign. (B8

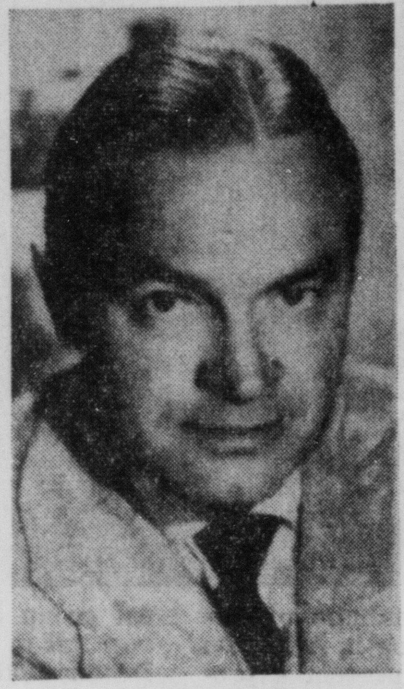
Bob Hope Here Sunday For Giant YMCA Show

Tickets are still available for the spectacular Laugh-O-Rama benefit show to raise funds for the new Northwest Suburban YMCA.

The show, which stars comedian Bob Hope in his first personal appearance in the northwest area, will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday in Maine high school East, Dempster and Potter rds., Park Ridge. Donations for tickets are scaled at $5, $10, and $25 and are tax deductible.



BOB HOPE

In addition to Bob Hope, the Laugh-O-Rama cast includes:

—Aita Bryant, beautiful singing star of TV, radio, and records;

—Bobby Winters, America's foremost juggling comedian and a popular TV and night club performer;

—"Nippy" Nelson, well-known night club comedian and guest star of the Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason TV shows, who will serve as master of ceremonies for the Laugh-O-Rama;

—Norm Krone and his Orchestra, from the famed Boulevard Room of the Conrad Hilton hotel;

—The Ivy Five, sensational new recording artists;

—George Carl and Arleene, a funny little guy and a girl who do a hilarious comedy routine; and —Dancer Margi Koehler, popular northwest area beauty queen.

THE GIANT stage show will be the biggest, most spectacular production ever offered in northwest suburbs.

Proceeds will go toward the $100,000 that still must be raised to complete the $1 million Y building now under construction at Cambridge and Northwest hwy. between Des Plaines and Mt. Prospect.

Tickets are on sale at Northwest Suburban YMCA office, 1488 Miner st., Des Plaines. Other locations where tickets may be purchased are:

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell st.; Arlington Heights National bank, 14 E. Campbell; Bank of Arlington Heights, 900 E. Kensington rd.; Lattof Motor Sales, 800 E. Northwest hwy.

MOUNT PROSPECT: Mt. Prospect State bank, 15 E. Busse ave.; Keefer's pharmacy, 10 E. Northwest hwy.; Carl's Food shop, 15 E. Prospect ave.; Meeske's market, 101 S. Main st.

PALATINE: Palatine Enterprise, 35 W. Slade st.; Palatine National bank, 34 N. Brockway st.; Brandt's restaurant, 10 N. Northwest hwy.; Palatine Savings and Loan association, 4 N. Brockway st.

The Women's auxiliary of Northwest Suburban YMCA will also sell tickets Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Arlington Market and downtown Arlington at Dunton and Campbell sts.; in front of Meeske's market, 101 S. Main, Mt. Prospect, and at Mt. Prospect Park and Shop area on Prospect ave. (B8

Doctor Receives Grant for Study

Dr. Richard C. Schultz, of Lyons, a member of the medical staff of the Northwest Community hospital, has been granted a leave of absence from the staff to spend a year studying in Sweden under a Fulbright Scholarship grant.

Dr. Shultz joined the Northwest Community hospital staff shortly after the hospital was opened. The scholarship is part of an exchange program conducted under the direction of the United States State department.

He will be stationed at the University of Uppsala at Uppsala, Sweden, working with Dr. Tord Skoog, one of Europe's outstanding men in plastic and reconstructive surgery.

DR. RICHARD C. SCHULTZ

DR. SCHULTZ will sail for Sweden August 26 on the Gripsholm, accompanied by his wife, son and daughter. Dr. Schultz attended undergraduate school at the University of Michigan and was graduated from Wayne university medical school in 1953.

He interned at Harper hospital in Detroit and did postgraduate work in general and plastic surgery at U.S. Army hospital in Fort Carson, Colo. and at the University of Illinois Research and Education hospital in Chicago.

Dr. Schultz plans to return to the medical staff of Northwest Community hospital upon completion of his scholarship stay in Sweden.

Thompson, Douglas Get IVI Support

Tyler Thompson, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 13th district, has been endorsed for election by the Independent Voters of Illinois, according to IVI Political Action Chairman Sherwin A. Swartz.

He is opposing incumbent U. S. Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church, Republican.

The IVI board of directors also announced the following endorsements for other offices:

—United States Senator Paul H. Douglas, who is seeking re-election;

—Otto Kerner, Democratic candidate for governor; and —State Rep. Samuel H. Shapiro, Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor.

Two incumbent Republicans were preferred by IVI to their Democratic opponents. They are Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier and States Attorney Benjamin S. Adamowski.

Additional endorsements will be made later this month. (B8

Des Plaines Marks 125th Anniversary

Des Plaines marks its 125th birthday next week with six days of celebrating including events such as parades, pageants and dancing in the streets.

The festivities are open to Chicagoans and suburbanites throughout the area who have been invited to join the celebration beginning Tuesday, Aug. 23, by Mayor Herbert H. Behrel.

More than 100,000 visitors are expected to pour into Des Plaines for the anniversary parade to be led by Gov. and Mrs. William G. Stratton Saturday afternoon, Aug. 27.

THE GIANT parade with more than 4,000 marchers will take about two hours to pass a given point and will be "the biggest ever held by a Chicago suburb," said Kenneth G. Meyer of 1055 Des Plaines ave., chairman of the anniversary association.

In addition to bands, floats and crack drum and bugle corps, the parade will include select units from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

Des Plaines already has started to create a Mardi Gras atmosphere as workmen decorate store fronts and dress up the streets with banners, bunting and flags.

MERCHANTS also are working on special displays for their store windows depicting the past-present-future theme of the Centi-Quad-O-Rama, the name selected by Des Plaines for its 125th anniversary celebration.

The Centi-Quad-O-Rama kicks off with a Kiwanis Bike and Pet parade in the downtown area beginning at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 23. Prizes and favors will be presented to all participants.

It gathers momentum Tuesday night with the first of three presentations of a pageant spectacular at 8 p.m. in the 4,000-seat Maine East football stadium near Dempster and Potter just east of Des Plaines.

FINISHING touches are being put on a 40-foot stage constructed in the Maine East stadium for the pageant that also will be presented Wednesday and Friday nights. Admission for each performance is $1. Children under 12 accompanied by adults will be admitted free.

In addition to the second pageant presentation, Wednesday, Aug. 24, will mark the opening of two special Garden club exhibits and the beginning of judging for the store window displays.

A cut flower exhibition will be held at the South Park fieldhouse, and flower decorations for tables will be shown at West Park. Hours for the flower will be 1-6 p.m. both Wednesday and Thursday.

THREE BIG events, a ballroom dance contest, a teenage hop and a water show, highlight festivities scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 25.

Between dance contest categories, professionals will stage dancing exhibitions. The contest will begin at 8 p.m. in the 3,000-seat Maine East fieldhouse. Admission for spectators is $1.

The "Teenage Hop" will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Maine West fieldhouse, Oakton and Wolf. Master of ceremonies will be Jack Hilton who conducts the American Bandstand on Channel 7. Admission is 25 cents.

THE WATER SHOW beginning at 8 p.m. in the Rand Park pool features the Adolph Kiefer troupe and will include diving, water ballet, comedy and water skiing demonstrations.

Some of the swimmers scheduled to perform are Chuck Chelich, world's heavyweight diving champ; Wally Fort, armed forces diving champion; Peggy O'Halleron, central AAU diving champ, and Tony Stewart, national synchronized swimming champ.

Final presentation of the pageant and two open air dances highlight events scheduled for Friday, Aug. 26. One open air dance will begin at 7 p.m. near the Elk's club. A starlight square dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. near Oakton and Center.

MOST event-packed day will be Saturday, Aug. 27. Judging of the beard-growing contest begins at 10 a.m. in front of City Hall and will be followed immediately by a time-capsule ceremony.

Saturday afternoon will be dedicated to the big anniversary parade organized by a committee chairmanned by Floyd T. Fulle of 666 Laurel.

March-off time from the staging area south of the railroad tracks downtown is 2:45 p.m. for the first units and two hours later for the last.

Music will be provided by bands from the Fifth Army, Maine West and Maryville and by 11 crack drum and bugle corps units from Chicago, northern Illinois and Wisconsin.

THE DRUM and Bugle units are the Norwood Park Imperials, Norwood Park Cadets, 45th Brigade, Skokie Vanguards, McHenry Viscounts, Morton Grove Cougars, Vernell Drum and Bugle Corps, St. Michaels Rangers and the Racine (Wis.) Kilties.

After the parade, the drum and bugle corps units will move to the Maine East stadium for a "Drums Under the Stars" contest beginning at 7 p.m. An early favorite for honors is the Norwood Park Imperials, winners of the recent "Motion in Music" contest in Indiana.

Climaxing the full Saturday schedule will be the anniversary ball to be held in the O'Hare Inn at 9 p.m. where the Lou Breese orchestra and three professional acts will perform for Gov. and Mrs. Stratton and approximately 1,000 others.

There is only one thing that Marian and I desire, and that is our share of the business that is available in these lovely communities. There are many things that we must do to get our share of this business and that is the reason we are always striving to better ourselves.

For instance PROFIT, a reasonable and fair profit is certainly an acceptable motive for running a retail establishment. One like ours certainly can't make that profit off the purchases of a few people, or in a few months of the year. Consequently, we must be very price conscious, and we believe we are. Our policy in regard to prices is to keep them at all times strictly in line with LEGITIMATE COMPETITION and with nationally advertised prices where they exist.

Please remember this, your patronage is our life's blood and we are as price conscious as you are. We certainly intend to keep it that way, so you may shop at Harris Pharmacy with confidence.

March-off time from the staging area south of the railroad tracks downtown is 2:45 p.m. for the first units and two hours later for the last.

Music will be provided by bands from the Fifth Army, Maine West and Maryville and by 11 crack drum and bugle corps units from Chicago, northern Illinois and Wisconsin.

THE DRUM and Bugle units are the Norwood Park Imperials, Norwood Park Cadets, 45th Brigade, Skokie Vanguards, McHenry Viscounts, Morton Grove Cougars, Vernell Drum and Bugle Corps, St. Michaels Rangers and the Racine (Wis.) Kilties.

After the parade, the drum and bugle corps units will move to the Maine East stadium for a "Drums Under the Stars" contest beginning at 7 p.m. An early favorite for honors is the Norwood Park Imperials, winners of the recent "Motion in Music" contest in Indiana.

Climaxing the full Saturday schedule will be the anniversary ball to be held in the O'Hare Inn at 9 p.m. where the Lou Breese orchestra and three professional acts will perform for Gov. and Mrs. Stratton and approximately 1,000 others.

There is only one thing that Marian and I desire, and that is our share of the business that is available in these lovely communities. There are many things that we must do to get our share of this business and that is the reason we are always striving to better ourselves.

For instance PROFIT, a reasonable and fair profit is certainly an acceptable motive for running a retail establishment. One like ours certainly can't make that profit off the purchases of a few people, or in a few months of the year. Consequently, we must be very price conscious, and we believe we are. Our policy in regard to prices is to keep them at all times strictly in line with LEGITIMATE COMPETITION and with nationally advertised prices where they exist.

Please remember this, your patronage is our life's blood and we are as price conscious as you are. We certainly intend to keep it that way, so you may shop at Harris Pharmacy with confidence.

The Arlington Heights chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Establishment of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will appear at Barbershop Harmony Festival night at the Wilmette Bowl August 25.

The show, sponsored by the North Shore Harmonizers, will begin at 8 p.m.

Earl Auge, 801 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, directs the Arlington Heights chapter, which placed first in the recent 11th district chorus contest.

AUGE IS vocal and choral director at Maine Township high school and also is first minister of music at the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights.

Also scheduled to appear is the "Mid-States Four," "The Dunesmen," "The Firehouse Four," and a women's quartet, "The Happy Harmonizers."

Walton Cronk, public relations and sales promotion manager of Old Orchard association in Skokie, will be master of ceremonies.

In case of rain, the show will be held August 26. Last year's show drew a record crowd of 8,000.

Paintings Go On Display At Milk Pail

An exhibition of paintings by Mrs. Roy O. Schiebel of Miller rd., Barrington, is being presented in the Art Gallery of the Milk Pail, route 25 near Dundee, and will be shown until September 1.

The collection consists of oil paintings, water colors, ink and wash sketches and mixed media. Subject matter is varied, several sketches and paintings accomplished during or after visits by the Schiebels to Europe, Mexico and the British West Indies.

Mrs. Schiebel has exhibited with the Chicago Artists No-Jury society and in the local area as an individual and also as a member of the Algonquin Art group.

THE ARTIST studied at Silvermine Guild of Artists in Connecticut under John Wheat, well-known landscape painter, also under Gail Symon for life and still-life work. She has recently done further work with the Algonquin Art group under James Walker, Chicago artist and instructor whose work has been shown nationally and internationally.

Ms. Schiebel also studied for several years under William Juhre, formerly of Dundee and now curator of art at the Neville museum in Green Bay, Wis.

Hosts Are Needed For 15 Counselors

The International Hospitality center of Chicago is host-hunting in the northwest suburbs for 15 camp counselors from Europe who will be in the Chicago area September 5-8.

A program of entertainment has been arranged for the group so that the host need only to provide meals and a place to sleep.

Chicagoland's September guests will number 100 men and women between the ages of 19 and 35 who have been spending the summer as counselors at camps throughout the United States. As their camps end they will briefly visit some of the bigger cities in the United States.

ALL OF THE foreign exchange students speak English according to Mrs. David Bone, 704 N. Salem, Arlington Heights. She is in charge of obtaining homes for the youths in this area.

The International Hospitality center stresses that the visit of these young people does not entail extra work or expense beyond additional food.

A sofa-bed or couch is sufficient for sleeping purposes, Mrs. Bone notes. Anyone interested in housing one of these foreign students should contact Mrs. Bone at CL 3-0290 before 4 p.m. Friday, August 19.

Town and Country Chorus Bids Director Farewell

July 14 the executive board of Town and Country Mixed chorus met in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Marguerite Westfahl. Due to Mr. Westfahl's transfer to Ogallala, Neb., his wife has reluctantly resigned as director of the chorus, being replaced for the coming season by Mrs. Martha Bowser of Palatine.

During the past three years the chorus has grown from eight to 35 members. For their first year they met in the Mt. Prospect homes of Roy and Ray Rousso and Lucille Hoffman. The next two years they used a rehearsal room in St. Peter school in Arlington Heights and last year met in St. Philip Episcopal church of Palatine.

THE HOURS of preparation and the enthusiasm of Mrs. Westfahl inspired cooperation in the chorus members. Their schedule for the 1959-60 season included three formal concerts, a benefit for the St. Peter building fund, a Christmas concert in Prospect high school and a spring concert in Winston Park school. Outside programs included two evenings at the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Arlington and a Christmas party in St. Andrew Lutheran church of Park Ridge. The final program this spring was in connection with the Palatine Village Band at a typical old fashioned band concert.

A summer get - together for members of Town and Country was recently held in Deer Grove as a farewell for the former director and welcome to the new one.

Those present from Palatine were Joan Jurco, Maryirene O'Conner and family, Ruth Rohr and Nelson and Martha Bowser and family.

Members from Arlington Heights were Margaret Dahm and sister, Santo Perricone and Marguerite Westfahl and Melita Weider from Rolling Meadows. Elk Grove was represented by Bert Kuhr, and from Mt. Prospect Mollie and Bob Hanson and grandchild, Myron, Charlotte Weigle and children and Lucille and Harvey Hoffmann and children.

In Country Club Fashion Parade

Mrs. Carl Ewert, 412 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, is among the women who will participate in Brookwood country club's annual fur and fashion show to be held Saturday, Aug. 27, at the club in Addison. Members and daughters of members will parade before the replica of Buckingham fountain, whose upward spray reaches a height of 50 feet in a changing play of colored lighting.

A buffet dinner and dancing will complete the evening.

Maria F. Schmitt

August 15 Rev. Robert McDonald officiated at services held in Lauterburg and Oehler chapel for Mrs. Maria Frances Schmitt, late of 315½ S. Sunshine, El Cajon, Cal., formerly of 915 N. Highland, Arlington Heights. Interment was in Memory Gardens cemetery. She was born in Austria July 17, 1885, and died August 11 in San Diego, Cal. She had resided in Arlington Heights for 42 years.

She leaves her husband, Jacob; two sons, William of Largo, Fla., and Elmer of El Cajon, Cal.; two daughters, Minnie Lange of South Bend, Ind., and Elizabeth Krause of Arlington Heights; one brother, Joseph Petri of N. D.; two sisters, Nellie Schulprich and Eva Stockinger, both of Chicago; and five grandchildren.

(A13

John Mueller

August 15 mass was held in St. Walter Catholic church, Roselle, for John Mueller, 77, late of Schaumburg rd., route 1, Roselle. He was born March 26, 1883 in Rumania and died August 12 in St. Joseph hospital following an extended illness. He has lived in the Schaumburg area for the past 14 years. Rev. Msgr. Joseph E. Wagner officiated and interment was in St. Joseph cemetery, River Grove. Mr. Mueller had been employed in Chicago until his retirement in 1946.

He leaves his son, Phillip J. of Schaumburg; a daughter, Mrs. Marie B. Dettloff of Chicago; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. His wife preceded him in death in 1958.

(A13

Paul Muller

The Rev. Robert O. Bartz officiated at services August 13 in Black's Memorial home for Paul Muller, late of 133 S. Vail, Arlington Heights. Interment was in Memory Gardens cemetery.

He was born in Germany on June 9, 1899 and was married to Louise Normann in Germany on April 25, 1923. They moved to Arlington Heights 37 years ago and have made their home here since. Mr. Muller died in St. Joseph hospital August 11 at the age of 61.

He leaves his wife, Louise; two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Schnitger of Rock Island, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy Steffen of Los Angeles; two sisters, Mrs. Dora Reindl of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Lina Stankowitch of Waukegan; 10 grandchildren. One sister, Mrs. Ida Ziel, preceded him in death.

Louise Baumgart

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Louise Baumgart, 78, late of 800 W. Oakton st., Arlington Heights, in the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged recently with Rev. John Kempf officiating. Interment was in Forest Home cemetery.

She was born in Germany January 6, 1882 and died in the home on August 13.

She leaves four children, Mrs. Elsie Hvoreik of Chicago, Leo Baumgart of Rolling Meadows, Emil Baumgart of Dixon and Mrs. Lydia Ashley of Elmhurst; three sisters, Mrs. Helen Maschke and Mrs. Eleanor Maschke, both of Germany, and Mrs. Emilie Lechelt of Forest Park; and nine grandchildren.

B-9

Irving J. Tesch

Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights, August 13 for Irving J. Tesch, 60, late of 507 N. State rd., Arlington Heights. Rev. George W. Hospitals Are Now A Major Industry

The American Hospital association has recently come up with statistical information which is of real interest to the citizen who may have to take time out this year for a hospital stay or who quite likely will be paying for the hospitalization of someone in his family. More than half of all hospitals in the United States are known as short-term, voluntary hospitals, operated by churches or non-profit associations. This is the kind of hospital the citizen is most likely to be dealing with unless he is eligible for treatment in a veterans', tuberculosis, mental, or other type of hospital operated by the United States government.

Last year patients in voluntary hospitals were charged an average of $29.49 per day for their care. This was $1.67 per day less than the $31.16 which was computed as the average cost incurred by hospitals in the care of their patients.

THE DEFICIT was made up by gifts to the hospital or by overage in the income of the pharmacy, x-ray department, and other ancillary services.

The average length of stay of the patient has been going down more or less steadily since 1946 when it was 9.1 days. In 1958 the average stay was 7.6 days. It moved up to 7.8 in 1959.

Hospitals are a big business in the communities where they operate. Last year there were more than 1½ million full-time workers in all hospitals. The average is 229 persons employed per each 100 patients in the short-term general and special hospitals.

THE PAYROLL expenses of hospitals increased by half a billion dollars last year and now reach a total of $5.2 billion annually. This payroll amounts to two-thirds of the expenses of all hospitals on the average.

Hospitals are now without doubt one of the biggest of all American industries. The total value of hospitals and assets at present is approximately $17 billion.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Just how can I, without appearing rude, break off a telephone conversation with someone who keeps talking on and on?

A. You can always resort to such statements as, "I hear the doorbell ringing," or "I'm sorry, but I must rush now. I have a very important engagement," or, "I have something in the oven that must come out now."

The New Way in Christ
"Having therefore brethren, boldness to enter in the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us through the veil, that is to say, is flesh.

Hospitals Are Now A Major Industry

The American Hospital association has recently come up with statistical information which is of real interest to the citizen who may have to take time out this year for a hospital stay or who quite likely will be paying for the hospitalization of someone in his family. More than half of all hospitals in the United States are known as short-term, voluntary hospitals, operated by churches or non-profit associations. This is the kind of hospital the citizen is most likely to be dealing with unless he is eligible for treatment in a veterans', tuberculosis, mental, or other type of hospital operated by the United States government.

Last year patients in voluntary hospitals were charged an average of $29.49 per day for their care. This was $1.67 per day less than the $31.16 which was computed as the average cost incurred by hospitals in the care of their patients.

THE DEFICIT was made up by gifts to the hospital or by overage in the income of the pharmacy, x-ray department, and other ancillary services.

The average length of stay of the patient has been going down more or less steadily since 1946 when it was 9.1 days. In 1958 the average stay was 7.6 days. It moved up to 7.8 in 1959.

Hospitals are a big business in the communities where they operate. Last year there were more than 1½ million full-time workers in all hospitals. The average is 229 persons employed per each 100 patients in the short-term general and special hospitals.

THE PAYROLL expenses of hospitals increased by half a billion dollars last year and now reach a total of $5.2 billion annually. This payroll amounts to two-thirds of the expenses of all hospitals on the average.

Hospitals are now without doubt one of the biggest of all American industries. The total value of hospitals and assets at present is approximately $17 billion.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Just how can I, without appearing rude, break off a telephone conversation with someone who keeps talking on and on?

A. You can always resort to such statements as, "I hear the doorbell ringing," or "I'm sorry, but I must rush now. I have a very important engagement," or, "I have something in the oven that must come out now."

The New Way in Christ

"Having therefore brethren, boldness to enter in the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us through the veil, that is to say, is flesh.

Wachlin Attends Summer Course At Marquette

Donald C. Wachlin, 503 S. Donald, Arlington Heights, has successfully completed a 6-week summer institute for high school teachers of biology at Marquette university, Milwaukee.

Wachlin, an instructor at Prospect high school, was among participants selected in nation-wide competition on the basis of scholarship and success as high school teachers of biology. Their experiences as biology teachers varied from three years to more than 20 years. The 45 participants, representing 21 states, each received six semester hours of academic credit in the graduate school of Marquette university.

Welcome Freshmen

Baseball, golf, swimming and prime beef-steaks are on the card for Dartmouth alumni of the Chicago area when they meet at the Ralph Johnson home, Barrington Hills, Wednesday, Aug. 24, for the association's annual picnic outing.

Special guests are members of the entering class of 1964 and their fathers and among the activities will be a baseball game between teams representing even-numbered and odd-numbered classes respectively.

Dr. Harold Delp to Teach New Course at National

A new department of special education for teachers of mentally retarded children will be introduced in September at National College of Education, Evanston, constituting the only such complete department in any college in the immediate Chicago area. Director of the new project will be Dr. Harold Delp, director of Little City, Palatine, center for educating handicapped children.

In discussing plans for the new department, Dr. W. Ray Rucker, dean of National college, referred to it as a "fourth dimension" for the college, adding to the education provided in the graduate and undergraduate division, in the Children's school and in the Guidance center for children with some learning difficulty.

The director of the new project, Dr. Delp, was formerly director of special education at the University of Minnesota, before coming to Little City in 1959 as executive director.

Hasbrook Happenings

Many folks are returning from vacations and business trips taken in the last few weeks. Among them were the Frank Zunino family of Ridge ave., who traveled to Wayne, Pa., to visit Mrs. Zunino's parents, the Arthur Jacobs. From there they traveled to the naval base at Portsmouth, Va., to visit Mrs. Zunino's sister and family, Marine Capt. and Mrs. M. S. Anderson.

The Howard Sjogren family of 1802 N. Walnut have just returned from a combined business and pleasure trip to Nebraska. While there they visited Mrs. Sjogren's family, the Ed Robinsons, and the senior Sjogrens.

The Harold Treischmans of 1633 N. Chestnut have just returned from visiting their respective families in Iowa, and the Bud Millers of 1617 N. Chestnut have returned from a restful weekend vacation at Baraboo, Wis. Also, the Harry Hardistys were in Blandinsville, Ill., visiting the senior Hardistys.

THERE WERE A number of new babies added to the Hasbrook population. The Tom Webes welcomed their first boy, Kurt, born in Lutheran General hospital July 18. Kurt has a sister, Breanna, 2.

The Bob Dunns of 1605 Chestnut st. increased their family with another boy, Tobias Barber, August 9 in St. Francis hospital, Evanston. The Dunns now have three boys and a girl.

Mrs. Shirley Hardisty and Mrs. Bev Caulfield gave a baby shower for Mrs. Jean Dunn July 25, which was attended by several of the neighbors.

Hasbrook is sorry to have lost a highly respected and well liked couple Vi and Irv Rohr of 1709 Chestnut. After several going away parties, the Rohrs left for California. A venetian glass decanter in the shape of a clown was given the Rohrs at a party to which 18 couples were invited.

A kaffee klatsch was given Vi Rohr by Mildred Treischman and Kathy Miller, who presented Vi with a gift and a corsage. The following ladies were present: Jean Dunn, Bev Caulfield, Helen Sheahan, Shirley Hardisty, Helen Anderson, Audrey Kramer, Jean Piper and Dotty Wilshire.

THE BOB Sheahans, 1610 N. Chestnut, had a dinner party for relatives from Belvidere, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gorman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schondelmeier.

The Bob Pipers, 1626 N. Chestnut, also entertained the Richard Coffmans from Virginia and the Harold Richardsons from Ohio.

August 2, Debbie Miller of 1617 N. Chestnut celebrated her third birthday with a party. Her guests were Kim Knott, Casey and Barney Dunn, Peggy and Maurine Piper and Steve Jend.

August 5, Pat Piper celebrated her eighth birthday. Present at her party were her sister, Maurine, Joan Kohn, Christine Ratchek, Debbie Eunpu, Paula Raabe and Karen Kolinski.

Robin Heiser, 1543 N. Ridge, was 5 August 11 and helping her celebrate were her sister, Regina, Patty O'Hara, Teresa O'Hara, Cheryl Petersen, Colleen Croghan, Joanne Jarecki, Claudia Davis and Jennie Elders.

Mrs. Jean Wood, 1625 Chestnut, is home convalescing from surgery in Northwest Community hospital. She is wished a speedy recovery.

Set Third Reunion at St. Peter

St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, has scheduled the third confirmation class reunion service for Sunday, Aug. 21, 3:30 p.m.

In observance of its centennial year, the confirmation classes of 1950 through 1960 will be honored.

More than 600 invitations have been mailed to those who were received into communicand membership at St. Peter Lutheran church between the years of 1950 through 1960.

THE REV. Kenneth Kausch, former assistant pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church will be the guest speaker. He now has his pastorate at Battle Creek, Mich.

Following the reunion service, a fellowship hour with refreshments is planned in the cafeteria.

The pastor of the congregation, the Rev. Robert O. Bartz, and the congregation's - vicar, Mr. Douglas Lorig, will serve as liturgist.

SAFETY REQUIRES ATTENTION TO DETAILS

Every prescription a pharmacist compounds is a challenge. From thousands of drugs about us, we must select the exact ones specified.

An error is unthinkable, for a mistake or overdose could cost a life and our career. Each ingredient must be checked and rechecked for accuracy. The directions must be clearly explained. Each prescription must be permanently recorded for future reference. Careful attention to every detail is necessary for a safe prescription compounding.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

SAFETY REQUIRES ATTENTION TO DETAILS

Every prescription a pharmacist compounds is a challenge. From thousands of drugs about us, we must select the exact ones specified.

An error is unthinkable, for a mistake or overdose could cost a life and our career. Each ingredient must be checked and rechecked for accuracy. The directions must be clearly explained. Each prescription must be permanently recorded for future reference. Careful attention to every detail is necessary for a safe prescription compounding.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

The Robert Williams family returned home to 1122 N. Dryden last Tuesday from a 10-day vacation trip to Wisconsin. After a week at a resort on Elkhart lake, they drove to Manitowoc to visit the grandmother, Mrs. Germaine Williams. Trips to museums and amusement parks in Chicago filled in the balance of their vacation for the family and their guest, a niece, Miss Marian Williams, who made the return trip from Manitowoc.

More vacation returnees last Tuesday were the Don Schreiners of 1156 N. Beverly. After a visit with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schreiner in Des Moines, they drove to Marathon, Wis., to visit with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wagner, and meeting their month-old nephew, Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Seubert.

Melissa Coughlin of 1152 N. Hickory ave. celebrated her first birthday August 7 with her sisters, Debbie and Katie, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sweeney of Chicago.

Miss Dolores Zanetti of Chicago ended a 2-week visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. Angelo Pettenuzzo, 1138 N. Dryden, last Thursday. Mr. Pettenuzzo spent the first two weeks of August attending classes at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, returning home Saturday.

The Harry Comptons, 1125 N. Douglas, ended their 2-week vacation to Colorado on Saturday. Their tour included stops at Rocky Mountain State park, Denver and Colorado Springs, sightseeing the ancient cliff homes at Mesa Verde and seeing the Great Sand Dunes. Camping out was the added touch to make this a trip to remember.

THE PETE Johnsons, 709 E. Olive st., drove to Centralia, Mo., early last week for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and to pick up their son, Jack, who had been visiting on his uncle's farm since mid-June. They drove on to Tyler, Texas, for a few day's visit with another aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Corcoran. A stop at Hot Springs, Ark. for a day of relaxing before returning home on Saturday ended their week of vacationing.

Nancy Jo Petrillo of Evanston spent the past two weeks visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Reed, 1148 N. Hickory.

The Gary Waffle family, 1154 N. Dryden, ended a 3-week vacation trip to the east this past week end. The first week was spent sightseeing at Niagara Falls, Ottawa and Montreal, Canada, and New York City before arriving at Williamsburg, Va. Navy reserve training at the base kept Mr. Waffle occupied while the rest of the family enjoyed seeing the historic sights in the area.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. George Keller, 1155 N. Douglas, entertained the Robert Brach family of Phoenix, Ariz. Former school chums, Mrs. Brach and Mrs. Keller enjoyed an afternoon of reminiscing. Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentile, who make their home with the Kellers, and the Brachs joined the family for a dinner party observing Mrs. Gentile's birthday. (A

Eastwood Events

Seeing the family meant just that for Mrs. John Gavin and Betsy and Chris of 912 E. Euclid. Their three-week stay in Minneapolis at the home of Mother and Dad, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Unland, coincided with Mrs. Gavin's brother's and sister's visits. From Rochester, Minn. came her brother and his six children, and visiting from Phoenix was Mrs. Gavin's sister and her six children—so it really was a family get-together.

Friday and Saturday visitors at the Woellert Ellertsons were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Krinke and two of their children from Waunakee, Wis. Wally and Mr. Krinke were overseas in the air force together, and the two families have kept in touch with periodic visits ever since the war days.

A belated welcome is extended to new neighbors at 301 N. Brighton pl. On May 25 Mr. and Mrs. David Jaye moved here from Park Ridge. They have a grown son, David Jr., who, with his wife and three children, lives in Sharon, Penn., where he is a hospital administrator.

Mrs. Jaye is very happy to be an Eastwood resident and reports that she has "wonderful, wonderful neighbors." Former residents at 301 were the John Albrechts who are now living in Elk Grove.

AFTER A SIX-hour delay at the London airport, Mrs. Charles Ryd and four-year-old Christina and year-old son, finally arrived at O'Hare airport at 3 a.m. Monday morning. Waiting to meet them were Mr. Ryd and next-door neighbors, the Adwalt Hartwigs. Mrs. Ryd has been visiting her parents near Stockholm, Sweden since May 28. Mr. Ryd, who was in Zurich and London on business, returned home three weeks ago and has since learned that a transfer will take him and his family to New Jersey in the very near future. The Ryds reside at 722 N. Beverley.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, 734 N. Beverley, entertained for Mr. and Mrs. O. Morehous of Mt. Prospect, who have recently returned from a five-year stay in England. On business there for the Procon Engineering co., a supposed two-year sojourn developed into five. Of all the things Mrs. Morehous missed most overseas was a supermarket. Ten other guests from Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines joined the Andersons for an outdoor supper.

What was to have been another outdoor party at the Andersons Sunday turned into an indoor one with the furnace on. Guests on that bleak day were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Schaffer from Flossmoor and Mrs. Anderson's sister, Miss Inez Riley from East Lansing, who stopped here enroute to Seattle.

SEVERAL NEIGHBORhood gatherings were held last week for the George Moores, who left Saturday for their new home in Cedar Grove, N. J., where Mr. Moore is regional manager of Paper Mate co. On Tuesday a group of neighbors entertained Mrs. Moore for lunch at the Supper club in Palatine, and on Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy were their hosts for dinner.

A farewell party for Bernard Brock, Arlington high school debate coach was given by Rosemary Barry Monday night in her home on Euclid ave. Members of this year's varsity debate team, junior members and several students of past years gathered to say goodbye to Mr. Brock, who will teach debate and social science in San Jose, Cal. this fall. Future Pioneers' Float Is Winner

"Pioneers of the Future" was the winning entry in the Lions Olympics Wheel parade held in Recreation park in Arlington Heights.

The float was constructed by Gordon Luster, 704 W. George; Charles Zehner, 20 E. Salem; Jim Watt, 143 S. Fernandez; and Mary Ann and Thomas O'Gara, 318 S. Mitchell.

Second place went to "The 49th and 50th State," a float decorated by Bonnie Overton and Susan and Linda Hauf. "35 Years of Service," depicting the Lions club, took third place.

It was entered by Sue Ann Baker, Toni Swiercz, Lin Wilke, Linda Wanock, Larry, Don, and Marny Coha, Peter and Linda Manchee, and Jackie and Glenn Larson.

Leslie Cox won fourth place with "The Organ Grinder." Fifth place went to "The Horse Bike" by Cathaleen Shannon, and Gayle Haight took sixth with "Miss Ireland."

The winning entries will receive gift certificates from the Lions club, which judged the contest. (A

Two Volume Set Is Presented Library

A two volume set of the History of Italian Literature by Francesco De Sanctis was recently added to the Arlington Heights Memorial Library in memory of Mrs. Angelica Cinquini by Dr. and Mrs. Keith G. Wurtz.

Gifts to the library included $75 from the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club for reference books in the junior and young adult's section.

The Arlington Heights Nurse's Club donated a $300 water cooler for the benefit of library patrons and staff. This group also donated $15 for the purchase of books on public health and nursing for general circulation.

The Arlington Heights Woman's Club purchased for the library a set of 54 volumes of Great Books of the Western World as well as several volumes of reference books on science and mathematics.

THE NORTHWEST Towns Sportsmen's Club contributed $25 to provide suitable reading material for young people pertaining to Wildlife and Conservation.

Each memorial book and gift reference book carries a bookplate with the name of the person being honored or name of the donor. Books provide a most appropriate and useful gift which can be shared by the entire community, according to Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian.

Clabaugh Attending Conference

Eastwood Events

Seeing the family meant just that for Mrs. John Gavin and Betsy and Chris of 912 E. Euclid. Their three-week stay in Minneapolis at the home of Mother and Dad, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Unland, coincided with Mrs. Gavin's brother's and sister's visits. From Rochester, Minn. came her brother and his six children, and visiting from Phoenix was Mrs. Gavin's sister and her six children—so it really was a family get-together.

Friday and Saturday visitors at the Woellert Ellertsons were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Krinke and two of their children from Waunakee, Wis. Wally and Mr. Krinke were overseas in the air force together, and the two families have kept in touch with periodic visits ever since the war days.

A belated welcome is extended to new neighbors at 301 N. Brighton pl. On May 25 Mr. and Mrs. David Jaye moved here from Park Ridge. They have a grown son, David Jr., who, with his wife and three children, lives in Sharon, Penn., where he is a hospital administrator.

Mrs. Jaye is very happy to be an Eastwood resident and reports that she has "wonderful, wonderful neighbors." Former residents at 301 were the John Albrechts who are now living in Elk Grove.

AFTER A SIX-hour delay at the London airport, Mrs. Charles Ryd and four-year-old Christina and year-old son, finally arrived at O'Hare airport at 3 a.m. Monday morning. Waiting to meet them were Mr. Ryd and next-door neighbors, the Adwalt Hartwigs. Mrs. Ryd has been visiting her parents near Stockholm, Sweden since May 28. Mr. Ryd, who was in Zurich and London on business, returned home three weeks ago and has since learned that a transfer will take him and his family to New Jersey in the very near future. The Ryds reside at 722 N. Beverley.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, 734 N. Beverley, entertained for Mr. and Mrs. O. Morehous of Mt. Prospect, who have recently returned from a five-year stay in England. On business there for the Procon Engineering co., a supposed two-year sojourn developed into five. Of all the things Mrs. Morehous missed most overseas was a supermarket. Ten other guests from Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines joined the Andersons for an outdoor supper.

What was to have been another outdoor party at the Andersons Sunday turned into an indoor one with the furnace on. Guests on that bleak day were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Schaffer from Flossmoor and Mrs. Anderson's sister, Miss Inez Riley from East Lansing, who stopped here enroute to Seattle.

SEVERAL NEIGHBORhood gatherings were held last week for the George Moores, who left Saturday for their new home in Cedar Grove, N. J., where Mr. Moore is regional manager of Paper Mate co. On Tuesday a group of neighbors entertained Mrs. Moore for lunch at the Supper club in Palatine, and on Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy were their hosts for dinner.

A farewell party for Bernard Brock, Arlington high school debate coach was given by Rosemary Barry Monday night in her home on Euclid ave. Members of this year's varsity debate team, junior members and several students of past years gathered to say goodbye to Mr. Brock, who will teach debate and social science in San Jose, Cal. this fall. Future Pioneers' Float Is Winner

"Pioneers of the Future" was the winning entry in the Lions Olympics Wheel parade held in Recreation park in Arlington Heights.

The float was constructed by Gordon Luster, 704 W. George; Charles Zehner, 20 E. Salem; Jim Watt, 143 S. Fernandez; and Mary Ann and Thomas O'Gara, 318 S. Mitchell.

Second place went to "The 49th and 50th State," a float decorated by Bonnie Overton and Susan and Linda Hauf. "35 Years of Service," depicting the Lions club, took third place.

It was entered by Sue Ann Baker, Toni Swiercz, Lin Wilke, Linda Wanock, Larry, Don, and Marny Coha, Peter and Linda Manchee, and Jackie and Glenn Larson.

Leslie Cox won fourth place with "The Organ Grinder." Fifth place went to "The Horse Bike" by Cathaleen Shannon, and Gayle Haight took sixth with "Miss Ireland."

The winning entries will receive gift certificates from the Lions club, which judged the contest. (A

Two Volume Set Is Presented Library

A two volume set of the History of Italian Literature by Francesco De Sanctis was recently added to the Arlington Heights Memorial Library in memory of Mrs. Angelica Cinquini by Dr. and Mrs. Keith G. Wurtz.

Gifts to the library included $75 from the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club for reference books in the junior and young adult's section.

The Arlington Heights Nurse's Club donated a $300 water cooler for the benefit of library patrons and staff. This group also donated $15 for the purchase of books on public health and nursing for general circulation.

The Arlington Heights Woman's Club purchased for the library a set of 54 volumes of Great Books of the Western World as well as several volumes of reference books on science and mathematics.

THE NORTHWEST Towns Sportsmen's Club contributed $25 to provide suitable reading material for young people pertaining to Wildlife and Conservation.

Each memorial book and gift reference book carries a bookplate with the name of the person being honored or name of the donor. Books provide a most appropriate and useful gift which can be shared by the entire community, according to Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian.

Clabaugh Attending Conference

Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of Arlington Heights school district 25, is attending the August 15-18 conference for educational leaders at Bradley university.

Clabaugh is also president of the Illinois Association of School Administrators.

Arlington Heights Leads in Building

Arlington Heights, Elk Grove Village, and Hoffman Estates led the northwest suburbs in the value of building permits issued during July, according to Bell Savings and Loan association.

Arlington Heights led the area in the value of permits for buildings of all types — $2,942,593. Elk Grove Village, with $2,694,080, was second. Hoffman Estates reported $1,367,000 worth of permits issued.

Other suburbs: Wheeling, $408,480; Mt. Prospect, $272,446; Rolling Meadows, $185,084; and Palatine, $160,190.

In the value of home construction permits, Elk Grove Village led with 161 permits valued at $2,469,950. Hoffman Estates issued 80 permits valued at $1,280,000. Arlington Heights issued 45 permits at a value of $913,355.

Other suburbs: Wheeling, 16 at $294,100; Mt. Prospect, 10 at $219,000; Palatine, seven at $119,000; and Rolling Meadows, seven at $109,446.

Overall, the value of home building permits issued in the Chicago area during July dropped 40 per cent compared with last year.

This is the 11th consecutive month in which home permits ran behind the past year.

Autos Clogging Up All Illinois

The number of licensed drivers in Illinois has reached 4,900,000, almost half the population, the state division of traffic safety reported last week.

Illinois has five and a half per cent of the vehicles in the United States, and three per cent of the nation's highways, the division notes.

The state has 31 cars per mile of highway. These were driven a record-breaking 35.5 billion miles last year, according to the division.

In Illinois 1,795 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents during 1959, a decrease of five per cent from 1958. Illinois is the only state with a thousand deaths in one or more of the past four years to show a continuous decrease for each year.

There were 64,000 injury accidents in which 102,307 persons were hurt last year. Of these, 14.833 were rated as serious injuries.

Losses from Illinois traffic accidents in 1959 totaled $269,000,000, the division continues. This would have been enough to build 17,950 homes at $15,000 each or buy over $100 worth of groceries for each family in the state.

Losses during 1959 from traffic accidents were approximately one-fifth of the state budget for the entire year.

In 89 per cent of the fatal accidents, one or more drivers violated the traffic laws; ninety - three per cent of the injury accidents were the direct result of traffic violations.

Leading causes of fatal accidents were, in this order: driving too fast for conditions, failure to yield the right of way, driving to the left of center, driving under the influence of alcohol.

Leading causes of non-fatal accidents were, in this order: failure to yield the right of way, driving too fast for conditions, following too closely, passing a stop sign, and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Ridge Park-Sherwood

FROM RIDGE PARK

After picking up Richard at Southern Illinois university last week, the William Randles, 832 N. Kaspar, visited friends in Carbondale before driving to Centralia to visit Mr. Randle's parents. Richard is home on vacation now before he goes back to college this fall; and his timing was perfect for a visit with his Uncle Nelson and his family who are here from Centralia for a few days.

Camping for 10 days along the Wisconsin river just below the Dells was a welcome relief in an unusually busy summer for the Avon D. Reeves, 816 N. Kaspar.

When Mike Buechner completed two weeks at "Y" day camp at Camp Adventure, his enthusiasm for a family vacation at Channel lake in Antioch was at its peak. The Robert Buechners, 1012 N. Fernandez, are back from a week's stay at a cottage on the lake and Roberta is telling her friends that her first attempt at water skiing just whetted her appetite for more.

The H. A. Braunsreuters, 731 N. Kennicott, packed a good bit of sightseeing into their trip east this month. They headed up through Canada, stopping at Niagara Falls before going to New Jersey to visit both mothers. The children are still talking about their trip to New York City, which included a ride on the subway, eating at the automat and a trip to Radio City Music hall.

THERE WAS ONE big round of activity at 920 N. Ridge over the weekend. It began Saturday, when Mrs. George Wojtkiewicz' mother came out from Chicago and was later joined by her husband and more of the family. The following day there was a family reunion, when a brother-in-law and his son came from Elk Ridge Villa bringing with them another brother and his family from Amboy. When the last guest left, the Wojtkiewiczes drove into Chicago to the home of her brother and his family to help sister-in-law Joan celebrate her birthday. Monday she took her three children to Hazelcrest to stay with Janie Crucius, her husband's sister, until Wednesday night.

The weather was perfect and so was the fishing at Two Rounds resort near Hayward, Wis., where the T. Merle Pauls, 815 W. Oakton, just spent a week of their vacation. Ardeth and Richard went with them and when they weren't swimming, they were catching fish. They drove to Cumberland Saturday to visit her sister and brother-in-law until Sunday morning, when they headed for home. Ardeth has already left for Dickson to hunt for an apartment, as she will be teaching first through eighth grade music there this fall.

July 18 Gregory James joined the James Kunnen family at 1016 N. Fernandez and his maternal grandparents came from Muncie, Ind., to spend the week with their new grandson. His aunts, uncles and cousins came last weekend to put their stamp of approval on him.

THE JOHN F. Millers, 836 N. Ridge, aren't likely to forget their 19th wedding anniversary in a hurry. They went to Oshkosh for the weekend with their son, Jim, and the senior Mr. Miller. As guests of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Boeder, Joyce, Judy and Jack, they were greeted with a barbecue of prime ribs of beef on arrival. Saturday the two families joined Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kiser on their boat "The Wandered" for a trip that began on Lake Winnebago and took them into the Fox river, Lake Butte des Morts and into the Wolf river and Lake Poygan where they docked at Winnecanne. While they were docked they changed clothes for dinner at Holtz's restaurant in Winnecanne. Although the going was choppy going up, it didn't damage their appetites or their enthusiasm for the return trip. One of the highlights of the trip for the children was watching five different bridges open for them.

The Philip Sylvesters, 1015 N. Kaspar, are back from a week at Kelly lake near Green Bay, where Laura and her daddy enjoyed the swimming.

Several people helped Johnny Kieca celebrate his fifth birthday Friday. His grandmother came from Chicago, along with aunts, uncles and cousins, to wish him many happy returns. Johnny, who will be a kindergartner at Ridge school next month, is the son of the Frank Kiecas, 821 N. Salem.

NEWCOMERS TO Ridge Park are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kooi, who moved to 904 N. Kaspar from Chicago June 25. Besides a new home, they also have a new baby, Martin Edward, born July 7 in Chicago, weighing 9 pounds 4¼ ounces. Martin is their first child and was bap-

After spending 12 days in Jamaica, the William Rudys, 822 N. Princeton, are the best advertisement the island can have. They enjoyed the mountains and the sandy beaches, where they could be found sunning themselves long after everyone else had left. One trip that stands out in their memory is one they took on a bamboo craft just large enough to hold the two of them plus the native who stood at one end and steered them down a placid river until they came to swirling rapids just around the bend. Coming home they spent the last two days visiting Bill's aunt in Coral Gables.

Janet and Dave Bone, 704 N. Salem, returned from a trip to Chicago Sunday where they took 14 of their Sunday school class to church services before driving out to the toll road to meet his parents, the John K. Bones. Arriving here from Ithaca, N. Y., the Bones plan a two to 3-week visit with Janet and Dave.

Vacations in Florida were so much fun for the Joe Morici family, 720 N. Patton, that they decided to move down there. Dolores and the children left behind the moving van the end of July to make their home in Ft. Lauderdale, just a hop-skip-and-jump from his parents' home. They are also close to Dot and Max Rhodes and their children who formerly lived in Ridge Park. Joe is still working up here but plans to join his family the first of the year.

JEAN GRAY'S brother, Lyle Chapman, arrived early Monday morning with his son, Chip, and took Warren back to Durant, Iowa with them for a week. Chip and Warren had already made plans for the week, which included pigeon hunting. Warren and the rest of the family had just returned from two weeks at Glen lake near Glen Arbor, Mich., where they fished, swam and did some sightseeing. The Grays live at 1011 Princeton.

Saturday, Norma and Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, took Kathy and Susie to his company picnic at the forest preserve in Des Plaines, where Gene's baseball team won with him pitching and Norma won an evening bag.

When the R. A. Beckmans' daughter and her family, the Phil Johnsons, came for a visit from Kansas City recently the whole family gathered at the Beckmans, 812 N. Fernandez, for a reunion. After their children and grand children left, they drove to Cleveland to visit his folks, arriving home in time for the arrival of the Joe Dunkerleys of Titusville, Pa., who were on their way to California. The eldest Dunkerley boy is Audrey's godson.

Helen and George Krilcic, 910 N. Harvard, had been looking forward to her sister's visit for a long time, as it had been more than two years since Mrs. George Killian had left San Mateo, Cal. for a trip east. She brought her two children with her. Friends from Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gross, were recipients of their hospitality Monday night at a cocktail party. The Ray Hanns of Des Plaines and the Ray Grohs of McHenry joined them for cocktails before the four couples had dinner at Dick's Corral.

The William Bledsoes, 724 N. Fernandez, have been taking their vacation in spurts this summer, the last one being several days last week spent on grandfather's cruiser on the Mississippi and Illinois rivers. The weather was perfect for fishing and swimming on the sandy beaches that line the Mississippi north of St. Louis. Going down they stopped in New Salem and Springfield.

MOVING TO Arlington Heights was like coming back home for the Ken Gniot family who now reside at 905 N. Harvard after calling Portland, Ore. home. Many of their friends are still in this area, as they lived in Des Plaines before moving west. Twenty-month-old Karen completes their family.

Margaret and Earl Busse, 712 N. Kaspar, took Mary up to Lake Geneva this past weekend. They stayed at Conference Point camp again where several of their family stays.

The welcome mat is out to Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Jacobs who have moved to 931 N. Patton from Forest Park. They have two sons, Craig, 13, who will be an eighth grader at South Junior High, and Arden, 10, who will be in fifth grade at Ridge school. Mrs. Jacobs works with the Welcome Wagon as hostess in Rolling Meadows and Prospect Heights and her husband is a state trooper. The boys have just returned from three weeks with their grandparents at Bohner's lake near Burlington, Wis.

The George Callahans, 1014 N. Ridge, helped his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beckman, celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary recently at their daughter's home in Barrington. All the relatives turned out for the affair which included such entertainment as dancing, accordion music and ballet done by various members of the family. The Beckmans opened their gifts before dinner was served in the basement decorated for the occasion.

BOB CUMMING'S high school class reunion took the family to Marshall, Wis., over the weekend. They stayed with his parents, the Dan Cummings, which is always fun. Lorraine says it was wonderful seeing and chatting with old friends.

Jerry and Ann Mockenhaupt, 818 N. Harvard, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kay of Henderson, Ky., for two days last week. Doug is home from the University of Illinois for a week before going back to get ready for the next semester.

Andrea Polites, daughter of Helen and Jim Polites, 944 N. Salem, had her sixth birthday August 10 and celebrated by having a party for several friends - 15 to be exact, plus one cousin. The puppet show was popular, but by the time Helen served ice cream cups and individual cupcakes, each with its own candle, the children were ready to do them justice. Blowing out their own candles made quite a hit with the children, as did the individual gifts they received to take home.

YOUR REPORTER is back home writing the column again, but her heart is in Europe where she and her husband just spent 3½ weeks. They flew from New York to Prestwick, Scotland and motored through the lake country of England to London, spending 2½ days there before flying to Vienna. Leaving Vienna and two days of sightseeing behind them, they flew to Munich and motored through the Bavarian Highlands to Garmish-Partenkirchen, Hitler's favorite resort area and after two days there, the Cryers could understand why. In fact, this picturesque village nestled at the foothills of the Alps is so beautiful and peaceful they had to force themselves to leave.

The Passion play in Oberammergau, right over the mountain, was waiting for them, and they left reluctantly. It is still a mystery to them, how a little village such as this one could produce such a play, lasting seven hours, accentuated by a wonderful choir of 49 voices. Geneva, Switzerland was the next stop and this city, too, they found so lovely they were reluctant to leave, but Paris was their next stop and the last one before their trip home.

Paris, with its tree lined boulevards and sidewalk cafes and buildings all lighted up at night was the most beautiful city they had ever seen. Now that they've had a taste of Europe, they definitely want to go back.

Many thanks go to Dorothy Meyer for the wonderful job she did on the column while I was gone. (A

Ordinance No. 60-31

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTIONS 15-2004 and 15-2005 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS OF 1954, AS AMENDED, RELATING TO TAXICABS

SECTION ONE: Section 15-2004 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954, as amended, be, and the same is hereby repealed in lieu thereof of the following provisions made:

"Section 15-2004. Bond or Insurance to Accompany Application. Every application for any type of public passenger vehicle license shall be accompanied by a surety bond to insure payment of property damage in the amount of $5,000.00, and public liability insurance in the amount of $50,000.00 for each individual and $100,000.00 for each accident, or a certificate of insurance for such amount of property damage and public liability coverage."

SECTION TWO: Section 15-2005 of the Municipal Code of Arlington Heights of 1954, as amended, be, and the same is hereby repealed and in lieu thereof the following provisions made:

"Section 15-2005. Application for driver's license. Any person desiring to secure a license as a driver or operator of any taxicab or public vehicle licensed under this chapter and used for the carriage of passengers for hire, shall be at least twenty-one years of age and shall have a village taxicab driver's license. Any person desiring to secure such a license shall make an application in writing therefor to the Chief of Police upon a form provided. Application shall set forth the name of the applicant; his residence; occupation; the names and addresses of four residents of the Village, who have known the applicant for a period of at least two years, and who will vouch for the sobriety, honesty and general good character of the applicant. Application shall further set forth the experience of the applicant in the transportation of passengers; the educational background; and a concise history of his employment. Application shall further set forth whether or not the applicant has been convicted of a felony or of driving while intoxicated. Application shall also carry the applicant's state chauffeur's license number and he shall attach to the application two recent 1x1½ photographs; and he shall also attach to the application a set of his fingerprints to be obtained by the Chief of Police; inquiry shall be made as to the character and record of the applicant for honesty, sobriety and capability and, if it shall be found that such applicant has been convicted of a felony, or of driving while under the influence of intoxicants, or if the applicant is lacking in any such respects, such license shall be refused. If the Chief of Police shall be satisfied that the applicant is a fit person to be licensed, such application shall be approved and the license issued.

A license required by this article shall have affixed thereon a picture of the licensee, and shall contain such other descriptive matter of the licensee as may be prescribed by the Chief of Police.

License required by this article shall be displayed in the rear compartment of the vehicle at all times in plain view of the passengers.

Each applicant for such license shall pay a fee of $5.00 and such license shall expire on the 31st day of December of each year following the date of issuance of said license.

Each such licensed driver shall renew the license annually and the renewal fee shall be $5.00."

SECTION THREE: This ordinance shall become effective upon its passage, approval and publication in the manner provided by law.

FROM RIDGE PARK

After picking up Richard at Southern Illinois university last week, the William Randles, 832 N. Kaspar, visited friends in Carbondale before driving to Centralia to visit Mr. Randle's parents. Richard is home on vacation now before he goes back to college this fall; and his timing was perfect for a visit with his Uncle Nelson and his family who are here from Centralia for a few days.

Camping for 10 days along the Wisconsin river just below the Dells was a welcome relief in an unusually busy summer for the Avon D. Reeves, 816 N. Kaspar.

When Mike Buechner completed two weeks at "Y" day camp at Camp Adventure, his enthusiasm for a family vacation at Channel lake in Antioch was at its peak. The Robert Buechners, 1012 N. Fernandez, are back from a week's stay at a cottage on the lake and Roberta is telling her friends that her first attempt at water skiing just whetted her appetite for more.

The H. A. Braunsreuter s, 731 N. Kennicott, packed a good bit of sightseeing into their trip east this month. They headed up through Canada, stopping at Niagara Falls before going to New Jersey to visit both mothers. The children are still talking about their trip to New York City, which included a ride on the subway, eating at the automat and a trip to Radio City Music hall.

THERE WAS ONE big round of activity at 920 N. Ridge over the weekend. It began Saturday, when Mrs. George Wojtkiewicz' mother came out from Chicago and was later joined by her husband and more of the family. The following day there was a family reunion, when a brother-in-law and his son came from Elk Ridge Villa bringing with them another brother and his family from Amboy. When the last guest left, the Wojtkiewiczes drove into Chicago to the home of her brother and his family to help sister-in-law Joan celebrate her birthday. Monday she took her three children to Hazelcrest to stay with Janie Crucius, her husband's sister, until Wednesday night.

The weather was perfect and so was the fishing at Two Rounds resort near Hayward, Wis., where the T. Merle Pauls, 815 W. Oakton, just spent a week of their vacation. Ardeth and Richard went with them and when they weren't swimming, they were catching fish. They drove to Cumberland Saturday to visit her sister and brother-in-law until Sunday morning, when they headed for home. Ardeth has already left for Dickson to hunt for an apartment, as she will be teaching first through eighth grade music there this fall.

July 18 Gregory James joined the James Kunnen family at 1016 N. Fernandez and his maternal grandparents came from Muncie, Ind., to spend the week with their new grandson. His aunts, uncles and cousins came last weekend to put their stamp of approval on him.

THE JOHN F. Millers, 836 N. Ridge, aren't likely to forget their 19th wedding anniversary in a hurry. They went to Oshkosh for the weekend with their son, Jim, and the senior Mr. Miller. As guests of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Boeder, Joyce, Judy and Jack, they were greeted with a barbecue of prime ribs of beef on arrival. Saturday the two families joined Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kiser on their boat "The Wandered" for a trip that began on Lake Winnebago and took them into the Fox river, Lake Butte des Morts and into the Wolf river and Lake Poygan where they docked at Winnecanne. While they were docked they changed clothes for dinner at Holtz's restaurant in Winnecanne. Although the going was choppy going up, it didn't damage their appetites or their enthusiasm for the return trip. One of the highlights of the trip for the children was watching five different bridges open for them.

The Philip Sylvesters, 1015 N. Kaspar, are back from a week at Kelly lake near Green Bay, where Laura and her daddy enjoyed the swimming.

Several people helped Johnny Kieca celebrate his fifth birthday Friday. His grandmother came from Chicago, along with aunts, uncles and cousins, to wish him many happy returns. Johnny, who will be a kindergartner at Ridge school next month, is the son of the Frank Kiecas, 821 N. Salem.

NEWCOMERS TO Ridge Park are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kooi, who moved to 904 N. Kaspar from Chicago June 25. Besides a new home, they also have a new baby, Martin Edward, born July 7 in Chicago, weighing 9 pounds 4¼ ounces. Martin is their first child and was bap-

After spending 12 days in Jamaica, the William Rudys, 822 N. Princeton, are the best advertisement the island can have. They enjoyed the mountains and the sandy beaches, where they could be found sunning themselves long after everyone else had left. One trip that stands out in their memory is one they took on a bamboo craft just large enough to hold the two of them plus the native who stood at one end and steered them down a placid river until they came to swirling rapids just around the bend. Coming home they spent the last two days visiting Bill's aunt in Coral Gables.

Janet and Dave Bone, 704 N. Salem, returned from a trip to Chicago Sunday where they took 14 of their Sunday school class to church services before driving out to the toll road to meet his parents, the John K. Bones. Arriving here from Ithaca, N. Y., the Bones plan a two to 3-week visit with Janet and Dave.

Vacations in Florida were so much fun for the Joe Morici family, 720 N. Patton, that they decided to move down there. Dolores and the children left behind the moving van the end of July to make their home in Ft. Lauderdale, just a hop-skip-and-jump from his parents' home. They are also close to Dot and Max Rhodes and their children who formerly lived in Ridge Park. Joe is still working up here but plans to join his family the first of the year.

JEAN GRAY'S brother, Lyle Chapman, arrived early Monday morning with his son, Chip, and took Warren back to Durant, Iowa with them for a week. Chip and Warren had already made plans for the week, which included pigeon hunting. Warren and the rest of the family had just returned from two weeks at Glen lake near Glen Arbor, Mich., where they fished, swam and did some sightseeing. The Grays live at 1011 Princeton.

Saturday, Norma and Gene Barnes, 1016 N. Kaspar, took Kathy and Susie to his company picnic at the forest preserve in Des Plaines, where Gene's baseball team won with him pitching and Norma won an evening bag.

When the R. A. Beckmans' daughter and her family, the Phil Johnsons, came for a visit from Kansas City recently the whole family gathered at the Beckmans, 812 N. Fernandez, for a reunion. After their children and grand children left, they drove to Cleveland to visit his folks, arriving home in time for the arrival of the Joe Dunkerleys of Titusville, Pa., who were on their way to California. The eldest Dunkerley boy is Audrey's godson.

Helen and George Krilcic, 910 N. Harvard, had been looking forward to her sister's visit for a long time, as it had been more than two years since Mrs. George Killian had left San Mateo, Cal. for a trip east. She brought her two children with her. Friends from Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gross, were recipients of their hospitality Monday night at a cocktail party. The Ray Hanns of Des Plaines and the Ray Grohs of McHenry joined them for cocktails before the four couples had dinner at Dick's Corral.

The William Bledsoes, 724 N. Fernandez, have been taking their vacation in spurts this summer, the last one being several days last week spent on grandfather's cruiser on the Mississippi and Illinois rivers. The weather was perfect for fishing and swimming on the sandy beaches that line the Mississippi north of St. Louis. Going down they stopped in New Salem and Springfield.

MOVING TO Arlington Heights was like coming back home for the Ken Gniot family who now reside at 905 N. Harvard after calling Portland, Ore. home. Many of their friends are still in this area, as they lived in Des Plaines before moving west. Twenty - month - old Karen completes their family.

Margaret and Earl Busse, 712 N. Kaspar, took Mary up to Lake Geneva this past weekend. They stayed at Conference Point camp again where several of their family stays.

The welcome mat is out to Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Jacobs who have moved to 931 N. Patton from Forest Park. They have two sons, Craig, 13, who will be an eighth grader at South Junior High, and Arden, 10, who will be in fifth grade at Ridge school. Mrs. Jacobs works with the Welcome Wagon as hostess in Rolling Meadows and Prospect Heights and her husband is a state trooper. The boys have just returned from three weeks with their grandparents at Bohner's lake near Burlington, Wis.

The George Callahans, 1014 N. Ridge, helped his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beckman, celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary recently at their daughter's home in Barrington. All the relatives turned out for the affair which included such entertainment as dancing, accordion music and ballet done by various members of the family. The Beckmans opened their gifts before dinner was served in the basement decorated for the occasion.

BOB CUMMING'S high school class reunion took the family to Marshall, Wis., over the weekend. They stayed with his parents, the Dan Cummings, which is always fun. Lorraine says it was wonderful seeing and chatting with old friends.

Jerry and Ann Mockenhaupt, 818 N. Harvard, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kay of Henderson, Ky., for two days last week. Doug is home, from the University of Illinois for a week before going back to get ready for the next semester.

Andrea Polites, daughter of Helen and Jim Polites, 944 N. Salem, had her sixth birthday August 10 and celebrated by having a party for several friends - 15 to be exact, plus one cousin. The puppet show was popular, but by the time Helen served ice cream cups and individual cupcakes, each with its own candle, the children were ready to do them justice. Blowing out their own candles made quite a hit with the children, as did the individual gifts they received to take home.

Spicy Hash, Macaroni Combine To Make Unique Family Supper

by LOIS SEILER

An easy and appealing supper for a hot August day has been suggested by Mrs. Fred Kastner of Arlington Heights.

It features Spicy Sausage Hash, a Whipped Cream Fruit Salad and a delicious Cheese Dessert. All are simple and quick to make and delightful to taste.

The hash is a skillet-type casserole which combines bulk sausage meat, onion, uncooked macaroni, tomatoes and sour cream. It is sweetened with sugar and seasoned with chili powder.

"THIS dish can be prepared in the morning and kept right in the skillet or transferred to a casserole," said Mrs. Kastner. "It need only be re-heated for a few minutes before serving." The sausage hash is unique as well as flavorful, and this good cook finds that children are especially fond of this meal.

A jello mold may be used as an accompaniment, or a fruit salad is also good. Mrs. Kastner's favorite, which is one her mother often made, consists of large canned fruits for salad, sliced bananas and whipped cream. This is particularly refreshing during the hot summer months.

To top off the meal her Cheese Cherry Dessert is a tempting taste treat. This dessert must be made the day before, and is quite simple to put together.

IT CONSISTS of a graham cracker crust and a cream cheese filling which is baked for just 12 to 15 minutes. A can of cherry pie filling is spooned over the top and the dessert is refrigerated for twenty-four hours. It can be served with or without whipped cream.

Although rich, it is no too sweet and is a delightful bridge or late-evening dessert.

Mrs. Kastner finds that these recipes, which are quick to make yet flavorful, are a big help to busy mothers such as she, who has four small youngsters. Her children are Billy, 5, Paul, 3½, Steven, 1½ and baby Beth, 5-weeks-old.

The Kastners live at 717 N. Stratford in Arlington Heights.

SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

Spicy Sausage Hash

1 pound bulk sausage meat (not hot)

1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)

1 cup uncooked elbo macaroni

1 one-pound can tomatoes

2 tablespoons sugar

2 teaspoons chili powder (more or less)

1 cup commercial sour cream

Brown sausage with onion in frying pan. Break up meat as it cooks. Add uncooked macaroni and cook for five minutes. Drain off all fat.

Stir in remaining ingredients; heat to boiling and cover. Reduce heat and simmer about 30 minutes or until macaroni is tender. Serves 5 to 6.

Whipped Cream Fruit Salad

1 pin whipping cream

2 jars large fruits for salad, drained well

2 bananas cut up

Whip cream and sweeten with powdered sugar; fold in the fruits and serve in lettuce cups.

Cheese Cherry Dessert

2 cups graham cracker crumbs

6 tablespoons melted butter

1 8-ounce package cream cheese

2 eggs

½ cup sugar

1 can cherry pie filling

Whipped cream, if desired

Mix the graham cracker crumbs and the melted butter together; pat down in the bottom of a 9-inch square pan.

Beat the cream cheese until creamy. Add the eggs and sugar and beat well. Spread on top of the crumbs.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until firm. Cool for at least one hour.

Carefully spoon the cherry pie filling over the top. Chill in the refrigerator at least 24 hours before serving. Top with whipped cream, if desired. Serves 9.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

Canned vegetables have become the old stand-by of the housewife during the past few years. As a result, they've become a little monotonous to some, but there are tricks that any cook can use to brighten up the daily fare.

For example, dried or fresh herbs add to the flavor of canned vegetables. A quarter or half teaspoon of dried basil, rosemary, or oregano added to green beans or tomatoes before heating will highlight their flavor. Tarragon with canned tomatoes or peas is good, too. If you're using fresh herbs, remember to add them just before the time of serving.

Penny-Wise Skillet Dish

Summer weekends should be care-free and casual for mother as well as the rest of the family. Quick and easy dishes are therefore the order of the day with meals served "al frescoe" out on the porch or patio.

Here is an easy inexpensive skillet supper dish that can be cooked on top of the stove in 35 minutes. It is made with a half package of onion soup mix and features frankfurters, a can of pork and beans and a can of kidney beans.

THE ONION soup mix is an important part of this dish because it adds a wonderful flavor. It is handy to use because you just add it in with the other ingredients just as it comes from the package.

This is, incidentally, a good dish to carry on a picnic. Serve it with a crisp vegetable salad and tinkling glasses of iced tea.

Penny-Wise Skillet Dsh

1 tablespoon butter or margarine

4 frankfurters, sliced like pennies

½ package (3 tablespoons) onion soup mix

¼ cup water

½ cup catsup

1 tablespoon prepared mustard

1 teaspoon cider vinegar

1 1-pound 10-ounce can pork and beans in tomato sauce

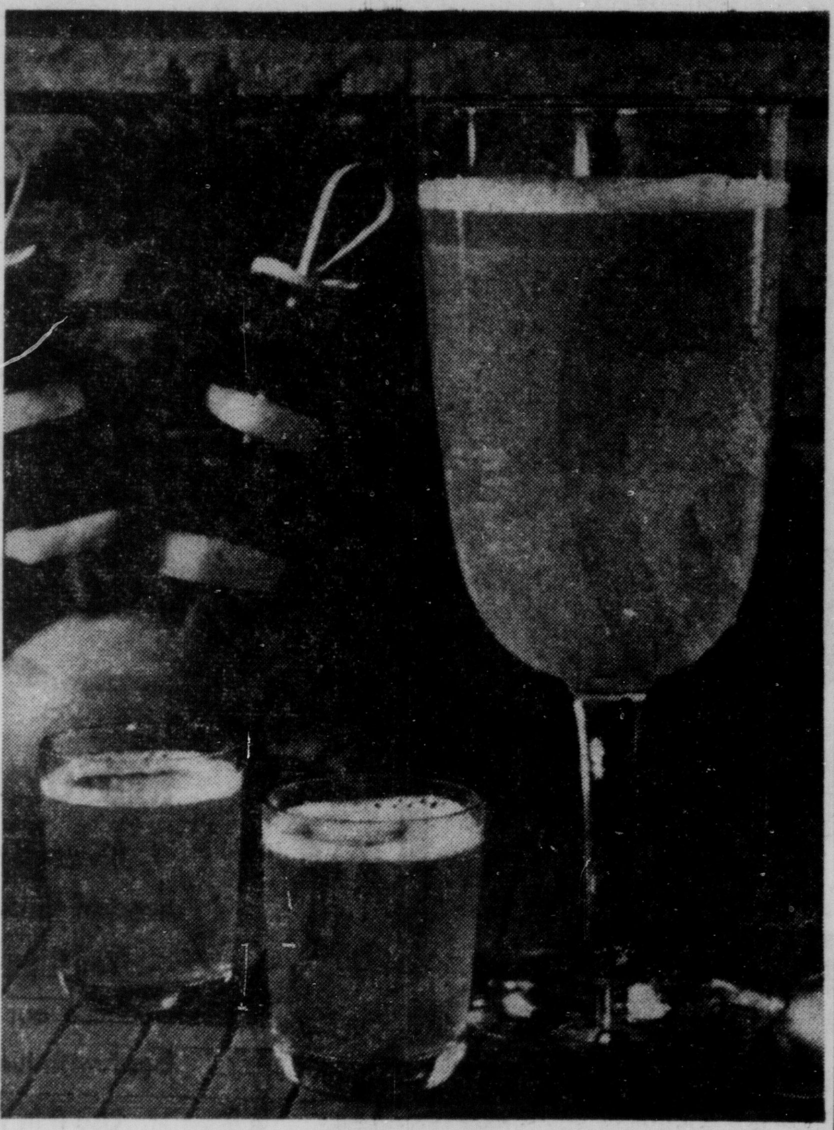
1 8-ounce can kidney beans, drained.

In skillet, heat butter or margarine and brown sliced frankfurters. Stir in remaining ingredients and simmer in covered skillet for 30 minutes. Makes 4-5 servings.

Glass Brightens Corner

Here's a practical and attractive solution for homes which have a dark and frequently unused corner. Simply install decorative glass block in an area large enough to borrow light from an adjoining room, add a convenient table-top counter with drawers and — presto —the area is light, functional and attractive. The glass block are almost maintenance free; they can be cleaned by wiping with a damp cloth.

Instant Tea Makes Low Caloric Treat



Here's a low-calorie refresher for an afternoon or evening pickup. It's a delectable tempter, which starts with tea blended with a scoop of orange sherbet. It has a thirst-quenching tang as well as satisfying substance.

Add fresh fruit kabobs, such as plump ripe strawberries alternating on skewers with pineapple wedges, and you have a party-pretty pick-up which does not cut into your day's calorie allowance.

SECRET of the quick preparation of the Orange Tea Tempter is the base of 100 per cent pure instant tea, which is dissolved in cold tap water. Add the orange sherbet and with a flip of the blender or a few turns of a beater, this delectable refresher is ready to serve.

The instant tea crystals of pure orange pekoe and pekoe black tea produce a perfect cup or glass of iced tea every time with the simple addition of hot water or cold water and ice. Because tea combines fruit flavors into a smooth punch the instant tea is an ideal start for party fruit beverages.

Orange Tea Tempter

1 teaspoon 100 per cent pure instant tea

1 cup cold tap water

1 scoop orange sherbet

Add water to instant tea. Stir. Pour into an electric blender. Add sherbet. Blend. Pour into glass and enjoy. Yield: 1 serving.

Week's Best food buys

Fryers, following last week's market drop, are featured in more stores this week, as continuing heavy supplies bring another penny per pound decline at wholesale.

Meanwhile, to stimulate generally slow vacation-time traffic, stores can also offer selective values in beef, pork and lamb lines, based on marketing factors that are little changed from last week. Athough a slight slip in wholesale cost is noted, it does not register at retail on currently high priced bacon.

Produce markets continue to bask in seasonal abundance with few problems in quality, quantity and price to mar the picture. Peaches are in seasonal peaking supplies, some 17 per cent above average, for the bargain nod in this department. Generally rated cheap, they do vary in price depending on type and size. They are uniformily of excellent quality. Watermelon is in an improved position with a downturn in market quotes. Brussels sprouts make an appearance in stores, but at fairly high prices.

Grocery departments begin to receive new-pack fruit cocktail and apricots, with peaches expected to follow in a couple of weeks.

The University of Illinois consumer service weekly survey lists the following consumer values for the week ending August 20:

Poultry — frying chickens, turkeys; meats —beef roasts and steaks, lamb shoulder roasts; produce — peaches, watermelon, cantaloupe grapes, pears; cabbage, green peppers, sweetcorn, tomatoes and salad greens.

Pricing patterns: poultry—the 29 cent feature price is more prevalent as fryers receive more store merchandising emphasis following another wholesale decline, but general quotes on fryers hold at 35-37 cents. Stewing hens are unchanged at 39-49 cents, turkeys unchanged at 45-49 cents with some 39 cents features showing. Large grade A white eggs are steady against a dull market pattern at the 49-55 cent range.

BEEF — chucks firmed a penny at wholesale, blade cut roasts returning from feature lows to a 49-59 cent general range at retail on cooler weather demand; little change in other categories: round bone roasts 59-69 cents, rolled, rump and sirloin tip roasts 89-98 cents, standing rib roasts mostly 69 cents for fifth-sixth cuts, 75-79 cents for first-fourth cuts. Sirloin steaks quote 99c $1.05 generally, 89 cents on feature; porterhouse $125-1.29 generally, 98 cents on feature. Ground beef 55-59 cents generally, 49 cents on feature.

Pork — wholesale quotes were off fractionally to a penny on fresh lines, but this had little effect on retail quotes that are generally steady at last week's levels. Hams and bacon also are unchanged from week-ago.

Lamb — a penny per pound wholesale drop failed to disturb the steadiness of competitive retail quotes, that are little changed from week ago.

Produce — brussels sprouts appear on local markets at fairly high prices, to join higher pricing fresh peas, lettuce and pascal celery whose west coast quotes are almost double the midwest supplies. More moderately priced are cucumbers, cauliflower, broccoli and beans (ranging in quality). Carrots and tomatoes are quoting lower, although the latter range widely in quality. Cheap vegetables are beets, green peppers (very cheap, excellent quality), cabbage, sweetcorn, endive, escarole and other salad greens.

In fruit lines, peaches head the list in terms of low but varying prices, excellent quality, and abundance from nearby sources. Watermelons show a substantial market drop. Other fruits are little changed from week ago.

Dairy — utter quotes climb ½ to ¾ cents per pound, retails tagged a firmer 69 cents for 93-score and 63 for 90-score.

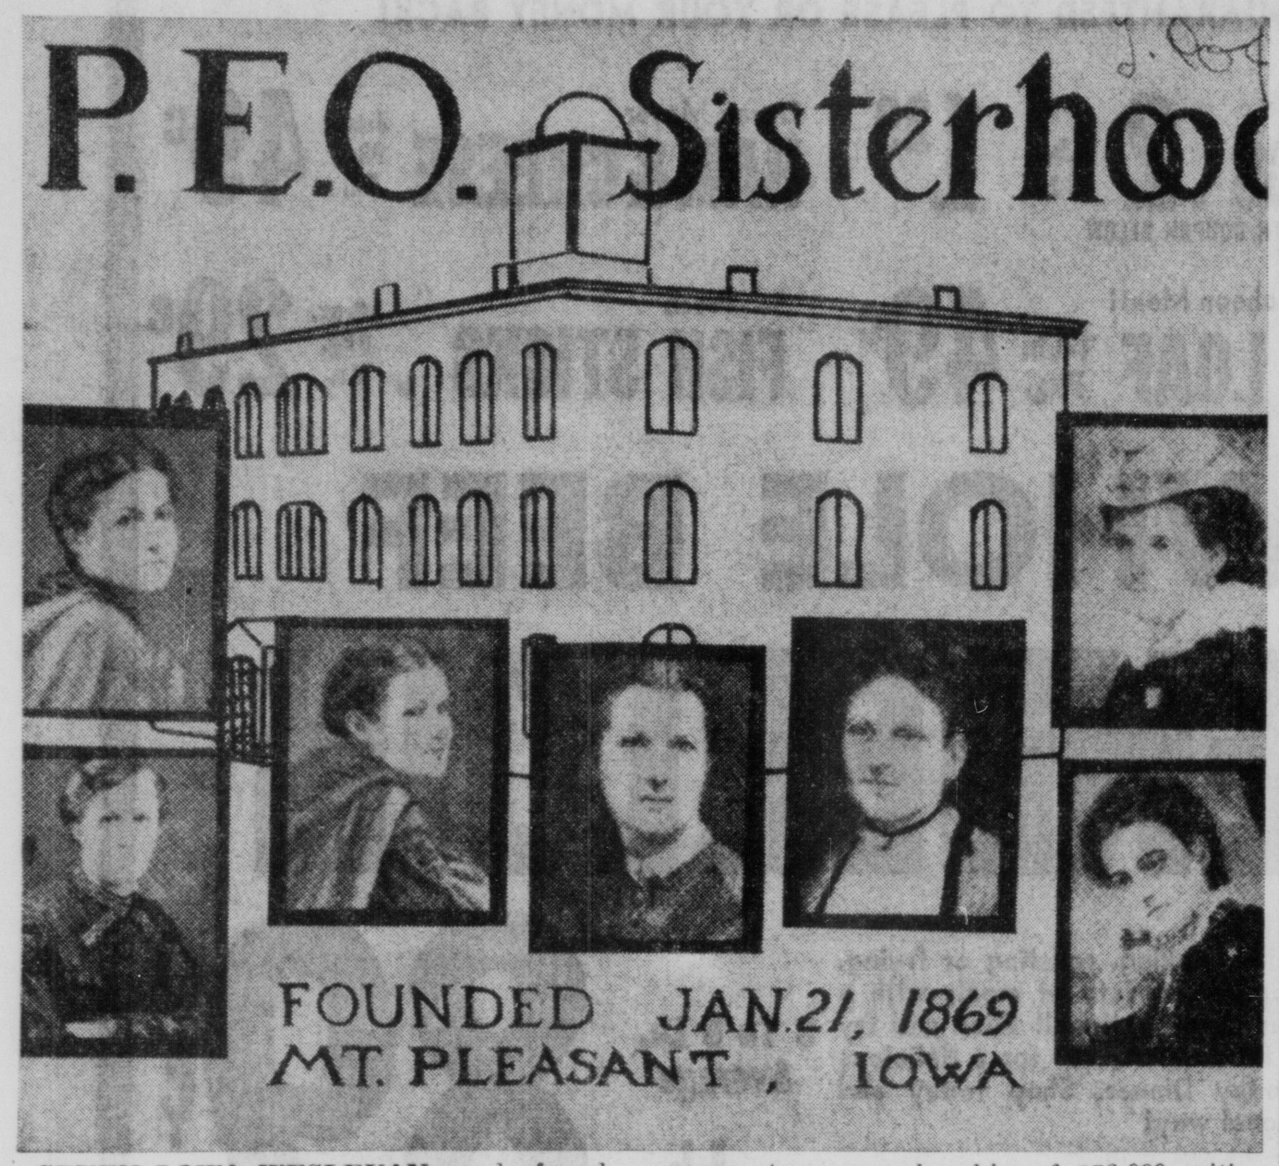
P.E.O. Members Demonstrate That Women Can Keep Secret



SEVEN LOWA WESLEYAN coeds founded the P.E.O. January 21, 1869. It moved off campus four years later and since has grown to a membership of 136,000 with chapters in every state but New Hampshire. (A

(This is the third in a series of articles on Arlington Heights organizations. The articles will discuss who belongs, services performed, hostory, and future plans.)

Is it the People Eater's Order . . . Protect Elephants and Orangutans . . . Pest Extermination Organization . . . or Please Employ the Overweight?

The "it" in question is the P.E.O., a national women's welfare organization which numbers 135 Arlington Heights ladies among its members.

Although such a characteristic is not usually associated with woman, the organization has kept a secret for 91 years — the meaning of P.E.O.

"That's just one of the things you promise to do when you join," explained Mrs. D. A. Cox, 607 S. Pine, Arlington Heights. She is recording secretary of the Illinois State chapter of the P.E.O., which includes four Arlington Heights chapters.

"SINCE WE ONLY take women into membership through invitation, we are sure that the women who join are trustworthy and can keep a secret."

When their husbands kid them, the women usually cite the shroud of secrecy that is associated with many men's organizations in rebuttal. They jokingly call their husbands B.I.L's (Brothers-In-Law).

While the organization's name is a secret, its purpose is not. Since its founding on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan college by seven coeds in 1869, the P.E.O. has attempted to help educate women.

Through its educational fund, started in 1903 with a balance of $658.88 left from a P.E.O. day at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, the organization has loaned funds to 12,468 women students.

The local chapter works through the counseling departments at Prospect and Arlington high schools in nominating students for loans, which are made confidentially.

"We're always looking for girls to give loans to," Mrs. Cox said. "All they have to do is notify the counseling department."

COTTEY COLLEGE of Nevada, Mo., known as the "college of world friendship," was presented to the P.E.O. in 1927 by the founder, Virginia Cottey Stockard. The women's college, which can handle 350 students, is supported through P.E.O. fund drives and also has been helped by the B.I.L.'s, who donated $250,000 for a chapel in 1957.

An international peace scholarship program has brought students from 54 foreign countries to American colleges since its instigation in 1949. A scholarship student from Lebanon, who graduated this June from Northwestern, will soon be the first woman hospital administrator in the Middle East.

"They all want to go back and help their countries," Mrs. Cox noted.

A project on the state level, the P.E.O. elderly ladies home at Knoxville, was dedicated in 1953.

While raising funds is an important activity, the women do not "run themselves ragged" doing this, according to Mrs. Cox.

"With so many chapters in the United States, if each one chips in $250 a year, we're in good shape," she explained. Funds are raised through bazaars, rummage, cake, and nut sales.

AT MEETINGS, which are held twice a month, the ladies are often entertained by artists, musicians, and foreign students who are in the United States because of P.E.O. scholarships.

"For sentimental reasons, children often follow their mothers into membership," Mrs. Cox said.

The presidents of the four Arlington Heights chapters bear this out.

Mrs. William Franke, 120 S. Pine, chapter ER; Mrs. N. E. Johnson, 624 Banbury, chapter FW; Mrs. L. P. Swanson, 528 S. Bristol, chapter HN; and Mrs. Raymond E. Anderson, 933 N. Harvard, chapter IX, have all had grandmothers, mothers, or daughters in the P.E.O.

Four years after its founding, the society moved off campus, and now contains 136,000 members with chapters in every state except New Hampshire. The first Arlington Heights chapter, ER, was organized in 1935.

At Arlington, Prospect Highs

Payment of Student Fees Starts Monday

Payment of fees for students of Arlington and Prospect high schools will begin Monday, August 2.

Each student will pay his fees at the school where he is enrolled.

The offices will be open August 22-26, and August 29 through September 2, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. On Saturdays — August 27 and September 3 — fees can be paid from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Students are being asked to report in alphabetical groups for the payment of fees. The students, who will report according to the first letter of their last name, should follow this schedule:

A E, Monday, Aug. 22, or Tuesday, Aug. 23, F - M, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, Aug. 24 - 26. N - R, Monday, Aug. 29, or Tuesday, Aug. 30. S - Z, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, Aug. 31 — September 2.

THOSE UNABLE to report on a weekday may report on Saturday.

For the first time identification card and yearbook pictures for freshmen, sophomores and juniors will be taken when the student pays his fees, and fee bills will be electronically pre-prepared.

When the student pays his fees, he will receive his schedule of classes and textbooks. Any student who lives a mile and half or farther from school will receive a bus pass entitling him to free transportation.

Bus routes will be published in the Herald later this month.

The general fee is $11, and special fees will be collected from students enrolling in certain subjects. Purchase of insurance, yearbook and the athletic season pass are optional.

Special fees run as follows:

ART (EXCEPT fine arts appreciation) - $4, social science - 80 cents, home economics - $2, industrial arts - $3, mechanical drawing - $2, music (except harmony and arranging) - $2, science (except biology) - $2, driver education - $3.

World history - $1, American history - $1.20, football insurance - $7.50, student insurance - $2.50, yearbook - $4.50, and athletic season pass - $3.50.

For a student taking chemistry, an additional $1.50 is required as laboratory breakage deposit. The unused portion will be refunded in June.

The athletic season passes represent a value of approximately $8 in single admissions. School calendars will be on sale for 50 cents by the National Forensic league in both buildings.

Opening day of instruction at Prospect and Arlington high is Tuesday, Sept. 6.

BOTH SCHOOLS will have an eight - period day. Arlington high will begin at 8:30 a.m. and close at 4:10 p.m. The academic classes will close at 3:20, with the following 50 minutes for extra-curricular activities.

Prospect high school's day will run from 8 a.m. to 3:40 p.m. The academic period will close at 2:50 p.m., with extra-curricular activities following.

Parents who drive their students to Arlington or pick them up after school are asked to use the circle drive in from of the building, or the east side of Walnut avenue. The sides of Ridge and Walnut adjacent to the building are reserved for buses.

Parents who drive their students to Prospect high are asked to use the parking lot to the west of the high school since the circle drive is reserved for buses.

Swimming Records Broken at Meet

Two eight-year-olds, Cindy Miller and Todd Behrens, led the destruction of records at the Lion's Olympics swimming events Saturday, August 6, at Recreation park pool.

Cindy shattered Carol Spomer's 1958 effort of 22.1 seconds when she swam the 25-yd. free style event in 18.8 seconds. In the backstroke event, she took two seconds off Lynn Buckley's 1955 record of 25.3.

Todd, in the freestyle event, bettered John Nelson's record of 18.5 seconds by finishing in 18.2. He also bettered Nelson's record for the backstroke by 1.7 seconds, swimming the distance in 22.7.

Bonnie Luster broke Joan Keppen's 1958 mark of 33.6 seconds for the 15 and 16-year-old 50 yard freestyle by covering the distance in 32.2.

Margo Hauff, in the 13-14 age group, broke Miss Keppen's mark in the fifty yard backstroke, swimming it in 37.8 seconds.

BOB BROWN covered the 13-14 backstroke distance in 15.8 seconds, breaking Tom Ocasek's record.

Winners of other events: Freestyle, boys, 9-10, John Stull; 11-12, Dick Evans; 13-14, Bill Raasch; 15-16, Rog Fredricksen.

Backstroke, boys, 9-10, John Stull; 11-12, Bill Nendel; 13-14, Bob Brown; 15-16, Bill Stull.

Freestyle, girls, 9-10, Mary Hetzel; 11-12, Barb Johnson; 13-14, Marguerite Dalton; 15-16, Bonnie Luster.

Backstroke, girls, 9-10, Patty Wollerman; 11-12, Dorothy Anderson; 13-14, Margo Hauff; 15-16, Margo Hauff.

Palatine 4-H August News

Special talks highlighted the August 9 meeting of the Palatine township 4-H club. Ronnie Buckley spoke on killing and picking geese, Donald Thurnau on the importance of a good oats bin, Mary Dunlavey on keeping plants healthy, Nancy Thurnau on organic materials, Ed Mossman on proper photography and improving your farm woods.

Edwin Thurnau, who spent a week at leadership camp, reported on the activities of the camp.

After voting for the 4-H king and queen, everyone was reminded of the baseball game August 17 against Barrington at North park.

August 30 a meeting will be held at which time members must hand in completed record books.

At Workshop

Julius C. Clemans, director of buildings and grounds for the Arlington Heights school system, was among seventy-five school business officials from 17 states and Canada who participated in the annual School Business Management Workshop sponsored by Michigan State university and the Association of School Business Officials of the United States and Canada on M.S.U. campus July 24-30.

At Wesleyan

Miss Roxi Ann Parker, 15 Vail, Arlington Heights, a teacher at South Jr. High school, is studying the religions of the Near and Far East and presidential elections and presidential leadership at Wesleyan university's graduate summer school for teachers.

She is one of 339 students attending the 6-week session on the Middletown, Conn., campus, which will end August 19.

A 1955 graduate of Ripon college, Miss Parker did graduate study at the University of Illinois and the National College of Education. (CC

More Business Property Sought

Applications to increase the amount of property zoned for business in Elk Grove and Wheeling townships have been filed with the county.

In Elk Grove township, 15 acres at the southwest corner of Golf and Elmhurst roads are involved. One application would rezone 1½ acres at the corner from single family to B4 general service district. The other would reclassify 13½ acres on the west side of Elmhurst road and 250 feet south of Golf road from single family to B2 restricted service district.

IN WHEELING township, 19 acres at the northeast corner of Foundry rd. and Elmhurst st. are under consideration for rezoning. The real estate, consisting of two parcels, now is zoned as a B2 restricted service district.

One petition seeks to reclassify 7 acres at the corner to the R6 general residence classification. In this apartment house zone, one dwelling unit may be erected for each 1,500 square feet of land area. The other seeks a B3 general service district classification for 12 acres located on the east side of Elmhurst street and 530 feet north of Foundry road.

The four petitions were submitted by Attorney Robert E. Haskins on behalf of banks acting as trustees. (ACM

Award Scholarships

Cary Robert Mock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Mock, 419 N. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, and Thomas Benjamin Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berton C. Wade, 3201 Peacock lane, Rolling Meadows, have been awarded freshman scholarships at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They will be among the 900 new students who will be enrolled at MIT when classes start September 19.

Forty per cent of the undergraduates will be assisted by loans and scholarships under plans for the Second Century program, now underway at MIT, which would provide an additional $3,000,000 in funds for student aid. (CC

At Chapel Hill

David T. Howland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry U. Howland, 564 N. Cumnock, Inverness, Palatine, has been in Chapel Hill, N. C., participating in the pre-registration and visitation program at the university. The purpose of the program is to enable a student to take placement tests, select his subjects for fall and to consult officials of the university in regard to scholarships, housing and other facts at the University of North Carolina.

Receives Degree

Among those who received advanced degrees at the 1960 summer commencement at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, held August 10 was George Frederick Keithley, 5055 S. Hi-Lusi, Mt. Prospect. He earned a master's degree in fine arts, majoring in English.

Newcomers Keep Busy Schedule

The Arlington Heights Newcomers club held its annual summer dinner dance Saturday at Chevy Chase country club. Sixty - five couples enjoyed turkey dinner and dancing until 2 a.m. Credit for its success goes to the dance chairman, Mrs. Quintin Sharp, and her committee.

The August 10 luncheon was held at Old Orchard country club. Cards followed the luncheon with Mrs. George Graham, Mrs. Gordon Martini and Mrs. Fred Walworth as brindge winners. Canasta winners were Mrs. Thomas Cantwell and Mrs. John Brunsfeld. Pinochle prizes went to Mrs. Wayne Peterson and Mrs. George Oliver.

ANYONE interested in bowling, who has not signed up, may do so by calling Mrs. Bruce Whiting at CLearbrook 5-6906. Bowling starts September 6.

Residents of Arlington Heights who have lived here for less than one and a half years are invited to attend a luncheon meeting as a guest, thus becoming eligible to membership in the Newcomers club. Further information concerning the club may be obtained from membership chairman Mrs. Paul Marx at Clearbrook 9-2481.

Rep. Church In Washington

Although the House of Representatives, due to reconvene on August 15, has been notified by House leadership that there would be no legislative action before August 22, Representative Marguerite Stitt Church, (R), 13th District, Illinois, returned to Washington on Monday, Aug. 15, in order to attend a vital meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee to which she had been summoned.

Mrs. Church will remain in Washington during the closing weeks of this session, except for a possible weekend trip or two back to the District to attend to pressing District business. Until this session finally adjourns in September, she can be reached either through her Evanston office or directly at her Washington office. (A13

Women to Fete Demo Candidate

The Wheeling Township Democratic Woman's club will hold a dinner for Roman Domas, Wednesday, Aug. 31, at the Union Hotel, 124 S. Milwaukee Ave., at 8 p.m.

Domas is running for state senator for the 4th district and the dinner is a campaign fund project. Interested persons may call Mrs. W. Thiele, LE 7-2099.

P.E.O. Members Demonstrate That Women Can Keep Secret

P.E.O. Sisterhoo
FOUNDED JAN.21, 1869
MT. PLEASANT, IOWA

SEVEN LOWA WESLEYAN coeds founded the P.E.O. January 21, 1869. It moved off campus four years later and since has grown to a membership of 136,000 with chapters in every state but New Hampshire. (A

(This is the third in a series of articles on Arlington Heights organizations. The articles will discuss who belongs, services performed, hostory, and future plans.)

Is it the People Eater's Order . . . Protect Elephants and Orangutans . . . Pest Extermination Organization . . . or Please Employ the Overweight?

The "it" in question is the P.E.O., a national women's welfare organization which numbers 135 Arlington Heights ladies among its members.

Although such a characteristic is not usually associated with woman, the organization has kept a secret for 91 years — the meaning of P.E.O.

"That's just one of the things you promise to do when you join," explained Mrs. D. A. Cox, 607 S. Pine, Arlington Heights. She is recording secretary of the Illinois State chapter of the P.E.O., which includes four Arlington Heights chapters.

"SINCE WE ONLY take women into membership through invitation, we are sure that the women who join are trustworthy and can keep a secret."

When their husbands kid them, the women usually cite the shroud of secrecy that is associated with many men's organizations in rebuttal. They jokingly call their husbands B.I.L's (Brothers-In-Law).

While the organization's name is a secret, its purpose is not. Since its founding on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan college by seven coeds in 1869, the P.E.O. has attempted to help educate women.

Through its educational fund, started in 1903 with a balance of $658.88 left from a P.E.O. day at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, the organization has loaned funds to 12,468 women students.

The local chapter works through the counseling departments at Prospect and Arlington high schools in nominating students for loans, which are made confidentially.

"We're always looking for girls to give loans to," Mrs. Cox said. "All they have to do is notify the counseling department."

COTTEY COLLEGE of Nevada, Mo., known as the "college of world friendship," was presented to the P.E.O. in 1927 by the founder, Virginia Cottey Stockard. The women's college, which can handle 350 students, is supported through P.E.O. fund drives and also has been helped by the B.I.L.'s, who donated $250,000 for a chapel in 1957.

An international peace scholarship program has brought students from 54 foreign countries to American colleges since its instigation in 1949. A scholarship student from Lebanon, who graduated this June from Northwestern, will soon be the first woman hospital administrator in the Middle East.

"They all want to go back and help their countries," Mrs. Cox noted.

A project on the state level, the P.E.O. elderly ladies home at Knoxville, was dedicated in 1953.

While raising funds is an important activity, the women do not "run themselves ragged" doing this, according to Mrs. Cox.

"With so many chapters in the United States, if each one chips in $250 a year, we're in good shape," she explained. Funds are raised through bazaars, rummage, cake, and nut sales.

AT MEETINGS, which are held twice a month, the ladies are often entertained by artists, musicians, and foreign students who are in the United States because of P.E.O. scholarships.

"For sentimental reasons, children often follow their mothers into membership," Mrs. Cox said.

The presidents of the four Arlington Heights chapters bear this out.

Mrs. William Franke, 120 S. Pine, chapter ER; Mrs. N. E. Johnson, 624 Banbury, chapter FW; Mrs. L. P. Swanson, 528 S. Bristol, chapter HN; and Mrs. Raymond E. Anderson, 933 N. Harvard, chapter IX, have all had grandmothers, mothers, or daughters in the P.E.O.

Four years after its founding, the society moved off campus, and now contains 136,000 members with chapters in every state except New Hampshire. The first Arlington Heights chapter, ER, was organized in 1935.

Payment of Student Fees Starts Monday

Payment of fees for students of Arlington and Prospect high schools will begin Monday, August 2.

Each student will pay his fees at the school where he is enrolled.

The offices will be open August 22-26, and August 29 through September 2, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. On Saturdays — August 27 and September 3 — fees can be paid from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Students are being asked to report in alphabetical groups for the payment of fees. The students, who will report according to the first letter of their last name, should follow this schedule:

A - E, Monday, Aug. 22, or Tuesday, Aug. 23, F - M, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, Aug. 24 - 26. N - R, Monday, Aug. 29, or Tuesday, Aug. 30. S - Z, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday, Aug. 31 — September 2.

THOSE UNABLE to report on a weekday may report on Saturday.

For the first time identification card and yearbook pictures for freshmen, sophomores and juniors will be taken when the student pays his fees, and fee bills will be electronically pre-prepared.

When the student pays his fees, he will receive his schedule of classes and textbooks. Any student who lives a mile and half or farther from school will receive a bus pass entitling him to free transportation.

Bus routes will be published in the Herald later this month.

The general fee is $11, and special fees will be collected from students enrolling in certain subjects. Purchase of insurance, yearbook and the athletic season pass are optional.

Special fees run as follows:

ART (EXCEPT fine arts appreciation) - $4, social science - 80 cents, home economics - $2, industrial arts - $3, mechanical drawing - $2, music (except harmony and arranging) - $2, science (except biology) - $2, driver education - $3.

World history - $1, American history - $1.20, football insurance - $7.50, student insurance - $2.50, yearbook - $4.50, and athletic season pass - $3.50.

For a student taking chemistry, an additional $1.50 is required as laboratory breakage deposit. The unused portion will be refunded in June.

The athletic season passes represent a value of approximately $8 in single admissions. School calendars will be on sale for 50 cents by the National Forensic league in both buildings.

Opening day of instruction at Prospect and Arlington high is Tuesday, Sept. 6.

BOTH SCHOOLS will have an eight - period day. Arlington high will begin at 8:30 a.m. and close at 4:10 p.m. The academic classes will close at 3:20, with the following 50 minutes for extra-curricular activities.

Prospect high school's day will run from 8 a.m. to 3:40 p.m. The academic period will close at 2:50 p.m., with extra-curricular activities following.

Parents who drive their students to Arlington or pick them up after school are asked to use the circle drive in from of the building, or the east side of Walnut avenue. The sides of Ridge and Walnut adjacent to the building are reserved for buses.

Parents who drive their students to Prospect high are asked to use the parking lot to the west of the high school since the circle drive is reserved for buses.

Two eight-year-olds, Cindy Miller and Todd Behrens, led the destruction of records at the Lion's Olympics swimming events Saturday, August 6, at Recreation park pool.

Cindy shattered Carol Spomer's 1958 effort of 22.1 seconds when she swam the 25-yd. free style event in 18.8 seconds. In the backstroke event, she took two seconds off Lynn Buckley's 1955 record of 25.3.

Todd, in the freestyle event, bettered John Nelson's record of 18.5 seconds by finishing in 18.2. He also bettered Nelson's record for the backstroke by 1.7 seconds, swimming the distance in 22.7.

Bonnie Luster broke Joan Keppen's 1958 mark of 33.6 seconds for the 15 and 16-year-old 50 yard freestyle by covering the distance in 32.2.

Margo Hauff, in the 13-14 age group, broke Miss Keppen's mark in the fifty yard backstroke, swimming it in 37.8 seconds.

BOB BROWN covered the 13-14 backstroke distance in 15.8 seconds, breaking Tom Ocasek's record.

Winners of other events: Freestyle, boys, 9-10, John Stull; 11-12, Dick Evans; 13-14, Bill Raasch; 15-16, Rog Fredricksen.

Backstroke, boys, 9-10, John Stull; 11-12, Bill Nendel; 13-14, Bob Brown; 15-16, Bill Stull.

Freestyle, girls, 9-10, Mary Hetzel; 11-12, Barb Johnson; 13-14, Marguerite Dalton; 15-16, Bonnie Luster.

Palatine 4-H August News

Special talks highlighted the August 9 meeting of the Palatine township 4-H club. Ronnie Buckley spoke on killing and picking geese, Donald Thurnau on the importance of a good oats bin, Mary Dunlavey on keeping plants healthy, Nancy Thurnau on organic materials, Ed Mossman on proper photography and improving your farm woods.

Edwin Thurnau, who spent a week at leadership camp, reported on the activities of the camp.

After voting for the 4-H king and queen, everyone was reminded of the baseball game August 17 against Barrington at North park.

August 30 a meeting will be held at which time members must hand in completed record books.

At Workshop

Julius C. Clemans, director of buildings and grounds for the Arlington Heights school system, was among seventy-five school business officials from 17 states and Canada who participated in the annual School Business Management Workshop sponsored by Michigan State university and the Association of School Business Officials of the United States and Canada on M.S.U. campus July 24-30.

At Wesleyan

Miss Roxi Ann Parker, 15 Vail, Arlington Heights, a teacher at South Jr. High school, is studying the religions of the Near and Far East and presidential elections and presidential leadership at Wesleyan university's graduate summer school for teachers.

She is one of 339 students attending the 6-week session on the Middletown, Conn., campus, which will end August 19.

A 1955 graduate of Ripon college, Miss Parker did graduate study at the University of Illinois and the National College of Education. (CC

More Business Property Sought

Applications to increase the amount of property zoned for business in Elk Grove and Wheeling townships have been filed with the county.

In Elk Grove township, 15 acres at the southwest corner of Golf and Elmhurst roads are involved. One application would rezone 1½ acres at the corner from single family to B4 general service district. The other would reclassify 13½ acres on the west side of Elmhurst road and 250 feet south of Golf road from single family to B2 restricted service district.

IN WHEELING township, 19 acres at the northeast corner of Foundry rd. and Elmhurst st. are under consideration for rezoning. The real estate, consisting of two parcels, now is zoned as a B2 restricted service district.

One petition seeks to reclassify 7 acres at the corner to the R6 general residence classification. In this apartment house zone, one dwelling unit may be erected for each 1,500 square feet of land area. The other seeks a B3 general service district classification for 12 acres located on the east side of Elmhurst street and 530 feet north of Foundry road.

The four petitions were submitted by Attorney Robert E. Haskins on behalf of banks acting as trustees. (ACM

Award Scholarships

Cary Robert Mock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Mock, 419 N. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, and Thomas Benjamin Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berton C. Wade, 3201 Peacock lane, Rolling Meadows, have been awarded freshman scholarships at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. They will be among the 900 new students who will be enrolled at MIT when classes start September 19.

Forty per cent of the undergraduates will be assisted by loans and scholarships under plans for the Second Century program, now underway at MIT, which would provide an additional $3,000,000 in funds for student aid. (CC

At Chapel Hill

David T. Howland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry U. Howland, 564 N. Cumnock, Inverness, Palatine, has been in Chapel Hill, N. C., participating in the pre-registration and visitation program at the university. The purpose of the program is to enable a student to take placement tests, select his subjects for fall and to consult officials of the university in regard to scholarships, housing and other facts at the University of North Carolina.

Receives Degree

Among those who received advanced degrees at the 1960 summer commencement at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, held August 10 was George Frederick Keithley, 5055 S. Hi-Lusi, Mt. Prospect. He earned a master's degree in fine arts, majoring in English.

Newcomers Keep Busy Schedule

The Arlington Heights Newcomers club held its annual summer dinner dance Saturday at Chevy Chase country club. Sixty - five couples enjoyed turkey dinner and dancing until 2 a.m. Credit for its success goes to the dance chairman, Mrs. Quintin Sharp, and her committee.

The August 10 luncheon was held at Old Orchard country club. Cards followed the luncheon with Mrs. George Graham, Mrs. Gordon Martini and Mrs. Fred Walworth as brindge winners. Canasta winners were Mrs. Thomas Cantwell and Mrs. John Brunsfeld. Pinochle prizes went to Mrs. Wayne Peterson and Mrs. George Oliver.

ANYONE interested in bowling, who has not signed up, may do so by calling Mrs. Bruce Whiting at CLearbrook 5-6906. Bowling starts September 6.

Residents of Arlington Heights who have lived here for less than one and a half years are invited to attend a luncheon meeting as a guest, thus becoming eligible to membership in the Newcomers club. Further information concerning the club may be obtained from membership chairman Mrs. Paul Marx at Clearbrook 9-2481.

Rep. Church In Washington

Although the House of Representatives, due to reconvene on August 15, has been notified by House leadership that there would be no legislative action before August 22, Representative Marguerite Stitt Church, (R), 13th District, Illinois, returned to Washington on Monday, Aug. 15, in order to attend a vital meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee to which she had been summoned.

Mrs. Church will remain in Washington during the closing weeks of this session, except for a possible weekend trip or two back to the District to attend to pressing District business. Until this session finally adjourns in September, she can be reached either through her Evanston office or directly at her Washington office. (A13

Women to Fete Demo Candidate

The Wheeling Township Democratic Woman's club will hold a dinner for Roman Domas, Wednesday, Aug. 31, at the Union Hotel, 124 S. Milwaukee Ave., at 8 p.m.

Domas is running for state senator for the 4th district and the dinner is a campaign fund project. Interested persons may call Mrs. W. Thiele, LE 7-2099.

Virginia Terrace News

Family of the week........is that of Margaret and Eugene Dougherty, 1417 N. Wilke, and their children, Gene, 7, Joanne, 5, Kathleen, 4, and Mary Ellen, 2, who were among the Virginia Terrace pioneers six years ago. Both Chicagoans from the Rogers Park area, they were introduced through mutual friends during high school days. Following graduation, Eugene went to work in his profession as a sheet metal worker, while Margaret attended Mundelein college for two years before becoming a working girl. Eugene, in the meantime, served with the armed services as an engineer for two years. However, their courtship culminated in marriage eight years ago.

The Doughertys attend St. James Catholic church, which is where Gene and Joanne will attend school this fall. The family is closely knit and they see a great deal of their mothers, Mrs. Frank Goodrich and Mrs. Viola Dougherty, both of Chicago, who live within a block of each other in Chicago.

Eugene's hobbies center around his membership in the Knights of Columbus, belonging to the bowling team. He is also a member of the Virginia Terrace softball team. He is a sports enthusiast, obviously, and a general handy man, having completed the building of his own garage.

Margaret wishes she had more time and space to indulge in her hobby of sewing. Both enjoy music, playing tennis together, and informal entertaining at home, while an evening out must include dancing. Plans for the future include buying a big, old house, which they look forward to re-doing themselves.

TOMORROW IS moving day for Charmaine and Charles Sayre, 1204 N. Race, and their children, Lauren, William, Thomas and Robert. Their friends and neighbors wish them luck and happiness in their new home, which they were happy to learn, is located at 610 S. Kaspar, right here in town.

Diane and Charles Moser, 1418 N. Illinois, recently returned from a combination business and pleasure trip, which included a visit with Diane's sister, Miss Valerie Matthews, Hot Springs, Ark. The Mosers were accompanied by their daughters, Valerie and Michaele while the four boys remained at home; Chuck and Mark with their paternal grandparents and Mike and K. C. with an aunt.

Michele celebrated her 4th birthday August 10 at an afternoon party. Helping her to blow out the candles on the cake were her sister, Valerie, brothers, Mark and K. C., and playmates, Stephen Balow, Gail Chodera, Michael Brown and Joyce Randle.

Catching up on the latest news revolving around their family life, dining out and trips into Chicago were some of the ways in which Jean and Bill Guderley, 1228 N. Yale, and their children, Jean and Gail, entertained Jean's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Waddell, who were here on a week's vacation with their children, Alexis, Jill and Bruce, from Mesa, Ariz.

After becoming a great grandmother only two weeks ago, Mrs. Marie Bender, 1119 N. Wilke, proudly announces that she has a new grandson. Her daughter, Dorothy, gave birth August 5 to Robert John, weighing 6 pounds 13 ounces.

ANOTHER COUPLE mixing business and pleasure are Virginia and Dean Arnold, 1410 N. Race, as they recently enjoyed not only the Gift Show itself, but the banquet concluding same at the Palmer House. August 10 Virginia and Dean and their sons, John and Jimmy, were guests at the White Sox-Yankee game, dinner in Chinatown and a tour of the Chinese temple and market place.

A family dinner party August 11 marked the fifth birthday celebration of Hall, son of Donna and William Stratton, 1219 N. Wilke. He received assistance in blowing out the candles on his cake from his sister, Lee.

Leaving husband and father, Bill, at home Cathy Gunnison, 1407 Clarendon, took their boys, Bobby, Scott and Mark, on a week's vacation trip to Sabetha, Kan., to visit Cathy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lackland.

Mary Ellen and Eugene Van de Merkt, 1231 N. Wilke, and their children, Johnny, Patty and Larry, just returned from a 2-week vacation trip highlighted by their experience in being accompanied by a house trailer. They enjoyed visiting state and national parks and other points of interest enroute to their destination of Estes Park, Mt. Rushmore and the Black Hills; but, says Mary Ellen, there were times when she almost turned back.

IDEAL SWIMMING weather made it a pleasant weekend for Marva and Bernhard Kuhl, 1518 Clarendon, and their daughters, Carol and Roxanne, who were at the summer home of Bernhard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Kuhl at Three Lakes, Wis.

After touring the upper peninsula, Joan and Dick Larson, 1245 N. Illinois, and their children, Tommy and Doug, decided on a 5-day stay at a lodge at Sturgeon Bay. Swimming, golfing and boat rides were on the agenda, but highlight of their vacation was a visit to the newly opened "Aqualand", where the boys had fun feeding the deer and seeing the other zoo animals.

An afternoon party was held Tuesday for Kenny, son of Doris and Ken Koser, 1327 N. Illinois, who was celebrating his sixth birthday. Sharing the festivities, which included games, favors, birthday cake and ice cream, were his sister, Kathy, and playmates Danny Reed, Johnny Fairfield, David and Sarah Polarek, Frank and Stevie Pircher and John Lilly.

A theatre party was held for Tommy, son of Mary Lee and Clayton Lyons, 1248 N. Race, last Saturday afternoon in honor of his seventh birthday, August 11. After the matinee at the Arlington theatre, Tommy's brother, Dick, Brad Trowe, Fritzie Cotsakis, Tommy Sayre and John McCabe enjoyed a cook-out supper.

Sunday, Mary Lee's mother, Mrs. M. W. Haws, Fulton, Ky., arrived for a 4-day visit with the family, which includes a granddaughter, Jane.

EXHAUSTED, but relaxed, says Nancy Grassly, 1414 N. Yale, who, together with her husband, Clifton, and the children, Janet, Beth and Clifton, returned from a vacation trip to Bailey's Harbor, Door County, Wis., where they spent several weeks with friends, with emphasis on swimming, boating and sun-bathing.

A 3-week vacation trip was recently enjoyed by Gerry and Don Gardner, 1302 N. Race, and their sons, Robert and Craig. First stop was at Weymouth, Mass., where the family visited Gerry's mother, Mrs. John Colligan. Then it was on to the Dunes Village resort at Myrtle Beach, S. C., where all enjoyed swimming, fishing and golfing.

Back home again, Craig's ninth birthday was honored last Sunday at a family dinner party at the home of his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gardner, Antioch. Also sharing in his birthday cake were a great aunt, Mrs. Ida Stoneberg, Chicago, and friend James Koeppl, Arlington Heights.

Robert Phillip, infant son of Marguerite and James Cates, 1334 N. Yale, was baptized recently in ceremonies at St. James Catholic church, at which Rev. George Roth officiated. Godparents were neighbor, Andy Reed, and Miss Margaret Merges, Arlington Heights. The Reed family, Miss Merges and the Cateses' other children, Nancy, Cindy and Jimmy, were all on hand later in the day for a barbecue supper party celebrating the event.

THE PAST weeks have been busy ones for Kay and Robert Roden, 1212 N. Illinois, and their daughter, Kathy Ann. They recently spent two weeks visiting friends in Norwalk, Conn. Upon their return home, the Rodens were hosts for a week to Kay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Malley, Chicago. And then, much to Kathy Ann's delight, a former Chicago neighbor and playmate, Susan Thurston, spent several days with the Roden's.

Visits to the races, Brookfield zoo and a sight seeing trip to Chicago have been among the activities enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Weingardt, Indianapolis, and children, Bruce and Elaine, this past week while guests of Mrs. Weingardt's brother and his family, the Ray Crouches, 1228 N. Chicago.

Jo and Bob Hult, 1108 N. Chicago, and their children, Jane and Jack, recently enjoyed a visit from Jo's mother, Mrs. Charles Hunt, Prophetstown, who enjoyed trips into Chicago to sightsee and shop.

The Hults' son, Jack, celebrated his eighth birthday Saturday at a buffet supper party. Present to wish him many happy returns were Mr. and Mrs. David Larson, and their children, Ann, Linda and David, Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich., paternal grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Hult, Park Ridge, aunts and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Booth, Northbrook, and Mrs. Ernest Booth, Chicago, and of course, Jack's sister, Jane. August 15, Jack's natal day, was recognized by his entertaining Mike Griffith at lunch.

Connie and Charles Dolejs, 1200 N. Race, and their cohosts, Darlene and Bob Krug, 1212 N. Race, entertained friends and neighbors at a party Saturday night. Among Terrace couples present were the Charles Marshalls, Ron Reeds and the Don Jacobsens. Eight other couples from nearby areas joined in the fun, which included games, dancing and a late buffet snack.

Jerri Rix, 1244 N. Chicago, and her children, Jill and David, spent last week at Egg Harbor, Mich., at the summer home of Jerri's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heagstedt, Chicago. Activities included swimming, visiting relatives and a visit to the wild life museum there. Husband and father, Bill, joined the family Thursday night for the weekend.

Excitement prevailed at the home of Carolyn and Bob Parkin, 1511 Clarendon, recently as plans were formulated for their son, Brad, to be ring bearer in the wedding party of Carolyn's sister, Miss Judy Ingebrigtsen of Rolling Meadows.

It was a dual birthday celebration Sunday at the home of Betty and Carl Bloom, 1345 N. Illinois, for Cheryl, who will be 6 August 24, and Lars, one August 4. Attending the family dinner party were the children's brothers, Marty and Eric, sister, Wendy, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sven Dahlberg, Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bloom, Roselle, aunts, uncles and cousins, including Betty's sister and her family, the P. V. Hansens, Lincoln Nebr.

A SPECIAL birthday treat for Karen, daughter of Donna and Jack Garland, 1317 N. Chicago, 7 August 6, was being taken to Riverview park last Thursday with her brother, John, and sister, Debbie. Highlight of the afternoon was the parachute jump made with her mother. The family concluded the day with a picnic supper.

Shirlee Pircher, 1330 N. Illinois, and her boys, Frank, Steve and Mike, have returned from a week's visit with the Walter Pircher family, Racine, Wis.

It was a triple celebration for Tommy, son of Jean and Ed Lussier, 1216 N. Chicago. A barbecue supper party Saturday night was attended by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Behan, Evanston, and his brothers, Bobby, Jimmy, Eddy and John. Sunday his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lussier, uncle, Robert Lussier, and aunt, uncle and cousins, the Joseph Sullivan family, all of Glenview, were guests at a barbecue dinner party.

Monday afternoon Tommy was wished a happy sixth birthday by his brothers and Doug Brown, Gordon and Wayne Heise, Tommy and Johnny Noerenberg, John Patrick Noon, Brad and Stan Crouch, Barrington, and Edward Paul, all of whom admired and enjoyed the Indian theme prevailing throughout. (A

Village Hall Report Expected by October

A recommendation as to whether Arlington Heights needs a new village hall is expected to be made to the village board sometime in October, according to John Woods, chairman of a citizen's committee appointed to study the matter.

Formed last May, the 40-member committee has been hard at work. The building sub-committee has visited municipal buildings in other communities as far away as Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn in south suburban Chicago.

Committee members have poured over blue prints, gathered finanical data, talked with the village manager, the architect, and gone into every phase of the village's municipal hall needs and how to pay for them.

THE COMMITTEE was formed at the request of the village board when that body abandoned, after considerable controversy, plans to finance a new municipal building out of existing funds.

The committee is charged with the task of determining if a new hall is needed, and if so, what size it should be.

While it would be unfair to say the committee favors a new village hall before the study is completed and submitted to trustees, the chances are that construction of a new building will be recommended.

Woods noted this week that the finance sub-committee is paying particular attention to how a new building would affect the village's tax structure.

ONE OF THE unresolved questions facing the committee is how far in advance should the village plan. For its present needs? Or for 1970 when a 50,000 population is predicted for Arlington Heights?

Cost of the building visualized by village trustees is $464,374 excluding land, furniture, or fixtures.

The executive and building committees have a joint meeting with Village Manager L. A. Hanson and the architect early next month, and should come up with a recommendation as to building needs shortly afterward, says Woods.

Amateur Dog Show Planned August 27

Dogs and kids of all sizes and varieties will be gathered in the Arlington Market shopping center Saturday, Aug. 27 to participate in the Ken-L-Ration Amateur Dog show.

The "curb stone setter" will be able to compete on his merits alone with the pure breds. No pedigrees or formal training are necessary. Application blank are available in all Market stores.

Prizes will be awarded in such categories as best costumed dog, largest dog, smallest dog and best trick dog.

All those who bring their dogs will receive prizes. A loving cup will be presented by the Arlington Market Merchants association as a grand prize.

There will be ribbons, "T" shirts and other prizes, plus a free can of Ken-L-Ration for every dog who brings his master to the show. Many of the prizes to be awarded are on display in Arlington Market stores.

JUDGING FOR the show will be under the direction of Charles V. Barry, trainer of the Northwest Obedience club, Dr. John Palenske, member of Chicago Veterinarian Medical association, and Eugene Korn, officer in charge of animal welfare for the village of Arlington Heights.

The show will be at 10 a.m. in the parking lot of the Arlington Market. In the afternoon the winners from all of the Jewel Food Store shows throughout the area will gather for the grand finals at 2 p.m. A band concert for the entertainment of the shoppers will take place at 3 p.m. (A

Virginia Terrace News

Family of the week........is that of Margaret and Eugene Dougherty, 1417 N. Wilke, and their children, Gene, 7, Joanne, 5, Kathleen, 4, and Mary Ellen, 2, who were among the Virginia Terrace pioneers six years ago. Both Chicagoans from the Rogers Park area, they were introduced through mutual friends during high school days. Following graduation, Eugene went to work in his profession as a sheet metal worker, while Margaret attended Mundelein college for two years before becoming a working girl. Eugene, in the meantime, served with the armed services as an engineer for two years. However, their courtship culminated in marriage eight years ago.

The Doughertys attend St. James Catholic church, which is where Gene and Joanne will attend school this fall. The family is closely knit and they see a great deal of their mothers, Mrs. Frank Goodrich and Mrs. Viola Dougherty, both of Chicago, who live within a block of each other in Chicago.

Eugene's hobbies center around his membership in the Knights of Columbus, belonging to the bowling team. He is also a member of the Virginia Terrace softball team. He is a sports enthusiast, obviously, and a general handy man, having completed the building of his own garage.

Margaret wishes she had more time and space to indulge in her hobby of sewing. Both enjoy music, playing tennis together, and informal entertaining at home, while an evening out must include dancing. Plans for the future include buying a big, old house, which they look forward to re-doing themselves.

TOMORROW IS moving day for Charmaine and Charles Sayre, 1204 N. Race, and their children, Lauren, William, Thomas and Robert. Their friends and neighbors wish them luck and happiness in their new home, which they were happy to learn, is located at 610 S. Kaspar, right here in town.

Diane and Charles Moser, 1418 N. Illinois, recently returned from a combination business and pleasure trip, which included a visit with Diane's sister, Miss Valerie Matthews, Hot Springs, Ark. The Mosers were accompanied by their daughters, Valerie and Michaele while the four boys remained at home; Chuck and Mark with their paternal grandparents and Mike and K. C. with an aunt.

Michele celebrated her 4th birthday August 10 at an afternoon party. Helping her to blow out the candles on the cake were her sister, Valerie, brothers, Mark and K. C., and playmates, Stephen Balow, Gail Chodera, Michael Brown and Joyce Randle.

Catching up on the latest news revolving around their family life, dining out and trips into Chicago were some of the ways in which Jean and Bill Guderley, 1228 N. Yale, and their children, Jean and Gail, entertained Jean's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Waddell, who were here on a week's vacation with their children, Alexis, Jill and Bruce, from Mesa, Ariz.

After becoming a great grandmother only two weeks ago, Mrs. Marie Bender, 1119 N. Wilke, proudly announces that she has a new grandson. Her daughter, Dorothy, gave birth August 5 to Robert John, weighing 6 pounds 13 ounces.

ANOTHER COUPLE mixing business and pleasure are Virginia and Dean Arnold, 1410 N. Race, as they recently enjoyed not only the Gift Show itself, but the banquet concluding same at the Palmer House. August 10 Virginia and Dean and their sons, John and Jimmy, were guests at the White Sox-Yankee game, dinner in Chinatown and a tour of the Chinese temple and market place.

A family dinner party August 11 marked the fifth birthday celebration of Hall, son of Donna and William Stratton, 1219 N. Wilke. He received assistance in blowing out the candles on his cake from his sister, Lee.

Leaving husband and father, Bill, at home Cathy Gunnison, 1407 Clarendon, took their boys, Bobby, Scott and Mark, on a week's vacation trip to Sabetha, Kan., to visit Cathy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lackland.

Mary Ellen and Eugene Van de Merkt, 1231 N. Wilke, and their children, Johnny, Patty and Larry, just returned from a 2-week vacation trip highlighted by their experience in being accompanied by a house trailer. They enjoyed visiting state and national parks and other points of interest enroute to their destination of Estes Park, Mt. Rushmore and the Black Hills; but, says Mary Ellen, there were times when she almost turned back.

IDEAL SWIMMING weather made it a pleasant weekend for Marva and Bernhard Kuhl, 1518 Clarendon, and their daughters, Carol and Roxanne, who were at the summer home of Bernhard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Kuhl at Three Lakes, Wis.

After touring the upper peninsula, Joan and Dick Larson, 1245 N. Illinois, and their children, Tommy and Doug, decided on a 5-day stay at a lodge at Sturgeon Bay. Swimming, golfing and boat rides were on the agenda, but highlight of their vacation was a visit to the newly opened "Aqualand", where the boys had fun feeding the deer and seeing the other zoo animals.

An afternoon party was held Tuesday for Kenny, son of Doris and Ken Koser, 1327 N. Illinois, who was celebrating his sixth birthday. Sharing the festivities, which included games, favors, birthday cake and ice cream, were his sister, Kathy, and playmates Danny Reed, Johnny Fairfield, David and Sarah Polarek, Frank and Stevie Pircher and John Lilly.

A theatre party was held for Tommy, son of Mary Lee and Clayton Lyons, 1248 N. Race, last Saturday afternoon in honor of his seventh birthday, August 11. After the matinee at the Arlington theatre, Tommy's brother, Dick, Brad Trowe, Fritzie Cotsakis, Tommy Sayre and John McCabe enjoyed a cook-out supper.

Sunday, Mary Lee's mother, Mrs. M. W. Haws, Fulton, Ky., arrived for a 4-day visit with the family, which includes a granddaughter, Jane.

EXHAUSTED, but relaxed, says Nancy Grassly, 1414 N. Yale, who, together with her husband, Clifton, and the children, Janet, Beth and Clifton, returned from a vacation trip to Bailey's Harbor, Door County, Wis., where they spent several weeks with friends, with emphasis on swimming, boating and sun-bathing.

A 3-week vacation trip was recently enjoyed by Gerry and Don Gardner, 1302 N. Race, and their sons, Robert and Craig. First stop was at Weymouth, Mass., where the family visited Gerry's mother, Mrs. John Colligan. Then it was on to the Dunes Village resort at Myrtle Beach, S. C., where all enjoyed swimming, fishing and golfing.

Back home again, Craig's ninth birthday was honored last Sunday at a family dinner party at the home of his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gardner, Antioch. Also sharing in his birthday cake were a great aunt, Mrs. Ida Stoneberg, Chicago, and friend James Koeppl, Arlington Heights.

Robert Phillip, infant son of Marguerite and James Cates, 1334 N. Yale, was baptized recently in ceremonies at St. James Catholic church, at which Rev. George Roth officiated. Godparents were neighbor, Andy Reed, and Miss Margaret Merges, Arlington Heights. The Reed family, Miss Merges and the Cateses' other children, Nancy, Cindy and Jimmy, were all on hand later in the day for a barbecue supper party celebrating the event.

THE PAST weeks have been busy ones for Kay and Robert Roden, 1212 N. Illinois, and their daughter, Kathy Ann. They recently spent two weeks visiting friends in Norwalk, Conn. Upon their return home, the Rodens were hosts for a week to Kay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Malley, Chicago. And then, much to Kathy Ann's delight, a former Chicago neighbor and playmate, Susan Thurston, spent several days with the Roden's.

Visits to the races, Brookfield zoo and a sight seeing trip to Chicago have been among the activities enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Weingardt, Indianapolis, and children, Bruce and Elaine, this past week while guests of Mrs. Weingardt's brother and his family, the Ray Crouches, 1228 N. Chicago.

Jo and Bob Hult, 1108 N. Chicago, and their children, Jane and Jack, recently enjoyed a visit from Jo's mother, Mrs. Charles Hunt, Prophetstown, who enjoyed trips into Chicago to sightsee and shop.

The Hults' son, Jack, celebrated his eighth birthday Saturday at a buffet supper party. Present to wish him many happy returns were Mr. and Mrs. David Larson, and their children, Ann, Linda and David, Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich., paternal grandmother, Mrs. A. J. Hult, Park Ridge, aunts and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Booth, Northbrook, and Mrs. Ernest Booth, Chicago, and of course, Jack's sister, Jane. August 15, Jack's natal day, was recognized by his entertaining Mike Griffith at lunch.

Connie and Charles Dolejs, 1200 N. Race, and their cohosts, Darlene and Bob Krug, 1212 N. Race, entertained friends and neighbors at a party Saturday night. Among Terrace couples present were the Charles Marshalls, Ron Reeds and the Don Jacobsens. Eight other couples from nearby areas joined in the fun, which included games, dancing and a late buffet snack.

Jerri Rix, 1244 N. Chicago, and her children, Jill and David, spent last week at Egg Harbor, Mich., at the summer home of Jerri's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heagstedt, Chicago. Activities included swimming, visiting relatives and a visit to the wild life museum there. Husband and father, Bill, joined the family Thursday night for the weekend.

Excitement prevailed at the home of Carolyn and Bob Parkin, 1511 Clarendon, recently as plans were formulated for their son, Brad, to be ring bearer in the wedding party of Carolyn's sister, Miss Judy Ingebrigtsen of Rolling Meadows.

It was a dual birthday celebration Sunday at the home of Betty and Carl Bloom, 1345 N. Illinois, for Cheryl, who will be 6 August 24, and Lars, one August 4. Attending the family dinner party were the children's brothers, Marty and Eric, sister, Wendy, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sven Dahlberg, Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bloom, Roselle, aunts, uncles and cousins, including Betty's sister and her family, the P. V. Hansens, Lincoln Nebr.

A SPECIAL birthday treat for Karen, daughter of Donna and Jack Garland, 1317 N. Chicago, 7 August 6, was being taken to Riverview park last Thursday with her brother, John, and sister, Debbie. Highlight of the afternoon was the parachute jump made with her mother. The family concluded the day with a picnic supper.

Shirlee Pircher, 1330 N. Illinois, and her boys, Frank, Steve and Mike, have returned from a week's visit with the Walter Pircher family, Racine, Wis.

It was a triple celebration for Tommy, son of Jean and Ed Lussier, 1216 N. Chicago. A barbecue supper party Saturday night was attended by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Behan, Evanston, and his brothers, Bobby, Jimmy, Eddy and John. Sunday his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lussier, uncle, Robert Lussier, and aunt, uncle and cousins, the Joseph Sullivan family, all of Glenview, were guests at a barbecue dinner party.

Monday afternoon Tommy was wished a happy sixth birthday by his brothers and Doug Brown, Gordon and Wayne Heise, Tommy and Johnny Noerenberg, John Patrick Noon, Brad and Stan Crouch, Barrington, and Edward Paul, all of whom admired and enjoyed the Indian theme prevailing throughout. (A

Village Hall Report Expected by October

A recommendation as to whether Arlington Heights needs a new village hall is expected to be made to the village board sometime in October, according to John Woods, chairman of a citizen's committee appointed to study the matter.

Formed last May, the 40-member committee has been hard at work. The building sub-committee has visited municipal buildings in other communities as far away as Evergreen Park and Oak Lawn in south suburban Chicago.

Committee members have poured over blue prints, gathered finanical data, talked with the village manager, the architect, and gone into every phase of the village's municipal hall needs and how to pay for them.

THE COMMITTEE was formed at the request of the village board when that body abandoned, after considerable controversy, plans to finance a new municipal building out of existing funds.

The committee is charged with the task of determining if a new hall is needed, and if so, what size it should be.

While it would be unfair to say the committee favors a new village hall before the study is completed and submitted to trustees, the chances are that construction of a new building will be recommended.

Woods noted this week that the finance sub-committee is paying particular attention to how a new building would affect the village's tax structure.

ONE OF THE unresolved questions facing the committee is how far in advance should the village plan. For its present needs? Or for 1970 when a 50,000 population is predicted for Arlington Heights?

Cost of the building visualized by village trustees is $464,374 excluding land, furniture, or fixtures.

The executive and building committees have a joint meeting with Village Manager L. A. Hanson and the architect early next month, and should come up with a recommendation as to building needs shortly afterward, says Woods.

Amateur Dog Show Planned August 27

Dogs and kids of all sizes and varieties will be gathered in the Arlington Market shopping center Saturday, Aug. 27 to participate in the Ken-L-Ration Amateur Dog show.

The "curb stone setter" will be able to compete on his merits alone with the pure breds. No pedigrees or formal training are necessary. Application blank are available in all Market stores.

Prizes will be awarded in such categories as best costumed dog, largest dog, smallest dog and best trick dog.

All those who bring their dogs will receive prizes. A loving cup will be presented by the Arlington Market Merchants association as a grand prize.

There will be ribbons, "T" shirts and other prizes, plus a free can of Ken-L-Ration for every dog who brings his master to the show. Many of the prizes to be awarded are on display in Arlington Market stores.

JUDGING FOR the show will be under the direction of Charles V. Barry, trainer of the Northwest Obedience club, Dr. John Palenske, member of Chicago Veterinarian Medical association, and Eugene Korn, officer in charge of animal welfare for the village of Arlington Heights.

The show will be at 10 a.m. in the parking lot of the Arlington Market. In the afternoon the winners from all of the Jewel Food Store shows throughout the area will gather for the grand finals at 2 p.m. A band concert for the entertainment of the shoppers will take place at 3 p.m. (A

Couple to Celebrate 60th Year of Wedlock

An Arlington Heights couple will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Friday, August 19.

"We owe it to my nice disposition," said Mrs. George Petersen, 79, of 1324 N. Dunton. Her 81-year-old husband nodded his assent.

The couple met at a church masquerade party on the northwest side of Chicago in 1898, and were married two years later.

"There weren't any cars or radios then," Mrs. Petersen noted, "so young people went to the churches for social activities."

MR. PETERSEN ran elevators in Chicago for 50 years, including 21 years at the opera house, before retiring 10 years ago. Mrs. Petersen has been a housewife all her life. Keeping the house tidy still occupies much of her time, she noted.

They moved to Arlington Heights from Maywood 43 years ago, at a time when there were no roads, gas or lights near their home.

THE COUPLE has six children, all of whom graduated from Arlington high school. They also have 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Three of their children, George, Robert and Dorothy, still live in Arlington Heights. The others live in Des Plaines, Waukegan, and Battle Creek, Mich. All will be at the Petersens' residence Saturday to help their parents celebrate.

"We just hope we feel fine every morning, and aim to keep on living," Mrs. Petersen said. (AF

Acreage Annexed; Plan Town Houses

Annexation of 32.5 acres near the northeast corner of Thomas st. and State rd. in north Arlington Heights was approved this week by the village board.

The petitioner for the annexation was the Stoltzner Building company. Plans for the annexed area call for eight buildings with four townhouses each for a total of 32 units. The townhouses would front on State rd. with the remainder of the area reserved for single-family residences.

The annexed property automatically comes into the village as R-1, the highest single-family classification. Before the developer can carry out his plans he will have to persuade the plan commission to rezone the property to R-5, which would allow the townhouses, and R-3 for a lower classification of single-family residences. The R-3 classification would allow more density than R-1. (AF

Arlington Woman Is Foster Mother

Mrs. Donald Shane, 711 E. Park, Arlington Heights, has financially adopted a six year old Italian girl through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc.

The girl, Maria Di Mauro, lives with her mother and four other children in a one-room apartment in Augusta, Sicily. Her father died two years ago, meeting with an accident while at work.

Maria's mother is attempting to support her five children or a social security pension of $59.20 a month. Rent for the apartment is $12.80 monthly, with electricity and gas taking another $3.72.

Maria stands three feet six inches and weighs 44 pounds. The other children are Rosa, 10; Salvatore, eight; Elena, three, and Francesco, one.

MARIA DI MAURO

MRS. SHANE has promised to contribute $15 a month toward the child's support for at least one year.

Foster Parents' Plan, which has rehabilitated more than 76,000 children since its founding in 1937, is now helping 17,500 youngsters in Greece, Italy, South Korea, France, Belgium, Viet Nam and Hong Kong.

Of the $15, $7 is used for periodic food and new clothing packages, translations of letters, medical services, and education. The remaining $8 is an outright cash grant.

Foster Parents' Plan is located at 352 Park ave., South, New York. (A

Local Teenager Represents U.S.

An Arlington Heights youth will be among 28 teenagers representing the United States at the Berlin, Germany, Industries Fair, September 13-27.

Gary L. Erwin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Erwin, 908 W. Campbell, was notified of his selection by the United States Information agency last week.

Erwin, a senior at Arlington high school and 1960 Illinois high school trampoline champion, will give trampoline exhibitions at the fair. Other teenagers will give exhibitions in science, fine arts, agriculture, photography and home economics.

Theme of the United States exhibition is "American Youth."

After a 10 day orientation program in Washington D. C., Erwin and the other teenagers will leave for Berlin by airplane August 31. The first two weeks in Berlin will be spent in preparing for the exhibition.

GARY ERWIN

After suffering a broken leg that year, he switched to the trampoline, and was a member of the undefeated Arlington gymnastic teams during his sophomore and junior years.

The 1959 and 1960 Arlington high units took first in the state, helped by Erwin's performance on the trampoline. He also played third base on the varsity baseball team and on the Arlington Heights American legion squad this year. (AF

Local Teenager Represents U.S.

An Arlington Heights youth will be among 28 teenagers representing the United States at the Berlin, Germany, Industries Fair, September 13-27.

Gary L. Erwin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Erwin, 908 W. Campbell, was notified of his selection by the United States Information agency last week.

Erwin, a senior at Arlington high school and 1960 Illinois high school trampoline champion, will give trampoline exhibitions at the fair. Other teenagers will give exhibitions in science, fine arts, agriculture, photography and home economics.

Theme of the United States exhibition is "American Youth."

After a 10 day orientation program in Washington D. C., Erwin and the other teenagers will leave for Berlin by airplane August 31. The first two weeks in Berlin will be spent in preparing for the exhibition.

ERWIN originally chose tumbling as his specialty when he took part in gymnastics during his freshman year at Prospect high school.

GARY ERWIN

After suffering a broken leg that year, he switched to the trampoline, and was a member of the undefeated Arlington gymnastic teams during his sophomore and junior years.

The 1959 and 1960 Arlington high units took first in the state, helped by Erwin's performance on the trampoline.

He also played third base on the varsity baseball team and on the Arlington Heights American legion squad this year. (AF

A MAN TO BE PROUD OF!

Mostly because he seems to think of everything! Time for an extra special vacation, a new car, a new home? He's got the money . . . in his savings account, where saving put it!

P.S. He couldn't have done all that saving unassisted. But like a good wife, she lets him think so!

Bond Issue for State Hospitals Supported

The Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children has thrown the weight of its 43 affiliated associations behind the $150,000,000 state welfare building bond issue.

Harold V. Bostock, council president, Thursday announced the organization's endorsement of the bond issue and launched a campaign by parents and friends of the mentally retarded to help win passage of the measure in the Nov. 8 election.

IF SUCCESSFUL, the bond issue will provide urgently needed funds to improve state institutions for the care of the mentally retarded, mentally ill, schools for the deaf and blind and other specialized facilities of the department of public welfare.

Bostock requested all council-affiliated units to take immediate action on appointment of two persons to work in a pre-November bond issue campaign.

Council representatives will aid in the distribution of promotional material and coordinate the efforts of council units with area leaders of the department of public welfare.

Some council units will set up speakers' bureaus to help explain the need for the bond issue to local civic, social and women's organizations. Others plan letter campaigns.

"It is apparent that all concerned persons and agencies in the state must join hands with the department of public welfare in promoting and publicizing this bond issue," said Bostock in a bulletin to council associations.

PASSAGE OF the bond issue would mean extensive rehabilitation and new construction at the Lincoln and Dixon State Schools which have more than 10,000 mentally retarded residents. Allotments from the issue for the two schools are estimated at $23,845,449.

"Lincoln has buildings 100 years old. Both schools are inadequate according to modern health standards. They are 43.1 per cent over-crowded and have a waiting list of 1,800 persons," Bostock said.

Lincoln's bond issue allotment, estimated at $13,477,719 would provide 520 new beds. Construction projects include completion of a girls' cottage and annex; central dietary facility; dining room and kitchen addition; security facility; modernization of power plant and main building; farm buildings and laundry; elevated water tank; and buildings for activities, therapy, central stores, mechanical shops and employees residential quarters.

AN ESTIMATED $10,367,730 has been allotted for improvements to Dixon which would receive 450 new beds. Construction projects include a central dietary facility; two teen age units; medical-surgical building; infirmary; additions to the administration building and laundry and buildings to house an activities therapy program and mechanical store and shops, furniture repair and paint shops.

Two of the council's largest associations - the Dixon State School Parents Association and the Lincoln Parents Association, Inc. - work for the welfare of the institution's residents.

Their combined memberships of more than 1,000 families have organized and financed programs of cottage aid in the form of gifts of equipment not provided by the state; volunteer services; parties and outings and holiday gifts for all residents.

BOTH GROUPS make a special effort to provide year-round treats and special attention for the many residents who have no family ties of their own.

Other council-affiliated associations operate special schools, vocational workshops and recreational and welfare programs for mentally retarded children and young adults living in their own home communities. There are an estimated 150,000 retarded children and adults in Illinois

Deceit Is Threat To Relationships

By
LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Deceit is an unwelcome word. The very sound of it has an antagonistic effect, yet, it is a personality trait which almost everyone practices on occasion, to conceal a condition, or hide a motive.

Have you, as a wife, ever been especially nice to your husband for a whole week, cooking just what he likes, bringing him the evening paper and his slippers, and telling him how wonderful he is, how proud you are to be his wife, and how much you love him?

AND THEN, at the end of the week, you said to him, "Darling, will you go shopping with me today?" Because you have been so nice to him, he feels under obligation to say yes. Then, when you get him to the department store, you introduce him to a dress you saw a week ago and wanted — before your campaign started. And you ask him: "Darling, will you get me that new dress? It's such a bargain!'

And so, because you were so nice to him, he bought you the dress.

How would you say you got that dress? Could it have been by deceit? By being nice to him, not especially because you love him, but to soften him up, so he would buy you that dress. Otherwise, why aren't you just as nice to him all the time? Don't you love him all the time? Isn't he the same fellow every day?

AND YOU, as a husband, remember the time you sent the wife a bouquet of roses on Thursday, a box of candy on Friday, fixed the leaky faucet, repaired the scratched dresses and left the car home for her to go to the club without her asking? Because on Saturday, you intended to ask her if it was alright for you to go golfing with Bob, when you knew all the time she had planned a picnic for you and the kids?

Being deceitful is a good way to spoil a perfect family relationship. It can become an entering wedge to dampen the ardor of a man for his wife, or a wife for her husband, or between friends. And the pleasure you will get from that dress will never be what it would have been, if your husband bought it because you show your love and cooperation for him all the time; or that game of golf will not be as much fun as it would have been, if your wife and children gave up the picnic just because they loved you, and not because [illegible] put her on the spot.

"Out of the heart of men, proceed deceit." Mark 7:21.

AND YOU, as a husband, remember the time you sent the wife a bouquet of roses on Thursday, a box of candy on Friday, fixed the leaky faucet, repaired the scratched dresses and left the car home for her to go to the club without her asking? Because on Saturday, you intended to ask her if it was alright for you to go golfing with Bob, when you knew all the time she had planned a picnic for you and the kids?

Being deceitful is a good way to spoil a perfect family relationship. It can become an entering wedge to dampen the ardor of a man for his wife, or a wife for her husband, or between friends. And the pleasure you will get from that dress will never be what it would have been, if your husband bought it because you show your love and cooperation for him all the time; or that game of golf will not be as much fun as it would have been, if your wife and children gave up the picnic just because they loved you, and not because you put her on the spot.

"Out of the heart of men, proceed deceit." Mark 7:21.

Striking Features Identify Trees

You can recognize trees as well as you remember faces.

The technique's the same. Mark in your mind some outstanding physical feature for "association."

It's not difficult to develop a "memory" for things arboreal, according to Robert Washburn, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert company. Bark, leaves, twigs, pith and buds differ from tree to tree. Sometimes these differences are so vivid one kind of tree can be identified by its bark or buds alone.

Take birch. Almost anyone can identify the birch at a glance, although there are striking differences between various types. When two, three or more kinds of trees have similarly recognizable bark, but only one has thorns, you have the key to recognition when you remember only the bark and thorns.

YOU CAN paint your own mental portrait gallery of woody pets through other signatures Fragrance, taste, color, form or even feel are some. Such fragrances as lilac or sassafras are olafactory delights never forgotten. On the other scale, if and when Junior climbs the backyard honeylocust, he'll remember it for years as a thorny experience.

You don't have to recall small things to identify the landscaping. Sometimes the method of sleuthing called "observing the tree as a whole" does the trick. The pin oak trademark is a main leader or branch extending to the tree top. Broad-topped or spreading trees, such as the American elm, have stems which divide into many divisions.

Mac Tours Tournament Site; Impressed With Layout

Columnist Describes White Pines

(Last week G. A. McElroy toured White Pines golf club in Bensenville, the site of Paddock Publications' 1960 golf tournament Aug. 28. The conductor of "Mac Says" devotes his column to a hole-by-hole description this week in order to give the competing golfers some idea of what will face them when they tee off in the links spectacle.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

Paddock Publications' tourney, involving the leading teams of the twilight golf leagues in the newspapers' circulation area, will be held on the south course of the White Pines golf club in Bensenville Sunday, Aug. 28.

We played this course with Gary Clendenny, Palatine high golf coach, and have prepared a hole-by-hole description of the layout for the competing golfers.

We were greatly impressed with the condition of the greens and fairways. White Pines has a good blue grass turf which leaves no need for playing winter rules. The greens will take an approach shot and hold the ball on a 7, 8, or 9 iron shot. The putting surface is smooth and all the greens putt alike.

TEES ARE large with good turf in contrast with a number of daily fee courses we have seen. The course is par 70 with a 34 first nine and a 36 for the second with the total yardage 6,304.

Louis Esposito of Franklin Park is the club pro with Fred Willey the club manager and Ray Pratt the assistant manager. Great credit is due Al Hinz, the greenskeeper, for the unusually fine maintenance and condition of the course. A spacious club house has ample facilities for handling big tournaments and this big 36 hole layout handles many of them each year.

Hole 1—Par 4—426 yards: The fairway is wide and straightaway to the green with a big trap on the right side at about 185 yards. Trees line both sides of the fairway and the green is large and flat.

Hole 2—Par 4—449 yards: This is one of the better holes. It is a dog leg to the left with a thick clump of trees jutting out on the fairway at 200-225 yards. Two big bunkers are short of the trees and a pond behind them. The green is fairly small and elevated slightly. Like all the holes it is trapped on both sides.

Hole 4—Par 4—393 yards: The fairway has trees on both sides and a bunker on the left at 100 yards. Trees are tight on the left all the way to an elevated green. A bunker on the right front of the green leaves a narrow opening for a pitch and run shot.

Hole 5—Par 4—275 yards: This is an easy par 4 but the fairway is narrow and there is a lot of trouble around a green which is rolling and can be troublesome. Big traps and bunkers surround the green and an overshot means real trouble.

Hole 6—Par 4—352 yards: A fence and bushes are right to tee on the right and trees on the left make a narrow fairway for the last 150 yards. The green is small and slopes from all sides to the center except from the front.

Hole 7—Par 3—130 yards: A creek crosses the fairway midway to the green which is large and well trapped. The green curves down to the middle but has quite a hump on the left side and placing the tee shot is important for good putting.

Hole 8—Par 3—216 yards: This is a very sporty hole. The tee shot crosses a semi-dry creek which curves down the left side past the green. The green has a large rather flat trap on the right and slopes off to the creek on the right with a narrow opening to a wide flat putting surface. No trouble if you hit too long. Seems like a short 216 yards.

Hole 9—Par 4—405 yards: A slight dog leg to the right with trees along the right side. Three bunkers are spaced along the fairway on the right. The green is a bit elevated and is narrow at the front, widening out in the rear, and is well trapped.

Hole 10 — Par 4 — 358 yards: Has bunkers on both sides of fairway at 180 to 250 yards. Thick trees are on left at 250-300 yards. Green has a hump on right center.

Hole 11 — Par 3 — 220 yards: There is a wide level fairway to medium sized green. Plays more like 185 yards than 220. We found a 3-iron long enough for this one.

Hole 12 — Par 4 — 357 yards: Level flat fairway with few trees except a thick clump on left at 175-200 yards. A creek crosses the fairway at 300 yards just short of the green.

Hole 13 — Par 4 — 422 yards: You shoot from a wide, elevated tee across a creek at 150 yards and up hill to a level fairway. The fairway is quite narrow the last 200 yards with a small green having a narrow entrance.

Hole 14 — Par 5 — 555 yards: This is a good hole. It is a sharp dog leg to the right around a fence corner which juts out at 225 yards. From this point the fairway narrows with a small elevated green well-trapped but cupped in the center.

Hole 15 — Par 4 — 446 yards: This hole is a long four with a narrow fairway lined by trees for the first 180 yards. It is a slight dog leg left with trees and bunkers on the left side near the green which slopes up all the way from the front.

Hole 16 — Par 4 — 328 yards: This is a sharp dog leg to the left but a good drive will carry the bunkers which are the only hazards on the left, shortening the hole. The fairway is wide but there is a big trap and the right front approach to the green is humped to narrow the entrance.

Hole 17 — Par 3 — 160 yards: The tee shot is over a 70 yard wide pond to an elevated green. The green is large and flat with trees at the rear and traps on both sides.

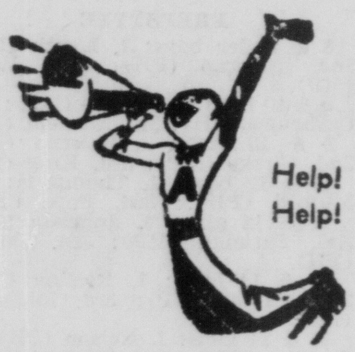
Hole 18 — Par 5 — 452 yards: This is a dog leg to the left around a long row of trees. The fairway is wide and there is a creek just short of the green which is dry and full of weeds. From creek to green is thick grass encouraging an approach which lands on the green.

We played the course shortly after a morning rain. Our approach shots lacked accuracy. The greens were unusually fine for putting. We shot 39-44: 83, and Clendenny, who birdied 9 and 16, registered a 78.

We feel the Paddock tournament golfers will enjoy playing this course as much as we did.

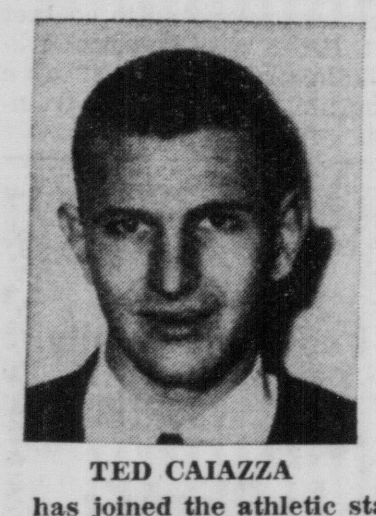
Handicap Headlines Saturday's Racing

KICKIN' IT AROUND



by BOB FRISK

AS A SPORTS attraction designed to benefit charities, the annual College All-Star football game in Chicago's Soldier field is undeniably a success . . . As an interesting gridiron encounter, it leaves a lot to be desired . . . It's evident now that the pros have advanced to a stage where they completely outclass the collegians, and it's possible the All-Stars might never win another game . . . Perhaps last Friday's game would have been closer if nine of the eleven consensus All-Americans in 1959 had played . . . We'll never know . . . But if the new American football league and Canadian loop continue to attract the top collegiate stars each year and forbid them to play in the All-Star game, scores of the past two years won't be uncommon . . . Although AFL commissioner Joe Foss is noncommittal at this point, all evidence points to the absence of American football league rookies in the future as well.



TED CAIAZZA

Ted Caiazza, former Lyons township high school basketball great who still holds the West Suburban conference scoring record for one season with 412 markers in 14 games, has joined the athletic staff at Rich township high school in Park Forest. Caiazza was athletic director and head basketball coach at Hebron high school during 1959-60.

Joel Hirsch, the golf star who lost a playoff to Mt. Prospect's Ed Moehling for the Illinois State amateur crown this summer, wishes to transfer from the University of Houston to the University of Illinois . . . His transcript now is being studied by Illinois officials to determine whether his grades are high enough to permit entrance . . . Moehling had transferred from Houston to Northern Illinois . . . Mike Psaltis won the first place award in the intra-squad York track club decathlon recently . . . Psaltis, a senior this fall at the Elmhurst school, won firsts in the 100 yard dash at :10.6, the shot put at 54-2½, the discus at 125-10, and tied for first in the 220-yard dash at :24.7 . . . Mike just missed a berth on Paddock's All-State cinder aggregation as a junior.

If Purdue quarterback Bernie Allen is as accurate with his passing this fall as he is with his golf shots, the Boilermakers' Big Ten opponents will be in trouble. Allen made an amazing hole-in-one recently, sinking a 330-yard two-wood shot on the Purdue course.

Jim Elliott, York high school's standout athlete in 1959-60 and a member of Paddock Publications' All-State track team, has been awarded a football scholarship to Iowa State university in Ames, Ia. . . . Other York announcements find football linemen John Bullaro and Roger Moos heading for Southern Illinois along with baseball and basketball star Jim Long . . . All-WSC wrestler Bruce Strom will head for Eastern Illinois and pitching standout Don Alusic is enrolled at MIT . . . Jim Bolin, who played a major role in the Dukes' two cage victories over Arlington high last winter, has a basketball scholarship at the University of New Mexico.

Herb Jannusch of the Kankakee Daily Journal wonders why Bloom high school couldn't cut some budget corners and play football and basketball in 1960-61 without spending school funds. He feels that by eliminating expenses that weren't absolutely necessary, the two big sports could be made to pay for themselves out of gate receipts. If the fans realized that the future of the entire athletic program depended on their support at the gate, they should turn out.

Centralia's Gary Wolff, the only married member of the track cast that copped state championships last spring, is apartment hunting in Champaign to confirm his previous announcement that he would attend Illinois . . . Wolff set a new state record in the pole vault . . . Gaining Wolff helps somewhat to offset the loss of Morton township's Al Carius and Arlington's Mike Dundy . . . Both Carius and Dundy had signed Illinois tenders but both decided on other schools . . . Carius, state mile champion, is going to Kansas, and Dundy, an All-Stater in both football and track, has selected Stanford . . . Illinois is still in the battle for the services of Matthew Baggett, the 6-2, 230-pound All-State football tackle from Berkely, Calif., who was consistently over 60-feet in the shot put as a prep . . . Don Bragg feels 15-3 will win the Olympic pole vaulting title although he and others have done much better . . . The catch is the bar starts lower which means all-day competition . . . The Olympic record is 14-11½.

In 1958 Illinois' Bobby Mitchell won the Big Ten 220-yard sprint title, and he and Northwestern's Wilmer Fowler tied for the 100-yard crown . . . Which serves as background to underline the kind of speed possessed by fullback Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns and helps explain why he's such a terrific ball-carrier.

On the second day of Cleveland's practice this summer Brown tied Mitchell and Fowler in a 40-yard sprint with a :04.6 clocking . . . Mitchell and Fowler weigh 40-45 pounds less than Brown who carries a solid 230, yet the ex-Syracuse great runs on a par with the sprint champions . . . Comparing him with former pro fullback greats, Brown likely doesn't have the sheer power of a Bronko Nagurski, Jack Manders or Marion Motley, but none of them could match his tremendous speed.

Saints Handle Huskies

Collecting nine hits and scoring in four of the six innings, the Saints dumped the Huskies 7-2 for the Intermediate championship in Arlington Heights.

Representing the Northside intermediate loop, the Saints jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the second frame and held on for the impressive victory.

Frase worked the victory and fanned 11 over the six innings. Pat Brady absorbed the loss, collecting 10 strikeouts.

Predick rapped a homer for the Saints, and Kanne and Klinkey registered doubles.

Fall Sports Registration Begins Monday

Registration for all football and cross country candidates at Arlington high school, including frosh, will be held Monday through Friday, Aug. 22-26, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in the office of H. W. Grace, athletic director.

Before any athlete registers at Arlington, however, he must comply with the following items:

(1) physical given or mailed to school nurse.

(2) general registration for school completed with fees paid; bring receipt showing payment of fees when registering.

(3) parents' card signed and ready on day of athletic registration.

The amount of the football fees will be announced in Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's letter. Cross country boys will pay required insurance fee and towel fee.

17 League Leaders Prepare for Tourney

The long and the short and the tall — that'll be the lineup of golfers Sunday, Aug. 27, when 17 twilight leagues send their leaders to compete for honors in the Paddock tournament at White Pines.

Complete list of foursomes in order of tee-off wll appear in the sports pages next week, along with handicaps and all other details of the big event.

Foursomes will be aligned by sports editor Bob Frisk according to ability of the golfers. In no event will more than one golfer from any one league be competing in the same foursome.

HOTTEST LOOP of all, of course, will be the Old Orchard Scratch league, with all four golfers having best scores of 36-38 gross in each case. In other words, they are golfers who would normally shoot 72-76.

Included are Martin Gilmore with 36-36-36-36-37; Marvin Prellberg (former sports writer for Paddock Publications) with 36-36-37-37-37; Vern Rascher with 38-38-38-38-38; John St. Germaine with 34-37-38-38-39; and alternate Til Foy with 39-39-40-41-41

AT OTHER end of the list will be found one golfer whose best nights have been 54-54-53-52-48. In between will be the other 63 golfers, all of them twilight players who enjoy the game, and take the time one evening a week to escape family chores for a quiet round of golf.

The tournament, of course, is a handicap affair which tends to make all teams even. Whichever squad can have three golfers hit their average, and one man hottern' a fire cracker, usually takes home the large traveling trophy and the first place medals.

This hot golfer is usually one who normally averages 95 for 18 holes. For the tournament he'll be shooting 82 and the event will be over. In the same vein the Old Orchard Scratch league entry could also take the event, though two of their members would have to shoot about 68 with the others hitting their average to take home the marbles.

FIRST ENTRIES for the tournament, as per Tuesday afternoon of this week, include:

Hedge Hoppers, Bensenville VFW league at Glendale.

John L. Stearns & Company, Tuesday Night league at Rob Roy.

Pitzen Movers, Scratch league at Old Orchard.

Jim's Service, Wayside-Colette league at Old Orchard.

Koops Mustard, Arlington Heights Twilight league at Roselle.

Illinois Range, St. Raymond Holy Name League No. 2 at Mt. Prospect.

Moran Furs, St. Raymond Holy Name League No. 1 at Mt. Prospect.

Morton Pontiac, Tuesday Nite league at Mt. Prospect.

Kruse Schlitz, Monday nite league at Mt. Prospect. pect.

Deadline for entries is this Saturday, Aug. 20, with first place teams as of Aug. 13 sought. League officials rule in event of ties and other disputes.

Registration Open For Cheerleaders

$50,000 Feature On Grass Course

C. V. Whitney's brilliant California invader, Dotted Swiss, who came, saw and conquered in the recent Armour Memorial here, will be out to extend his winning streak in Saturday's climactic $50,000 added Arlington Handicap on the grass at Arlington Park.

Now winner of six straight races, including the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup and Sunset prior to his gallop in the $50,000 Armour, Dotted Swiss will seek to dominate both grass and dirt events in his impressive ride to national stardom.

The traditional 1 3-16 miles Handicap features Washington Park's third week of racing at Arlington Park, a week which also spotlighted the running of the $15,000 added Prairie State Stakes for two-year-olds, seen as a final major preview for the approaching $100,000 added Washington Park Futurity here on Sept. 3.

Dotted Swiss won with authority in the 1 1-8 miles Armour Memorial, turning back a determined stretch challenge by Sunnyside Stable Resolved and Claiborne Farms' Dunce, reporting home 1½ lengths to the good under Bill Shoemaker. The son of Counterpoint looks like a good one and ostensibly is improving with each race.

RESOLVED and Dunce both will be back and should be aided by a return to grass competition. Dunce captured the $50,000 Stars & Stripes on the turf at the Handicap distance, running down Resolved, then failed by a scant nose to dropping Internationally in the Equipoise mile here. The son of Tom Fool was frustrated by the slow pace of the Armour and had no challenge when the real racing began at about the quarter pole.

Resolved is a dyed-in-the-wool grass specialist, showing triumphs in the Meadowland here and in the Balmoral Turf and Olympia Turf handicaps at Washington Park earlier this spring and summer.

Several new contenders are expected for the Arlington Handicap. Cain Hoy Stable's One-Eyed King, who back in March won both the Green Valley and Donn Handicaps at Gulfstream Park, will ship in from the East to test the local stars, while Mrs. Herbert Herff's Tudor Era, one of the nation's most feared grass competitors when right, is being groomed for a return to action.

JOHN ZITNIK'S Manassas, who dropped last year's Arlington Handicap renewal by a nose to Round Table in a dramatic three-horse photo, may make his last bid along a fading comeback trail in Saturday's event, while Calumet Farm has nominated On-and-On, for the grass headliner.

On-and-On came back to life recently with victory in the Wark Memorial here and the coveted Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct two weeks ago but Calumet can never be counted on positively to start a horse in a grass stake.

Among other Arlington Handicap probables are Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Johnston's Fleet Nasrullah, Blossom Stable's Pripoly, Jacnot Stable's Anxious Moment and Robert B. Meitus' King Grail.

Restaurant Sweeps Twin Bill

Mell & Paul's swept both ends of a twin bill with the People's Choice to move into a first place deadlock with Bender Reiger in the Rolling Meadows Softball league.

After dropping the opener, Sigwalt bounced back to take an 8-7 thriller in the nightcap from Bender Reiger. Bender Reiger took the opener 13-1.

Preliminaries Explained for PHS Athletes

The Prospect Knights will inaugurate the 1960 football season against St. Procopius on Saturday evening, September 17 and cross country at Fenton on Friday, September 16.

The Illinois High School Association requires fourteen days of practice before a boy may participate in his first football game. It is important that each participant complete the following preliminaries before the opening of practice on Monday, August 29.

1. Return your complete physical examination report to the school prior to checking out equipment.
2. Bring your parent permit card with you to your first practice.
3. Bring your school fee receipt with you verifying the purchase of athletic insurance.

School fees may be paid in the main office at Prospect High School between Monday, August 2 and the opening day of practice.

Correction!

It has been erroneously reported throughout the summer that Ed Denten managed the Eagles of the Varsity league, Arlington Heights champions for 1960. Although Denten's name did appear in the Little League program, Ed Schneider was the man who guided the Eagles to the Varsity loop title.

Mac Tours Tournament Site; Impressed With Layout

Columnist Describes White Pines

by G. A. McELROY

Paddock Publications' tourney, involving the leading teams of the twilight golf leagues in the newspapers' circulation area, will be held on the south course of the White Pines golf club in Bensenville Sunday, Aug. 28.

We played this course with Gary Clendenny, Palatine high golf coach, and have prepared a hole-by-hole description of the layout for the competing golfers.

We were greatly impressed with the condition of the greens and fairways. White Pines has a good blue grass turf which leaves no need for playing winter rules. The greens will take an approach shot and hold the ball on a 7, 8, or 9 iron shot. The putting surface is smooth and all the greens putt alike.

TEES ARE large with good turf in contrast with a number of daily fee courses we have seen. The course is par 70 with a 34 first nine and a 36 for the second with the total yardage 6,304.

Louis Esposito of Franklin Park is the club pro with Fred Willey the club manager and Ray Pratt the assistant manager. Great credit is due Al Hinz, the greenskeeper, for the unusually fine maintenance and condition of the course. A spacious club house has ample facilities for handling big tournaments and this big 36 hole layout handles many of them each year.

Hole 1—Par 4—426 yards: The fairway is wide and straightaway to the green with a big trap on the right side at about 185 yards. Trees line both sides of the fairway and the green is large and flat.

Hole 2—Par 4—449 yards: This is one of the better holes. It is a dog leg to the left with a thick clump of trees jutting out on the fairway at 200-225 yards. Two big bunkers are short of the trees and a pond behind them. The green is fairly small and elevated slightly. Like all the holes it is trapped on both sides.

Hole 4—Par 4—393 yards: The fairway has trees on both sides and a bunker on the left at 100 yards. Trees are tight on the left all the way to an elevated green. A bunker on the right front of the green leaves a narrow opening for a pitch and run shot.

Hole 5—Par 4—275 yards: This is an easy par 4 but the fairway is narrow and there is a lot of trouble around a green which is rolling and can be troublesome. Big traps and bunkers surround the green and an overshot means real trouble.

Hole 6—Par 4—352 yards: A fence and bushes are right to tee on the right and trees on the left make a narrow fairway for the last 150 yards. The green is small and slopes from all sides to the center except from the front.

Hole 7—Par 3—130 yards: A creek crosses the fairway midway to the green which is large and well trapped. The green curves down to the middle but has quite a hump on the left side and placing the tee shot is important for good putting.

Hole 8—Par 3—216 yards: This is a very sporty hole. The tee shot crosses a semi-dry creek which curves down the left side past the green. The green has a large rather flat trap on the right and slopes off to the creek on the right with a narrow opening to a wide flat putting surface. No trouble if you hit too long. Seems like a short 216 yards.

Hole 9—Par 4—405 yards: A slight dog leg to the right with trees along the right side. Three bunkers are spaced along the fairway on the right. The green is a bit elevated and is narrow at the front, widening out in the rear, and is well trapped.

Hole 10 — Par 4 — 358 yards: Has bunkers on both sides of fairway at 180 to 250 yards. Thick trees are on left at 250-300 yards. Green has a hump on right center.

Hole 11 — Par 3 — 220 yards: There is a wide level fairway to medium sized green. Plays more like 185 yards than 220. We found a 3-iron long enough for this one.

Hole 12 — Par 4 — 357 yards: Level flat fairway with few trees except a thick clump on left at 175-200 yards. A creek crosses the fairway at 300 yards just short of the green.

Hole 13 — Par 4 — 422 yards: You shoot from a wide, elevated tee across a creek at 150 yards and up hill to a level fairway. The fairway is quite narrow the last 200 yards with a small green having a narrow entrance.

Hole 14 — Par 5 — 555 yards: This is a good hole. It is a sharp dog leg to the right around a fence corner which juts out at 225 yards. From this point the fairway narrows with a small elevated green well-trapped but cupped in the center.

Hole 15 — Par 4 — 446 yards: This hole is a long four with a narrow fairway lined by trees for the first 180 yards. It is a slight dog leg left with trees and bunkers on the left side near the green which slopes up all the way from the front.

Hole 16 — Par 4 — 328 yards: This is a sharp dog leg to the left but a good drive will carry the bunkers which are the only hazards on the left, shortening the hole. The fairway is wide but there is a big trap and the right front approach to the green is humped to narrow the entrance.

Hole 17 — Par 3 — 160 yards: The tee shot is over a 70 yard wide pond to an elevated green. The green is large and flat with trees at the rear and traps on both sides.

Hole 18 — Par 5 — 452 yards: This is a dog leg to the left around a long row of trees. The fairway is wide and there is a creek just short of the green which is dry and full of weeds. From creek to green is thick grass encouraging an approach which lands on the green.

We played the course shortly after a morning rain. Our approach shots lacked accuracy. The greens were unusually fine for putting. We shot 39-44: 83, and Clendenny, who birdied 9 and 16, registered a 78.

We feel the Paddock tournament golfers will enjoy playing this course as much as we did.

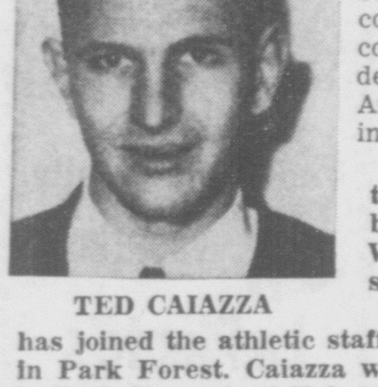
KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

AS A SPORTS attraction designed to benefit charities, the annual College All-Star football game in Chicago's Soldier field is undeniably a success . . . As an interesting gridiron encounter, it leaves a lot to be desired . . . It's evident now that the pros have advanced to a stage where they completely outclass the collegians, and it's possible the All-Stars might never win another game . . . Perhaps last Friday's game would have been closer if nine of the eleven consensus All-Americans in 1959 had played . . . We'll never know . . . But if the new American football league and Canadian loop continue to attract the top collegiate stars each year and forbid them to play in the All-Star game, scores of the past two years won't be uncommon . . . Although AFL commissioner Joe Foss is non-committal at this point, all evidence points to the absence of American football league rookies in the future as well.



TED CAIAZZA

Ted Caiazza, former Lyons township high school basketball great who still holds the West Suburban conference scoring record for one season with 412 markers in 14 games, has joined the athletic staff at Rich township high school in Park Forest. Caiazza was athletic director and head basketball coach at Hebron high school during 1959-60.

Joel Hirsch, the golf star who lost a playoff to Mt. Prospect's Ed Moehling for the Illinois State amateur crown this summer, wishes to transfer from the University of Houston to the University of Illinois . . . His transcript now is being studied by Illinois officials to determine whether his grades are high enough to permit entrance . . . Moehling had transferred from Houston to Northern Illinois . . . Mike Psaltis won the first place award in the intra-squad York track club decathlon recently . . . Psaltis, a senior this fall at the Elmhurst school, won firsts in the 100 yard dash at :10.6, the shot put at 54-2½, the discus at 125-10, and tied for first in the 220-yard dash at :24.7 . . . Mike just missed a berth on Paddock's All-State cinder aggregation as a junior.

If Purdue quarterback Bernie Allen is as accurate with his passing this fall as he is with his golf shots, the Boilermakers' Big Ten opponents will be in trouble. Allen made an amazing hole-in-one recently, sinking a 330-yard two-wood shot on the Purdue course.

Jim Elliott, York high school's standout athlete in 1959-60 and a member of Paddock Publications' All-State track team, has been awarded a football scholarship to Iowa State university in Ames, Ia. . . . Other York announcements find football linemen John Bullaro and Roger Moos heading for Southern Illinois along with baseball and basketball star Jim Long . . . All-WSC wrestler Bruce Strom will head for Eastern Illinois and pitching standout Don Alusic is enrolled at MIT . . . Jim Bolin, who played a major role in the Dukes' two cage victories over Arlington high last winter, has a basketball scholarship at the University of New Mexico.

Herb Jannusch of the Kankakee Daily Journal wonders why Bloom high school couldn't cut some budget corners and play football and basketball in 1960-61 without spending school funds. He feels that by eliminating expenses that weren't absolutely necessary, the two big sports could be made to pay for themselves out of gate receipts. If the fans realized that the future of the entire athletic program depended on their support at the gate, they should turn out.

Centralia's Gary Wolff, the only married member of the track cast that copped state championships last spring, is apartment hunting in Champaign to confirm his previous announcement that he would attend Illinois . . . Wolff set a new state record in the pole vault . . . Gaining Wolff helps somewhat to offset the loss of Morton township's Al Carius and Arlington's Mike Dundy . . . Both Carius and Dundy had signed Illinois tenders but both decided on other schools . . . Carius, state mile champion, is going to Kansas, and Dundy, an All-Stater in both football and track, has selected Stanford . . . Illinois is still in the battle for the services of Matthew Baggett, the 6-2, 230-pound All-State football tackle from Berkely, Calif., who was consistently over 60-feet in the shot put as a prep . . . Don Bragg feels 15-3 will win the Olympic pole vaulting title although he and others have done much better . . . The catch is the bar starts lower which means all-day competition . . . The Olympic record is 14-11½.

In 1958 Illinois' Bobby Mitchell won the Big Ten 220-yard sprint title, and he and Northwestern's Wilmer Fowler tied for the 100-yard crown . . . Which serves as background to underline the kind of speed possessed by fullback Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns and helps explain why he's such a terrific ball-carrier.

On the second day of Cleveland's practice this summer Brown tied Mitchell and Fowler in a 40-yard sprint with a :04.6 clocking . . . Mitchell and Fowler weigh 40-45 pounds less than Brown who carries a solid 230, yet the ex-Syracuse great runs on a par with the sprint champions . . . Comparing him with former pro fullback greats, Brown likely doesn't have the sheer power of a Bronko Nagurski, Jack Manders or Marion Motley, but none of them could match his tremendous speed.

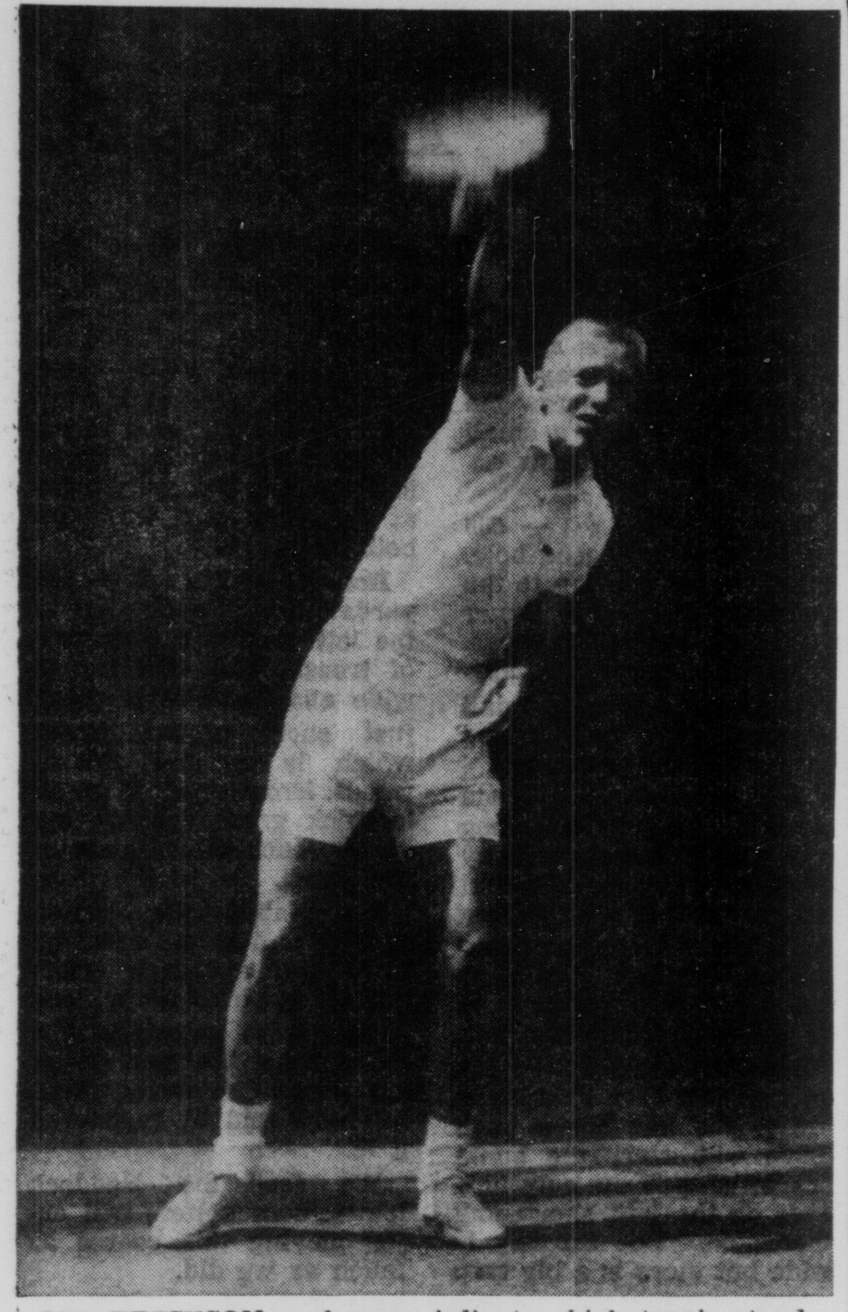
Correction!

It has been erroneously reported throughout the summer that Ed Denten managed the Eagles of the Varsity league, Arlington Heights champions for 1960. Although Denten's name did appear in the Little League program, Ed Schneider was the man who guided the Eagles to the Varsity loop title.



JIM ERICKSON, a former Arlington high tennis standout, is performing this summer with the Arlington tennis club. Erickson teamed with Bob Inman in 1959 for a second in doubles competition in the prep net finals in Champaign.

Arlington's Swim Team 2nd in Meet

The Arlington Heights Park District swimming team concluded its 1960 season by placing second in the ten-team Northern Illinois conference championship meet last week.

The two-day affair was held in Des Plaines, and Park Ridge powered its way to an early lead and eventual championship. Arlington was definitely the only contender, winding up 99 points ahead of third place Des Plaines.

Arlington's "8 and under wonders" started things off right when Todd Behrens and Craig Davis took first and second in the evening's initial event and Cindy Miller and Carol Evans copped the top two spots in the second race.

Placing for Arlington were:

Kruse's Schlitz Cops Tourney Bid

Monday, Aug. 8, the boys from Kruse's Schlitz managed to break their tie for first with the cut-ups from Moler's Barber Shop in Mt. Prospect Monday golf. The Kruse team won 9 points from Winkelman's Shell Service and are in first place by a 3½ point margin.

This makes Kruses the team representative from the Monday Prospect League for the Paddock Tournament. This group has been in or near first place all year and should be able to give a good account of itself in this traditional affair.

Moler's Barber Shop won 5½ points from the Busse-Biermann Hardware team to stay close on the heels of the first place outfit. Van Driel's Drugs also won 5½ to stay in the running and the George O'Day Realtors are at 7½ points and are still within striking distance. The Mt. Prospect State Bank team ning possible in winning 10 points from the Pickett Paint team.

Low gross honors went to five golfers with 39. They were: John Moran, Mike Bergo, Ray Krewsen, Carl Dilsaver and Hank Baylis. The low net was made by Russ Juhre with a 48-16-32. Birdies were scored by Gus Knaack on 1, Al Barco on 18, Clarence Delph on 12, John Moran on 1, Carl Dilsaver on 1 and 3, Art Peterson on 16 and Hank Baylis on 10.

The team standings follow:

Kruse's Schlitz	76½
Moler's Barber Shop	73
Van Driel's Drug Store	72½
George O'Day Realtors	71½
Busse Motor Sales	69½
Busse - Biermann Hdw.	66

Inverness Girl Cops 4 Classes

Linda Marie Jayne, of 1918 Banbury rd., Inverness, won four classes, including the difficult Handy-Hunter course, and was the Jr. Hunter division champion in the Barrington horse show last weekend.

Riders from Tri-Color Farms swept the Jr. Hunter and Equitation divisions and accounted for 11 blue ribbons in the 19 classes they entered.

Expenses Explained In Owning a Horse!

by ELIZABETH ALANNE

The biggest drawback facing most people who would like to own a horse is the expense involved in upkeep. To anyone who has not spent the lion's share of his spare time heading off to horse farms, stopping to chat with anyone riding a horse or querying the people who seem to be of modest circumstances and still have a horse staked out in the backyard, the expenses seem staggering and they give up the idea of ownership.

In a story of this length it is impossible to put down in detail a set formula for the unwealthy, but avid, horse lover which would enable him to keep a horse on a shoestring. However, by talking with people in the Northwest suburban area who keep their horses in good condition on a budget, I have been able to gather some information on how it can be done. Prices mentioned in this article are approximate and were given me by various owners.

THE MOST economical way, by far, to be a horse owner is to keep the horse, literally, in the back yard. If zoning regulations permit and one is willing to put forth the time and energy, a medium sized riding horse can be kept fat and sassy for $15 per month.

The horses' staple food, hay, is available from feed dealers or from farmers. Prices will vary depending upon the season of the year and the locale but some owners, by talking to farmers or other owners, work out deals whereby they can fetch the feed themselves or buy a large amount in one transaction. This can save plenty on hay but it requires some research by the owner to find out where and when such an arrangement is possible.

Oats, bran, salt and vitamin supplements are available at feed stores and will have a set price. However, a horse that gets ridden less than an hour a day will not need as many oats as one in heavy use. If the horse has a light work load he may need only a few quarts a week.

As to stabling on home ground that seems to be an area of great diversity. Some people convert part of a garage into a stall; some have stables built and many build their own from odd pieces of wood.

IN ADDITION to the cost of the stable (I got estimates of $50, $20 and $0 as the cost of the one horse stables. The latter individual went out hunting for scrap wood and found enough to build a stable plus a small fenced paddock.) one will need buckets, brooms, ropes, feed bins and other stable equipment.

There are numerous excellent books available which give blow by blow instructions in the care of the horse at home so I will not try to cover that here. Home care has its disadvantages in that time must be alloted to feeding, grooming, cleaning, making any necessary repairs to the stall, etc. Ideally someone should be around at all times to keep an eye on the horse in case of emergency.

The joy of having the horse at home is that the owner really knows his horse and perhaps more important, his horse knows him. He also learns the real aspects of horse management and becomes a bonafide horseman in the process.

FOR THOSE who cannot keep a horse at home, there is the problem of boarding the horse at a stable or farm. In this immediate area the prices, per month, for boarding facilities range from $35 to $100.

In this instance, the owner does not have to keep a watchful eye on his mount, be responsible for feeding or brave the cleanup jobs. However, he may ride when he pleases and possibly have more pleaces to ride than one does closer in to town.

The cheaper rates usually mean the horse has an adequate stall, but nothing luxurious, and probably the stable has no indoor arena, club room or other extras. Some places require that the owner check the horse periodically for shoeing, injuries, etc. He will have to assume part of the horse's care.

In the higher place bracket, there will be more extras and the manager will probably handle the details of the horse's care if the owner wishes. In addition, there may be an indoor area and other facilities that the owner can use if he wishes.

THEREFORE, a horse can be about as inexpensive or expensive as the individual wants to make it. He can get by for $15 a month plus energy plus time or he can pay $100 a month and leave everything but the riding up to someone else.

Incidental expenses will include veterinary service, shoes (about $12 a set) which after the initial cost can be re-set several times if not worn badly, at a cost much less than a new set, and any special feed or supplement. A healthy horse will not require much in the way of expensive additives to his diet.

Again, these prices are current in our area. Other possibilities include leasing a stall from a farm, and there are quite a few small barns which board from three to ten horses for a reasonable price. Not all are listed in the phone book so the best way to seek them out is to inquire of riders and owners.

A variety of contacts in horse circles can be very helpful and the best way to seek out information is to attend local horse shows and follow up the leads one finds there.

600th Run

Outfielder Al Smith of the Chicago White Sox, who is battling for the American League batting championship, scored the 600th run of his major league career August 6th. Smith already has more hits than he collected during the entire 1959 season. Smith's best season was 1955 when he batted .306.

Plan Unique Swimming Instruction

A method of swimming and keeping afloat that enables a human to stay in water for hours without suffering physical exhaustion will be taught daily from Aug. 22-26 at 11 a.m. at Pioneer Park.

Ken Bode, Warren Phillips, and Barbara Rasmussen will conduct instructions on the method called drownproofing by its developer, Robert Laroue of Gerogia Tech.

The lessons will be free for any interested persons who have an adult pass to the Arlington Heights pools. They will last for one hour.

Drownproofing scientifically combines the natural bouyancy of the human body in water with a minimum effort to keep afloat.

Tri-City Ladies Golf League

Event of the day for the Tri-City ladies golf league, back in action after another rainout last week, was second and fourth Low Gross.

Winners were as follows: "A" flight — Bobbe Rogers, Lil Byhring. "B" flight — Mitzi Vavra, Dea Rubner. "C" flight — Pat Fassnacht, Uriel Cook. "D" flight — Irene Pinkos, Inez Bodine. "E" flight — Brucie Mitchell, Betty Melind.

WHAT WILL they think of next? Now I've got to take organ lessons just 'cause I go to obedience school." Taklana Sahara, Afghan dog owned by Duane Bauske of Long Grove, hopes this fate doesn't befall the 200 pure-bred dogs that will demonstrate obedience training next Sunday at Prospect high school when Northwest Obedience club stages its third annual show. The public is invited to the show which will feature five rings in operation simultaneously.

Prospect Heights Swimmers Top Mount Prospect, 195-183

The newly-formed Prospect Heights swimming team captured its first victory last Friday with a 195-183 victory over Mt. Prospect.

Swimming in its home pool, the Prospect Heights entry avenged a previous loss to Mt. Prospect with 500 spectators on hand for the meet at the Lions Aquacenter.

Prospect Heights managed to capture 24 first place awards and backed that with 15 seconds in the victory.

PAT SALERNO picked up three first place ribbons in and Richie Lynch collected a pair of firsts. Barb Johnson and Doug Rice also stood out for the winners, copping firsts in their events.

In the older age groups Jim Almen, Sue Pelkey, Jaci Haas, and Barb Morrissey were instrumental in aiding the hosts to the victory.

Prospect Heights Coach Larry Temple picked up an easy first in diving to clinch the decision.

Barbour Among Grid Candidates At Northwestern

Bob Barbour of Arlington Heights is one of 61 candidates invited to report for the opening of Northwestern university's 1960 football practices Sept. 1.

Barbour, former letterwinner on the Arlington high school eleven, is listed at an end slot.

The squad will assemble Aug. 31 for physical examinations, issuing of equipment and picture - taking. Regular two-a-day practice sessions will start the following day.

IN HIS LETTER of invitation, Parseghian said, "The 1960 schedule offers a real challenge since it will pit us against the nation's top teams, including seven Big Ten games and non-conference games with Oklahoma and Notre Dame.

"This is a demanding schedule and we must be physically ready to face it. Every player must report in top condition, ready for a real tough training grind."

Parseghian said he was impressed with the spirit, desire and attitude displayed in spring practice. "I am confident we can have success if we pick up where we left off in the spring."

INCLUDED IN THE list of invitees were 18 lettermen, 20 squadmen from last year and 23 sophomores. Among the lettermen are two players from the 1958 team who were sidelined by injuries last season. They are Dick Thornton, quarterback, who suffered a broken ankle in the second game of the 1959 season, and Al Kimbrough, halfback, who missed the entire season because of a leg injury. Both are slated for first string duty this fall.

Returning 1959 starters are Mike Stock, All - Big Ten fullback; Ray Purdin, halfback, and Elbert Kimbrough and Irv Cross, ends. Graduation took the interior line from tackle to tackle.

Squirrel Season Opens

The squirrel season will officially open in northern Illinois September 1 and will continue through October 27, according to the State Conservation Department.

Squirrels have been in season in southern Illinois since August 1; the southern season ends October 15.

LIMITS ARE five squirrels a day with a possession limit of 10 with the exception of the first day of the season when the possession limit is five.

White squirrels are protected throughout Illinois.

The department said the squirrel season has been cut three days in the northern portion of the state to reduce the possibility of hunting accidents during the shotgun deer season, October 28 - 30.

Tourists Lured

More than 1½ million tourists visit Switzerland annually. The country's area is 15,944 square miles, about half the size of Maine.

Midget Grid Registration At Lions Park

On Saturday, August 20, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., all boys interested in joining the Mt. Prospect Midget football association will have their last chance to register at Lions Park.

At the same time the mother's auxiliary will conduct a swap to allow an exchange of football equipment among the boys.

All boys between the ages of eight through 13 will be eligible to compete.

Because of the increase in the number of teams for the coming season, interested fathers are requested to contact Pat Breen at CLearbrook 3-5239 in order to assist the program as coaches or trainers.

Prices mentioned in this article are approximate and were given me by various owners.

THE MOST economical way, by far, to be a horse owner is to keep the horse, literally, in the back yard. If zoning regulations permit and one is willing to put forth the time and energy, a medium sized riding horse can be kept fat and sassy for $15 per month.

The horses' staple food, hay, is available from feed dealers or from farmers. Prices will vary depending upon the season of the year and the locale but some owners, by talking to farmers or other owners, work out deals whereby they can fetch the feed themselves or buy a large amount in one transaction. This can save plenty on hay but it requires some research by the owner to find out where and when such an arrangement is possible.

Oats, bran, salt and vitamin supplements are available at feed stores and will have a set price. However, a horse that gets ridden less than an hour a day will not need as many oats as one in heavy use. If the horse has a light work load he may need only a few quarts a week.

As to stabling on home ground that seems to be an area of great diversity. Some people convert part of a garage into a stall; some have stables built and many build their own from odd pieces of wood.

IN ADDITION to the cost of the stable (I got estimates of $50, $20 and $0 as the cost of the one horse stables. The latter individual went out hunting for scrap wood and found enough to build a stable plus a small fenced paddock.) one will need buckets, brooms, ropes, feed bins and other stable equipment.

There are numerous excellent books available which give blow by blow instructions in the care of the horse at home so I will not try to cover that here. Home care has its disadvantages in that time must be alloted to feeding, grooming, cleaning, making any necessary repairs to the stall, etc. Ideally someone should be around at all times to keep an eye on the horse in case of emergency.

The joy of having the horse at home is that the owner really knows his horse and perhaps more important, his horse knows him. He also learns the real aspects of horse management and becomes a bonafide horseman in the process.

FOR THOSE who cannot keep a horse at home, there is the problem of boarding the horse at a stable or farm. In this immediate area the prices, per month, for boarding facilities range from $35 to $100.

In this instance, the owner does not have to keep a watchful eye on his mount, be responsible for feeding or brave the cleanup jobs. However, he may ride when he pleases and possibly have more pleaces to ride than one does closer in to town.

The cheaper rates usually mean the horse has an adequate stall, but nothing luxurious, and probably the stable has no indoor arena, club room or other extras. Some places require that the owner check the horse periodically for shoeing, injuries, etc. He will have to assume part of the horse's care.

In the higher place bracket, there will be more extras and the manager will probably handle the details of the horse's care if the owner wishes. In addition, there may be an indoor area and other facilities that the owner can use if he wishes.

THEREFORE, a horse can be about as inexpensive or expensive as the individual wants to make it. He can get by for $15 a month plus energy plus time or he can pay $100 a month and leave everything but the riding up to someone else.

Incidental expenses will include veterinary service, shoes (about $12 a set) which after the initial cost can be re-set several times if not worn badly, at a cost much less than a new set, and any special feed or supplement. A healthy horse will not require much in the way of expensive additives to his diet.

Again, these prices are current in our area. Other possibilities Include leasing a stall from a farm, and there are quite a few small barns which board from three to ten horses for a reasonable price. Not all are listed in the phone book so the best way to seek them out is to inquire of riders and owners.

A variety of contacts in horse circles can be very helpful and the best way to seek out information is to attend local horse shows and follow up the leads one finds there.

Plan Unique Swimming Instruction

A method of swimming and keeping afloat that enables a human to stay in water for hours without suffering physical exhaustion will be taught daily from Aug. 22-26 at 11 a.m. at Pioneer Park.

Ken Bode, Warren Phillips, and Barbara Rasmussen will conduct instructions on the method called drownproofing by its developer, Robert Laroue of Gerogia Tech.

The lessons will be free for any interested persons who have an adult pass to the Arlington Heights pools. They will last for one hour.

Drownproofing scientifically combines the natural bouyancy of the human body in water with a minimum effort to keep afloat.

Tri-City Ladies Golf League

Event of the day for the Tri-City ladies golf league, back in action after another rainout last week, was second and fourth Low Gross.

600th Run

Outfielder Al Smith of the Chicago White Sox, who is battling for the American League batting championship, scored the 600th run of his major league career August 6th. Smith already has more hits than he collected during the entire 1959 season. Smith's best season was 1955 when he batted .306.

Barbour Among Grid Candidates At Northwestern

Bob Barbour of Arlington Heights is one of 61 candidates invited to report for the opening of Northwestern university's 1960 football practices Sept. 1.

Barbour, former letterwinner on the Arlington high school eleven, is listed at an end slot.

The squad will assemble Aug. 31 for physical examinations, issuing of equipment and picture - taking. Regular two-a-day practice sessions will start the following day.

IN HIS LETTER of invitation, Parseghian said, "The 1960 schedule offers a real challenge since it will pit us against the nation's top teams, including seven Big Ten games and non-conference games with Oklahoma and Notre Dame.

"This is a demanding schedule and we must be physically ready to face it. Every player must report in top condition, ready for a real tough training grind."

Parseghian said he was impressed with the spirit, desire and attitude displayed in spring practice. "I am confident we can have success if we pick up where we left off in the spring."

INCLUDED IN THE list of invitees were 18 lettermen, 20 squadmen from last year and 23 sophomores. Among the lettermen are two players from the 1958 team who were sidelined by injuries last season. They are Dick Thornton, quarterback, who suffered a broken ankle in the second game of the 1959 season, and Al Kimbrough, halfback, who missed the entire season because of a leg injury. Both are slated for first string duty this fall.

Returning 1959 starters are Mike Stock, All - Big Ten fullback; Ray Purdin, halfback, and Elbert Kimbrough and Irv Cross, ends. Graduation took the interior line from tackle to tackle.

WHAT WILL they think of next? Now I've got to take organ lessons just 'cause I go to obedience school." Taklana Sahara, Afghan dog owned by Duane Bauske of Long Grove, hopes this fate doesn't befall the 200 pure-bred dogs that will demonstrate obedience training next Sunday at Prospect high school when Northwest Obedience club stages its third annual show. The public is invited to the show which will feature five rings in operation simultaneously.

Prospect Heights Swimmers Top Mount Prospect, 195-183

The newly-formed Prospect Heights swimming team captured its first victory last Friday with a 195-183 victory over Mt. Prospect.

Swimming in its home pool, the Prospect Heights entry avenged a previous loss to Mt. Prospect with 500 spectators on hand for the meet at the Lions Aquacenter.

Prospect Heights managed to capture 24 first place awards and backed that with 15 seconds in the victory.

PAT SALERNO picked up three first place ribbons in and Richie Lynch collected a pair of firsts. Barb Johnson and Doug Rice also stood out for the winners, copping firsts in their events.

In the older age groups Jim Almen, Sue Pelkey, Jaci Haas, and Barb Morrissey were instrumental in aiding the hosts to the victory.

Midget Grid Registration At Lions Park

On Saturday, August 20, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., all boys interested in joining the Mt. Prospect Midget football association will have their last chance to register at Lions Park.

At the same time the mother's auxiliary will conduct a swap to allow an exchange of football equipment among the boys.

All boys between the ages of eight through 13 will be eligible to compete.

Because of the increase in the number of teams for the coming season, interested fathers are requested to contact Pat Breen at CLearbrook 3-5239 in order to assist the program as coaches or trainers.

Squirrel Season Opens

The squirrel season will officially open in northern Illinois September 1 and will continue through October 27, according to the State Conservation Department.

Squirrels have been in season in southern Illinois since August 1; the southern season ends October 15.

LIMITS ARE five squirrels a day with a possession limit of 10 with the exception of the first day of the season when the possession limit is five.

White squirrels are protected throughout Illinois.

The department said the squirrel season has been cut three days in the northern portion of the state to reduce the possibility of hunting accidents during the shotgun deer season, October 28 - 30.

Left Hand Action Initiates Entire Downswing Motion

IMPROVING THE DOWNSWING

It's the left hand (of a right handed player, of course) that starts the downswing. I like to think of the first movement of the downswing as a pull - down action of the left hand.

This pull - down action will keep the left arm reasonably close to the body and thus produce an inside - out arc on the downswing.

The left hand action that I have mentioned also will help shift the weight of the body from the right foot back to the left as the left heel returns to the ground.

WHEN THE player's hands are about parallel with the right knee, the hitting area has been reached. It is here that the right hand takes over to square the club face with the ball at impact.

The clubhead gains the greatest speed at this point - from knee to impact - to hit the ball. This must be a constant acceleration of clubhead speed without any strain if you are to impart last second power.

The downswing is an uninterrupted motion, transferring body weight from the right foot to the left in one smooth movement.

By following these tips, the player will find that the wrists begin to uncock at about waist level. Downswing action speeds up from there down.

Miles Melius Captures Waukegan's Feature

Before a frost-bitten crowd of 1,850, Miles Melius, the mighty modified king from Slinger, Wis., making his first appearance of the year at the Waukegan Speedway, captured top honors in winning the 25 lap main event for the modifieds and setting a new 10-lap track record in winning his preliminary heat race.

The racing hungry fans also saw Milwaukeean Bill Shwister set the fast qualifying time of the evening when he turned the quarter-mile oval at 54.05 mph. Schwister's performance stopped another streak of fast times by Greg Krieger of Milwaukee who has already posted top honors in that class 10 times this season out of the 13 programs.

With a northern Wisconsin track falling victim to heavy rain and cold weather, forcing its cancellation, the Waukegan track played host to a series of other top notch modified pilots not regularly seen at the track. Among the favorites were, Billy Johnson, Oconomowoc; and Etchie Biertzer, Barton, Wis., who just tied for the track championship at the Wisconsin state fair park in Milwaukee; Fuzzy Fassbender, of Slinger, the 1957 season champion here at Waukegan; Dale Koehler, Glendale; Linus Peters, West Bend; and Doug Bandl of Milwaukee.

MELIUS wasted no time as he came from the rear of the field to take over the number one position on the 12th lap from Bob Karry, who had held it only briefly as leader Dale Koehler was forced out on the 11th with mechanical troubles. A four car accident on the 16th lap put Jack Frost, Zion; John Reimer, Milwaukee; Bill Shoulders; Waukegan, and Fassbender out of the running. Melius averaged 49.28 mph in capturing the event.

Bill Strom, West Allis, averaged 47.57 mph to take the accident-marred semi-feature event after posting a bitter duel with Roger Otto, Burlington, and Linus Peters. The event got off to a bad start when Paul Feldner, Colgate, tangled with Stu Pohlman, Lake Zurich, as the two went into the north corner on the first lap. Pohlman's car rode up over the wheels of Feldner's and tossed him high into the air.

The car then did an end-over-end flip and smashed through the century fencing atop the concrete retainer wall and landed upside down in the pit area. No injuries were suffered. The accident knocked out some 50 feet of fencing along the wall.

STROM TOOK he lead on the tenth lap after the restart, but lost it to Otto on the 14th. Peters, in the meantime, was trying hard to take the win and he and Otto tangled on the backstretch, spun around, bounced high into the air and landed in the infield out of further competition. Strom snuck by for the win.

Bay Darnell won the fourth heat event by only a matter of inches over Greg Krieger, in a real thriller of the evening.

The special added attraction, a stock jalopy race for the Miller brothers of Waukegan, gave fans some real thrills to carry home with them. Virge Miller took the top honors for being the roughest driver on the track. However, Bob Miller was the victor at an average speed of 44.96 mph.

Only seven cars out of a field of 21 starters finished the stock jalopy 12 lap feature. Ed Jones, Waukegan survived the numerous spin-outs and crashes to come home the victor.

NEXT WEEK in addition to the usual number of events for the modifieds and stock jalopies, track manager Mike Kaishian will stage a special race for members of the Coca Cola company.

It will be Coca Cola Employees night at the track next week and Kaishean has lined up several of the employees to drive in a special race all their own. Still one other attraction will be held, the repeatedly requested demolition derby, where strictly stock autos will be deliberately demolished. Time trials will begin at 7:15 with the first race beginning at 8:30.

Nears Mark

Outfielder Roy Sievers of the Chicago White Sox has an excellent chance of establishing a new club home run record. Sievers whacked his 23rd of the season August 13. The club record is 29--held jointly by Eddie Robinson and Gus Zernial. Robinson hit his 23rd on August 26th while Zernial didn't get his 23rd until September 6. Sievers has homered against every club now and in every park but Kansas City.

Swimmers Place in AAU Test

Four hundred and eighty swimmers competed in the AAU Junior Oympic short course events in Bloomington, Ill., last weekend and several area entries came home with berths in the finals.

Barbara Raasch gained a second in the 25 yard breaststroke, and Marguerite Dalton copped a third in the 100 yard breaststroke, fifth in the 100 yard freestyle, and sixth in the 200 yard individual medley.

Doug Rice captured a tie for fourth in the 200 yard individual medley, and Bill Raasch came in with a third in the 100 yard breaststroke and seventh in the 100 yard freestyle.

Paul Hembd recorded a fourth in the 50 yard breaststroke with Bob Brown fifth in the 100 yard butterfly.

Barbara and Cathy Johnson swam on the Portage Park freestyle relay which placed fifth.

Garden Saints 7-0 in Classic Softball Play

The Garden Saints maintained their unbeaten slate in the Arlington Heights Park District's Classic softball league and hold a 2½ game lead over the two runnersup.

Virginia Terrace and Zodiac Inn are tied for second with 4-2 marks and the Strats stand fourth at 4-3.

Three games remain in the softball loop.

Standings, Aug. 9:

Hoffman Sweeps Series

Dave Sander fired three innings of no-hit, no-run baseball as the All-Stars of Hoffman Estates swept a best-out-of-three inter-city Little League Series with Elk Grove in two straight games.

The Hoffman Stars took advantage of 13 Elk Grove bobbles to amass 17 runs to the losers' eight. Hoffman Estates captured the opener August 6 by a 7-0 count. Sander was also the pitcher of record in that fracas.

Down 5-0 in the opening round, Elk Grove hammered Hoffman starter Dan Grueneich for six runs in its half of the first to take a short-lived one run edge.

HOFFMAN pushed across the tying tally in the third and then blasted Elk Grove loser, Rogowski, with a four-spot in the fifth frame to take the lead for good.

Terry Mulligan, who hurled the final three stanzas for the victors, blasted a homer and a single for a pair of RBI's. Joe Paul and Lou Fetter each contributed two hits for Hoffman Estates.

Dwayne Hall chipped in the outstanding individual performance for Elk Grove by hurling three innings in which he allowed only two unearned runs and rapping out a pair of safeties.

New Coach Named To Staff At Watseka

Arnold Stahl was recently named head basketball and assistant football coach at Watseka high school.

Stahl is a graduate from Western Illinois where he was a regular on the football team and a strong performer in track.

After two years in the service he served as head coach of all sports at Kempton

Names New Track Coach

Southern Illinois University has a new track coach, first change in that position in 34 years.

Appointed Friday to replace the veteran Leland P. (Doc) Lingle was Lew Hartzog, 37-year old Texas native whose previously unheralded Northeast Louisiana State College team was a national sensation last year.

Also appointed to serve as assistant football coach-lecturer in physical education was Don (Red) Cross, SIU graduate who served previously on Southern's athletic staff.

Hartzog succeeds one of Southern's best known and widely admired coaching personalities. Lingle's squads, between 1927 and 1958, won 129 dual meets, lost 43, tied one, taking 11 Interstate Conference titles. He was forced to give up active coaching after a severe asthma attack before the 1960 season. He will continue to teach, however.

Man-Eaters

Eight of the more than 100 species of sharks that frequent Australian waters are considered man-eaters.

Morton Pontiac Surprises, Gains Tournament Nod

Mrton Pontiac won the assignment of representing the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect twilight league in Paddock's tourney by defeating Vern's Pure Oil, 9-1. A dark horse if there ever was one, Morton's jumped from fourth place into first while the three leaders were preoccupied with battling each other for the first place honor.

The Morton triumph was spearheaded by young Bob Sbarbaro, substituting for "A" player Clarke Robinson, who came in with a three-under-par 32 for the back nine points. His opponent, Glen Adams of Vern's, fired one of the best rounds of his career, a one-over-par 36, but lost the match as young Sbarbaro came in with successive birdies on the last three holes.

In other matches Ted Banka of Morton's won two points from Vander Voort, Walt Kadlec split with Alex Sekus and Ben Kopriva topped alternate Carl Lindquist for two points.

MEANWHILE, the three league leaders were helping Morton's go to the Paddock tourney by losing their matches or winning indecisive victories. Most surprising was the upset scored by Keefer's Pharmacy over league-leading Golden's Food Shop. The Pharmacists stopped Golden's winning streak cold with a surprising 6½-3½ victory.

The other two condenders, Wille Lbr. and Fuel and Kersting's Garden Center, battled each other with the Lumbermen gaining a slight advantage in a 6-4 victory over the Gardeners. The result of this treadmill activity was Morton's tremendous leap from fourth to first place while the three favorites slipped back a notch in league standings.

Birdies were reported by R. Barish 7, L. Johnson 10, G. Raasch 10 and 16, G. Adams 12 and 17, R. Sbarbaro 16, 17 and 18, G. Henneberg 16, and A. McCormick 17.

League standings August 9:

Morton's Pontiac	81
Goldens Food Shop	79½
Wille Lbr. & Fuel	79 1/2
Kersting's	76 1/6
Annen & Busse	73 1/3
Vern's Pure Oil	70
Mt. P. Bowling	70
Keefer's	69 5/6

Ted's Farewell

The Boston Red Sox will play a doubleheader at Comiskey Park Sunday afternoon, September 11. Originally this was just a single game but an earlier rainout necessitated the scheduling of a doubleheader for Sept. 11th. This will mark the final appearance of Ted Williams in Chicago this year.

The left hand action that I have mentioned also will help shift the weight of the body from the right foot back to the left as the left heel returns to the ground.

WHEN THE player's hands are about parallel with the right knee, the hitting area has been reached. It is here that the right hand takes over to square the club face with the ball at impact.

The clubhead gains the greatest speed at this point - from knee to impact - to hit the ball. This must be a constant acceleration of clubhead speed without any strain if you are to impart last second power.

The downswing is an uninterrupted motion, transferring body weight from the right foot to the left in one smooth movement.

By following these tips, the player will find that the wrists begin to uncock at about waist level. Downswing action speeds up from there down.

Miles Melius Captures Waukegan's Feature

Before a frost-bitten crowd of 1,850, Miles Melius, the mighty modified king from Slinger, Wis., making his first appearance of the year at the Waukegan Speedway, captured top honors in winning the 25 lap main event for the modifieds and setting a new 10-lap track record in winning his preliminary heat race.

The racing hungry fans also saw Milwaukeean Bill Shwister set the fast qualifying time of the evening when he turned the quarter-mile oval at 54.05 mph. Schwister's performance stopped another streak of fast times by Greg Krieger of Milwaukee who has already posted top honors in that class 10 times this season out of the 13 programs.

With a northern Wisconsin track falling victim to heavy rain and cold weather, forcing its cancellation, the Waukegan track played host to a series of other top notch modified pilots not regularly seen at the track. Among the favorites were, Billy Johnson, Oconomowoc; and Etchie Biertzer, Barton, Wis., who just tied for the track championship at the Wisconsin state fair park in Milwaukee; Fuzzy Fassbender, of Slinger, the 1957 season champion here at Waukegan; Dale Koehler, Glendale; Linus Peters, West Bend; and Doug Bandl of Milwaukee.

MELIUS wasted no time as he came from the rear of the field to take over the number one position on the 12th lap from Bob Karry, who had held it only briefly as leader Dale Koehler was forced out on the 11th with mechanical troubles. A four car accident on the 16th lap put Jack Frost, Zion; John Reimer, Milwaukee; Bill Shoulders; Waukegan, and Fassbender out of the running. Melius averaged 49.28 mph in capturing the event.

Bill Strom, West Allis, averaged 47.57 mph to take the accident-marred semi-feature event after posting a bitter duel with Roger Otto, Burlington, and Linus Peters. The event got off to a bad start when Paul Feldner, Colgate, tangled with Stu Pohlman, Lake Zurich, as the two went into the north corner on the first lap. Pohlman's car rode up over the wheels of Feldner's and tossed him high into the air.

The car then did an end-over-end flip and smashed through the century fencing atop the concrete retainer wall and landed upside down in the pit area. No injuries were suffered. The accident knocked out some 50 feet of fencing along the wall.

STROM TOOK he lead on the tenth lap after the restart, but lost it to Otto on the 14th. Peters, in the meantime, was trying hard to take the win and he and Otto tangled on the backstretch, spun around, bounced high into the air and landed in the infield out of further competition. Strom snuck by for the win.

Bay Darnell won the fourth heat event by only a matter of inches over Greg Krieger, in a real thriller of the evening.

The special added attraction, a stock jalopy race for the Miller brothers of Waukegan, gave fans some real thrills to carry home with them. Virge Miller took the top honors for being the roughest driver on the track. However, Bob Miller was the victor at an average speed of 44.96 mph.

Only seven cars out of a field of 21 starters finished the stock jalopy 12 lap feature. Ed Jones, Waukegan survived the numerous spinouts and crashes to come home the victor.

NEXT WEEK in addition to the usual number of events for the modifieds and stock jalopies, track manager Mike Kaishian will stage a special race for members of the Coca Cola company.

It will be Coca Cola Employees night at the track next week and Kaishean has lined up several of the employees to drive in a special race all their own. Still one other attraction will be held, the repeatedly requested demolition derby, where strictly stock autos will be deliberately demolished. Time trials will begin at 7:15 with the first race beginning at 8:30.

Nears Mark

Outfielder Roy Sievers of the Chicago White Sox has an excellent chance of establishing a new club home run record. Sievers whacked his 23rd of the season August 13. The club record is 29--held jointly by Eddie Robinson and Gus Zernial. Robinson hit his 23rd on August 26th while Zernial didn't get his 23rd until September 6. Sievers has homered against every club now and in every park but Kansas City.

Swimmers Place in AAU Test

Four hundred and eighty swimmers competed in the AAU Junior Oympic short course events in Bloomington, Ill., last weekend and several area entries came home with berths in the finals.

Barbara Raasch gained a second in the 25 yard breaststroke, and Marguerite Dalton copped a third in the 100 yard breaststroke, fifth in the 100 yard freestyle, and sixth in the 200 yard individual medley.

Doug Rice captured a tie for fourth in the 200 yard individual medley, and Bill Raasch came in with a third in the 100 yard breaststroke and seventh in the 100 yard freestyle.

Paul Hembd recorded a fourth in the 50 yard breaststroke with Bob Brown fifth in the 100 yard butterfly.

Barbara and Cathy Johnson swam on the Portage Park freestyle relay which placed fifth.

Garden Saints 7-0 in Classic Softball Play

The Garden Saints maintained their unbeaten slate in the Arlington Heights Park District's Classic softball league and hold a 2½ game lead over the two runnersup.

Virginia Terrace and Zodiac Inn are tied for second with 4-2 marks and the Strats stand fourth at 4-3.

Three games remain in the softball loop.

Standings, Aug. 9:

Hoffman Sweeps Series

Dave Sander fired three innings of no-hit, no-run baseball as the All-Stars of Hoffman Estates swept a best-out-of-three inter-city Little League Series with Elk Grove in two straight games.

The Hoffman Stars took advantage of 13 Elk Grove bobbles to amass 17 runs to the losers' eight. Hoffman Estates captured the opener August 6 by a 7-0 count. Sander was also the pitcher of record in that fracas.

Down 5-0 in the opening round, Elk Grove hammered Hoffman starter Dan Grueneich for six runs in its half of the first to take a short-lived one run edge.

HOFFMAN pushed across the tying tally in the third and then blasted Elk Grove loser, Rogowski, with a four-spot in the fifth frame to take the lead for good.

Terry Mulligan, who hurled the final three stanzas for the victors, blasted a homer and a single for a pair of RBI's. Joe Paul and Lou Fetter each contributed two hits for Hoffman Estates.

Dwayne Hall chipped in the outstanding individual performance for Elk Grove by hurling three innings in which he allowed only two unearned runs and rapping out a pair of safeties.

New Coach Named To Staff At Watseka

Arnold Stahl was recently named head basketball and assistant football coach at Watseka high school.

Stahl is a graduate from Western Illinois where he was a regular on the football team and a strong performer in track.

After two years in the service he served as head coach of all sports at Kempton

Names New Track Coach

Southern Illinois University has a new track coach, first change in that position in 34 years.

Appointed Friday to replace the veteran Leland P. (Doc) Lingle was Lew Hartzog, 37-year old Texas native whose previously unheralded Northeast Louisiana State College team was a national sensation last year.

Also appointed to serve as assistant football coach-lecturer in physical education was Don (Red) Cross, SIU graduate who served previously on Southern's athletic staff.

Hartzog succeeds one of Southern's best known and widely admired coaching personalities. Lingle's squads, between 1927 and 1958, won 129 dual meets, lost 43, tied one, taking 11 Interstate Conference titles. He was forced to give up active coaching after a severe asthma attack before the 1960 season. He will continue to teach, however.

Morton Pontiac Surprises, Gains Tournament Nod

Mrton Pontiac won the assignment of representing the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect twilight league in Paddock's tourney by defeating Vern's Pure Oil, 9-1. A dark horse if there ever was one, Morton's jumped from fourth place into first while the three leaders were preoccupied with battling each other for the first place honor.

The Morton triumph was spearheaded by young Bob Sbarbaro, substituting for "A" player Clarke Robinson, who came in with a three-under-par 32 for the back nine points. His opponent, Glen Adams of Vern's, fired one of the best rounds of his career, a one-over-par 36, but lost the match as young Sbarbaro came in with successive birdies on the last three holes.

In other matches Ted Banka of Morton's won two points from Vander Voort, Walt Kadlec split with Alex Sekus and Ben Kopriva topped alternate Carl Lindquist for two points.

MEANWHILE, the three league leaders were helping Morton's go to the Paddock tourney by losing their matches or winning indecisive victories. Most surprising was the upset scored by Keefer's Pharmacy over league-leading Golden's Food Shop. The Pharmacists stopped Golden's winning streak cold with a surprising 6½-3½ victory.

The other two condenders, Wille Lbr. and Fuel and Kersting's Garden Center, battled each other with the Lumbermen gaining a slight advantage in a 6-4 victory over the Gardeners. The result of this treadmill activity was Morton's tremendous leap from fourth to first place while the three favorites slipped back a notch in league standings.

Birdies were reported by R. Barish 7, L. Johnson 10, G. Raasch 10 and 16, G. Adams 12 and 17, R. Sbarbaro 16, 17 and 18, G. Henneberg 16, and A. McCormick 17.

Ted's Farewell

The Boston Red Sox will play a doubleheader at Comiskey Park Sunday afternoon, September 11. Originally this was just a single game but an earlier rainout necessitated the scheduling of a doubleheader for Sept. 11th. This will mark the final appearance of Ted Williams in Chicago this year.

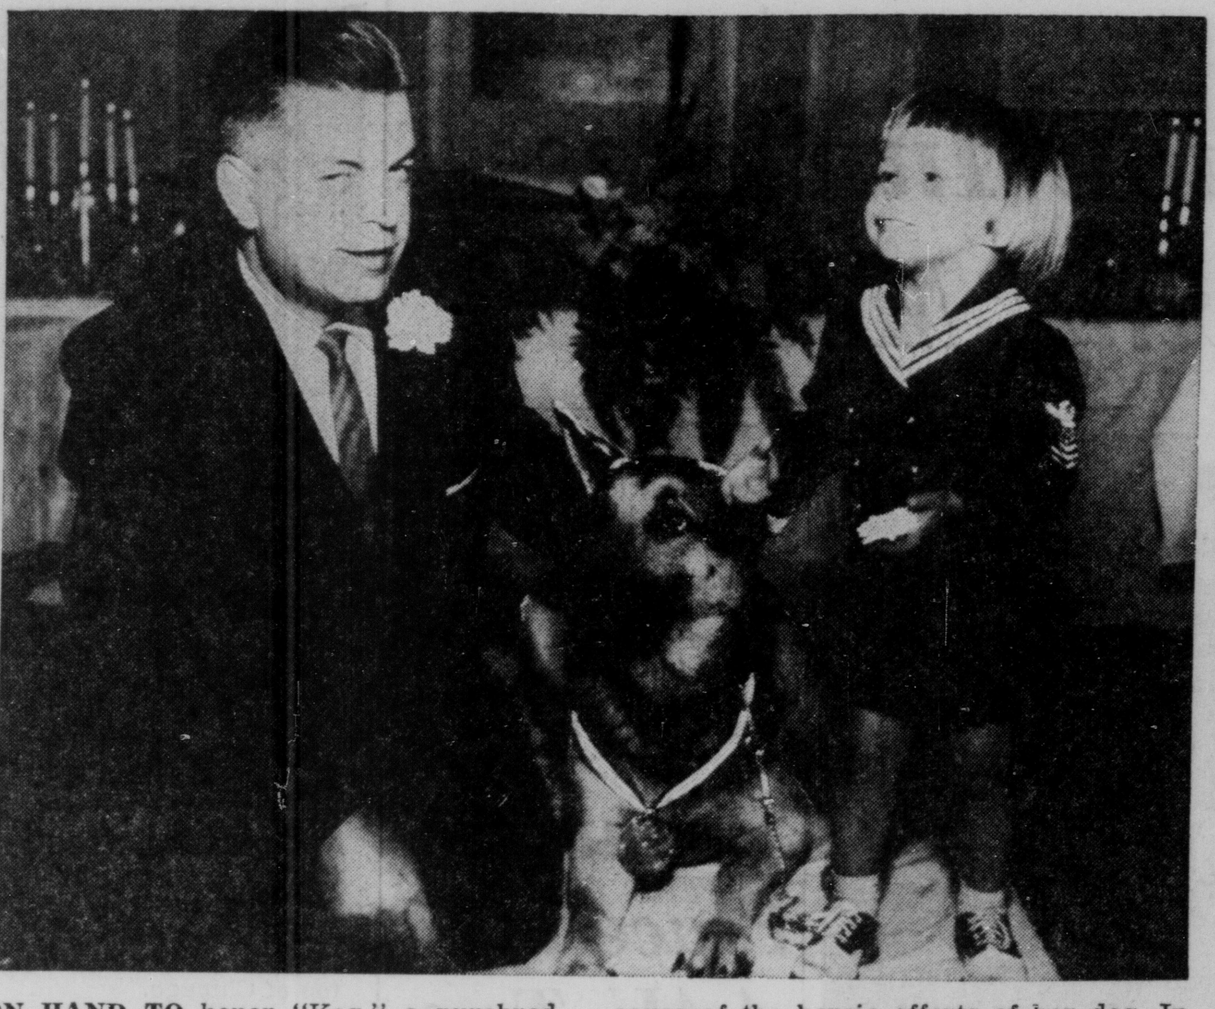
Big Weekend Card At O'Hare Oval

Another full program of late model and Cadet NASCAR stock car racing is scheduled Friday night at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds., with a demolition race as an added treat. First race is at 8:30 p.m.

Drivers and cars will be prepping for the big 100-lap Fall Championship race that will highlight the Saturday night race card at O'Hare. Added Saturday will be the track's annual beauty contest to name "Miss O'Hare Stadium" under the supervision of Patricia Stevens Model and Career schools.

All of the midwest's top drivers will be out to grasp at the glory and high prize money that victory in Saturday night's '100' will bring. Ranking among the favorites is Chicagoan Rich Kleich who won the 100-lap Summer Championship race last month.

At least 18 cars will start the event with the number finishing anyone's guess. Other top entries have been filed by Roy Czach of Chicago, Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Eric Johnson of Highland Park, Roy Martinelli of Half Day and Butch Linden of Buffalo Grove. Gates open at 6 p.m. nightly.



ON HAND TO honor "Keg," a purebred German shepherd selected as America's Dog Hero of Heroes of 1960, at a recent banquet in the Palmer House was Dave Terrill of Long Grove, conductor of the column "Just Dogs" for Paddock Publications. Shown with Dave and "Keg" is Karen McMannis, who is alive today because of the heroic efforts of her dog. In addition to a medal, "Keg" was awarded a gold plaque, a gold-plated leash and collar, a custom-made dog blanket, and a year's supply of dog food. For his owners, Mr. and Mrs. William J. McMannis of Kelly Canyon, Bozeman, he won a $1,000 United States bond.

Women's League Nears Opening

Final plans for the projected Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league still have not been completed, though the loop is scheduled to open competition Saturday evening, Sept. 3.

Five houses have been selected for franchises: Country Lanes at Lake Zurich; Beverly at Arlington Heights; Jeffery at Wheeling; Sim's at Des Plaines; and Northfield Bowl. Sixth house is still pending with announcement of this expected over the weekend.

Initial plans of the league is a format much like the Paddock Men's Classic loop with all six teams bowling together Saturday evenings at 6:30. Teams will be geared for 830-845 with all women holding 160 averages or better.

There are still a couple of openings in the league with 160-average or better women invited to call Edith Wayne at Vanderbilt 4-4970 for information about the league.

Fleet Luis

Chicago White Sox Shortstop Luis Aparicio leads the majors in stolen bases with 30 in 33 attempts. The catchers he has stolen on are: Battey (5), Romano (5), Howard (4), Sullivan (4), Berra (3), Chiti (2) and Nixon, Foiles and Courtney.

How Do Promoters Select A Course?

Paddock golf tournament is passed around every year, with most courses unable to schedule the event.

How do the tournament promoters select the course?

First, an attempt to find a "neutral" course is made, though many times this is impossible. Most private courses will not turn over their greens for the event even for one day.

SECOND, AS long as a course that does have at least one league involved in the event is available the promoters try to alternate courses so no favoritism is shown.

Here's a rundown on where past tourneys have been held.

1950-1951-1952, Mt. Prospect.
1953-1954, Inverness.
1955, Arlington,
1956, Roselle.
1957-1958, Nordic Hills.
1959, Glendale.
1960, White Pines.

Slate Opens August 27

Captains Confer, OK Classic Loop Plans

Captains of the eight teams in this year's Paddock Classic Traveling League finalized plans for the new season at a meeting Saturday with the proposed schedule adopted, the last roster announced, and new entries formally accepted.

The slate calls for the league to open competition Saturday evening, Aug. 27, at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, with all eight teams on hand. Complete group of eight squads will compete together all year, following a schedule at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights Sept. 3, Gunnell's Lanes in Mt. Prospect Sept. 10, and Ten Pin in Barrington Sept. 17.

THE LEAGUE will then travel to River-Rand at Des Plaines, Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, Country Lanes at Lake Zurich and Bowlway at Elgin. First position night will be bowled at Beverly Lanes Oct. 22. Other position nights scheduled for the year include Ten Pin at Barrington Jan. 7, Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling Mar. 4 and Bowlway at Elgin May 13, final night of competition except for a possible playoff.

The league will again bowl 36 nights, offering top flight competition all season to the better bowlers of this area. Changes in format this time will have all teams bowling together instead of the home-and-home series of the past, as well as expansion to eight teams from the original six.

FINAL ROSTER of the league was presented at Saturday's session, and includes for Beverly Lanes Capt. Monte Arkus of Roselle 183, Bill Radunz of Arlington 195, Greg Kurt of Mt. Prospect 192, Lee Adams of Mt. Prospect 186, Joe Cordulack of Park Ridge 191, and Warren Walter of Arlington Heights 184, team 947.

Warren, by the way, is the son of Al Walter of Gunnell's team, one of the three founders of the league.

THE BOARD of directors, comprised of Al Walter, Ward Siewert and Bob Paddock, has been operating the loop during the summer, and will turn over the new officers to be elected Aug. 27 all records, recommended rules, changes, and other loop data. Team captains will submit names of possible candidates for office the opening night with election scheduled to take place immediately following bowling.

Sponsors for this year's teams are not all "signed, sealed and delivered" as yet. Four teams are all set, including Tommy Thomas' Casablanca at HiWay Recreation in Palatine; Cook County Mobile Homes at River-Rand Bowl in Des Palines; Jeffery Lanes at Wheeling; and Bill Bond's Store for Men at Country Lanes in Lake Zurich.

Ward, Nelson, Bettenhausen Top State Fair Field

Three of the biggest money winners in state fair racing events head the list of 32 new entries received for the four days of racing during Wisconsin state fair week, Aug. 19-28. They are Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill.; Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, and Norm Nelson, Racine, Wis. This raises the total number of entries to 57.

All of the above three will compete in the two late model stock car races - Sunday, Aug. 21-150 miles; Thursday, Aug. 25-200 miles. The races are limited to 1958-59-60 cars. Bettenhausen will drive the same 1958 Ford he used to win the July 24 200 miler here while Ward will be in the black No. 97 1960 Ford which he finished second. Both cars are owned by Ward.

Nelson, who will drive the 1960 Zecol-Lubaid Ford, heads the list of three Wisconsin entries. The others are Ed Stillman (1959 Ford) and Dan Kopshe (1958 Ford) both of Milwaukee.

WARD ALSO announced he'll drive Leader Card Specials in the other two races. Saturday, Aug. 27, 100 mile midgets and Sunday, Aug. 28-200 mile speedway big cars. All four races are national championship events. Bettenhausen will drive the Howard Linne Offy in the midget grind and the Lindsey Hopkins Special in the 200 for big cars.

Other topflight entries are Paul Goldsmith, St. Clair Shores, Mich. and Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif. (1960 Pontiacs); Mike Klapak, Warren, O. (1958 Ford), and Don Oldenberg, Highland, Ind. (1959 Chevrolet) all in the stocks. Topflight big car entries are Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex.; Gene Force, Richmond, Ind., and Don Branson, Champaign, Ill.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Little Girl and a Big Dog

A 22-month-old little girl by the name of Karen McMannis, and a 2-year-old purebred German shepherd from Bozeman, Mont., took over the Crystal room of the Palmer House the evening of August 10.

The occasion was the awarding of the seventh annual Ken-L-Ration gold medal award to the nation's most outstanding dog hero in the past 12 months. The award was made before a group of people from all over the country; writers, newspaper editors and folks well known in all walks of life were on hand to pay homage to a great big dog with a great big heart.

In the years that the Quaker Oats company has presented the award, this marked the second time that a German shepherd has won the coveted medal.

The dog "Keg" from Bozeman won the award for dragging his young owner out of a swollen creek where she had fallen in and then standing by and barking until someone came to help. Your editor, who was at the dinner, noted all the events that took place, however, to him, most outstanding were the actions of the dog while a mob of strangers decended on him to pet him and in general make a big fuss over him.

"Keg" took the whole affair with a rather quiet and proud bearing and always out of the corner of his eye keeping watch on young Karen, which was no small task. Ever try to keep up with an active 22-month-old youngster who was on her first trip to Chicago?

It's Here

They keep talking about the hay fever season arriving. well just in case you are not aware of it, the tick season for dogs has been on hand for some time.

With dogs getting out more in the summer months it does not take long for them to pick up a few stray visitors and the whole things requires a daily checkup on the part of the owner to keep the dog from being bothered by these pests.

It usually takes a pair of tweezers or such things as a drop of some liquid to back a tick out once he has dug in, but regardless of how it is done, it must be done or you can end up with a sick dog on your hands.

Barks & Bays

They often say that "patience is a virtue." I've seen some dogs that surely must live by this slogan especially when you see the way youngsters maul over their family pet — which usually takes it and comes back for more.

ON HAND TO honor "Keg," a purebred German shepherd selected as America's Dog Hero of Heroes of 1960, at a recent banquet in the Palmer House was Dave Terrill of Long Grove, conductor of the column "Just Dogs" for Paddock Publications. Shown with Dave and "Keg" is Karen McMannis, who is alive today because of the heroic efforts of her dog. In addition to a medal, "Keg" was awarded a gold plaque, a gold-plated leash and collar, a custom-made dog blanket, and a year's supply of dog food. For his owners, Mr. and Mrs. William J. McMannis of Kelly Canyon, Bozeman, he won a $1,000 United States bond.

How Do Promoters Select A Course?

Paddock golf tournament is passed around every year, with most courses unable to schedule the event.

How do the tournament promoters select the course?

First, an attempt to find a "neutral" course is made, though many times this is impossible. Most private courses will not turn over their greens for the event even for one day.

SECOND, AS long as a course that does have at least one league involved in the event is available the promoters try to alternate courses so no favoritism is shown.

Here's a rundown on where past tourneys have been held.

1950-1951-1952, Mt. Prospect.
1953-1954, Inverness.
1955, Arlington,
1956, Roselle.
1957-1958, Nordic Hills.
1959, Glendale.
1960, White Pines.

JUST DOGS

Little Girl and a Big Dog

A 22-month-old little girl by the name of Karen McMannis, and a 2-year-old purebred German shepherd from Bozeman, Mont., took over the Crystal room of the Palmer House the evening of August 10.

The occasion was the awarding of the seventh annual Ken-L-Ration gold medal award to the nation's most outstanding dog hero in the past 12 months. The award was made before a group of people from all over the country; writers, newspaper editors and folks well known in all walks of life were on hand to pay homage to a great big dog with a great big heart.

In the years that the Quaker Oats company has presented the award, this marked the second time that a German shepherd has won the coveted medal.

The dog "Keg" from Bozeman won the award for dragging his young owner out of a swollen creek where she had fallen in and then standing by and barking until someone came to help. Your editor, who was at the dinner, noted all the events that took place, however, to him, most outstanding were the actions of the dog while a mob of strangers decended on him to pet him and in general make a big fuss over him.

"Keg" took the whole affair with a rather quiet and proud bearing and always out of the corner of his eye keeping watch on young Karen, which was no small task. Ever try to keep up with an active 22-month-old youngster who was on her first trip to Chicago?

It's Here

They keep talking about the hay fever season arriving. well just in case you are not aware of it, the tick season for dogs has been on hand for some time.

With dogs getting out more in the summer months it does not take long for them to pick up a few stray visitors and the whole things requires a daily checkup on the part of the owner to keep the dog from being bothered by these pests.

It usually takes a pair of tweezers or such things as a drop of some liquid to back a tick out once he has dug in, but regardless of how it is done, it must be done or you can end up with a sick dog on your hands.

Barks & Bays

They often say that "patience is a virtue." I've seen some dogs that surely must live by this slogan especially when you see the way youngsters maul over their family pet — which usually takes it and comes back for more.

Road Mark

The Chicago White Sox have drawn 921,879 fans on the road this season.

Slate Opens August 27

Captains Confer, OK Classic Loop Plans

Captains of the eight teams in this year's Paddock Classic Traveling League finalized plans for the new season at a meeting Saturday with the proposed schedule adopted, the last roster announced, and new entries formally accepted.

The slate calls for the league to open competition Saturday evening, Aug. 27, at Hi - Way Recreation in Palatine, with all eight teams on hand. Complete group of eight squads will compete together all year, following a schedule at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights Sept. 3, Gunnell's Lanes in Mt. Prospect Sept. 10, and Ten Pin in Barrington Sept. 17.

THE LEAGUE will then travel to River-Rand at Des Plaines, Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, Country Lanes at Lake Zurich and Bowlway at Elgin. First position night will be bowled at Beverly Lanes Oct. 22. Other position nights scheduled for the year include Ten Pin at Barrington Jan. 7, Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling Mar. 4 and Bowlway at Elgin May 13, final night of competition except for a possible playoff.

The league will again bowl 36 nights, offering top flight competition all season to the better bowlers of this area. Changes in format this time will have all teams bowling together instead of the home-and-home series of the past, as well as expansion to eight teams from the original six.

FINAL ROSTER of the league was presented at Saturday's session, and includes for Beverly Lanes Capt. Monte Arkus of Roselle 183, Bill Radunz of Arlington 195, Greg Kurt of Mt. Prospect 192, Lee Adams of Mt. Prospect 186, Joe Cordulack of Park Ridge 191, and Warren Walter of Arlington Heights 184, team 947.

Warren, by the way, is the son of Al Walter of Gunnell's team, one of the three founders of the league.

THE BOARD of directors, comprised of Al Walter, Ward Siewert and Bob Paddock, has been operating the loop during the summer, and will turn over the new officers to be elected Aug. 27 all records, recommended rules, changes, and other loop data. Team captains will submit names of possible candidates for office the opening night with election scheduled to take place immediately following bowling.

Sponsors for this year's teams are not all "signed, sealed and delivered" as yet. Four teams are all set, including Tommy Thomas' Casablanca at HiWay Recreation in Palatine; Cook County Mobile Homes at River-Rand Bowl in Des Palines; Jeffery Lanes at Wheeling; and Bill Bond's Store for Men at Country Lanes in Lake Zurich.

Ward, Nelson, Bettenhausen Top State Fair Field

Three of the biggest money winners in state fair racing events head the list of 32 new entries received for the four days of racing during Wisconsin state fair week, Aug. 19-28. They are Tony Bettenhausen, Tinley Park, Ill.; Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, and Norm Nelson, Racine, Wis. This raises the total number of entries to 57.

All of the above three will compete in the two late model stock car races - Sunday, Aug. 21-150 miles; Thursday, Aug. 25-200 miles. The races are limited to 1958-59-60 cars. Bettenhausen will drive the same 1958 Ford he used to win the July 24 200 miler here while Ward will be in the black No. 97 1960 Ford which he finished second. Both cars are owned by Ward.

Nelson, who will drive the 1960 Zecol-Lubaid Ford, heads the list of three Wisconsin entries. The others are Ed Stillman (1959 Ford) and Dan Kopshe (1958 Ford) both of Milwaukee.

WARD ALSO announced he'll drive Leader Card Specials in the other two races. Saturday, Aug. 27, 100 mile midgets and Sunday, Aug. 28-200 mile speedway big cars. All four races are national championship events. Bettenhausen will drive the Howard Linne Offy in the midget grind and the Lindsey Hopkins Special in the 200 for big cars.

Other topflight entries are Paul Goldsmith, St. Clair Shores, Mich. and Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif. (1960 Pontiacs); Mike Klapak, Warren, O. (1958 Ford), and Don Oldenberg, Highland, Ind. (1959 Chevrolet) all in the stocks. Topflight big car entries are Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex.; Gene Force, Richmond, Ind., and Don Branson, Champaign, Ill.

Women's League Nears Opening

Final plans for the projected Paddock Women's Classic Traveling league still have not been completed, though the loop is scheduled to open competition Saturday evening, Sept. 3.

Five houses have been selected for franchises: Country Lanes at Lake Zurich; Beverly at Arlington Heights; Jeffery at Wheeling; Sim's at Des Plaines; and Northfield Bowl. Sixth house is still pending with announcement of this expected over the weekend.

Initial plans of the league is a format much like the Paddock Men's Classic loop with all six teams bowling together Saturday evenings at 6:30. Teams will be geared for 830-845 with all women holding 160 averages or better.

There are still a couple of openings in the league with 160-average or better women invited to call Edith Wayne at Vanderbilt 4-4970 for information about the league.

Fleet Luis

Chicago White Sox Shortstop Luis Aparicio leads the majors in stolen bases with 30 in 33 attempts. The catchers he has stolen on are: Battey (5), Romano (5), Howard (4), Sullivan (4), Berra (3), Chiti (2) and Nixon, Foiles and Courtney.

Koops Mustard Captures Berth In Golf Tourney

The Koops Mustard team will represent the Arlington Heights twilight golf league in the annual Paddock Publications tournament slated for White Pines golf course Aug. 28.

Congratulations are in order for Jim Smethurst, Bob Witthans, Don Lucas, Bill Gappert and Ed Koops. This team fought hard to get the top position and held it despite some threats by the New Emerald Cleaners and Dryers who were a close second and Stan's Standard Service and Harris Pharmacy.

Some outstanding play is evidenced by the eagle two picked up by Len Haines Jr., on the 320 yard ninth hole of the third nine. Birdies were collected by Stan Magnuson, low gross scorer for the evening with a 34, Ralph Panke, Rudy Lippke and Cecil Jamison. Panke birdied the 460 yard fourth and 455 yard sixth of the third nine.

With JUST two more nights of play before the end of this twilight season, the officers have called a meeting for Friday to elect officers for 1961.

The league would like to welcome Bert Clarbour, Roy Flynn, and Jim Terrell as new members in this league and hopes they will enjoy playing golf and improving their game as members of the organization.

Following are the individual point leaders:

No. 1 men—Cecil Jamison (21½), Don Magnuson (21), and Bill Schoepke (20½).

No. 2 men—Ken Seegar (22½), Bill Magnuson (20½), and Bob Witthans (20).

No. 3 men—Ted Fonfara (18½), Don Lucas (18½), Ron Dattilo (17), Chris Tessem (17).

No. 4 men—Gail Webber (17½), Bill Gappert (17), Roy Anderson (16).

No. 5 men—Dale Wilson (17), Harry Lenell (16½), Leo Behrens (15½).

RIDERS AT Martha Jayne's Fleetwing Farm gather at the site of the weekend horse show. Located on 288 wooded acres about six miles from the center of Palatine, Fleetwing will stage a two-day show this weekend with the junior events beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday. On Sunday the more competitive senior events will be held with an old-fashioned Pit Barbecue climaxing the spectacle.

Registers No-Hitter

Bob Thollander, former Bensenville high school athletic standout, hurled a no-hitter Saturday as the Elgin ACs blanked the Sycamore Sons 17-0 in a semi-pro encounter at Wing Park in Elgin.

Thollander, who has joined the coaching staff at Fenton high, faced only 28 men and didn't walk a man. He fanned nine. The only two runners to reach base got on via errors.

In other semi-pro baseball action Bob Miller, a former Arlington high pitching ace, teamed with Willie Harris and Lou Primpas to hurl the Chicago Stars to a 6-0 win over the Elgin AC' Sunday at Wrigley field.

Moran Furs Holds Lead, Qualifies

There was a lot of excitement last Thursday after all the score cards were handed in for the St. Raymond's Holy Name Society twilight golf league. Who would represent League No. 1 in the Paddock tournament? Moran Furs or Spooner Engineering?

Both teams went all out that night and piled up 10 points each. Since Moran had a 1½ point lead going into the battle, they won the honors by that slim margin.

Representing League No. 2 will be Illinois Range. Just for good measure, these boys went out and picked up 12 points to move ahead by 34 markers.

AN OUTSTANDING job was also recorded by the Strass Ladies Wear unit as it took a full 12 points to jump from fifth to third in League No. 2. Trapani Plumbing took 10 points to move from last to seventh.

Busse Automotive made a push that resulted in 10 markers in League No. 1.

Denny St. Denis shot the outstanding game of the week with an even par 36 as did Bob Louthaine.

Few Major Changes in Grid Rules

Official football rules interpreters appointed by the Illinois High School Association met Tuesday, Aug. 16, at the LaSalle Hotel, Chicago, for an all-day session of high school rules instruction.

Instruction on the 1960 National Alliance Football rules was given by Milt Sprunger, IHSA Assistant Executive Secretary and member of the National Alliance Editorial committee. The purpose of the meeting is to secure uniformity in the interpretation and application of the 1960 high school football rules in downstate, suburban and Chicago areas.

Interpreters attending the meeting were: Ernie Driggers, Mt. Vernon; Charles Hillman, Hinckley; Russell Orr, Springfield; Roy E. Quant, Cicago; and Ray Wolf, Peoria. During the period from August 29 to September 14, these men and Sprunger will serve as discussion leaders at IHSA-sponsored Football Rules Interpretation meetings to be held in 18 different sections of the state.

ONLY A VERY few major changes are included in the 1960 high school code. The most important are: (1) Wearing of a suitable face protector is mandatory. (2) In giving a fair catch signal, extended arm of player does not need to be waved sideways. (3) Pushing or blocking from the rear is not clipping if the action occurs in the area within 4 yards laterally on each side of the snap and 2 yards behind each scrimmage line; and provided further, that the blocker is in this area at the time of the snap. (4) Ineligible pass receivers may advance beyond their scrimmage line as soon as a legal forward pass leaves the passer's hand.

In addition to studying the rules changes, the IHSA interpreters also spent time in reviewing fundamentals and older sections of the rules as well as the techniques and mechanics of officiating.

To Represent Friday League

Gunnell's Lanes came up with the winning combination last Friday and will represent the Friday night league at Arlington country club in the annual Paddock tournament.

The team captain is Allen Steingraber with Bob Helfers, Bill Bon Durant, and John Rogowski rounding out the squad. The league wishes the tourney representatives luck in the Aug. 28 affair at White Pines.

Low gross was a tie with Bob Sabin and Bill Grandstaff carding 37s. Low net was a four-way tie with Grandstaff, Lee Luhrs, Rog Hertel, and Larry Lopina registering 31s.

Birdies were recorded by Grandstaff, Ralph Shoffer, Maury Weil, Al Walter, John Warder, and Russ Knight.

Pony League Regional Title To Oak Park

Oak Park-River Forest won the Pony League regional tournament Monday evening at Greenfield park in Oak Park with a 2-0 victory over Marquette.

The game climaxed a four-day round-robin Pony League series sponsored by Oak Park Federal Savings.

Most Valuable Swimmers Told By Team Coach

Cindy Miller and Bill Raasch have been named the most valuable swimmers on the Arlington Park District team for 1960.

The awards were announced and presented at a splash party honoring the team which placed second in the Northern Illinois conference this year with a 7-1 mark.

Coach Ken Bode selected the two swimmers and indicated the award is not given on the basis of point value to the team. It is presented on the basis of sportsmanship, teamwork, cooperation, dependability, enthusiasm, and improvement.

Bob Brown received a gift certificate from the team as the young swimming standout is undergoing surgery.

Slicers Increase Golf Lead

The Slicers widened their lead in the Hatlen Heights Twilight league at the Mt. Prospect country club last Friday with an 8-4 victory over the Bogeys. The loss dropped the Bogeys a half point behind the Putters in third place.

Jim Carter again came in with the low gross, a nifty 37, but lost a nip and tuck match to Bert Hillstrom, who broke the 40 mark for the first time this year with a 39. Bob Schalk carded a 31 low net, followed by John Redmond's 32.

Ed Herkert birdied the 16th hole, and Carter was one-under on the par five 3rd.

The league will hold its first special event Sunday, August 28, with a two-ball foursome tournament scheduled for 2 p.m. Any member wishing to participate should contact Fred Garlock, HE 7-4405, for reservations and starting times.

Koops Mustard Captures Berth In Golf Tourney

The Koops Mustard team will represent the Arlington Heights twilight golf league in the annual Paddock Publications tournament slated for White Pines golf course Aug. 28.

Congratulations are in order for Jim Smethurst, Bob Witthans, Don Lucas, Bill Gappert and Ed Koops. This team fought hard to get the top position and held it despite some threats by the New Emerald Cleaners and Dryers who were a close second and Stan's Standard Service and Harris Pharmacy.

Some outstanding play is evidenced by the eagle two picked up by Len Haines Jr., on the 320 yard ninth hole of the third nine. Birdies were collected by Stan Magnuson, low gross scorer for the evening with a 34, Ralph Panke, Rudy Lippke and Cecil Jamison. Panke birdied the 460 yard fourth and 455 yard sixth of the third nine.

With JUST two more nights of play before the end of this twilight season, the officers have called a meeting for Friday to elect officers for 1961.

The league would like to welcome Bert Clarbour, Roy Flynn, and Jim Terrell as new members in this league and hopes they will enjoy playing golf and improving their game as members of the organization.

Following are the individual point leaders:

No. 1 men—Cecil Jamison (21½), Don Magnuson (21), and Bill Schoepke (20½).

No. 2 men—Ken Seegar (22½), Bill Magnuson (20½), and Bob Witthans (20).

No. 3 men—Ted Fonfara (18½), Don Lucas (18½), Ron Dattilo (17), Chris Tessem (17).

No. 4 men—Gail Webber (17½), Bill Gappert (17), Roy Anderson (16).

No. 5 men—Dale Wilson (17), Harry Lenell (16½), Leo Behrens (15½).

Alternates — George Maretick (33½), Don Kiehl (26½), George Fischer (21).

RIDERS AT Martha Jayne's Fleetwing Farm gather at the site of the weekend horse show. Located on 288 wooded acres about six miles from the center of Palatine, Fleetwing will stage a two-day show this weekend with the junior events beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday. On Sunday the more competitive senior events will be held with an old-fashioned Pit Barbecue climaxing the spectacle.

Moran Furs Holds Lead, Qualifies

There was a lot of excitement last Thursday after all the score cards were handed in for the St. Raymond's Holy Name Society twilight golf league. Who would represent League No. 1 in the Paddock tournament? Moran Furs or Spooner Engineering?

Both teams went all out that night and piled up 10 points each. Since Moran had a 1½ point lead going into the battle, they won the honors by that slim margin.

Representing League No. 2 will be Illinois Range. Just for good measure, these boys went out and picked up 12 points to move ahead by 34 markers.

AN OUTSTANDING job was also recorded by the Strass Ladies Wear unit as it took a full 12 points to jump from fifth to third in League No. 2. Trapani Plumbing took 10 points to move from last to seventh.

Busse Automotive made a push that resulted in 10 markers in League No. 1.

Denny St. Denis shot the outstanding game of the week with an even par 36 as did Bob Louthaine.

Few Major Changes in Grid Rules

Official football rules interpreters appointed by the Illinois High School Association met Tuesday, Aug. 16, at the LaSalle Hotel, Chicago, for an all-day session of high school rules instruction.

Instruction on the 1960 National Alliance Football rules was given by Milt Sprunger, IHSA Assistant Executive Secretary and member of the National Alliance Editorial committee. The purpose of the meeting is to secure uniformity in the interpretation and application of the 1960 high school football rules in downstate, suburban and Chicago areas.

Interpreters attending the meeting were: Ernie Driggers, Mt. Vernon; Charles Hillman, Hinckley; Russell Orr, Springfield; Roy E. Quant, Cicago; and Ray Wolf, Peoria. During the period from August 29 to September 14, these men and Sprunger will serve as discussion leaders at IHSA-sponsored Football Rules Interpretation meetings to be held in 18 different sections of the state.

ONLY A VERY few major changes are included in the 1960 high school code. The most important are: (1) Wearing of a suitable face protector is mandatory. (2) In giving a fair catch signal, extended arm of player does not need to be waved sideways. (3) Pushing or blocking from the rear is not clipping if the action occurs in the area within 4 yards laterally on each side of the snap and 2 yards behind each scrimmage line; and provided further, that the blocker is in this area at the time of the snap. (4) Ineligible pass receivers may advance beyond their scrimmage line as soon as a legal forward pass leaves the passer's hand.

In addition to studying the rules changes, the IHSA interpreters also spent time in reviewing fundamentals and older sections of the rules as well as the techniques and mechanics of officiating.

Most Valuable Swimmers Told By Team Coach

Cindy Miller and Bill Raasch have been named the most valuable swimmers on the Arlington Park District team for 1960.

The awards were announced and presented at a splash party honoring the team which placed second in the Northern Illinois conference this year with a 7-1 mark.

Coach Ken Bode selected the two swimmers and indicated the award is not given on the basis of point value to the team. It is presented on the basis of sportsmanship, teamwork, cooperation, dependability, enthusiasm, and improvement.

Bob Brown received a gift certificate from the team as the young swimming standout is undergoing surgery.

Slicers Increase Golf Lead

The Slicers widened their lead in the Hatlen Heights Twilight league at the Mt. Prospect country club last Friday with an 8-4 victory over the Bogeys. The loss dropped the Bogeys a half point behind the Putters in third place.

Jim Carter again came in with the low gross, a nifty 37, but lost a nip and tuck match to Bert Hillstrom, who broke the 40 mark for the first time this year with a 39. Bob Schalk carded a 31 low net, followed by John Redmond's 32.

Ed Herkert birdied the 16th hole, and Carter was one-under on the par five 3rd.

The league will hold its first special event Sunday, August 28, with a two-ball foursome tournament scheduled for 2 p.m. Any member wishing to participate should contact Fred Garlock, HE 7-4405, for reservations and starting times.

To Represent Friday League

Gunnell's Lanes came up with the winning combination last Friday and will represent the Friday night league at Arlington country club in the annual Paddock tournament.

The team captain is Allen Steingraber with Bob Helfers, Bill Bon Durant, and John Rogowski rounding out the squad. The league wishes the tourney representatives luck in the Aug. 28 affair at White Pines.

Low gross was a tie with Bob Sabin and Bill Grandstaff carding 37s. Low net was a four-way tie with Grandstaff, Lee Luhrs, Rog Hertel, and Larry Lopina registering 31s.

Birdies were recorded by Grandstaff, Ralph Shoffer, Maury Weil, Al Walter, John Warder, and Russ Knight.

Pony League Regional Title To Oak Park

Oak Park-River Forest won the Pony League regional tournament Monday evening at Greenfield park in Oak Park with a 2-0 victory over Marquette.

Starkey, Foreman Fire 32s

Low gross for the night in the Wayside - Colette golf league went to Irv Starkey and Joe Foreman with 32s. Foreman registered deuces on two holes.

The Paddock tourney team representing Jim's Service will be comprised of Pat Gilmore, Chet Mrozek, Jim Niesen, and Bill Hickey with Phil Jarczak as alternate.

Gilmore will have quite a time trying to catch Bob Wirth for the lead in the individual point contest. Wirth has 25 markers now with Gilmore second with 23 and Boland third with 22.

Two ball-foursomes is slated for August 24.

Registers No-Hitter

Bob Thollander, former Bensenville high school athletic standout, hurled a no-hitter Saturday as the Elgin ACs blanked the Sycamore Sons 17-0 in a semi-pro encounter at Wing Park in Elgin.

Thollander, who has joined the coaching staff at Fenton high, faced only 28 men and didn't walk a man. He fanned nine. The only two runners to reach base got on via errors.

In other semi-pro baseball action Bob Miller, a former Arlington high pitching ace, teamed with Willie Harris and Lou Primpas to hurl the Chicago Stars to a 6-0 win over the Elgin AC' Sunday at Wrigley field.

'Late Summer' Vacations Hit Peak for Heights Families

The remaining days of August are being counted in many ways. Brides-to-be tick off the moments until they're wed, mothers think longingly of the back-to-school date and school children dream of being able to halt the march of time. In as many ways that they are counted, the August days are filled with bridal showers, vacation trips and visits here of out-of-towners. It's a busy time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cooke of New Philadelphia, Ohio, arrived yesterday, Wednesday to spend a week with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Bliss, and family, 1307 E. Eastman.

The Arthur Funks, 416 N. Drury, returned Sunday from a week in Door county, Wis., where their favorite indoor-outdoor-sport was loafing. They came home relaxed and well-rested.

The junior John Frieburgs, 1303 E. Eastman, returned a week ago Sunday after 11 days of sightseeing and visiting in Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and southern Illinois. They enjoyed a stay in Dearborn, Mich., where they toured Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford museum. In Ohio they spent a few days with Mr. Frieburg's sister and family, the Roderick Dillons in Newark. Next on the itinerary was a sightseeing jaunt in Kentucky that took in Mammoth Cave and Lincoln's birthplace. The scenic as well as social vacation ended after a visit in Leroy, Ill., with Mr. Frieburg's parents.

The Dr. Vernon Boman family came home to 739 S. Evergreen early last week, along with Burton, who spent a month at Camp Maplehurst in Kewadin, Mich. The family vacation began late last month when the Bomans picked up Burton in Michigan, then continued around the lake to the summer home of Dr. Boman's parents in Sister Bay, Wis., for two weeks of swimming, fishing and boating.

THREE OF FOUR local couples who enjoy a regularly scheduled bridge session initiated what they hope may become an annual dinner-and-the-theater party Saturday evening. The William Wysockis, Henry Wists and Jack Guilfoils saw "Two for the Seesaw" at the Edgewater Beach playhouse; then enjoyed dinner in the Polynesian room. The festive evening also celebrated the 15th wedding anniversary of the Wysockis' August 11 wedding.

Earlier last week Mrs. Wysocki was reunited with an aunt she hadn't seen since childhood when Miss Ida Rieger of St. Gall, Switzerland, arrived to spend a few days. She was enroute to Minnesota for an extended stay and was accompanied by a friend from England, Mrs. Cora Stavast, who shared the reunion fun at 607 S. Walnut.

Bride-elect Miss Caren Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Potts, 115 E. Rockwell, was recently feted at two showers given on successive dates. Miss Potts was just as surprised August 4 when she was honored by relatives of her fiance, Arthur Schulze of Bensenville, as she was the day before at a party of her family members and friends. The first pre-nuptial party was given by cousins, Miss Donna Scharringhausen and Miss Tyla Blohm, in the Scharringhausen home, 408 Thomas, where 24 friends and relatives showered Miss Potts with miscellaneous gifts. Among the guests were the mother of the bridegroom, the senior Mrs. Arthur Schulze, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Nick Potts of Libertyville.

Next evening the groom's sister, Miss Dorothy Schulze, and a cousin, Miss Delores Heinrich, were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in the Bensenville home of Miss Heinrich. Forty Schulze family members honored Miss Potts, who will be married September 17 in St. John United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights.

THE CLIFFORD Peterson family, 1017 N. Ridge, returned Saturday evening from a week's vacation divided between a stay at the Dells in Wisconsin and visiting relatives in southern Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Lathen, 614 W. Campbell, report that their daughter, Joan, now of Evanston, returned Sunday from a 15-day vacation and sightseeing tour of Jamaica. Miss Lathen, a graduate of Blackburn college in Carlinville, enjoyed a stay with two Jamaican girls now teaching in Kingston who attended Blackburn with her.

Among the young friends who helped Barbara Mendl celebrate a birthday last week was her house guest, Carol Lacina of Berwyn. Barbara was 10 a week ago Tuesday and seven local friends joined the Berwyn visitor in the afternoon party at 745 S. Vail. Miss Lacina, a former neighbor and schoolmate of the birthday girl, was here a week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zastrow of South Gate, Cal., left early this month after a 2½-week visit with their daughter, Mrs. Harold Henry, and family, 834 N. Hickory, and with another daughter in Grand Rapids. A family reunion in the Henry home at the beginning of the Californians' visit here brought the Zastrows and their three daughters and families together for the first time in 32 years. One daughter and Mrs. Robert Schenck of Springfield, S.D., arrived here in mid-July with Mr. and Mrs. Zastrow and stayed for a long weekend visit. While the Schencks were here Mrs. Leon Fouts came from Grand Rapids to join Mrs. Henry in making the gathering of daughters complete for their parents. The Zastrows returned to Grand Rapids with Mrs. Fouts for a visit, the Henrys later joined them for a few days, then all returned here for a weekend celebration that was a combination farewell and double birthday party. Bob Henry was 14 July 30 and shared the birthday congratulations with his grandmother, who had her 78th birthday a few days after her return to California. Mr. and Mrs. Zastrow jetted back to the west coast August 3.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Sesterhan and Terry, 316 W. Hawthorne, returned over the weekend after two weeks of ideal weather and fun in Baileys Harbor, Wis. on Kangaroo lake. They swam, fished, golfed and visited many points of interest on the peninsula, among them the famed Boynton chapel on the Boynton estate. They were especially impressed with the summer theater at Fish Creek, where the well-known "Peninsula Players" included Mary Best of Arlington Heights. The Sesterhans report a splendid performance by Mrs. Best in the comedy, "Gazebo," one of three plays in which she's appeared the past three weeks. The vacationers also ferried to Washington Island and visited the new Aqualand near Ephraim.

Mrs. Dorothy Starek and boys, 607 S. Ridge, returned Saturday from a 10-day sightseeing trip to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. They left from the Indianapolis home of Mrs. Starek's father, Arthur J. Weber, who accompanied them on the tour-by-train of the historic and scenic areas in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Austin, 906 E. Fairview, hosted a season's end barbecue for the Varsity league champions, the Eagles, a week ago Wednesday evening. Eagles' manager, Edward Schneider, was presented a trophy and gift certificate from all the boys on his team. Thirteen of the 16 boys on the team were there to share the fun of their manager's surprise and pride in his gifts. Other guests included Mrs. Schneider and Shelley, and the coaching fathers with their wives; the Robert Beckers, Elmer Boehms, Frank Renners, William Thrashers, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunnom and team mother, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks.

BRIDE-ELECT Miss Laurie Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley, 738 S. Mitchell, was recently feted at two pre-nuptial parties that were planned as surprises and succeeded. The first, a week ago Sunday, was given in the Des Plaines home of Mrs. Leonard Birck, where Miss Riley thought she and her parents were to be Sunday dinner guests. Instead she found 14 girls waiting to shower her with miscellaneous gifts, and it was past the 3 o'clock would-be dinner hour before the group thought of dining. Mrs. Birck, at whose wedding Miss Riley sang last February, will serve her friend as bridesmaid September 3 when Miss Riley and Thomas Gore will be married in the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights. Mr. Gore is the son of former Arlington Heights residents, the Harold Gores now of Menlo Park, Cal.

August 10 Miss Riley attended a tea given by her grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Riley, 223 S. Mitchell, to introduce her to many of her grandmothers' long-time friends. To her surprise Miss Riley found the tea was also a shower at which she was presented miscellaneous gifts.

Sharks and barracuda stuck their long noses into the James Yates family business which was to have been skin diving off the Florida coast during their recent vacation. The Yates family came home to 903 N. Vail Sunday after three weeks of no skin diving in the shark-inhabited deeps but a little snorkel diving in shallower waters. Even then a barracuda, presumably only curious, trailed one of the boys through the water. Bruce celebrated his 14th birthday in Florida August 8, and since the family's return Sunday Doug celebrated his 19th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heilig, 730 S. Dunton, jetted home Sunday from San Francisco where they vacationed for a week. The California stay followed five days in Denver at a national convention of court reporters. During their parents' absence, the Heilig daughters hostessed grandma, Mrs. Laura Soelter of Chicago, "just so she wouldn't be lonesome while Mom and Dad were gone."

THE ROBERT Wright family, 301 N. Derbyshire, returned Sunday from a week at Lake Lipsie Pines, Wis., where Glenview friends, the Russell Wendes and children, joined them. A guest for the week was Joy Metz, a friend of Carol Wright. They swam, fished, water-skied, made a day's canoe trip to other Wisconsin lakes and went to Cable to visit cousins vacationing on Diamond lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pelland, 45 S. Salem, celebrated the August 11 birthday of Mrs. Pelland with dinner out and attending the Hinsdale summer theater. The Pellands were joined by Des Plaines friends for the evening. Earlier in, the week Mr. and Mrs. Pelland had four days of relaxing at Kings Gateway in Wisconsin's Land O' Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dieball and children returned to 1137 N. Chestnut last Friday night after a vacation in Boynton Beach, Fla. with Mrs. Dieball's parents, the Nick Csepps. Glenn had been with his grandparents from the moment school was out in June, and the rest of the family joined him three weeks ago. Mr. Dieball enjoyed several deep-sea fishing trips, and although fishing in general was not good, Mr. Dieball still gets wobbly thinking of the day he caught a seven-foot ten-inch sailfish that was just four inches short of the record for that area. Mr. Csepp, owner of a barber shop here for many years before his retirement to Florida, is once again barbering.

MR. AND MRS. William C. Beckman, 515 N. State, recently celebrated their August 6 golden wedding anniversary with 40 friends and relatives in the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bouffard of Barrington.

Visitors last week in the Chet Smith home, 1304 . Eastman, were Mrs. Alida Schaub and her son of Minneapolis. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Schaub are long-time friends and enjoyed four days chatting before the visitors returned to Minnesota Monday. The week previous Mrs. Smith's sister and brother-in-law, the Robert Marshalls of Kansas City, Mo., were guests of the Smiths.

Sunday dinner guests in the William Andres home, 1145 N. Belmont, were Miss Caroline Baier who taught the Andres' son, Larry, last year in St. James Catholic school, and Dr. Royal Fitch, both of Arlington Heights. The Andres' elder son, Bill, was the guest Sunday of Carl Rupert, safety belt manufacturer, at the stock car races in Meadowdale, where Bill met several of the drivers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Hawkey, 310 S. Windsor, drove to Watervliet, Mich., Sunday to attend Parents day activities at "Camp for Fun." Their son, Larry, who has been at camp since June 1, will return home Friday.

Following his graduation from Helicopter and Flying school at Fort Rucker, Ala., August 14, Lt. Robert Rasmussen, his wife and infant son, Bruce, will spend several weeks in Arlington Heights with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruce Rasmussen, 202 S. Windsor.

Afterwards they will go to Lake George, N. Y., for a visit with Mrs. Rasmussen's parents and then sail for Europe where they will live for the next three years. Lt. Rasmussen will be stationed with the 50th Aviation company in Fuerth, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Basil, 421 S. Windsor, and children have returned after vacationing for three weeks in Tomahawk, Wis., and in Escanaba, where they visited relatives.

THE RALPH Lillebergs, 322 S. Derbyshire, and Karen and Tom spent 10 days in Door county, Wis. Making Gordon's lodge in Baileys Harbor their headquarters, they spent most of their time aboard their sailboat, Lass.

Bill Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire, is currently at Boy Scout camp at Wild Rose, Wis. His brother, Carl, and his neighbor, Jim Smith, arrived home over the past weekend by jet from Palo Alto, Cal., where they had been visiting the Charles Stewarts, former Stonegate residents.

Mrs. Bredehoft and her youngest son, Paul, were in Merriam, Kan., recently to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law, L. W. Beurmann.

Dick Roedell of Dubuque, Iowa, is staying through the week with the Richard Downs, 230 Bristol lane. Dick, who formerly lived in Arlington Heights, is the guest of Larry Down.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ballard, 407 E. Rockwell, were Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Leonard of Indianapolis and their daughters, Patty and Debby.

With their own vacation travels behind them, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell F. Christy, 505 S. Belmont, were hosts to vacationing friends and relatives. Visiting here for a weekend recently were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clements and three children of Catlettsburg, Ky., and during the past week Mrs. Christy's sister and family, the N. Brooke Smiths and Polly arrived from Brunswick, Maine, for a 4-day visit before continuing on their travels. Earlier in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Christy took a leisurely motor trip around Lake Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Nix, 440 S. Beverly, joined their Scarsdale neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. H. Thomas Douglas, at Bass lake near Ludington,, Mich., for a 2-week vacation.

MISS GAIL Hardison, 347 Burton, and Miss Sue Sickel, 330 Burton, were hosts at a luncheon and swimming party Tuesday for 12 guests. They met at the Sickel home for luncheon and spent the afternoon at the Hardison swimming pool.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Prellwitz, 747 S. Belmont, spent the past two weeks in Wisconsin visiting friends and relatives in Madison, Appleton and Oshkosh.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holdeman, 444 S. Lincoln, combined a vacation and reunion with long-time friends, by motoring around Lake Michigan and stopping off for a 2-week stay at a resort at Silver Lake, Mich., where they were joined by friends from West Virginia, Indiana and Michigan. This summer marked the 10th year that all have vacationed together.

The Alan Macdonalds, 515 S. Belmont, are home after a 7-week vacation on the west coast. Mrs. Macdonald, accompanied by her son, Alan Jr., and daughter, Susan, drove to California, visiting Los Angeles and San Francisco, and then going to Phoenix, Tucson and Grand Canyon. Returning to San Francisco, they were joined by Mr. Macdonald, and all attended a family reunion and saw many of Mrs. Macdonald's former classmates and friends. Continuing their travels, the Macdonalds drove north to Vancouver and visited Banff and Lake Louise before returning home.

Miss Janet Gilpin of Indianapolis spent the weekend in Arlington Heights visiting Mrs. Dorothy Taggart, 840 S. Beverly.

Jay, Cheryl and Mrs. Henry Rossberg spent Wednesday visiting Mrs. Rossberg's sister, Mrs. William Dome in Chicago.

The Ernest Paus family spent two days at Wisconsin Dells, during their week's vacation.

Cheryl and Christine Baldassari and their dad, Tom, gave a surprise birthday party for their mother, Goldy, last Thursday evening. The S. Luczaks, Connie Cleary, Pat, Mary Ann and Kim Anderson and the Robert Curriers participated in the festivities.

Dog Show Finals Set

Finals for the entire Chicago area amateur dog shows will be held Saturday afternoon, August 27 in the Arlington Market shopping center following the local show in the morning.

The finals of the Ken-L-Ration shows sponsored by the Quaker Oats co., will bring to Arlington Heights the winners of all of the amateur shows that have been held this year.

THE MORNING show under the sponsorship of the Arlington Market Merchants association in conjunction with the Quaker Oats co., will select the pets from the local area that are winners in their fields.

This show, which is for entertainment of children, will select winners from several categories, including best costumed dog, largest dog, smallest dog, and best trick dog. No pedigrees or formal training is necessary.

TROPHYS, "T" shirts, and other prizes will be awarded by the Merchants association, plus a free can of Ken-L-Ration for every dog who brings his master to the show. A dog training book will be provided so that the young owners can brush up, if necessary, on their dogs' manners.

Applications are available in all of the stores in Arlington Market.

'Late Summer' Vacations Hit Peak for Heights Families

The remaining days of August are being counted in many ways. Brides-to-be tick off the moments until they're wed, mothers think longingly of the back-to-school date and school children dream of being able to halt the march of time. In as many ways that they are counted, the August days are filled with bridal showers, vacation trips and visits here of out-of-towners. It's a busy time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cooke of New Philadelphia, Ohio, arrived yesterday, Wednesday to spend a week with their daughter, Mrs. Robert Bliss, and family, 1307 E. Eastman.

The Arthur Funks, 416 N. Drury, returned Sunday from a week in Door county, Wis., where their favorite indoor-outdoor-sport was loafing. They came home relaxed and well-rested.

The junior John Frieburgs, 1303 E. Eastman, returned a week ago Sunday after 11 days of sightseeing and visiting in Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and southern Illinois. They enjoyed a stay in Dearborn, Mich., where they toured Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford museum. In Ohio they spent a few days with Mr. Frieburg's sister and family, the Roderick Dillons in Newark. Next on the itinerary was a sightseeing jaunt in Kentucky that took in Mammoth Cave and Lincoln's birthplace. The scenic as well as social vacation ended after a visit in Leroy, Ill., with Mr. Frieburg's parents.

The Dr. Vernon Boman family came home to 739 S. Evergreen early last week, along with Burton, who spent a month at Camp Maplehurst in Kewadin, Mich. The family vacation began late last month when the Bomans picked up Burton in Michigan, then continued around the lake to the summer home of Dr. Boman's parents in Sister Bay, Wis., for two weeks of swimming, fishing and boating.

THREE OF FOUR local couples who enjoy a regularly scheduled bridge session initiated what they hope may become an annual dinner-and-the-theater party Saturday evening. The William Wysockis, Henry Wists and Jack Guilfoils saw "Two for the Seesaw" at the Edgewater Beach playhouse; then enjoyed dinner in the Polynesian room. The festive evening also celebrated the 15th wedding anniversary of the Wysockis' August 11 wedding.

Earlier last week Mrs. Wysocki was reunited with an aunt she hadn't seen since childhood when Miss Ida Rieger of St. Gall, Switzerland, arrived to spend a few days. She was enroute to Minnesota for an extended stay and was accompanied by a friend from England, Mrs. Cora Stavast, who shared the reunion fun at 607 S. Walnut.

Bride-elect Miss Caren Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Potts, 115 E. Rockwell, was recently feted at two showers given on successive dates. Miss Potts was just as surprised August 4 when she was honored by relatives of her fiance, Arthur Schulze of Bensenville, as she was the day before at a party of her family members and friends. The first pre-nuptial party was given by cousins, Miss Donna Scharringhausen and Miss Tyla Blohm, in the Scharringhausen home, 408 Thomas, where 24 friends and relatives showered Miss Potts with miscellaneous gifts. Among the guests were the mother of the bridegroom, the senior Mrs. Arthur Schulze, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Nick Potts of Libertyville.

Next evening the groom's sister, Miss Dorothy Schulze, and a cousin, Miss Delores Heinrich, were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower in the Bensenville home of Miss Heinrich. Forty Schulze family members honored Miss Potts, who will be married September 17 in St. John United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights.

THE CLIFFORD Peterson family, 1017 N. Ridge, returned Saturday evening from a week's vacation divided between a stay at the Dells in Wisconsin and visiting relatives in southern Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Lathen, 614 W. Campbell, report that their daughter, Joan, now of Evanston, returned Sunday from a 15-day vacation and sightseeing tour of Jamaica. Miss Lathen, a graduate of Blackburn college in Carlinville, enjoyed a stay with two Jamaican girls now teaching in Kingston who attended Blackburn with her.

Among the young friends who helped Barbara Mendl celebrate a birthday last week was her house guest, Carol Lacina of Berwyn. Barbara was 10 a week ago Tuesday and seven local friends joined the Berwyn visitor in the afternoon party at 745 S. Vail. Miss Lacina, a former neighbor and schoolmate of the birthday girl, was here a week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zastrow of South Gate, Cal., left early this month after a 2½-week visit with their daughter, Mrs. Harold Henry, and family, 834 N. Hickory, and with another daughter in Grand Rapids. A family reunion in the Henry home at the beginning of the Californians' visit here brought the Zastrows and their three daughters and families together for the first time in 32 years. One daughter and Mrs. Robert Schenck of Springfield, S.D., arrived here in mid-July with Mr. and Mrs. Zastrow and stayed for a long weekend visit. While the Schencks were here Mrs. Leon Fouts came from Grand Rapids to join Mrs. Henry in making the gathering of daughters complete for their parents. The Zastrows returned to Grand Rapids with Mrs. Fouts for a visit, the Henrys later joined them for a few days, then all returned here for a weekend celebration that was a combination farewell and double birthday party. Bob Henry was 14 July 30 and shared the birthday congratulations with his grandmother, who had her 78th birthday a few days after her return to California. Mr. and Mrs. Zastrow jetted back to the west coast August 3.

MR. AND MRS. Frank Sesterhan and Terry, 316 W. Hawthorne, returned over the weekend after two weeks of ideal weather and fun in Baileys Harbor, Wis. on Kangaroo lake. They swam, fished, golfed and visited many points of interest on the peninsula, among them the famed Boynton chapel on the Boynton estate. They were especially impressed with the summer theater at Fish Creek, where the well-known "Peninsula Players" included Mary Best of Arlington Heights. The Sesterhans report a splendid performance by Mrs. Best in the comedy, "Gazebo," one of three plays in which she's appeared the past three weeks. The vacationers also ferried to Washington Island and visited the new Aqualand near Ephraim.

Mrs. Dorothy Starek and boys, 607 S. Ridge, returned Saturday from a 10-day sightseeing trip to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. They left from the Indianapolis home of Mrs. Starek's father, Arthur J. Weber, who accompanied them on the tour-by-train of the historic and scenic areas in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Austin, 906 E. Fairview, hosted a season's end barbecue for the Varsity league champions, the Eagles, a week ago Wednesday evening. Eagles' manager, Edward Schneider, was presented a trophy and gift certificate from all the boys on his team. Thirteen of the 16 boys on the team were there to share the fun of their manager's surprise and pride in his gifts. Other guests included Mrs. Schneider and Shelley, and the coaching fathers with their wives; the Robert Beckers, Elmer Boehms, Frank Renners, William Thrashers, Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunnom and team mother, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks.

BRIDE-ELECT Miss Laurie Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Riley, 738 S. Mitchell, was recently feted at two pre-nuptial parties that were planned as surprises and succeeded. The first, a week ago Sunday, was given in the Des Plaines home of Mrs. Leonard Birck, where Miss Riley thought she and her parents were to be Sunday dinner guests. Instead she found 14 girls waiting to shower her with miscellaneous gifts, and it was past the 3 o'clock would-be dinner hour before the group thought of dining. Mrs. Birck, at whose wedding Miss Riley sang last February, will serve her friend as bridesmaid September 3 when Miss Riley and Thomas Gore will be married in the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights. Mr. Gore is the son of former Arlington Heights residents, the Harold Gores now of Menlo Park, Cal.

August 10 Miss Riley attended a tea given by her grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Riley, 223 S. Mitchell, to introduce her to many of her grandmothers' long-time friends. To her surprise Miss Riley found the tea was also a shower at which she was presented miscellaneous gifts.

Sharks and barracuda stuck their long noses into the James Yates family business which was to have been skin diving off the Florida coast during their recent vacation. The Yates family came home to 903 N. Vail Sunday after three weeks of no skin diving in the shark-inhabited deeps but a little snorkel diving in shallower waters. Even then a barracuda, presumably only curious, trailed one of the boys through the water. Bruce celebrated his 14th birthday in Florida August 8, and since the family's return Sunday Doug celebrated his 19th birthday.

THE ROBERT Wright family, 301 N. Derbyshire, returned Sunday from a week at Lake Lipsie Pines, Wis., where Glenview friends, the Russell Wendes and children, joined them. A guest for the week was Joy Metz, a friend of Carol Wright. They swam, fished, water-skied, made a day's canoe trip to other Wisconsin lakes and went to Cable to visit cousins vacationing on Diamond lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pelland, 45 S. Salem, celebrated the August 11 birthday of Mrs. Pelland with dinner out and attending the Hinsdale summer theater. The Pellands were joined by Des Plaines friends for the evening. Earlier in, the week Mr. and Mrs. Pelland had four days of relaxing at Kings Gateway in Wisconsin's Land O' Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dieball and children returned to 1137 N. Chestnut last Friday night after a vacation in Boynton Beach, Fla. with Mrs. Dieball's parents, the Nick Csepps. Glenn had been with his grandparents from the moment school was out in June, and the rest of the family joined him three weeks ago. Mr. Dieball enjoyed several deep-sea fishing trips, and although fishing in general was not good, Mr. Dieball still gets wobbly thinking of the day he caught a seven-foot ten-inch sailfish that was just four inches short of the record for that area. Mr. Csepp, owner of a barber shop here for many years before his retirement to Florida, is once again barbering.

MR. AND MRS. William C. Beckman, 515 N. State, recently celebrated their August 6 golden wedding anniversary with 40 friends and relatives in the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bouffard of Barrington.

Visitors last week in the Chet Smith home, 1304 . Eastman, were Mrs. Alida Schaub and her son of Minneapolis. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Schaub are long-time friends and enjoyed four days chatting before the visitors returned to Minnesota Monday. The week previous Mrs. Smith's sister and brother-in-law, the Robert Marshalls of Kansas City, Mo., were guests of the Smiths.

Sunday dinner guests in the William Andres home, 1145 N. Belmont, were Miss Caroline Baier who taught the Andres' son, Larry, last year in St. James Catholic school, and Dr. Royal Fitch, both of Arlington Heights. The Andres' elder son, Bill, was the guest Sunday of Carl Rupert, safety belt manufacturer, at the stock car races in Meadowdale, where Bill met several of the drivers.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Hawkey, 310 S. Windsor, drove to Watervliet, Mich., Sunday to attend Parents day activities at "Camp for Fun." Their son, Larry, who has been at camp since June 1, will return home Friday.

Following his graduation from Helicopter and Flying school at Fort Rucker, Ala., August 14, Lt. Robert Rasmussen, his wife and infant son, Bruce, will spend several weeks in Arlington Heights with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bruce Rasmussen, 202 S. Windsor.

Afterwards they will go to Lake George, N. Y., for a visit with Mrs. Rasmussen's parents and then sail for Europe where they will live for the next three years. Lt. Rasmussen will be stationed with the 50th Aviation company in Fuerth, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Basil, 421 S. Windsor, and children have returned after vacationing for three weeks in Tomahawk, Wis., and in Escanaba, where they visited relatives.

Carnival Proceeds To Leukemia Fund

TALLYING THEIR contribution to the leukemia fund are Kathleen Daver, 11, of 806 S. Walnut, and Mary Spence, 12, of 810 S. Walnut, both of Arlington Heights. The girls, with a group of friends, raised $11.18 through a back yard carnival Thursday, August 11. (A

"We made some money, but didn't know what to do with it."

This unusual situation was explained to the Paddock Publications receptionist Friday afternoon by a group of young misses who had made $11.18 through a carnival at 810-816 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights.

They had finally decided to donate the money to the Leukemia Foundation, and came to the office to find where to send it.

THE CARNIVAL was held Thursday in the back yards of two of the girls. They estimated 75 youngsters attended the festivities.

Organizers of the carnival were Kathleen Daver, 806 S. Walnut; Mary and Steve Spence, 810 S. Walnut; Susie Baughman, 617 S. Burton; Michele Deveraux, 818 S. Ridge; Diane Hoggay, 206 S. Vail; Kathy Ryan, 713 S. Lynden, and Bunny Berngen, 816 S. Walnut, all of Arlington Heights; and Susie and Craig Ulbrich, Rolling Meadows. (A

Residents Warned About 'Schemes'

Donald A. Hess, executive manager of the Arlington Heights chamber of commerce, issued warnings this week about three business "schemes."

One, the chimney and roof repair racket, preys mainly upon oldsters, he noted.

"In every community there are well established firms which engage in roof, gutter, and chimney work," he said. "But not so a small group of unscrupulous repairmen, whose prime victims are the elderly, particularly widows."

Hess warned that the swindler tries to scare his victim into having the chimney repaired by telling him that his chimney or roof is about to blow away with the next strong guest of wind.

HE RECOMMENDED that a person should only deal with reliable business people, and not sign a contract for major repairs without consulting an attorney or friends to prevent being swindled.

Another racket, the unordered merchandise scheme, puzzles many people, Hess said. People receive unordered merchandise through the mails and are threatened with legal action if payment is not made.

"The public is under no obligation to return the merchandise, or to pay for it unless they use it, or to provide storage facilities in their homes for such unwanted goods," Hess commented.

"As a practical matter," he continued, "no vendor will institute suit for merchandise of little value. Because of this, many people discourage the practice by refusing to buy or return any unordered goods they receive."

HESS ALSO warned local residents to be wary of floor-washing franchises. According to Hess, the sale of such franchises has been used in some areas as a racket to sell waxing machines and expensive equipment at exorbitant prices.

He warned residents to check the record of any promoter that offers to sell such a franchise, and to obtain all agreements and guarantees in writing.

Carnival Proceeds To Leukemia Fund

TALLYING THEIR contribution to the leukemia fund are Kathleen Daver, 11, of 806 S. Walnut, and Mary Spence, 12, of 810 S. Walnut, both of Arlington Heights. The girls, with a group of friends, raised $11.18 through a back yard carnival Thursday, August 11. (A

"We made some money, but didn't know what to do with it."

This unusual situation was explained to the Paddock Publications receptionist Friday afternoon by a group of young misses who had made $11.18 through a carnival at 810-816 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights.

They had finally decided to donate the money to the Leukemia Foundation, and came to the office to find where to send it.

THE CARNIVAL was held Thursday in the back yards of two of the girls. They estimated 75 youngsters attended the festivities.

Organizers of the carnival were Kathleen Daver, 806 S. Walnut; Mary and Steve Spence, 810 S. Walnut; Susie Baughman, 617 S. Burton; Michele Deveraux, 818 S. Ridge; Diane Hoggay, 206 S. Vail; Kathy Ryan, 713 S. Lynden, and Bunny Berngen, 816 S. Walnut, all of Arlington Heights; and Susie and Craig Ulbrich, Rolling Meadows. (A

Residents Warned About 'Schemes'

Donald A. Hess, executive manager of the Arlington Heights chamber of commerce, issued warnings this week about three business "schemes."

One, the chimney and roof repair racket, preys mainly upon oldsters, he noted.

"In every community there are well established firms which engage in roof, gutter, and chimney work," he said. "But not so a small group of unscrupulous repairmen, whose prime victims are the elderly, particularly widows."

Hess warned that the swindler tries to scare his victim into having the chimney repaired by telling him that his chimney or roof is about to blow away with the next strong guest of wind.

HE RECOMMENDED that a person should only deal with reliable business people, and not sign a contract for major repairs without consulting an attorney or friends to prevent being swindled.

Another racket, the unordered merchandise scheme, puzzles many people, Hess said. People receive unordered merchandise through the mails and are threatened with legal action if payment is not made.

"The public is under no obligation to return the merchandise, or to pay for it unless they use it, or to provide storage facilities in their homes for such unwanted goods," Hess commented.

"As a practical matter," he continued, "no vendor will institute suit for merchandise of little value. Because of this, many people discourage the practice by refusing to buy or return any unordered goods they receive."

HESS ALSO warned local residents to be wary of floor-washing franchises. According to Hess, the sale of such franchises has been used in some areas as a racket to sell waxing machines and expensive equipment at exorbitant prices.

He warned residents to check the record of any promoter that offers to sell such a franchise, and to obtain all agreements and guarantees in writing.

Youth Urged to Stay In School by Agency

The U. S. Department of Labor, in cooperation with hundreds of organizations throughout the country, is urging young people to stay in school and complete their education. Along with the U. S. Office of Education, the Department of Defense, and others, the Labor Department is directing its annual nationwide appeal to youngsters, their parents, and community leaders, as the fall semester approaches.

"America's complex and growing industry demands alert, creative, imaginative young men and women who can take their places in an age of specialists," Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell says. "Such workers, educated and disciplined in the high school classroom, are our Nation's greatest wealth and most critical need," the Secretary stresses.

TO THE 10 million boys and girls who are now 14 to 17 years old, the Department points out the obstacles which those who do not graduate from high school will face. A major problem is that dropouts have difficulty getting any job at all because there are fewer unskilled jobs available. The competition for jobs is tougher today because more young people are high school graduates. The nongraduates have to search longer for work. For those who do land a job, the salary isn't as good and job promotions are slower.

New knowledge, new skills, more adaptability, and greater flexibility are being required of young workers today. Increasingly, employers are demanding that job applicants have high school diplomas. The odds of getting the kind of beginning job a youngster hopes for are three to one in favor of those who hold such a diploma.

Despite these facts, one out of three of the boys and girls enrolled in high school drop out before graduation.

NEW DEELOPMENTS in the professions, in automation, electronics, and precision machinery will accelerate the trend toward more jobs for the educated and skilled, and fewer opportunities for the unskilled. Irregular employment and lower wages face the uneducated in the economy of today. In 1960, it is estimated that 210 atomic reactor operators will be at work; by 1980, 18,670. Only high school graduates are accepted for training for these highly technical fields.

Industry now needs one engineer for every 40 workers. In 1900, the ratio was one for 400 workers. For every professionally trained engineer, industry needs, on the average, a crew of five trained technicians. Less than five years from now, the professions will need 45,000 more doctors, 76,000 more college trained nurses, 487,000 more elementary and high school teachers, 80,000 more natural scientists, and 100,000 more engineers. For those who wish to take professional or advanced training, a high school diploma is a minimum requirement; in some cases, college work or even a degree is needed.

During World War II, 700,000 young men were rejected for military service because they could not read or write. Another 700,000 young men with little or no education were accepted for low-level assignments. Today the Armed Forces are becoming increasingly technical, and high school graduates are in greater demand. The Armed Forces urge all young men to remain in high school through graduation because they are then better able to absorb military technical training, they have a better opportunity to be selected for military schooling, a better opportunity for advancement in rank, and they are better equipped to assume positions of leadership.

The Department of Labor reports an encouraging trend in the number of high school enrollments. In 1940, 7,710,000 (79.3 per cent) of America's youths aged 14 to 17 were enrolled in school. Today, the number is 9,839,000 (90.2 per cent). Also on the plus side, the Department notes that in 1950, 94.8 per cent of our 14- and 15-year-olds were enrolled in school. By the end of the last decade, 97.5 per cent of the youth in this age bracket were enrolled. In the 16-17 age group — when the temptations to drop out of school are greatest — 71.3 per cent were enrolled in 1950. At the end of the decade, the number of school enrollees aged 16 to 17 had risen to 82.9 per cent.

DESPITE THIS 20-year recef or d ooi ord of improvement there are still 60 million adult Americans 18 years of age and over who have not completed high school. Forty million have not completed the ninth grade; and two and one-third million never went to school at all.

Various studies have demonstrated that in the long run an education pays for itself. One such inquiry, for example, revealed that by the time a man reaches his peak earning period — roughly 45 to 54 years of age — the high school graduate makes 27 per cent more than the man who completed only the eighth grade. Each year in school yields an additional return in yearly income received. This is especially true of the graduate. A diploma brings a double reward. For example, each year of high school through the 11th grade adds $238 in annual income; the 12th grade adds $466. The typical high school graduate during his adult earning years will receive $49,000 more than the eighth grade graduate and $30,000 more than the high school dropout.

Recently, the Institution of Life Insurance reported that a man with a grade school education can expect a lifetime income of $178,000; the average high school graduate can expect to earn $243,00; and a college degree raises the average total to $347,00. Still other sources place the expected earnings in these three categories slightly higher.

THE DEPARTMENT of Labor today points to the 26 million new young workers who will join the labor force in the 1960's. Of these, 70 per cent will have a high school education or better. The dilemma: what to do about the 30 per cent, or 7½ million, of our new young workers who will not have completed their high school education, and what to do about the 2½ million who will have completed only the eighth grade or less.

The organizations cooperating in the National Stay-in-School Campaign have issued a Handbook for Communities. Simply, it tells what you can do if you are a school official, student, editor, labor union official, employment counselor, PTA member, civic club member, businessman, social worker, or member of a church group. The appeal to the Nation's boys and girls of high school age to stay in school and graduate is most effective when it is made by members of their own communities by those whom they know and respect.

Write to: Bureau of Labor Standards, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington 25, D.C., for copies of the Handbook and other community aids.

TO THE 10 million boys and girls who are now 14 to 17 years old, the Department points out the obstacles which those who do not graduate from high school will face. A major problem is that dropouts have difficulty getting any job at all because there are fewer unskilled jobs available. The competition for jobs is tougher today because more young people are high school graduates. The nongraduates have to search longer for work. For those who do land a job, the salary isn't as good and job promotions are slower.

New knowledge, new skills, more adaptability, and greater flexibility are being required of young workers today. Increasingly, employers are demanding that job applicants have high school diplomas. The odds of getting the kind of beginning job a youngster hopes for are three to one in favor of those who hold such a diploma.

Despite these facts, one out of three of the boys and girls enrolled in high school drop out before graduation.

NEW DEELOPMENTS in the professions, in automation, electronics, and precision machinery will accelerate the trend toward more jobs for the educated and skilled, and fewer opportunities for the unskilled. Irregular employment and lower wages face the uneducated in the economy of today. In 1960, it is estimated that 210 atomic reactor operators will be at work; by 1980, 18,670. Only high school graduates are accepted for training for these highly technical fields.

Industry now needs one engineer for every 40 workers. In 1900, the ratio was one for 400 workers. For every professionally trained engineer, industry needs, on the average, a crew of five trained technicians. Less than five years from now, the professions will need 45,000 more doctors, 76,000 more college trained nurses, 487,000 more elementary and high school teachers, 80,000 more natural scientists, and 100,000 more engineers. For those who wish to take professional or advanced training, a high school diploma is a minimum requirement; in some cases, college work or even a degree is needed.

During World War II, 700,000 young men were rejected for military service because they could not read or write. Another 700,000 young men with little or no education were accepted for low-level assignments. Today the Armed Forces are becoming increasingly technical, and high school graduates are in greater demand. The Armed Forces urge all young men to remain in high school through graduation because they are then better able to absorb military technical training, they have a better opportunity to be selected for military schooling, a better opportunity for advancement in rank, and they are better equipped to assume positions of leadership.

The Department of Labor reports an encouraging trend in the number of high school enrollments. In 1940, 7,710,000 (79.3 per cent) of America's youths aged 14 to 17 were enrolled in school. Today, the number is 9,839,000 (90.2 per cent). Also on the plus side, the Department notes that in 1950, 94.8 per cent of our 14- and 15-year-olds were enrolled in school. By the end of the last decade, 97.5 per cent of the youth in this age bracket were enrolled. In the 16-17 age group — when the temptations to drop out of school are greatest — 71.3 per cent were enrolled in 1950. At the end of the decade, the number of school enrollees aged 16 to 17 had risen to 82.9 per cent.

DESPITE THIS 20-year recef or d ooi ord of improvement there are still 60 million adult Americans 18 years of age and over who have not completed high school. Forty million have not completed the ninth grade; and two and one-third million never went to school at all.

Various studies have demonstrated that in the long run an education pays for itself. One such inquiry, for example, revealed that by the time a man reaches his peak earning period — roughly 45 to 54 years of age — the high school graduate makes 27 per cent more than the man who completed only the eighth grade. Each year in school yields an additional return in yearly income received. This is especially true of the graduate. A diploma brings a double reward. For example, each year of high school through the 11th grade adds $238 in annual income; the 12th grade adds $466. The typical high school graduate during his adult earning years will receive $49,000 more than the eighth grade graduate and $30,000 more than the high school dropout.

Recently, the Institution of Life Insurance reported that a man with a grade school education can expect a lifetime income of $178,000; the average high school graduate can expect to earn $243,00; and a college degree raises the average total to $347,00. Still other sources place the expected earnings in these three categories slightly higher.

THE DEPARTMENT of Labor today points to the 26 million new young workers who will join the labor force in the 1960's. Of these, 70 per cent will have a high school education or better. The dilemma: what to do about the 30 per cent, or 7½ million, of our new young workers who will not have completed their high school education, and what to do about the 2½ million who will have completed only the eighth grade or less.

The organizations cooperating in the National Stay-in-School Campaign have issued a Handbook for Communities. Simply, it tells what you can do if you are a school official, student, editor, labor union official, employment counselor, PTA member, civic club member, businessman, social worker, or member of a church group. The appeal to the Nation's boys and girls of high school age to stay in school and graduate is most effective when it is made by members of their own communities by those whom they know and respect.

Write to: Bureau of Labor Standards, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington 25, D.C., for copies of the Handbook and other community aids.

Careful Planning Can Reduce Noise Problem

If you're planning to build a new home soon, take another hard look at the building plans and ask yourself this question: "How much of a noise problem will I have in this house?" Chances are, unless some form of sound conditioning has been included in those plans, the answer is "far too much for comfort."

ACOUSTICAL CEILINGS are important elements in any sound-conditioning plan of a home. Despite noisy activity only a few feet away, Dad reads his magazine in comfort. This is because much of the noise is absorbed by tiny holes in the surface of the ceiling. Notice how tile has been carried down on the walls to provide an attractive soffit treatment. (BB

Back in Grandpa's day, household noise was nothing like the problem it is today. There was no T. V. sets, automatic washers, disposals, mixers and grinders to create noise in the home. Moreover, homes themselves were built of heavier materials which effectively prevented outside noise from filtering indoors.

Contrast that with today's sleek one - story or split level home, filled to the brim with noise - making devices and gadgets, and containing all types of hard sound - reflective surfaces which help transform everyday sounds into a cacophony of noise. No wonder sound-conditioning is coming into such widespread practice.

ACTUALLY, SOUND - conditioning is neither difficult nor expensive to build into a new home, but it does require advance planning. According to home acoustics experts of the Armstrong Cork company, there are two basic types of noise that have to be considered: 1) noise produced within the house itself, and 2) noise originating outside the house.

The problem inside the home is essentially one of reverberation. Sound waves tend to bounce off the walls, ceilings, and other hard room surfaces, producing a constant jumble of discordant sound. If nothing is done to control this situation, noise simply races around the house unchecked, often resulting in strained nerves and an occasional short temper.

The solution is to absorb these sound waves before they have a chance to build up to irritating noise levels. Draperies and upholstered furniture can take care of some of this, but in most homes, considerably more absorption is needed. This is why acoustical ceilings are being used more and more in new homes today.

THESE attractive, easy-to-care-for ceilings soak up as much as 75 per cent of the noise that strikes their surface, and actually help to improve hearing conditions in the home. They're particularly efficient in absorbing the higher pitched, higher frequency sounds which most people find so annoying.

Acoustical ceilings also eliminate the old problem of cracking and chipping that often occurs with ordinary ceilings as the house settles. There's never any need for a messy replastering job, regardless of how much settling takes place.

Sound absorbent ceilings are particularly beneficial in such critical noise areas as the kitchen, family room, living room, and workshop, but there are other places where they can be used to good advantage too.

IN CONNECTING hallways and corridors, for example, they absorb much of the sound traveling through these enclosures, and help to reduce transmission of noise to the quiet areas of the home. In the vestibule or entry hall, they muffle the sound of voices and slamming doors. And over the staircase, they help keep noise from traveling between floor levels.

Yet as useful as these new ceilings are, they can't do the entire sound - conditioning job. Special attention should also be given to the arrangement of rooms within the home, making sure that the quiet rooms are located as far as possible from those where most household noise originates. If this can't be done in every instance, the placement of closets between rooms is another effective sound isolating technique.

Noises originating outside the house are usually the most difficult to control at the source, so it is better to avoid them in the very beginning, if at all possible. Choose a building site which is well away from any potential noise source, such as a busy highway or airport. Always check local zoning regulations to make sure no industrial locations are nearby.

PAY particularly close attention to the orientation of your home on the lot. Turn the quiet areas, such as the bedrooms and study, away from the street, and if possible, plan to have a garage, porch, or breezeway separating the living quarters from neighboring properties.

If you do have to build on a noisy street or thoroughfare, you can still keep outside noise from filtering into the house through the use of extra heavy wall construction and double glass windows tightly sealed around the edges. Outdoor fences or masonry walls can also be effective in reducing the amount of street noise that reaches the house.

The family looking for an older home to buy will do well to keep these points in mind too. First, choose a home that's planned for maximum sound isolation, then install modern acoustical ceilings in the key noise areas - right over the old ceiling surface. The investment will more than pay for itself in many years of quiet, comfortable living.

Arlington Resident To Tour Europe

RAYMOND BECKER

Raymond R. Becker, 414 Mitchell ct., Arlington Heights, is a member of Chicago's first World Trade Mission which will tour eight famous European cities during a three week period in September.

The World Trade Mission, leaving Sept. 2 by chartered airliner from O'Hare International airport, is being sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry to promote a greater volume of export and import business for the Chicago area and its vast midwestern market.

Becker is the association's public information manager and will accompany Chicago newspaper, radio and television representatives who are also members of the Mission.

THE THREE week tour of Europe by the Chicago World Trade Mission will feature a combination of business and pleasure visits to Vienna, Austria; Frankfurt and Berlin in West Germany; Leipzig, East Germany; Rome and Milan, Italy; Paris, France, and London, England.

The 80 members of the Trade Mission will meet with business and government leaders in each city, investigate trade opportunities, and visit nine trade shows and fairs.

While most seats for the World Trade Mission Flight have been reserved, a few seats still are available for businessmen and members of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. (BB

THIS LOVELY lady is promoting the Marathon Picnic Sweepstakes, now going on at local Marathon service stations. She's surrounded by many of the items that are being given away at every Marathon station participating in the Sweepstakes, which ends Aug. 28. The picnic equipment illustrated is made by Hamilton-Skotch, originators of the Skotch Cooler. In addition to prizes given away by each Marathon station, a 1960 Pontiac Catalina Vista 4-door is being given away each week of the eight-week contest. A nine-day trip for two to Paris via TWA is the bonus prize awarded at the end of the Sweepstakes. (BB

Artificial Respiration Saves Precious Seconds

Your swimming companion finds himself in water too deep for him. He can't stay afloat.

He goes under but rescuers reach him quickly and pull him into their boat. You climb in, too.

Seconds are precious. Victims of water accidents die from lack of oxygen. Lack o oxygen also can spell permanent brain damage.

WHAT would you do?

"Start artificial respiration at once," advises the National Safety Council, hub of the safety movement in America and concerned with all forms of safetly.

The Council goes along with the system of artificial respiration recommended by many authorities, the mouth - to mouth method.

"THE MOUTH - to - mouth method has the advantage of providing immediate pressure to inflate the victim's lungs. And it enables the rescuer to get more accurate information on the volume, pressure and timing of efforts needed to inflate the victim's lungs than are afforded by other methods," say experts on artificial respiration.

When should you use artificial respiration?

"Anytime someone stops breathing—because of electric shock, suffocation in a discarded refrigerator or in a plastic bag, or a near drowning," said Ralph Kuhli, the Council's director of public safety.

HERE IS HOW you can perform the life-saving mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration, he said:

1. Wipe out foreign matter in the mouth with your fingers or a cloth wrapped around them.
2. Tilt the victim's head back so the chin is pointing upward. Pull or push the jaw into a jutting-out position.

THESE maneuvers should relieve obstruction of the air passage by moving the base of the tongue away from the back of the throat.

3. Open your mouth wide and place it tightly over the victim's mouth. At the same time, pinch the victim's nostrils shut. Then breathe air, at a normal rate, into the victim.
4. Remove your mouth, turn your head to the side, and listen for air coming out. Repeat the blowing effort.

For an adult, blow about 12 breaths a minute. For a child breathe more softly, about 20 times a minute. (BB

Plan-It-Yourself Vacation Offered

A new type of "Plan It Yourself" vacation has been announced by Wayne Griffin Travel, Inc. of 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

The program, featuring vacations at the famed Hollywood Beach Hotel and Golf club in Hollywood, Fla., is especially designed for groups. It can be used as executive conferences, business seminars, a family vacation reunion as well as by social and fraternal clubs.

THE PLAN allows the groups to plan their own day-by-day activities from a long list of suggestions including deep sea fishing, horseracing, golfing, tennis, swimming, dancing, and sightseeing.

Low rates include air transportation from O'Hare field, transfers, meals, hotel facilities and complimentary cocktail parties. Full details can be obtained from Wayne Griffin Travel, Arlington Heights.

Ramsay Promoted At Harris

RICHARD RAMSEY

Richard E. Ramsey recently was elevated to vice president at Harris Trust and Savings Bank by the board of directors at their July meeting.

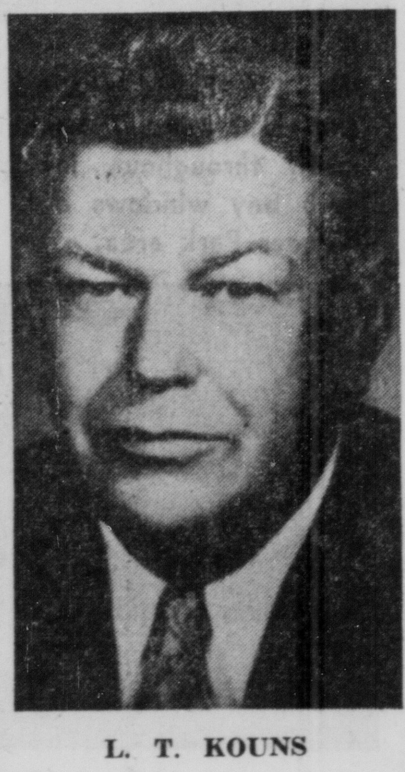
Ramsay is a member of the American Institute of Banking and Union League Club of Chicago. He is president and director of Methodist Foundation of Rock River Conference, director and member of the finance committee of Methodist Old Peoples Home, and treasurer and assistant secretary of Deaconess Fund of Methodist Church.

Kouns Heads Group



L. T. KOUNS

L. T. Kouns, midwestern regional sales manager for the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor company, has been named to head the automotive manufacturing and sales group of the Crusade of Mercy, Chicago's combined Community Fund and Red Cross drive that will get under way this September.

Kouns will appoint a committee to bring the Crusade of Mercy to all manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and allied service organizations in the auto industry.

THE 1960 GOAL of the Crusade of Mercy has been set at $15,350,000 to help support the 153 member agencies of the Chicago Community Fund and the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross. The campaign takes place only in the city of Chicago.

Kouns joined Ford in Minneapolis in 1923 and has since served in various sales posts both in the Midwest and on the West Coast. He was named to his present position in 1958, and has his office at 2225 W. North ave., Melrose Park. He also is chairman of Ford's 14 member Chicago Community Relations committee.

A native of Farmington, Iowa, he lives with his wife at 808 S. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights. (BB

Newbury Named Executive Director

Robert J. Newbury, of St. Paul, Minn., has been named executive director of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers.

Announcement of the appointment was made by LeVerne D. Hudson, Springfield, president of the organization comprised of more than 3,200 professional engineers.

Dodge Trucks Feature Only Inclined Engine

Dodge recently announced that its 1961 trucks will feature the only inclined 6 - cylinder gasoline engine in the industry.

In revealing details of the new engine, Dodge general manager M. C. Patterson said:

"Our new engine, designed to ensure exceptionally high fuel economy, will interest every truck owner who wishes to reduce his fuel costs significantly. We believe this engine will enable our new light-tonnage models to operate more economically than any comparable trucks on the road."

THE NEW overhead valve engine, which is slanted 30 degrees to the right, develops 140 horsepower at 3,900 RPM. It has a displacement of 225 cubic inches and produces 215 lb. - ft. torque from 1,600 to 2,800 RPM.

In addition to its thriftiness with fuel, the new engine has other important advantages for truck operators, Patterson emphasized.

"Inclining the engine has made it possible for our designers to lower the hood height and increase accessibility to the engine compartment," he explained.

A number of aluminum components have been introduced to minimize the weight of the engine. Aluminum parts include the water pump housing, water outlet elbow, oil pump housing, distributor case, and alternator frame. Intake valves also are aluminized to minimize the effects of high temperatures.

CARBURETOR AND air cleaner are located on the left side of the engine on a cast-iron intake manifold consisting of six long curved tubes, feeding each cylinder individually for improved fuel economy. The exhaust manifold, mounted on the same side, has large radius curves for minimum back pressure, thus prolonging valve life.

Deep block design, with the skirt extending below the crankshaft center line, provides exceptional structural strength and rigidity.

Another highlight of the engine is a 35-ampere alternator, which replaces the conventional generator. The alternator system consists of an alternator and rectifier assembly and a voltage regulator. The alternator produces alternating current, which the rectifier converts to direct current. The regulator controls voltage from the alternator.

THE ALTERNATOR system charges even at idling speeds, and reaches its peak charge rate quickly. Low cut-in and rapid build-up of power keep the battery charged even during start-stop operations.

Reducing maintenance costs by giving trouble - free service 2 to 3 times longer than a conventional generator, the alternator system also lengthens battery life by eliminating the extreme cycling of the charge. The regulator more accurately controls voltage. The alternator weighs 43 per cent less than a comparable generator.

The new 140 - horsepower engine will be standard on all conventional half - ton, three-quarter-ton, and 1 - ton models in the 1961 Dodge line. It also is standard on half - ton and three - quarter - ton 4-wheel - drive units, and on three-quarter-ton and 1 - ton forward - control models.

In addition to the 140-horsepower engine, Dodge will offer a smaller inclined 6-cylinder engine of similar design for special applications. This engine will be available to truck owners who operate delivery services requiring high idling time.

Rated at 101 horsepower at 4,000 RPM with a displacement of 170 cubic inches, this smaller engine produces 145 lb. - ft. torque from 1,600 to 3,200 RPM.

Bonsai Show At Dundee This Weekend

Nationally famous landscape architect and Bonsai expert Kaneji Domoto of New Rochelle, N. Y., will be in Dundee, August 19, 20, 21, at the midwest Bonsai show to demonstrate the century-old culture of Bonsai. Amateur and professional gardeners will be able to consult with him during the show and watch the regular demonstrations.

Hundreds of the finest specimens from private collections will be on exhibit during the show in West Dundee, at the corner of Illinois routes 72 and 31. The art of dwarfing trees was originated by the Chinese Buddist monks in the 13th Century. Later it was taken to Japan where it became as important as their religion.

IN 1923, Arthur Hill of the D. Hill nursery brought the first plants to Dundee, where they have been propagating them ever since. Only last year were they developed to the point that they could be offered to the public.

Judges for the exhibit will be Walter Eickhorst, assistant curator of collections, Morton Arboretum; Byr Setsman, famous flower and tree artist, Chicago; Kaneji Domoto, Bonsai expert, New Rochelle, N. Y. (BB

Municipal League Recognizes Need For Legislation

Representatives of the Illinois Municipal League have agreed substantially with the members of the Legislative Committee of the Home Builders Association of Illinois on the need for amendments to the State's "Revised Cities and Villages Act" with reference to official plans of municipalities throughout the state.

Ralph J. Finitzo, president of the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland, said that agreement in principle had been reached at a recent HBAI state legislative conference in Springfield as to what kind of a bill should be introduced in the 1961 legislative session to facilitate proper subdivision of land particularly the areas surrounding corporate boundaries within 1½ miles.

Kimball Hill, of Rolling Meadows, chairman of HBAI's legislative steering committee, said that further meetings planned between the two groups would undoubtedly result in proposal of a bill which would embody the objectives of House Bill 1343 passed by the Illinois General Assembly last year but vetoed by the Governor.

THIS BILL stipulated that plan commissions be given the power to establish reasonable standards for subdivisions in respect to public improvements, size of residential lots, storm water drainage, water supply and distribution, sewage collection and treatment and to designate suitable land for annexation.

It required that if a municipality adopts an official plan notice be recorded with the County recorder of deeds, and an ordinance passed which would include a map specifying existing and proposed streets, alleys, storm or floodwater run-off channels and basins, parks, playgrounds, other public grounds, and ways for public service facilities within the municipality and the area 1½ miles beyond.

The official plans would also have to be placed on file with the clerk of the corporate authority to be available for public inspection.

The ordinance would also state specifically the municipality's requirements relating to size and materials to be used in public improvements.

PROPOSED plats for subdivisions would have to be acted upon by the corporate authority within 90 days or approval would be automatic. If they disapproved the plat the bill required that they specify why it does not conform to the official plan.

The bill also would have resolved the possibility of conflicting jurisdiction between two or more corporate authorities over unincorporated territory within 1½ miles of their boundaries by establishing that their respective authority extended only to a median line between their boundaries.

Another provision of this homebuilder association supported bill would have expanded the requirements for maps and plats to conform to the official plan by showing ways for public service facilities, storm or floodwater run-off channels and basins.

Appointed Sales Head By National

H. V. McNamara, president, National Tea Co., today announced the appointment of vice president Ira O. Shy to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Val S. Bauman, who was vice president in charge of the sales and merchandising activities of the company.

Shy was an operational vice president in charge of several of the northern branches of the company, which position he has held, since his appointment to vice president in 1957.

He has served the National Tea Co. in an executive capacity since joining the company in 1953, and brings 29 years of experience in the retail food industry to his new position, which will include responsibility for the sales, advertising, merchandising activities and public relations of the 903 store Chicago based food chain.

Shy will be assisted in his new duties by John E. O'Berry, William Brooks and Richard K. O'Connell. (BB

The University of Illinois turf plots in Arlington Heights have again demonstrated some principles of lawn care which can be of value to homeowners.

The turf plots, near Algonquin rd., one-half mile east of Arlington Heights rd., were established two years ago to show what types of grass are available to be grown in this area, what kind of turf these varieties produce and what minimal care does to the turf.

The plots have not been watered artificially this year in spite of some dry periods, and the fact that some of the plots were sown only last fall. The only grass to suffer has been the Poa trivialis, a shade grass, and Astoria & Highland bent.

THE GRASS has been cut no shorter than two inches with the exception of the bent and zoysia plots.

Fertilizer was applied in early spring, early summer, and will again be applied in early fall. Thirty - one grass varieties and mixtures are represented. From observation of the plots the following conclusions are evident: Fall sowing, even as late as October 1, is preferable to any other season. Spring sown plots did not form dense enough sod by summer to compete with weeds; summer sown plots could not stand heat and drought and dried out.

Mixtures are better than straight sown seed. They become established more quickly, and more easily resist weeds. Inexpensive mixtures germinate very rapidly and look quite good the first year. However, in subsequent seasons, the lawn becomes thinner rather than thicker. Expensive mixtures do not look as well the first season, but improve each season.

BLUE GRASS IS the best adapted permanent grass for use in this type of planting. Merion blue has maintained an excellent dark green color and attractive appearance throughout the season. Bent grasses are unable to stand the heat and drought.

Zoysia is not well suited for use in our area because of the time required for it to become established. Even with extra attention it does not compete well with weeds and other grasses.

The most important single factor in maintaining a healthy turf is tall cutting. The grass should not exceed three inches in height and should not be cut shorter than two inches tall. Shorter cutting immediately results in thinning of the turf and germination of weeds.

EXAMINING Hamilton-Skotch cooler which he won in the Marathon Picnic Sweepstakes is Oland Haywood, 1536 Elm st., Palatine, shown above with Tom Stanek of Ed's Marathon service station, routes 53 and 68, Palatine.

Here Are Winners For Sweepstakes

Four winners were announced Monday in this week's Picnic Sweepstakes at northwest area Marathon service stations.

This week's prize is a Hamilton-Skotch Skylander Cooler. Winners and the stations are:

—Oland Heywood, 1536 Elm, Palatine, at Ed's Marathon service station, routes 53 and 68, Palatine;

—J. R. Kreutzer, 21 Central rd., Rolling Meadows, at Bob's Marathon service station, Algonquin and Wilke rds., Rolling Meadows;

—Edward J. Halicki, 301 Clarendon, Pospect Heights, at Ray's Marathon service station, State rd. and Eastman st., Arlington Heights; and

—William J. Walters, 2N580 West ave., Elmhurst, at Harold Starr and Frank Andrew's Lake and Iowa sts., Addison.

PRIZES IN the Sweepstakes are awarded every Monday by Marathon dealers listed above. Weekly prizes during the eight-week contest also include movie cameras, portable radios, outdoor grills, picnic baskets, and picnic jugs.

Sweepstakes winners are chosen at random from names drawn from entry boxes at northwest area Marathon service stations. Anyone of driving age in his area is eligible to enter as often as he wishes by calling, writing, or leaving his name and address at a Marathon station participating in the Picnic Sweepstakes.

A grand prize of a 1960 Pontiac is also awarded weekly. In addition, a nine-day trip to Paris via TWA will be given away as a bonus prize. Winners are chosen from all entering the local Marathon Picnic Sweepstakes before August 28.

Kirchberg Elected

Frank Kirchberg, 905 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights has been elected to a 2-year term on the board of directors of American Airlines Flagship Management club.

The club is composed of men and women of a managerial level who meet monthly to keep informed of the latest developments in the industry and to discuss subjects which are relative to their respective positions.

Kirchberg is district sales manager for American Airlines in Chicago and is headquartered in the company's Prudential Plaza office. (BB

Municipal League Recognizes Need For Legislation

Representatives of the Illinois Municipal League have agreed substantially with the members of the Legislative Committee of the Home Builders Association of Illinois on the need for amendments to the State's "Revised Cities and Villages Act" with reference to official plans of municipalities throughout the state.

Ralph J. Finitzo, president of the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland, said that agreement in principle had been reached at a recent HBAI state legislative conference in Springfield as to what kind of a bill should be introduced in the 1961 legislative session to facilitate proper subdivision of land particularly the areas surrounding corporate boundaries within 1½ miles.

Kimball Hill, of Rolling Meadows, chairman of HBAI's legislative steering committee, said that further meetings planned between the two groups would undoubtedly result in proposal of a bill which would embody the objectives of House Bill 1343 passed by the Illinois General Assembly last year but vetoed by the Governor.

THIS BILL stipulated that plan commissions be given the power to establish reasonable standards for subdivisions in respect to public improvements, size of residential lots, storm water drainage, water supply and distribution, sewage collection and treatment and to designate suitable land for annexation.

It required that if a municipality adopts an official plan notice be recorded with the County recorder of deeds, and an ordinance passed which would include a map specifying existing and proposed streets, alleys, storm or floodwater run-off channels and basins, parks, playgrounds, other public grounds, and ways for public service facilities within the municipality and the area 1½ miles beyond.

The official plans would also have to be placed on file with the clerk of the corporate authority to be available for public inspection.

The ordinance would also state specifically the municipality's requirements relating to size and materials to be used in public improvements.

PROPOSED plats for subdivisions would have to be acted upon by the corporate authority within 90 days or approval would be automatic. If they disapproved the plat the bill required that they specify why it does not conform to the official plan.

The bill also would have resolved the possibility of conflicting jurisdiction between two or more corporate authorities over unincorporated territory within 1½ miles of their boundaries by establishing that their respective authority extended only to a median line between their boundaries.

Another provision of this homebuilder association supported bill would have expanded the requirements for maps and plats to conform to the official plan by showing ways for public service facilities, storm or floodwater run-off channels and basins.

Appointed Sales Head By National

H. V. McNamara, president, National Tea Co., today announced the appointment of vice president Ira O. Shy to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Val S. Bauman, who was vice president in charge of the sales and merchandising activities of the company.

Shy was an operational vice president in charge of several of the northern branches of the company, which position he has held, since his appointment to vice president in 1957.

He has served the National Tea Co. in an executive capacity since joining the company in 1953, and brings 29 years of experience in the retail food industry to his new position, which will include responsibility for the sales, advertising, merchandising activities and public relations of the 903 store Chicago based food chain.

Shy will be assisted in his new duties by John E. O'Berry, William Brooks and Richard K. O'Connell. (BB

Unusual Trees To Be Featured At Bonsai Show

Amateur and professional gardners from all over Chicagoland will have an opportunity to view rare dwarf trees at the first Midwest Bonsai show to be held August 19, 20, 21, at D. Hill Nursery in Dundee, at the corner of Routes 72 and 31.

Fanciers from all over the midwest will be showing their rare plants. Over a thousand unusual dwarf trees with origin from all parts of the world will be on display.

Mrs. William Lewis, 158 Richards ave., Elmhurst, will show some of her rare plants from Africa. Mrs. Lewis, a grandmother three times, has been collecting plants since she was married and left her home in Kansas City, Mo.

RARE ORANGE trees, flowering Japanese Quince and Pagoda trees will be the feature plants in Mrs. John R. Nicholson's showing. Mrs. Nicholson, who lives at 626 Valley rd., Glencoe, has one of the largest and most unusual collections of Bonsai in the area.

U. S. Army Captain John A. Dorman of Rockford, will show his prize winning 30-year old Spruce that won a blue ribbon in the National Flower Show in Washington, D. C.

Captain Dorman first became interested in the ancient art while stationed in the Orient in 1952. Since then he has shown trees in this country and in Germany. During the National show he gave one of his prize trees to President and Mrs. Eisenhower, who were visiting the show.

BECAUSE OF the popularity of the Japanese arts and the interest in Bonsai culture, Jack Hill, Manager of the nursery, has arranged for experts to be on hand at the show to demonstrate the care and growing of these little trees.

American plant - lovers will be able to get first-hand knowledge of the ancient art that was originally brought to Japan by the Chinese Buddhist Monks in the 13th century.

Local Man Promoted By Bank

Roy C. Kacena, Prospect Heights, recently was promoted to assistant cashier of Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, by the bank's board of directors.

Kacena is with the personal accounts section of the bank. He, his wife and two daughters live at 110 Elm, Prospect Heights.

Tollway Declares Psychological War To Insure Safety

The Illinois Tollway has declared "psychological warfare" in the interest of further improving its high safety record.

A simple device, designed to aid motorists in decelerating properly in approaching toll plazas, is being employed.

Broad yellow stripes are being painted across the pavement at intervals beginning 1,000 feet away from all main line plazas. As the stripes near the plaza, the distance between stripes lessens as does the width of the stripe. Distance between stripes reduces from 81 feet to 15 feet and the width of the stripe reduces from four feet to three feet.

A MOTORIST approaching the plaza and decelerating at a proper rate receives the impression that the stripes are uniformly spaced. However, if he fails to decelerate properly, the stripes give him a visual impression of traveling at a higher than actual rate of speed.

Result? He tends to apply his brakes and approach more slowly.

George L. Jackson, chief engineer of the Illinois Tollway, said that the idea has been tested successfully but has not previously been used in the midwest.

THE YELLOW stripes will also be helpful in periods of severe weather by providing additional visual inication that a plaza is ahead.

Engineers have just completed approach striping at the Cermak rd. toll plaza on the Tri-State Tollway.

Jackson said that all mainline toll plazas on the 187-mile tollway will be striped in the same manner as work schedules permit. Speed checks of approaching traffic will be made both before and after the striping is applied to evaluate the effect of the striping.

Storybook City Plans Fun Day

Storybook City U.S.A., located on route 20 at Medinah rd., Medinah, will offer fun for everyone on Wednesday, Aug. 31. There will be a free show, with clowns and all the Storybook Little theatre entertainers, beginning at 3 p.m., followed by the awarding of prizes to winners of the giant Orange Crush coloring contest.

First prize for the coloring contest will be a bicycle, complete with 3-speed gears, hand brake and other extras; five second prizes will be surries with fringe on top; and the 10 third prizes will be cameras. Judges for the contest will be three well known Chicagoland artists whose art work is currently displayed at Storybook studio.

Tollway Declares Psychological War To Insure Safety

The Illinois Tollway has declared "psychological warfare" in the interest of further improving its high safety record.

A simple device, designed to aid motorists in decelerating properly in approaching toll plazas, is being employed.

Broad yellow stripes are being painted across the pavement at intervals beginning 1,000 feet away from all main line plazas. As the stripes near the plaza, the distance between stripes lessens as does the width of the stripe. Distance between stripes reduces from 81 feet to 15 feet and the width of the stripe reduces from four feet to three feet.

A MOTORIST approaching the plaza and decelerating at a proper rate receives the impression that the stripes are uniformly spaced. However, if he fails to decelerate properly, the stripes give him a visual impression of traveling at a higher than actual rate of speed.

Result? He tends to apply his brakes and approach more slowly.

George L. Jackson, chief engineer of the Illinois Tollway, said that the idea has been tested successfully but has not previously been used in the midwest.

THE YELLOW stripes will also be helpful in periods of severe weather by providing additional visual inication that a plaza is ahead.

Engineers have just completed approach striping at the Cermak rd. toll plaza on the Tri-State Tollway.

Jackson said that all mainline toll plazas on the 187-mile tollway will be striped in the same manner as work schedules permit. Speed checks of approaching traffic will be made both before and after the striping is applied to evaluate the effect of the striping.

Storybook City Plans Fun Day

Storybook City U.S.A., located on route 20 at Medinah rd., Medinah, will offer fun for everyone on Wednesday, Aug. 31. There will be a free show, with clowns and all the Storybook Little theatre entertainers, beginning at 3 p.m., followed by the awarding of prizes to winners of the giant Orange Crush coloring contest.

First prize for the coloring contest will be a bicycle, complete with 3-speed gears, hand brake and other extras; five second prizes will be surries with fringe on top; and the 10 third prizes will be cameras. Judges for the contest will be three well known Chicagoland artists whose art work is currently displayed at Storybook studio.

Navy Recruiter Announces Reenlistment Opportunity

The navy recruiting service announced that ex-regular navy and naval reserve men who have had active duty now have an opportunity to re-enlist in the navy in the rating held at time of discharge, even though they have been discharged up to four years. The time element and rating also applies to certain veterans who were qualified in submarines and held the submarine designator at time of discharge or release from active duty.

Fifty-seven ratings are now open to ex-regular navy personnel who have been discharged up to four years who may re-enlist in the same rate held at the time of discharge. If time elapsed since discharge is more than four, but less than six years, they may re-enlist in the next lower rate.

Ex-naval reservists who have served on active duty for a minimum of two years may enlist in the regular navy in the rate held at the time of release provided they haven't been out more than two years. If time elapsed since release is more than two but less than four years, they may enlist in the next lower rate.

Those interested in the re-enlistment program should contact the recruiter in charge at the U. S. Navy Recruiting branch station, Post Office building, Des Plaines, AV 7-4311, or write to the Re-enlistment Officer, U.S. Navy Recruiting station, 536 S. Clark st., Chicago, Ill.

Bureau Tells Why It Opposes Bond Issue

These are the reasons advanced by the Illinois Agricultural association in opposition to the $195 million bond issue for education, and $150 million bond issue for Public Welfare.

The financial needs for buildings and facilities during the next 10 years, as estimated by the six state universities, totaled $557,038,272. The $195,000,000 for university buildings under the bond issue for universities is only 28 per cent of what they estimate they will need within the 10 - year period, not to mention an estimated need for $120,000,000 more within this same period for Junior Colleges. If the bond issues are voted, the universities would be put in a very embarrassing position to come back to the public for additional bond issues especially when they have already heavily obligated the taxpayer for substantial interest costs on the original sum of $195,000,000.

The Farm bureau has been working for tax reform and a broader tax base leading to more fairness in the tax load. Borrowed money is an opiate that dulls reality and temporarily relieves the urgency for tax reform. It is the politically expedient but costly way.

UNIVERSITY leaders have said that the amounts particularly included in the $195,000,000 state bond issue for university buildings will not be enough, that other funds will be needed. The $50,000,000 for the University of Illinois branch in Chicago and the $25,000,000 for the Southern Illinois University branch at Alton would be only a modest starter for the costs involved later.

Plugging loopholes in the state sales tax could yield $80,000,000 of additional tax revenue a year, enough to furnish the $345,000,000 needed in four years and three months time. This is as fast as the money can wisely be used and the state still would have the tax source established to be used for other needed state buildings or to relieve the property tax load. The Illinois Agricultural association supported this legislation to plug loopholes in the state sales tax in the 1957 legislative session and again in the 1959 session. This good legislation was allowed to die in each session from lack of official backing.

MONEY AT 4 per cent for 25 years will cost about that $185 million in interest. The legislation specifies that the interest charge is not to exceed 4 per cent, and that the life of the bonds is not to exceed 25 years. Illinois will continue to have heavy costs, from increased school enrollments and other causes. If the state has trouble raising $341,000,000 now, how can it raise $530,000,000 ($345 million plus $185 million) with future obligations facing us? Why not face the need of tax reform now before we burden ourselves unnecessarily?

About 34 years ago, the state voted a $100,000,000 bond issue to build hard roads. Farmers supported it "to get farmers out of the mud" and to further trade and promote commerce and communications. However, this $100,000,000 bond issue cost $96,000,000. State bond issues are costly.

THE ILLINOIS Agricultural association's tax suggestions will furnish the needed tax revenue without heavy interest charges.

Inflation has already sloughed off 52.7 of the 1939 dollar, leaving us a 47.3 dollar. Our only chance of checking further deterioration of the dollar and the resulting hardship it brings to those on fixed and retirement incomes is to halt inflation, which government borrowing promotes.

While it is probably not the intention at present of any legislator to impose a state property tax, the fact remains that the people are asked to vote for state bond issues with the property tax as security. Also, a number of states have a state property tax. With tax revenue needs increasing and reluctance of many state leaders to recognize the need for a more equitable tax system, the possibility of a state property to retire part or all of the principal and interest on the bonds cannot be disregarded.

INDIVIDUALS borrow money to buy a home, a business, or a farm. The individual borrows for a home or business when he needs the money and can get it from no other place. Also every one who has been on a school board knows that the law does not allow a school district to accumulate money. So the school district has to borrow. But both the individual and school district pay heavily for the borrowed money.

On the other hand the state has a continuing obligation to build needed state buildings year after year. The state had $80,000,000 a year in tax revenue within its grasp in the last session of the state legislature by passage of H. B. 1141 - 1146, designed to plug loopholes in the Retailers' Occupation Tax. Thirty Democrats in the house had agreed to vote for the bills along with the Republicans who were sponsoring the bills.

However, administration leaders on the House floor allowed the bills to be lost by accepting an amendment submitted by a representative of a Chicago newspaper to exempt newspaper materials. Some former supporters of these bills considered the exemption of newspapers unfair if others were to be included.

The question of whether we should hold up the construction of state buildings further, in view of the need, has already been answered by the state legislature and the state administration in 1957 and 1959.

In 1957 a series of bills sponsored by seven prominent Republicans died in the State revenue committee for failure of the state administration to ask for the additional state revenue. The State Bond Issue for $248,000,000 was passed and submitted to the voters instead. The Illinois Agricultural association, the Illinois Retail Merchants association and the Illinois Educational association each had a representative in the Senate revenue committee in 1957 to appear for the legislation.

We do not recall hearing representatives of either the universities or department of welfare in the Senate revenue committee in 1957 or the House revenue committee in 1959 testify for these bills. If these university and welfare leaders had worked half as hard for passage of these revenue bills as they work for the bond issues, the state would now have the necessary money to construct the buildings.

Even if the bond issues are adopted in November, the universities and state department of welfare will have to go to the 1961 state legislature or later legislatures for approval of specific buildings that are needed.

But legislation for plugging loopholes in the Retailers' Occupation Tax laws could be enacted in the 1961 session of the legislature and legislative approval of needed buildings could be secured in the same session. Little, if any, additional delay in getting the buildings need occur under the pay as we go plan. Also the universities and welfare department would be in much better position financially than if they use borrowed money and then have to come back to the voters for support of still another bond issue. In addition, the state's financing program would be on a much sounder basis.

Feeder Cattle Prices Experience Big Drop

By L. H. SIMERL

The proverbial Texas cattleman may have to get by with only one new Cadillac this year. And the ordinary rancher's wife may get only one new dress. The reason: Prices of feeder cattle have dropped more in the past 12 months than prices of any other major farm product.

In early August prices of Good and Choice steer calves at Kansas City were selling for $26.50 a hundred pounds compared with $33 last year. At the same time Choice 500- to 800-pound steers were bringing $25.40, down from $30.25 in 1959.

HEIFER CALVES, Good and Choice, sold for $23 compared with $30.50 a year before. Choice 500- to 750-pound heifers were going for $22.75, off from $28.25 in 1959.

There are several reasons for the lower prices this year. The most important one is that prices of fat cattle have been trending downward for 15 months. Choice steers at Chicago recently averaged about $25 a hundred pounds, down from $30.33 in April 1958. When prices of fed cattle decline, costs of replacements must drop more than prices of finished cattle if the feed- of finished cattle if the cattle feeder is to stay in business.

The supply of stocker and feeder cattle and calves is larger than it was 12 months ago. The 1960 calf crop in Texas is estimated at 4,258,000 head, 4 per cent more than last year. Four other southern Plains and Mountain States also reported about 4 per cent more calves. These states were Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona. Other states from which Illinois draws supplies have about the same number of calves as in 1959.

THE SUPPLY of yearlings in these listed states should be larger too. Last January Texas reported 14 per cent more calves under one year on hand than a year earlier. Oklahoma hand 6 per cent more, Colorado 10 per cent and New Mexico 13 per cent.

Hay production is 6 percent larger than last year in the 11 Western States and 16 per cent greater in the six Plains States. But this bigger new crop is more than offset by a sharp reduction in the carryover of old hay. The total supply of hay in both Plains and Western States is 1 per cent less than last year and 3 per cent less than the five-year average. There are sharp reductions in the supply of hay per animal in Kansas, Wyoming and Utah.

Wyoming and Montana had a dry summer. Another drouth area extended from New Mexico eastward across central and south Texas and to the Atlantic Ocean.

There have been some forced sales of cattle because of feed or water shortages There has been very little contracting of cattle for fall delivery. Ranchers are asking for larger down payments than they got last year, when many buyers forfeited their payments rather than take the cattle after the price dropped sharply.

PRICES OF FAT cattle apparently reached the peak of the current cycle in 1959, when Choice steers at Chicago averaged $27.83. They are running around $2.00 lower this year and seem likely to average around $24.00 in 1961.

Lower prices are expected because farmers and ranchers are still building up their herds. They added 5 million head in 1959 and are adding 3 to 4 million more this year. This is the first year of materially increased slaughter. Slaughter is increasing about 10 per cent this year and is expected to increase for at least another two or three years.

Tips To Grow Good Pasture

Farmers perplexed by poor pastures this summer might take a tip from the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment station.

Pasture-makers at this station refertilize pastures every five to six years, or at every rotation. More important, they use soil tests to determine how much fertilization pastures need.

They have found that these practices pay off in nutritious forages that produce sleek cattle and contented sheep.

Before seeding new pastures in the fall, these men make bulk applications of lime and phosphate. In addition, they broadcast or drill more fertilizer with the seeding.

A typical treatment on Dixon Springs pastures includes (1) 100 pounds of 48 per cent muriate of potash per acre. This is in addition to the lime and rock phosphate called for by soil tests. On soils low in potash, the 100 pounds of potash is certainly not enough.

The Dixon Springs men believe "too much of many things may be harmful, but too much fertility in our soils is rare and welcome."

Agronomy Farm Records Record High Oat Yield

Nearly ideal conditions produced some of the highest oat yields ever recorded on the University of Illinois agronomy farm this year. And this occurred despite a moderately late seeding date — the second week of April.

Agronomist L. B. Miller reports that several rotation plots produced oat yields of over 100 bushels an acre. Even a limed, but otherwise untreated corn - oats - alfalfa rotation plot produced an 80-bushel yield.

Miller explained the extremely high yields in this way: May and June weather in central Illinois was much like that in the ideal oat-producing areas of Wisconsin. Cool weather along with abundant rainfall and a lack of disease and insects joined to make ideal growing conditions.

Although some plots had more fertility than others, this variation did not seem to cause the usual yield differences. The ideal weather produced very favorable yields on plots with only moderate fertility, Miller said.

Research work in progress on the University of Illinois Agronomy farm will be displayed at the annual Agronomy Day September 14 at Urbana. At this time, research in corn and soybeans will receive special emphasis. All interested persons are invited.

As mid-summer rolls around each year, we are caught up in a whirlwind of county and state fairs.

Fairs are always exciting events for participants and spectators. In Cook and surrounding counties the fairs, particularly the junior fairs are changing their personalities. Instead of being strictly rural, more and more urban youngsters are showing the results of their year long work. This change is coming about because of the adoption of the 4-H program to serve city as well as farm youngsters.

An interesting aspect of the change is that each time a new project is added for urban members, rural members pick it up too. City members are taking projects such as garden and home grounds improvements which have been thought of as farm type projects.

However, in 4-H club work, projects are only part of the over - all program which is designed to develop the total personality and ability of the youngster.

SOMEONE has said the value of a program can be measured by the ability of the program to keep up with the times. 4-H is keeping up because its basic principles of clear thinking, loyalty, service and better living do not need to change. It is a simple matter to design projects for city people if the foundation of the program itself is solid.

Cook county's population is becoming more and more urban. Cook County 4-H enrollments increase each year. Each year more and more city youngsters are sharing the experiences of a county fair with their country cousins.

I invite you to attend our county fair and see how easily the change is taking place. The South - Cook fair is Saturday, August 20, at Rolling Acres Farm, 159th st. and Central ave.; the North-Cook fair is September 16-18, at the Arlington Park Race Track. There are still plenty of animals at the fair. Stop and see them, but don't pass up the electricity, handicraft, photography and other exhibits, they're part of the fair too.

Use 1 of 2 Means To Keep Hogs Well

Swine farmers can cut their largest single production cost — diseases — by raising hogs under one of two programs.

The first is the Specific Pathogen Free (SPF) swine program which produces stock commonly known as "disease-free" hogs. The second is the Illinois Swine Herd Health Certification program.

In the SPF program, veterinarians prevent transmission of disease between the sow and the litter by using surgery to take the litter. Young pigs taken by surgery and raised in isolation are free from atrophic rhinitis, TGE swine dysentery, virus pneumonia and external parasites.

Six Illinois veterinarians are now equipped to produce these animals. Hog producers interested in SPF stock can contact their local veterinarian or Dr. J. R. Pickard, University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine.

THE ILLINOIS Swine Herd Health Certification program has been operating for four years. This program is a cooperative effort of the Illinois Swine Herd Improvement association and the Illinois State Veterinary Medicine association.

Its object is to certify hog breeders who take special precautions to raise healthy animals. So far the association has certified 17 Illinois breeding herds.

To have herds certified, producers must submit their hogs to a series of tests and inspections. Veterinarians are assigned to test breeding herds twice for brucellosis 30 to 60 days apart. During the first visit the veterinarian checks the herds for diseases or abnormalities. He also collects blood samples to test animals for leptospirosis.

After the initial series of tests and inspections, producers have their herds checked twice a year. The herds are also tested annually or vaccinated twice a year for leptospirosis.

For information regarding the Illinois Swine Herd Health Certification program, write to Fred Hoppin, Illinois Swine Herd Improvement association, Landauer Building, Lincoln, Illinois.

Bureau Tells Why It Opposes Bond Issue

These are the reasons advanced by the Illinois Agricultural association in opposition to the $195 million bond issue for education, and $150 million bond issue for Public Welfare.

The financial needs for buildings and facilities during the next 10 years, as estimated by the six state universities, totaled $557,038,272. The $195,000,000 for university buildings under the bond issue for universities is only 28 per cent of what they estimate they will need within the 10 - year period, not to mention an estimated need for $120,000,000 more within this same period for Junior Colleges. If the bond issues are voted, the universities would be put in a very embarrassing position to come back to the public for additional bond issues especially when they have already heavily obligated the taxpayer for substantial interest costs on the original sum of $195,000,000.

The Farm bureau has been working for tax reform and a broader tax base leading to more fairness in the tax load. Borrowed money is an opiate that dulls reality and temporarily relieves the urgency for tax reform. It is the politically expedient but costly way.

UNIVERSITY leaders have said that the amounts particularly included in the $195,000,000 state bond issue for university buildings will not be enough, that other funds will be needed. The $50,000,000 for the University of Illinois branch in Chicago and the $25,000,000 for the Southern Illinois University branch at Alton would be only a modest starter for the costs involved later.

Plugging loopholes in the state sales tax could yield $80,000,000 of additional tax revenue a year, enough to furnish the $345,000,000 needed in four years and three months time. This is as fast as the money can wisely be used and the state still would have the tax source established to be used for other needed state buildings or to relieve the property tax load. The Illinois Agricultural association supported this legislation to plug loopholes in the state sales tax in the 1957 legislative session and again in the 1959 session. This good legislation was allowed to die in each session from lack of official backing.

MONEY AT 4 per cent for 25 years will cost about that $185 million in interest. The legislation specifies that the interest charge is not to exceed 4 per cent, and that the life of the bonds is not to exceed 25 years. Illinois will continue to have heavy costs, from increased school enrollments and other causes. If the state has trouble raising $341,000,000 now, how can it raise $530,000,000 ($345 million plus $185 million) with future obligations facing us? Why not face the need of tax reform now before we burden ourselves unnecessarily?

About 34 years ago, the state voted a $100,000,000 bond issue to build hard roads. Farmers supported it "to get farmers out of the mud" and to further trade and promote commerce and communications. However, this $100,000,000 bond issue cost $96,000,000. State bond issues are costly.

THE ILLINOIS Agricultural association's tax suggestions will furnish the needed tax revenue without heavy interest charges.

Inflation has already sloughed off 52.7 of the 1939 dollar, leaving us a 47.3 dollar. Our only chance of checking further deterioration of the dollar and the resulting hardship it brings to those on fixed and retirement incomes is to halt inflation, which government borrowing promotes.

While it is probably not the intention at present of any legislator to impose a state property tax, the fact remains that the people are asked to vote for state bond issues with the property tax as security. Also, a number of states have a state property tax. With tax revenue needs increasing and reluctance of many state leaders to recognize the need for a more equitable tax system, the possibility of a state property to retire part or all of the principal and interest on the bonds cannot be disregarded.

INDIVIDUALS borrow money to buy a home, a business, or a farm. The individual borrows for a home or business when he needs the money and can get it from no other place. Also every one who has been on a school board knows that the law does not allow a school district to accumulate money. So the school district has to borrow. But both the individual and school district pay heavily for the borrowed money.

On the other hand the state has a continuing obligation to build needed state buildings year after year. The first is the Specific Pathogen Free (SPF) swine program which produces stock commonly known as "disease-free" hogs. The second is the Illinois Swine Herd Health Certification program.

In the SPF program, veterinarians prevent transmission of disease between the sow and the litter by using surgery to take the litter. Young pigs taken by surgery and raised in isolation are free from atrophic rhinitis, TGE swine dysentery, virus pneumonia and external parasites.

Six Illinois veterinarians are now equipped to produce these animals. Hog producers interested in SPF stock can contact their local veterinarian or Dr. J. R. Pickard, University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine.

THE ILLINOIS Swine Herd Health Certification program has been operating for four years. This program is a cooperative effort of the Illinois Swine Herd Improvement association and the Illinois State Veterinary Medicine association.

Its object is to certify hog breeders who take special precautions to raise healthy animals. So far the association has certified 17 Illinois breeding herds.

To have herds certified, producers must submit their hogs to a series of tests and inspections. Veterinarians are assigned to test breeding herds twice for brucellosis 30 to 60 days apart. During the first visit the veterinarian checks the herds for diseases or abnormalities. He also collects blood samples to test animals for leptospirosis.

After the initial series of tests and inspections, producers have their herds checked twice a year. The herds are also tested annually or vaccinated twice a year for leptospirosis.

For information regarding the Illinois Swine Herd Health Certification program, write to Fred Hoppin, Illinois Swine Herd Improvement association, Landauer Building, Lincoln, Illinois.

The Way We See It

Optimum School Use Needs Board Study

A California citizens' committee has recommended a four quarter plan to utilize schools the year round. Such a move would cut building costs and taxes for educational purposes.

The committee's recommendation is of particular interest because the problems that prompted the study — rapid growth and mounting enrollments — are shared by the northwest suburbs.

The committee's suggestion, based on a 2½ year study, is not new in educational circles.

School administrators are in general agreement that optimum use is not being made of school facilities when buildings are used for little more than summer school a fourth of the year.

There is less agreement, however, as to how the plants might be better utilized.

The California group's suggestion, if applied to Arlington high school, would allow the school to accommodate 800 students above its present capacity of 2500. Students would continue to attend only three quarters with one-fourth of the student body out of school during each quarter.

In addition to requiring fewer schools and affording relief to the taxpayer, such a plan would assure teachers of year-round employment.

The main obstacle, say educators, would likely be community resistance from parents who would consider the departure from the traditional summer vacation too radical, particularly if the family were forced to take its vacation in the middle of winter.

A four quarter system would create administrative problems and would no doubt require changes in the curriculum. The California committee feels, however, that such changes could be made without "appreciably lowering educational standards."

Another suggestion for better utilization of school plants is that the school year be lengthened with the object of shortening the students stay to three years instead of four. Such acceleration, while not relieving enrollment problems, would launch the student a year earlier into his career.

Most educators are opposed to this plan, claiming that experiments have shown 16-year-olds lack the social maturity required for college.

A third proposal for making better use of school facilities is lengthening the school year not for acceleration but for enrichment. Many educators feel strengthening and expanding a curriculum would result in a general upgrading in the quality of education offered by schools.

Some school boards have reasoned that it would place their students in an unfair position in competing with students from other districts in seeking summer jobs if the school year were lengthened. We do not feel this is a valid reason, particularly in an area such as ours where few youngsters work because of economic necessity.

The matter of optimum use of our school facilities is a question that merits careful study by school boards. Until a decision is reached, a step in the right direction would be to expand the summer school curriculum in order to attract more students.

Citizen Support Needed To Help Migrant Workers

The death of a two-year-old Mexican-American, son of migrant workers on a farm west of Roselle, and the resultant inquest, has once more thrust the migrant worker problem upon the consciousness of residents of this area. Here, for all to see, is a local demonstration of the national problem which is exploitation of more than one million migrants.

Anyone who calls himself civilized dares not exhibit apathy in the face of the filth and stacking of human beings in converted stables discovered on the farm west of Roselle.

Therefore, we can expect a series of investigations by DuPage county departments (as suggested in the report of the coroner's jury) and concomitant investigations by social and religious groups.

Housing was the primary concern of State's Attorney William Bauer and Dr. Samuel K. Lewis, DuPage county coroner, at the Roselle inquest. The father of the dead boy, Bruno Perez, testified that he lived with his eight children and wife in three small rooms in a former chicken coop. Another family lived in a large privy; and a horse stable housed 25 people.

However, investigations should, and most likely will, extend into the fields of education, health, community life, wages and coverage by social welfare and workmen's compensation laws.

The senate subcommittee on migratory labor, headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. of New Jersey, has uncovered revolting examples of neglect and exploitation of migrants in several states and has introduced bills to correct or help correct all of them.

Citizen support of efforts to correct these abuses in our own neighborhoods is essential. DuPage county would do well to form a citizens committee similar to the Dade County Committee on Migrants in Florida to cooperate with county, state and federal agencies groping for solutions to the problem.

Sen. Williams delineated the role of Mr. Average Citizen in the fight against the practical disenfranchisement of Mexicans who are Americans too when he said "... no man's problems are his alone. ... a man who turns his back on problems cuts his vision by half."

Incentives Are Necessary To Gain Top Police Force

Recent events in Evanston have shown that no community is immune from organized crime, regardless of its social and economic structure. More important the uncovering of a mammoth gambling ring in the North Shore suburb by state authorities dramatizes the need for an alert local police force whose integrity is beyond question.

Paddock Publications has repeatedly pointed out that no unit of government bears a greater responsibility for a community's welfare than the police department.

We have also noted that to attract and keep top quality men the proper incentives must be offered.

While progress has been made in recent years, such incentives are still lacking for the most part in northwest suburban communities. Low pay and long working hours are commonplace.

More money and better working conditions are no guarantee of a top flight police force. They are, however, a necessary first step.

Your Single Vote Is Valuable -- Cherish It

One single vote has changed the course of American history eight times. Three of these single votes each named the President of the United States.

Thomas Jefferson and John Quincy Adams each won his office in the House of Representatives by one vote because, in Jefferson's case, electoral votes were tied, and no clear electoral majority was indicated at the polls in Adams' case.

And the third instance was that of Rutherford B. Hayes, who apparently was bested by Samuel J. Tilden, but due to poor communications or alleged rascality, the issue was in doubt. An Electoral Commission of 15 decided the issue--8 to 7--in favor of Hayes. To cap the climax, an Indiana lawyer, said to have won his seat in Congress by one vote cast the deciding ballot.

In a reprint by the United States Chamber of Commerce of the article first published by the Orange Disc magazine of Gulf Oil Companies, the article, titled "One Vote--a lesson for citizens," further points out that Texas, California, Washington, Oregon and Idaho each became states by the margin of one vote on the floor of Congress.

Nations may have been spared the global conflagration of World War II and the scourge of Hitlerism had not one vote in a Munich beer hall in 1923 elected Adolf Hitler leader of the Nazis.

Is your vote important? Does one single vote make a difference? According to the figures pointed up by the reprinted article, 58.5 per cent of the voters failed to appear at the voting booth in 1958, 80 per cent didn't bother to vote in 1959, and during the Presidential election of 1956, 40 per cent were disinterested.

In 1958, of 104.6 million eligible to vote, only 44.55 million selected our senators, congressmen, governors, state legislators, naming the men and women who direct our national and state affairs, taxing us, spending our money, making decisions that will determine our future on this rocky old planet.

In the 1956 Presidential balloting, with 102 million eligible, only a little more than 62 million cared to name their choices; 59 million selected members of the House of Representatives and 44 million named our senators.

The year is 1960. America's destiny hangs in the balance. This November may decide this nation's place in world leadership. A shift of strength to one or the other Presidential candidate may determine world peace. Will only half the voting population again determine national policy?

Yet, it is possible that centuries — your one single fault, may punish future generations. Indifference, slothfulness, lack of realization of the importance of one vote--these are our worst enemies.

In your hand lies the power. Your one vote may change the course of human history. Totalitarianism is on the march. The vigor of democracy can only be demonstrated by you at the polls this November.

One vote, yours, is extremely valuable. Select your candidates, then use the most precious gift given to man, wrested from despots down through the one vote — yours, by devote.

Letters Praise Hospital's Friendly Care, Attention

The simple matter of friendly care and attention is one of the most value dfactors in a hospital stay, judging from letters written to Alan B. Campbell, administrator of the Northwest Community hospital.

The letters come to Campbell in response to a personal letter he sends to each patient shortly after he has left the hospital.

Three out of four who respond are lavish in their praise of the personnel who make up the organization at the hospital.

A letter from a mother says, "Our son was so well cared for by the nurses and aids that he wasn't even homesick."

A patient among the most numerous of the hospital guests — a new mother — commented: "The care I received while at the Northwest Community Hospital was just tremendous. All of the nurses and aids were so friendly and kind to me. Each one of them gave me the impression that she was truly concerned about my welfare and wanted to make my stay as pleasant as possible."

Campbell has instituted the practice of asking reactions of former patients as a means of improving hospital service where it may be needed.

"Not all of our letters are 100 per cent praise," says Campbell. "Some people complain about the food while others praise it. Actually, letters would indicate our food service is getting progressively better. And while there are just criticisms sent in to us, I think it is remarkable that no one has offered any complaints about our nurses and others on the hospital staff."

"In one instance, a patient complained about the long time it took to have her child admitted," Campbell continued. "We agreed with her comments and, in fact, have taken very definite steps to eliminate the circumstances which caused her to be delayed.

"A few people raise questions about problems which can only be corrected with the passage of time and with the collection of needed funds which will enable us to make certain major improvements. For example, a few ask about air conditioning, and others inquire about providing additional parking space. A number have asked about our costs, and I hope to get out some information soon which will show that our costs are definitely in line with those charged by other hospitals in our same area and classification.

"We are most grateful for these patient responses — and the patients tell us they are pleased we are sufficiently concerned about improvements to ask their reactions. But the nicest part of all is the wonderful praise given to our nurses and aids," whereupon Campbell showed a few more of the comments:

"All the nurses, nurses aids, part time help including the janitor's department showed a genuine interest in my well being at all times," said a 3rd floor patient. "Attention was more than sufficient, and their attitude was a morale builder."

"During my life, various members of our family have been in different hospitals, and in my opinion Northwest Community Hospital is the best because every person is treated as a person and not as a number," wrote a husband about his wife's stay at the hospital.

A woman on the third floor wrote: "I have been a patient in four different hospitals and visited others. But Northwest Community has been the best one of all. Never have I met such nice friendly people, and that includes all the staff, nurses and aids. It gave a person a feeling of being included and yet made one feel as if he were given the best of care."

Then again, from a maternity ward patient: "As an inmate of a maternity ward for the sixth time, I feel qualified to criticize any lack of service. The most important thing to most women in the delivery of a baby and the recovery afterward is not the service, but rather the personalities of the staff in the labor rooms and the nurses and others in the wards.

"My roommate and I were amazed at the wonderful quality of the help at Northwest Community. Your O.B. nurses in the labor rooms should be given some kind of reward for their pleasant smiles and kind concern. If you continue this kind of thing, you will have the finest hospital available."

A fourth floor guest was equally warm in her praise: "My recent week at your hospital was a very pleasant stay. I found all the personnel extremely friendly, courteous and helpful. I am particularly speaking of the fourth floor.

"One thing I noticed was that a nurse or aide responded immediately to my call bell. I have been in hospitals where I have waited over 30 minutes. Your people seem to be working together in a spirit of cooperation. I am most happy there is such a hospital in this area."

Behind the Headlines

Politicians Wary of 'X'

by WILLIAM D. McMAHON

Although it appears too obvious to labor the point, it is well to remind ourselves during this presidential election year that election results can be either fairly predictable or uncertain.

This year's presidential campaign is exciting because the outcome between Republican Nixon and Democrat Kennedy, two young, evenly-matched, able and ambitious candiates, is uncertain. But the real drama lies in the reason why.

Unless they stop to reflect, most Americans may not realize that, except for Harry Truman's historic upset defeat of Republican Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, virtually every presidential election in this century has been fairly predictable.

Neither political party can publicly admit this, of course. since even if loss of the White House appears inevitable, party leaders must avoid demoralization of their workers in strengthening the party at the local level. And to contend that few presidential elections are really as uncertain as they may seem is not to claim, of course, that the outcome is inevitable or pre-ordained, but only that a campaign's determining factors often appear long before the actual balloting begins.

It took little or no hindsight, for example, for Democratic leaders to realize that the powerful "Boy Orator" William J. Bryan had scant chance of winning against McKinley in 1900 once the immensely popular Spanish - American War hero, Teddy Roosevelt, agreed to become the GOP's vice presidential nominee, just as Republicans sought this year to strengthen Nixon's presidential candidacy with Rockefeller.

The Oldtimers tell us that it took little vision to predict Democrat Woodrow Wilson's victory by default in 1912 when the Taft-Roosevelt rivalry split the Republican vote.

Harding defeated Cox in 1920 when the Democrats championed the League of Nations at a time when the Electorate sought a "Return to Normalcy" following World War I. Coolidge won over a divided Democratic party's John W. Davis because "Cal" kept the status quo.

And it is now fairly well agreed that Hoover's defeat of Al Smith in 1928 occurred not solely as a result of Smith's controversial Catholicism, but his party's disunity, his Prohibition stand, prosperity which did not collapse until the year after Hoover's election and Hoover's great personal prestige.

The deepening Depression assured Franklin D. Roosevelt's victory over Hoover in 1932. Their own disunity helped defeat the GOP in 1936 and '40 and FDR's war leader status so domed the GOP to defeat in '44, that Dewey refused to be his party's nominee until assured that he would have a second crack at the Presidency in 1948, which he lost to Truman in the century's only genuine upset election.

Just as GOParty leaders promised Dewey another try in 1948 if he ran the good race against FDR ("The Champ") in '44, Adlai Stevenson probably could have won a third try easily this year had he campaigned aggressively before the Los Angeles convention nominated Sen. Kennedy.

While not even Adlai believed he had a prayer of beating War Hero Eisenhower in 1952, he was given a chance, following President Eisenhower's illnesses, of winning in '56, especially because most political leaders were convinced that Ike did not plan to seek re-election.

Many Democratic leaders will never forgive Stevenson, however, for what they consider his fumbling on the eve of the election by urging an A-test ban and an end to the draft, however worthy his motives, just as Hungary revolted, the Suez-Israeli crisis erupted and Moscow threatened war.

This is the perfect example of the "X" -or unknown, uncertain - factor which politicians fear more than anything else in any election. The business of the Pros, which they generally do well enough, is to prepare more for the likely rather than the unexpected, since it is only rarely that really unexpected events suddenly influence elections.

What makes this year's election seem so close and exciting in the view of even the most impartial observers is that totally uncontrollable events appear more likely to decide November's balloting than at any other time -or few other times- in our history.

Or to put it more succintly, developments that neither party can really control appear most likely to play the key role in November.

While "N" (Nixon) and "K" (Kennedy) compete against each other, it is "NK" (Nikita Khrushchev) who seems to be maneuvering to best both.

For example, just when both parties, and especially the GOP, adopted a hard, anti-Khrushchev line for the campaign, Khrushchev began cooing by indicating clemency for U-2 spy plane pilot Powers, hinted a peace-dove mission to Red China, and suggested that he might angle a UN invite to re-visit the U.S. and reopen disarmament talks.

But when some believed "K" just might be easing his hard line, the Soviets just as abruptly switched back to a tough one, then started cooing again, confusing the world at large if not the U.S. voters and starkly reminding both political parties that it is not an unmixed blessing to run against Khrushchev.

Both Democrats and Republicans fear that they are playing with political dynamite by allowing Khrushchev too much leverage on our presidential campaign.

The real danger in making foreign policy an issue is not that it "divides the country," but that both parties risk surrendering control over their campaigns to uncertain characters like Castro in Cuba, Lumumba in the Congo, etc.

The space race is another risky political area. Right now, many GOP leaders are urging the Administration to step up its manned space flight program to disprove critics and guard against the political effects of a major Soviet space achievement.

But the GOP is wary of focusing too much attention on space in case Moscow scores first, or if the first U.S. man in space should perish amid charges of politicking during our unpredictable campaign.

In a reprint by the United States Chamber of Commerce of the article first published by the Orange Disc magazine of Gulf Oil Companies, the article, titled "One Vote--a lesson for citizens," further points out that Texas, California, Washington, Oregon and Idaho each became states by the margin of one vote on the floor of Congress.

Nations may have been spared the global conflagration of World War II and the scourge of Hitlerism had not one vote in a Munich beer hall in 1923 elected Adolf Hitler leader of the Nazis.

Is your vote important? Does one single vote make a difference? According to the figures pointed up by the reprinted article, 58.5 per cent of the voters failed to appear at the voting booth in 1958, 80 per cent didn't bother to vote in 1959, and during the Presidential election of 1956, 40 per cent were disinterested.

In 1958, of 104.6 million eligible to vote, only 44.55 million selected our senators, congressmen, governors, state legislators, naming the men and women who direct our national and state affairs, taxing us, spending our money, making decisions that will determine our future on this rocky old planet.

In the 1956 Presidential balloting, with 102 million eligible, only a little more than 62 million cared to name their choices; 59 million selected members of the House of Representatives and 44 million named our senators.

The year is 1960. America's destiny hangs in the balance. This November may decide this nation's place in world leadership. A shift of strength to one or the other Presidential candidate may determine world peace. Will only half the voting population again determine national policy?

Yet, it is possible that centuries — your one single fault, may punish future generations. Indifference, slothfulness, lack of realization of the importance of one vote--these are our worst enemies.

In your hand lies the power. Your one vote may change the course of human history. Totalitarianism is on the march. The vigor of democracy can only be demonstrated by you at the polls this November.

One vote, yours, is extremely valuable. Select your candidates, then use the most precious gift given to man, wrested from despots down through the one vote — yours, by devote.

Letters Praise Hospital's Friendly Care, Attention

The simple matter of friendly care and attention is one of the most value dfactors in a hospital stay, judging from letters written to Alan B. Campbell, administrator of the Northwest Community hospital.

The letters come to Campbell in response to a personal letter he sends to each patient shortly after he has left the hospital.

Three out of four who respond are lavish in their praise of the personnel who make up the organization at the hospital.

A letter from a mother says, "Our son was so well cared for by the nurses and aids that he wasn't even homesick."

A patient among the most numerous of the hospital guests — a new mother — commented: "The care I received while at the Northwest Community Hospital was just tremendous. All of the nurses and aids were so friendly and kind to me. Each one of them gave me the impression that she was truly concerned about my welfare and wanted to make my stay as pleasant as possible."

Campbell has instituted the practice of asking reactions of former patients as a means of improving hospital service where it may be needed.

"Not all of our letters are 100 per cent praise," says Campbell. "Some people complain about the food while others praise it. Actually, letters would indicate our food service is getting progressively better. And while there are just criticisms sent in to us, I think it is remarkable that no one has offered any complaints about our nurses and others on the hospital staff."

"In one instance, a patient complained about the long time it took to have her child admitted," Campbell continued. "We agreed with her comments and, in fact, have taken very definite steps to eliminate the circumstances which caused her to be delayed.

"A few people raise questions about problems which can only be corrected with the passage of time and with the collection of needed funds which will enable us to make certain major improvements. For example, a few ask about air conditioning, and others inquire about providing additional parking space. A number have asked about our costs, and I hope to get out some information soon which will show that our costs are definitely in line with those charged by other hospitals in our same area and classification.

"We are most grateful for these patient responses — and the patients tell us they are pleased we are sufficiently concerned about improvements to ask their reactions. But the nicest part of all is the wonderful praise given to our nurses and aids," whereupon Campbell showed a few more of the comments:

"All the nurses, nurses aids, part time help including the janitor's department showed a genuine interest in my well being at all times," said a 3rd floor patient. "Attention was more than sufficient, and their attitude was a morale builder."

"During my life, various members of our family have been in different hospitals, and in my opinion Northwest Community Hospital is the best because every person is treated as a person and not as a number," wrote a husband about his wife's stay at the hospital.

A woman on the third floor wrote: "I have been a patient in four different hospitals and visited others. But Northwest Community has been the best one of all. Never have I met such nice friendly people, and that includes all the staff, nurses and aids. It gave a person a feeling of being included and yet made one feel as if he were given the best of care."

Then again, from a maternity ward patient: "As an inmate of a maternity ward for the sixth time, I feel qualified to criticize any lack of service. The most important thing to most women in the delivery of a baby and the recovery afterward is not the service, but rather the personalities of the staff in the labor rooms and the nurses and others in the wards.

"My roommate and I were amazed at the wonderful quality of the help at Northwest Community. Your O.B. nurses in the labor rooms should be given some kind of reward for their pleasant smiles and kind concern. If you continue this kind of thing, you will have the finest hospital available."

A fourth floor guest was equally warm in her praise: "My recent week at your hospital was a very pleasant stay. I found all the personnel extremely friendly, courteous and helpful. I am particularly speaking of the fourth floor.

"One thing I noticed was that a nurse or aide responded immediately to my call bell. I have been in hospitals where I have waited over 30 minutes. Your people seem to be working together in a spirit of co-operation. I am most happy there is such a hospital in this area."

Behind the Headlines

Politicians Wary of 'X'

by WILLIAM D. McMAHON

Although it appears too obvious to labor the point, it is well to remind ourselves during this presidential election year that election results can be either fairly predictable or uncertain.

This year's presidential campaign is exciting because the outcome between Republican Nixon and Democrat Kennedy, two young, evenly-matched, able and ambitious candiates, is uncertain. But the real drama lies in the reason why.

Unless they stop to reflect, most Americans may not realize that, except for Harry Truman's historic upset defeat of Republican Thomas E. Dewey in 1948, virtually every presidential election in this century has been fairly predictable.

Neither political party can publicly admit this, of course. since even if loss of the White House appears inevitable, party leaders must avoid demoralization of their workers in strengthening the party at the local level. And to contend that few presidential elections are really as uncertain as they may seem is not to claim, of course, that the outcome is inevitable or pre-ordained, but only that a campaign's determining factors often appear long before the actual balloting begins.

It took little or no hindsight, for example, for Democratic leaders to realize that the powerful "Boy Orator" William J. Bryan had scant chance of winning against McKinley in 1900 once the immensely popular Spanish - American War hero, Teddy Roosevelt, agreed to become the GOP's vice presidential nominee, just as Republicans sought this year to strengthen Nixon's presidential candidacy with Rockefeller.

The Oldtimers tell us that it took little vision to predict Democrat Woodrow Wilson's victory by default in 1912 when the Taft-Roosevelt rivalry split the Republican vote.

Harding defeated Cox in 1920 when the Democrats championed the League of Nations at a time when the Electorate sought a "Return to Normalcy" following World War I. Coolidge won over a divided Democratic party's John W. Davis because "Cal" kept the status quo.

And it is now fairly well agreed that Hoover's defeat of Al Smith in 1928 occurred not solely as a result of Smith's controversial Catholicism, but his party's disunity, his Prohibition stand, prosperity which did not collapse until the year after Hoover's election and Hoover's great personal prestige.

The deepening Depression assured Franklin D. Roosevelt's victory over Hoover in 1932. Their own disunity helped defeat the GOP in 1936 and '40 and FDR's war leader status so domed the GOP to defeat in '44, that Dewey refused to be his party's nominee until assured that he would have a second crack at the Presidency in 1948, which he lost to Truman in the century's only genuine upset election.

Just as GOParty leaders promised Dewey another try in 1948 if he ran the good race against FDR ("The Champ") in '44, Adlai Stevenson probably could have won a third try easily this year had he campaigned aggressively before the Los Angeles convention nominated Sen. Kennedy.

While not even Adlai believed he had a prayer of beating War Hero Eisenhower in 1952, he was given a chance, following President Eisenhower's illnesses, of winning in '56, especially because most political leaders were convinced that Ike did not plan to seek re-election.

Many Democratic leaders will never forgive Stevenson, however, for what they consider his fumbling on the eve of the election by urging an A-test ban and an end to the draft, however worthy his motives, just as Hungary revolted, the Suez-Israeli crisis erupted and Moscow threatened war.

This is the perfect example of the "X" -or unknown, uncertain - factor which politicians fear more than anything else in any election. The business of the Pros, which they generally do well enough, is to prepare more for the likely rather than the unexpected, since it is only rarely that really unexpected events suddenly influence elections.

What makes this year's election seem so close and exciting in the view of even the most impartial observers is that totally uncontrollable events appear more likely to decide November's balloting than at any other time -or few other times- in our history.

Or to put it more succintly, developments that neither party can really control appear most likely to play the key role in November.

While "N" (Nixon) and "K" (Kennedy) compete against each other, it is "NK" (Nikita Khrushchev) who seems to be maneuvering to best both.

For example, just when both parties, and especially the GOP, adopted a hard, anti-Khrushchev line for the campaign, Khrushchev began cooing by indicating clemency for U-2 spy plane pilot Powers, hinted a peace-dove mission to Red China, and suggested that he might angle a UN invite to re-visit the U.S. and reopen disarmament talks.

But when some believed "K" just might be easing his hard line, the Soviets just as abruptly switched back to a tough one, then started cooing again, confusing the world at large if not the U.S. voters and starkly reminding both political parties that it is not an unmixed blessing to run against Khrushchev.

Both Democrats and Republicans fear that they are playing with political dynamite by allowing Khrushchev too much leverage on our presidential campaign.

The real danger in making foreign policy an issue is not that it "divides the country," but that both parties risk surrendering control over their campaigns to uncertain characters like Castro in Cuba, Lumumba in the Congo, etc.

The space race is another risky political area. Right now, many GOP leaders are urging the Administration to step up its manned space flight program to disprove critics and guard against the political effects of a major Soviet space achievement.

But the GOP is wary of focusing too much attention on space in case Moscow scores first, or if the first U.S. man in space should perish amid charges of politicking during our unpredictable campaign.

Letters to the Fence Post

Reader Wants 'True Story'

The articles in the Commissioner's Corner (in your DuPage county editions) signed by Robert Cesar make for interesting reading but how much more interesting and informative he could make this corner were he to write about the true actions of the Village Council both at the regular and special sessions.

Sir, write about the chaotic condition the sewer system is in, and how one sewer line, lift station and manholes were installed from drawings made several years ago and then not noting that the street had been raised afterward. So now the Village has been ordered by the State Sanitary Water Board to make the necessary repairs at Village expense. Also, your readers would emjoy reading about the mess the sewer money fund is in, so much so that one firm of auditors has withdrawn.

SIR, IF MY memory serves me right, it was the Mayor and another Commissioner who voted against rezoning the property at Commercial and Wood Dale for a shopping center. Why? When the Mayor promised a dynamic planning commission and a shopping center if elected mayor. Sir, do you think the man who so patiently waited for the Council to take definite, positive steps still is interested in Wood Dale with shopping centers being built all around us? Wood Dale, the village of real estate offices, and gas stations and broken down taxicabs junked on Main Street.

Sir, you have stated that it is good for people to complain - in public - to the public officials and bring back the old fashioned type of government - of, by and for the people.

Sir, in your corner article written in March you asked everyone in Section 2 whose property had been damaged by the sewer line digging to put their complaints in writing and send to the Village office. I was one who wrote that a broken culvert was replaced for a good one, driveway was in such poor condition that even you got stuck in it backing out and that the ditch had disappeared completely.

SIR, I attended the Council meeting when my and several other complaining letters were read off by the Honorable Mayor.

Sir, what happened to those letters after that night? What further action did you take?

Sir, what action have you taken regarding a survey taken by a group of civic minded citizens with emphasis laid on the extent of damage incurred due to the sewer laying digging? I mean follow up action after you turned the survey over to the engineer and contractors.

Sir, write in your corner about the Stoeck Parking Meters folly. How the commuters are avoiding the use and payment of the meters and parking elsewhere right in the Village. Also, Sir, write about the 40 extra meters stored in the Village garage at a cost of $3.00 per meter per month to the taxpayers of Wood Dale.

SIR, THE.. taxpayers would enjoy reading of your wishful thinking regarding your street rebuilding plan. You have stated publicly that no street rebuilding is any good and only a waste of money without proper drainage. Yet you have an idea that by raising the vehicle tax to $10.00 or more you will solve the street problem.

Of course you Commissioners drawing a salary of $300.00 or more per year never feel these few dollars a year taxes added to the average taxpayer's bill. You have this extra money to play around with.

However, there appears to be one Commissioner who owns 2 cars but there is only one vehicle sticker showing.

And Sir, along these same lines you could write and tell the homeowners that Commissioner Stoeck suggested adding a mosquito abatement assessment to their sewer usage bill.

Sir, you could use your little corner to render an outstanding public service by bringing forth the real facts about our Village and how it is being managed, or is this too much to expect from small town politicians?

Offers Comment For Schoolmen

I greatly appreciated the editorial comment of your writer of the article on the new classrooms for grade school district 54 wherein we were reminded once again that "earlier this year applicants (for teaching positions) without degrees . . . were not considered, although it was acknowledged that many such teachers were highly qualified."

This was by way of comment on the report of Superintendent Flum that he is still short "four to six teachers." It is regrettable that the recruiting efforts of our Superintendent have fallen short of the mark but it would be even more regrettable if people with less than the state requirements were hired because our school board lacks the imagination and has lacked the imagination to cope with this "emergency" situation which has been with us for many years now.

It looks like the "emergency" scare word has lulled them into a state where they have a permanent excuse for ducking every major problem that confronts them.

Although I consider the education of my children of the greatest importance, I am glad, nevertheless, that people of a similar mentality are not certifying medical doctors or we might find ourselves being treated by exmedical students for our physical ills. There is an "emergency" in supplying needed physicians so why wait until a student finishes medical school and completes a tedious internship. After all wouldn't many students who dropped out of medical school because of finances or just plain laziness make better doctors than some of their duller fellow students who sacrificed and were stodgy enough to satisfy all the requirements? I don't take my children to be treated by medical students without degrees and I don't feel that I should have to subject them to 'quack' teachers either.

If I do then I object to my taxes being used for four-year teacher colleges. Cut them down to two years if that is all that is required to produce "highly qualified" teachers and save me and the other tax payers half on our tax bill for this particular appropriation.

SINCE THE school board of district 54 has seen fit to treat me with nothing but extreme discourtesy when I have gone to offer suggestions in the past I will take this means to inform them that there is a tried and tested solution to their qualified teacher shortage problem and it was reported in one of our Cicago daily newspaper's magazine sections less than two months ago.

Our neighboring community, Lombard, was featured in this article for doing something about the teacher shortage. A quote from the article should interest our school board: "There were scores of mothers in the Lombard area with a college degree. But these women weren't teachers. (Emphasis mine.) Altho they were college graduates, they lacked the 16 to 22 semester hours required for a teacher's certification in Illinois. They didn't want to settle for emergency certification — but as busy mothers, it was obviously impossible for them to pack up and go back to college."

What did they do? First of all they contacted Dr. Joseph Clettenberg, director of extension at Northern Illinois university in De Kalb. First a plan was developed to cut the average cost of education courses from $25 to $8 an hour! Next a sequence of 18 semester hours of education courses was set-up in Lombard convenient to the time and needs of these college-trained mothers. The result, according to the article, was "70 new teachers for Lombard."

I HAVE contacted one of the women who spearheaded this project in Lombard, Mrs. Joseph Koach, and she is willing to speak to any group in our community that wishes to emulate the Lombard program. She also assured me that interested Hoffmanites would in all probability be able to work out an arrangement to share in the Northern Illinois University off campus program with Lombard and if there is a sufficiently large enough group interested the university has indicated that a sequence of education courses could be set up in our own community.

This may not solve our immediate problem of the need for four to six certified teachers now, but it can certainly do so in the not too distant future. Now let us see if our district 54 school board is really interested in doing something about the teacher shortage and putting to rest the "emergency" ghost they have been using to quiet criticism for the past 15 years or so.

Reader Says Riley Reneged

Albert E. Riley, in a letter to the Wilson Grammar School Board, written in August 1957, acknowledged the elementary educational problem confronting the community of Hasbrook and the twenty-fourth (24) School District.

Mr. Riley stated in so many words that as a result of his companies construction of over five hundred (500) homes there would be put upon the present facilities of the Wilson School an impossible educational burden.

Mr. Riley went on to promise a contribution of $175.00 per house built and sold in his companies cause and responsibility for the problem.

MR. RILEY TO date, is many thousands of dollars in arrears on his payments and has no apparent intention of making good the liability he has taken on himself, of his own free will and accord.

Mr. Riley, in a word reneged.

Mr. Riley backed down on a warranty implied through the sales incentives of his homes.

Mr. Riley, the president of the corporation; Mr. Donald Huber, a major stockholder in the corporation; Mr. Harold May, the one time sales manager for the corporation; and several other associates and salesmen etc; more than once related the intended contribution to me personally, as they no doubt did to many other prospective buyers, at the time I was negotiating the purchase of my home. I took this offer as an incentive for me to purchase the house. I believed the $175.00 to have been included in the cost of the house. Certainly the man did not intend to play Santa Claus. Common sense and good business judgment would disallow this theory, and Mr. Riley would not be in the position he is if he did not possess these attributes.

Mr. Riley, however, reneged on his promise. He has failed to turn over the money he promised. This means we of the 24th School District-Hasbrook dwellers and the others - have to make up the $175.00 through our taxes. Lets face it, the money has to come from somewhere. Mr. Riley says his promise is not legally enforceable. He seeks refuge in claims of discrimination. No other builder is obligated in this way says Mr. Riley, and asks why should he be. This means he has backed down on an implied warranty given as an incentive in selling his houses to us. A warranty no other builder volunteered and later profited on in greater sales.

MR. RILEY was not in ay way coerced into doing this. He was not even asked to do this. This was Mr. Riley's own plan: Mr. Riley's own selling point; and Mr. Riley's own renege.

Is there nothing we can do? Should we take this lying down? I think not. There is someway to influence Mr. Riley's thinking so he will decide to carry through with his laudable plan. If every family in Hasbrook puts out an effort to this cause, there is no doubt we can get results. If Mr. Riley's word isn't good enough now, maybe we can do something to help strengthen his character so he will make it good.

Police Earn Our Thanks

Yesterday was the last straw. The wife was steering a "loaner" Volkswagen (while our clunk was being repaired). Suddenly no brakes and whammo—into a stopped car with just slight bruises to the kids. Legally, she was at fault and technically should have been ticketed, booked, etc. The investigating Mt. Prospect Officer (no name) instead was more concerned with everyone's health and even drove the family home—the V.W. was kaput.

To digress - about four years ago, I had a busted ankle in our house late at night in the dead of winter, requiring a trip to Chicago in a taxi. There were no local cabs. The Officer on duty called all adjoining suburbs until he got one and was most polite.

THREE YEARS ago a "local" drunk getting aired out from an open house was really taken for a prowler. One squad spent two hours in an intensive search and they kept driving by the rest of the night. We slept good.

Two years ago our thirsty boy took a hefty slug of gasoline. An immediate police escort to the nearest hospital probably saved his life.

A month ago the wife (in the clunk) had a busted fuel pump after dark on the highway. Abandoning the car, she later phoned our Police who saw to it that the clunk was towed away and repaired.

Our block has had a few open houses itself. Twice, when it was necessary, others complained to the police. Instead of being surly (they should have been) and locking us up, the Officers were most polite in calming us down - wouldn't even take a beer!

EVEN GETTING a parking ticket is almost a pleasure.

Our Police are good, but so is our Fire Department. Did you know they have the highest possible rating for an independent volunteer department? Our insurance agent liked that. You'll get a big bang (and a lump in the throat) if you're ever downtown when the siren blows. Only don't stand in front of any business where a volunteer works or you'll probably get lumps all over you after you've been "run over."

Every town has something to gripe about but if you ever have a gripe about the Mt. Prospect police or fire departments, you're either a burglar or an arsonist or nuts. Thanks again.

Art 'Facts' Are Cited

In the July 7 issue of the Arlington Heights Herald there appeared a complete report of the meeting of the Northwest Art Center at which the news was made public that the Hasbrook Construction company had withdrawn its offer to sell the land at 715 Palatine road to the Art Center.

Now again, last week, on page one, a similar report appears, but this time it is obviously an interview, and one in which I, as a member and twice president of the Art Center, find very little of the facts as I have known them to be. Whoever your informant may have been, he or she has greatly misled you and ultimately, the reading public. I should like, however, to call attention to three statements that are outright lies and dismiss the rest of the article as meaningless fancy, too tired to be kicked around even one more time.

THE FIRST OF THE objections is to the thoroughly false and fallacious, though none the less often repeated statement, that the recurrent troubles of the now staggering Northwest Art Center are due to the fact "that artists are artists and not businessmen." Aside from the damage that a statement such as this does to the artists that are businessmen also, in the case of the Art Center it just isn't so. The Art Center was organized in January of 1959 in a meeting at Pioneer Park and ever since that time has experienced, as most organizations do, a great deal of difficulty in stimulating interest on the part of its members, most of whom were not even artists, but rather were dilitantes who were willing to pay yearly dues and thus, I imagine, think of themselves as being "artistic." An organization that was designed as a meeting place for artists of the area just didn't seem to attract those serious painters to whom the name artist may be applied, and those who did join, for the most part, never became active.

The second error in your article concerns the house on Palatine road, donated by the Hasbrook builders in November of last year. At the time this donation was made it was understood that it was to be for a period of one year. If, prior to this time, many of the members of the Art Center seemed reluctant to perform the many clerical duties necessary for organization, the idea of redecorating an old farm building moved them to complete apathy. When you report that "members went to work with a vengeance," you are talking about no more than 10 or 12 people, and then rarely all of them at one time. For over three months the property went unused by all save four or five of the members, and they came up only once a week for a painting class. . . if the weather was perfect! During this time, Mr. Albert Riley, president of Hasbrook, donated over $1,000 to meet all bills for the Art Center. No other business in Arlington Heights donated one penny, although several florists did provide some potted plants for the opening exhibit.

MY THIRD correction is to the statement "The Gallery was visited by hundreds of people from the Chicago area." If by this you mean other than the Arlington Heights area, then your informant has been reading too many of her own press releases. This unbridled optimism in the face of otherwise uncontrovertable fact, has constantly misled the more verbal faction of the Art Center to take itself too seriously. The signatures in the Art Center's guest book seem to be always the same names, and usually friends and relatives of the members. When the entire membership was exhibiting, the crowds were large, but for the one and two man shows, even the members didn't appear. This was a grave concern of the small nucleus who did the work - witness the weekly meetings at which it was a constant topic.

Mrs. Albert Riley, wife of the Hasbrook president and an active member in the Art center, was present at most of these meetings. . .and knew well how little was being done with such a wonderful opportunity. While she might have been hasty with what you headline the "bombshell," the announcement that Hasbrook could no longer sponsor the organization. . .she was not in the least way being unrealistic.

We of the Art Center hoped that many of the businessmen of the area would lend support to what we thought be done and who somehow was a worthwhile cause and an improvement to a community that offers very little otherwise in terms of cultural activity. It never happened. We hoped also that our members would make use of the studio space provided free, and that, too, never happened. My own resignation last month, as resident of the Art Center, was because of the irresponsible slander and character assassination aimed at both Mr. and Mrs. Riley by those very members who were always absent when the work had to forget all that was given to them free.

Whatever other issues may be involved here, fairness demands that editorializing be restricted to this page. . .the front page is for the news.

Crowded Buses

The average daily attendance of all pupils transported by public school buses in Illinois for the school year 1958-1959 was 343,424, according to a report from George T. Wilkins, superintendent of public instruction. The 325,437 of these pupils were public school pupils and 17,987 were from non-public schools.

Disposal Plant Is 'Disgrace'

I as well as a lot of other towns people think it a positive disgrace the way the Wood Dale disposal plant property looks today. The weeds are never cut, there is stuff sitting around here and there that could be put in a more orderly condition. Any additions that have been made are left unpainted thereby lowering the appearance of the plant.

We ask, just what is wrong with the maintenance man? Is he too busy to keep the place neat and clean. If so, then we say get help. Or, is he too busy with other work away from the plant to do justice to the plant grounds?

THIS DISPOSAL plant cost the people a lot of money and it is a crying shame to be allowed to get in this deplorable condition. As for the interior of the plant and office, well, there is a lot to be said for the conditions there.

Wake up, Mayor and Village Council of Wood Dale as well as anything else. Lets get this cleaned up.

Patio Party Cure Offered

The plaint of my fellow Hoffmanite who is suffering a surfeit of "patio parties" caused me to lose a little sleep so I am sending this bit of doggerel which may give him some comfort. One might say I went from bed to verse.

R/X FOR PATIO PARTIES

How sad the plight of the suburbanite
Whom patio parties annoy!
Thus if he needs a rest, I herein suggest
Some devices which he may employ.
He might begin by burning some feathers—
And fanning the fumes toward the din,
Or under the cover of darkness
Sneak over and water the gin.
He might call the local gendarmerie
(And not give his name on the 'phone)
But should these methods fail and naught else prevail
He had best throw a blast of his own!

Reader Wants 'True Story'

The articles in the Commissioner's Corner (in your DuPage county editions) signed by Robert Cesar make for interesting reading but how much more interesting and informative he could make this corner were he to write about the true actions of the Village Council both at the regular and special sessions.

Sir, write about the chaotic condition the sewer system is in, and how one sewer line, lift station and manholes were installed from drawings made several years ago and then not noting that the street had been raised afterward. So now the Village has been ordered by the State Sanitary Water Board to make the necessary repairs at Village expense. Also, your readers would emjoy reading about the mess the sewer money fund is in, so much so that one firm of auditors has withdrawn.

SIR, IF MY memory serves me right, it was the Mayor and another Commissioner who voted against rezoning the property at Commercial and Wood Dale for a shopping center. Why? When the Mayor promised a dynamic planning commission and a shopping center if elected mayor. Sir, do you think the man who so patiently waited for the Council to take definite, positive steps still is interested in Wood Dale with shopping centers being built all around us? Wood Dale, the village of real estate offices, and gas stations and broken down taxicabs junked on Main Street.

Sir, you have stated that it is good for people to complain - in public - to the public officials and bring back the old fashioned type of government - of, by and for the people.

Sir, in your corner article written in March you asked everyone in Section 2 whose property had been damaged by the sewer line digging to put their complaints in writing and send to the Village office. I was one who wrote that a broken culvert was replaced for a good one, driveway was in such poor condition that even you got stuck in it backing out and that the ditch had disappeared completely.

SIR, I attended the Council meeting when my and several other complaining letters were read off by the Honorable Mayor.

Sir, what happened to those letters after that night? What further action did you take?

Sir, what action have you taken regarding a survey taken by a group of civic minded citizens with emphasis laid on the extent of damage incurred due to the sewer laying digging? I mean follow up action after you turned the survey over to the engineer and contractors.

Sir, write in your corner about the Stoeck Parking Meters folly. How the commuters are avoiding the use and payment of the meters and parking elsewhere right in the Village. Also, Sir, write about the 40 extra meters stored in the Village garage at a cost of $3.00 per meter per month to the taxpayers of Wood Dale.

SIR, THE.. taxpayers would enjoy reading of your wishful thinking regarding your street rebuilding plan. You have stated publicly that no street rebuilding is any good and only a waste of money without proper drainage. Yet you have an idea that by raising the vehicle tax to $10.00 or more you will solve the street problem.

Of course you Commissioners drawing a salary of $300.00 or more per year never feel these few dollars a year taxes added to the average taxpayer's bill. You have this extra money to play around with.

However, there appears to be one Commissioner who owns 2 cars but there is only one vehicle sticker showing.

And Sir, along these same lines you could write and tell the homeowners that Commissioner Stoeck suggested adding a mosquito abatement assessment to their sewer usage bill.

Sir, you could use your little corner to render an outstanding public service by bringing forth the real facts about our Village and how it is being managed, or is this too much to expect from small town politicians?

Hasbrook Park Equipment Good

Everyone in the Hasbrook area should send a "thank you" letter bouquet to the park district for installing such beautiful equipment for their children. How lucky we are to live in a park - conscious suburb.

Offers Comment For Schoolmen

I greatly appreciated the editorial comment of your writer of the article on the new classrooms for grade school district 54 wherein we were reminded once again that "earlier this year applicants (for teaching positions) without degrees . . . were not considered, although it was acknowledged that many such teachers were highly qualified."

This was by way of comment on the report of Superintendent Flum that he is still short "four to six teachers." It is regrettable that the recruiting efforts of our Superintendent have fallen short of the mark but it would be even more regrettable if people with less than the state requirements were hired because our school board lacks the imagination and has lacked the imagination to cope with this "emergency" situation which has been with us for many years now.

It looks like the "emergency" scare word has lulled them into a state where they have a permanent excuse for ducking every major problem that confronts them.

Although I consider the education of my children of the greatest importance, I am glad, nevertheless, that people of a similar mentality are not certifying medical doctors or we might find ourselves being treated by ex-medical students for our physical ills. There is an "emergency" in supplying needed physicians so why wait until a student finishes medical school and completes a tedious internship. After all wouldn't many students who dropped out of medical school because of finances or just plain laziness make better doctors than some of their duller fellow students who sacrificed and were stodgy enough to satisfy all the requirements? I don't take my children to be treated by medical students without degrees and I don't feel that I should have to subject them to 'quack' teachers either.

If I do then I object to my taxes being used for four-year teacher colleges. Cut them down to two years if that is all that is required to produce "highly qualified" teachers and save me and the other tax payers half on our tax bill for this particular appropriation.

SINCE THE school board of district 54 has seen fit to treat me with nothing but extreme discourtesy when I have gone to offer suggestions in the past I will take this means to inform them that there is a tried and tested solution to their qualified teacher shortage problem and it was reported in one of our Cicago daily newspaper's magazine sections less than two months ago.

Our neighboring community, Lombard, was featured in this article for doing something about the teacher shortage. A quote from the article should interest our school board: "There were scores of mothers in the Lombard area with a college degree. But these women weren't teachers. (Emphasis mine.) Altho they were college graduates, they lacked the 16 to 22 semester hours required for a teacher's certification in Illinois. They didn't want to settle for emergency certification — but as busy mothers, it was obviously impossible for them to pack up and go back to college."

What did they do? First of all they contacted Dr. Joseph Clettenberg, director of extension at Northern Illinois university in De Kalb. First a plan was developed to cut the average cost of education courses from $25 to $8 an hour! Next a sequence of 18 semester hours of education courses was set up in Lombard convenient to the time and needs of these college-trained mothers. The result, according to the article, was "70 new teachers for Lombard."

I HAVE contacted one of the women who spearheaded this project in Lombard, Mrs. Joseph Koach, and she is willing to speak to any group in our community that wishes to emulate the Lombard program. She also assured me that interested Hoffmanites would in all probability be able to work out an arrangement to share in the Northern Illinois University off campus program with Lombard and if there is a sufficiently large enough group interested the university has indicated that a sequence of education courses could be set up in our own community.

This may not solve our immediate problem of the need for four to six certified teachers now, but it can certainly do so in the not too distant future. Now let us see if our district 54 school board is really interested in doing something about the teacher shortage and putting to rest the "emergency" ghost they have been using to quiet criticism for the past 15 years or so.

Reader Says Riley Reneged

Albert E. Riley, in a letter to the Wilson Grammar School Board, written in August 1957, acknowledged the elementary educational problem confronting the community of Hasbrook and the twenty-fourth (24) School District.

Mr. Riley stated in so many words that as a result of his companies construction of over five hundred (500) homes there would be put upon the present facilities of the Wilson School an impossible educational burden.

Mr. Riley went on to promise a contribution of $175.00 per house built and sold in his companies cause and responsibility for the problem.

MR. RILEY TO date, is many thousands of dollars in arrears on his payments and has no apparent intention of making good the liability he has taken on himself, of his own free will and accord.

Mr. Riley, in a word reneged.

Mr. Riley backed down on a warranty implied through the sales incentives of his homes.

Mr. Riley, the president of the corporation; Mr. Donald Huber, a major stockholder in the corporation; Mr. Harold May, the one time sales manager for the corporation; and several other associates and salesmen etc; more than once related the intended contribution to me personally, as they no doubt did to many other prospective buyers, at the time I was negotiating the purchase of my home. I took this offer as an incentive for me to purchase the house. I believed the $175.00 to have been included in the cost of the house. Certainly the man did not intend to play Santa Claus. Common sense and good business judgment would disallow this theory, and Mr. Riley would not be in the position he is if he did not possess these attributes.

Mr. Riley, however, reneged on his promise. He has failed to turn over the money he promised. This means we of the 24th School District-Hasbrook dwellers and the others - have to make up the $175.00 through our taxes. Lets face it, the money has to come from somewhere. Mr. Riley says his promise is not legally enforceable. He seeks refuge in claims of discrimination. No other builder is obligated in this way says Mr. Riley, and asks why should he be. This means he has backed down on an implied warranty given as an incentive in selling his houses to us. A warranty no other builder volunteered and later profited on in greater sales.

MR. RILEY was not in ay way coerced into doing this. He was not even asked to do this. This was Mr. Riley's own plan: Mr. Riley's own selling point; and Mr. Riley's own renege.

Is there nothing we can do? Should we take this lying down? I think not. There is someway to influence Mr. Riley's thinking so he will decide to carry through with his laudable plan. If every family in Hasbrook puts out an effort to this cause, there is no doubt we can get results. If Mr. Riley's word isn't good enough now, maybe we can do something to help strengthen his character so he will make it good.

Police Earn Our Thanks

Yesterday was the last straw. The wife was steering a "loaner" Volkswagen (while our clunk was being repaired). Suddenly no brakes and whammo—into a stopped car with just slight bruises to the kids. Legally, she was at fault and technically should have been ticketed, booked, etc. The investigating Mt. Prospect Officer (no name) instead was more concerned with everyone's health and even drove the family home—the V.W. was kaput.

To digress - about four years ago, I had a busted ankle in our house late at night in the dead of winter, requiring a trip to Chicago in a taxi. There were no local cabs. The Officer on duty called all adjoining suburbs until he got one and was most polite.

THREE YEARS ago a "local" drunk getting aired out from an open house was really taken for a prowler. One squad spent two hours in an intensive search and they kept driving by the rest of the night. We slept good.

Two years ago our thirsty boy took a hefty slug of gasoline. An immediate police escort to the nearest hospital probably saved his life.

A month ago the wife (in the clunk) had a busted fuel pump after dark on the highway. Abandoning the car, she later phoned our Police who saw to it that the clunk was towed away and repaired.

Our block has had a few open houses itself. Twice, when it was necessary, others complained to the police. Instead of being surly (they should have been) and locking us up, the Officers were most polite in calming us down - wouldn't even take a beer!

EVEN GETTING a parking ticket is almost a pleasure.

Our Police are good, but so is our Fire Department. Did you know they have the highest possible rating for an independent volunteer department? Our insurance agent liked that. You'll get a big bang (and a lump in the throat) if you're ever downtown when the siren blows. Only don't stand in front of any business where a volunteer works or you'll probably get lumps all over you after you've been "run over."

Every town has something to gripe about but if you ever have a gripe about the Mt. Prospect police or fire departments, you're either a burglar or an arsonist or nuts. Thanks again.

Art 'Facts' Are Cited

In the July 7 issue of the Arlington Heights Herald there appeared a complete report of the meeting of the Northwest Art Center at which the news was made public that the Hasbrook Construction company had withdrawn its offer to sell the land at 715 Palatine road to the Art Center.

Now again, last week, on page one, a similar report appears, but this time it is obviously an interview, and one in which I, as a member and twice president of the Art Center, find very little of the facts as I have known them to be. Whoever your informant may have been, he or she has greatly misled you and ultimately, the reading public. I should like, however, to call attention to three statements that are outright lies and dismiss the rest of the article as meaningless fancy, too tired to be kicked around even one more time.

THE FIRST OF THE objections is to the thoroughly false and fallacious, though none the less often repeated statement, that the recurrent troubles of the now staggering Northwest Art Center are due to the fact "that artists are artists and not businessmen." Aside from the damage that a statement such as this does to the artists that are businessmen also, in the case of the Art Center it just isn't so. The Art Center was organized in January of 1959 in a meeting at Pioneer Park and ever since that time has experienced, as most organizations do, a great deal of difficulty in stimulating interest on the part of its members, most of whom were not even artists, but rather were dilitantes who were willing to pay yearly dues and thus, I imagine, think of themselves as being "artistic." An organization that was designed as a meeting place for artists of the area just didn't seem to attract those serious painters to whom the name artist may be applied, and those who did join, for the most part, never became active.

The second error in your article concerns the house on Palatine road, donated by the Hasbrook builders in November of last year. At the time this donation was made it was understood that it was to be for a period of one year. If, prior to this time, many of the members of the Art Center seemed reluctant to perform the many clerical duties necessary for organization, the idea of redecorating an old farm building moved them to complete apathy. When you report that "members went to work with a vengeance," you are talking about no more than 10 or 12 people, and then rarely all of them at one time. For over three months the property went unused by all save four or five of the members, and they came up only once a week for a painting class. . . if the weather was perfect! During this time, Mr. Albert Riley, president of Hasbrook, donated over $1,000 to meet all bills for the Art Center. No other business in Arlington Heights donated one penny, although several florists did provide some potted plants for the opening exhibit.

MY THIRD correction is to the statement "The Gallery was visited by hundreds of people from the Chicago area." If by this you mean other than the Arlington Heights area, then your informant has been reading too many of her own press releases. This unbridled optimism in the face of otherwise uncontrovertable fact, has constantly misled the more verbal faction of the Art Center to take itself too seriously. The signatures in the Art Center's guest book seem to be always the same names, and usually friends and relatives of the members. When the entire membership was exhibiting, the crowds were large, but for the one and two man shows, even the members didn't appear. This was a grave concern of the small nucleus who did the work - witness the weekly meetings at which it was a constant topic.

Mrs. Albert Riley, wife of the Hasbrook president and an active member in the Art center, was present at most of these meetings. . .and knew well how little was being done with such a wonderful opportunity. While she might have been hasty with what you headline the "bomshell," the announcement that Hasbrook could no longer sponsor the organization. . .she was not in the least way being unrealistic.

We of the Art Center hoped that many of the businessmen of the area would lend support to what we thought be done and who somehow was a worthwhile cause and an improvement to a community that offers very little otherwise in terms of cultural activity. It never happened. We hoped also that our members would make use of the studio space provided free, and that, too, never happened. My own resignation last month, as resident of the Art Center, was because of the irresponsible slander and character assassination aimed at both Mr. and Mrs. Riley by those very members who were always absent when the work had to forget all that was given to them free.

Whatever other issues may be involved here, fairness demands that editorializing be restricted to this page. . .the front page is for the news.

Crowded Buses

The average daily attendance of all pupils transported by public school buses in Illinois for the school year 1958-1959 was 343,424, according to a report from George T. Wilkins, superintendent of public instruction. The 325,437 of these pupils were public school pupils and 17.987 were from non-public schools.

Disposal Plant Is 'Disgrace'

I as well as a lot of other towns people think it a positive disgrace the way the Wood Dale disposal plant property looks today. The weeds are never cut, there is stuff sitting around here and there that could be put in a more orderly condition. Any additions that have been made are left unpainted thereby lowering the appearance of the plant.

We ask, just what is wrong with the maintenance man? Is he too busy to keep the place neat and clean. If so, then we say get help. Or, is he too busy with other work away from the plant to do justice to the plant grounds?

THIS DISPOSAL plant cost the people a lot of money and it is a crying shame to be allowed to get in this deplorable condition. As for the interior of the plant and office, well, there is a lot to be said for the conditions there.

Wake up, Mayor and Village Council of Wood Dale as well as anything else. Lets get this cleaned up.

Patio Party Cure Offered

The plaint of my fellow Hoffmanite who is suffering a surfeit of "patio parties" caused me to lose a little sleep so I am sending this bit of doggerel which may give him some comfort. One might say I went from bed to verse.

R/X FOR PATIO PARTIES

How sad the plight of the suburbanite
Whom patio parties annoy!
Thus if he needs a rest, I herein suggest
Some devices which he may employ.
He might begin by burning some feathers—
And fanning the fumes toward the din,
Or under the cover of darkness
Sneak over and water the gin.
He might call the local gendarmerie
(And not give his name on the 'phone)
But should these methods fail and naught else prevail
He had best throw a blast of his own!

'Sons and Lovers' Great Dramatic Motion Picture

by JIM PHILLIPS

Let's forget about the publicity thrown on D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterley's Lover," and concentrate on another of his stories, "Sons and Lovers." When and if it comes to Paddockland, it will be well worth your time, not because it has real human emotion tied to it, but because it certainly is one of the great examples of how to make a solid, dramatic black and white motion picture.

Filmed through Twentieth Century Fox, "Sons and Lovers" stars Dean Stockwell as a young man with a family problem: a possessively affectionate mother (Wendy Hiller), and a bitterly-dominating father (Trevor Howard). In fact, the commotion carried on between the parents is the basis for the young man's emotional upheavals. Dean (whose role certainly bears a startling resemblance to the youth of Lawrence himself) carries on a floating love life with a girl of the country (Heather Sears) and a woman (Mary Ure) who has escaped the bonds of boredom strapped on her by her husband. Between these two experiences and the "he'll always be my baby" love given him by his mother, the boy strives for a certain undefinable freedom. I would say that Dean's idea of freedom in this case is probably an out-and-out escape from his father. It is this conflict that the film seems to thrive upon, as it should if it expects to keep within range of the novel. All of the characterizations are built solidly into a small coal mining town called Bestwood, where the atmosphere is as dusty as the lives of the people. You'll find the plot uncomplicated because there is nothing more to say than "these are the people, this is the situation, here are the expressions of choked souls."

THE MOST fascinating part of "Sons and Lovers" is the fact that you can interpret it any way you care to — even the ending begs for a real conclusion. But when the final blast of soot lifts, you'll probably admit that the acting was the greatest contribution to the excellence of the film. Wendy Hiller, Heather Sears and Mary Ure are all interest-ing, and through their expert talents show us three completely different female types. Although the critics are in general agreement that Trevor Howard has stolen the show as the father, I disagree. Howard has never really been poor. Actually, he is one of the most underrated actors in motion pictures today — but getting right down to improved talent, I think that Dean Stockwell has really come of age in this one. It is his best job to date. He definitely had the advantage of working with pros.

Getting down to the camera work and production details, you won't find a more technically-superlative job of black and white photography in the past three years than is found in "Sons and Lovers." It's been a long time since I've seen close-ups done well with a cinemascope lens. Director Jack Cardiff and Producer Jerry Wald should team up with a few more of these "from-the-pages of-the-novel" productions — the picture was so good, you'd swear it was a foreign release. Capsule Comment: Passion and Compassion in Coal Mining Fashion!

LET'S NOT Leave the Family Out: If you haven't seen "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" yet, give it a whirl. It's fine family entertainment. The kids will also enjoy James Cagney in "The Gallant Hours," which we reviewed a number of weeks ago. "Pollyanna," the Walt Disney production, has been in the Chicago Loop for awhile and probably won't get into suburban territory as soon as we'd like, unless the Catlow in Barrington scoops everybody again — at any rate, it's a relaxing bit of technicolor hocus-pocus for fans of the "storyland" school! 'Crack in the Mirror' At Prospect Theatre

"Crack in the Mirror," Darryl F. Zanuck's exciting and uniquely different suspense drama, bringing together the veteran talents of Orson Welles, the incredibly gifted and beautiful Juliette Greco, and the suave and handsome Bradford Dillman, each of whom play double roles, opens at the Prospect Theatre for one week August 19 through August 25.

"Crack in the Mirror," a Twentieth Century-Fox release, is unlike any picture that Zanuck has ever made. For the first time in his long and award-filled producing career, he has his actors playing dual roles — that is, each of the stars playing two parts.

Orson Welles, last seen in the Clarence Darrow role in "Compulsion" — he earned a Cannes Film Festival "Best Actor" award for this performance — again plays a lawyer, at least in one of his two parts. In the other, he portrays a brutish and aging laborer. Welles found the dual role assignment one of the most challenging and rewarding of his acting life.

Juliette Greco, who gained wide acclaim for her stunning performances in "Roots of Heaven" and "The Naked Earth," emerges as a major star as a result of her two very different but equally passionate portrayals of a well-kept lady and a destitute young mother.

Three attractions are scheduled for the 53 Outdoor theatre to be seen on one program starting Friday, August 18 for one week. Attraction number one stars Lana Turner who was once responsible for popularizing the sweater and a hair style known as "the Lana Turner" bob and now introduces a new unusual hair-do called the "frosted blonde" in the motion picture, "Portrait in Black," co-starring Anthony Quinn, John Saxon and Sandra Dee. Attraction number two will be "Carry On Nurse," a very funny and exciting comedy. Attraction number three will be Walt Disney's "Johnny Appleseed", in color featuring Dennis Day.

'Sons and Lovers' Great Dramatic Motion Picture

by JIM PHILLIPS

Let's forget about the publicity thrown on D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterley's Lover," and concentrate on another of his stories, "Sons and Lovers." When and if it comes to Paddockland, it will be well worth your time, not because it has real human emotion tied to it, but because it certainly is one of the great examples of how to make a solid, dramatic black and white motion picture.

SECRET LOVERS Lana Turner and Anthony Quinn are startled from an embrace by an unexpected visitor in this scene from the suspense melodrama, "Portrait In Black," filmed in color by producer Ross Hunter for Universal-International with an all-star cast, which will open Friday at Des Plaines theater. (Bill

Filmed through Twentieth Century Fox, "Sons and Lovers" stars Dean Stockwell as a young man with a family problem: a possessively affectionate mother (Wendy Hiller), and a bitterly-dominating father (Trevor Howard). In fact, the commotion carried on between the parents is the basis for the young man's emotional upheavals. Dean (whose role certainly bears a startling resemblance to the youth of Lawrence himself) carries on a floating love life with a girl of the country (Heather Sears) and a woman (Mary Ure) who has escaped the bonds of boredom strapped on her by her husband. Between these two experiences and the "he'll always be my baby" love given him by his mother, the boy strives for a certain undefinable freedom. I would say that Dean's idea of freedom in this case is probably an out-and-out escape from his father. It is this conflict that the film seems to thrive upon, as it should if it expects to keep within range of the novel. All of the characterizations are built solidly into a small coal mining town called Bestwood, where the atmosphere is as dusty as the lives of the people. You'll find the plot uncomplicated because there is nothing more to say than "these are the people, this is the situation, here are the expressions of choked souls."

THE MOST fascinating part of "Sons and Lovers" is the fact that you can interpret it any way you care to — even the ending begs for a real conclusion. But when the final blast of soot lifts, you'll probably admit that the acting was the greatest contribution to the excellence of the film. Wendy Hiller, Heather Sears and Mary Ure are all interest-ing, and through their expert talents show us three completely different female types. Although the critics are in general agreement that Trevor Howard has stolen the show as the father, I disagree. Howard has never really been poor. Actually, he is one of the most underrated actors in motion pictures today — but getting right down to improved talent, I think that Dean Stockwell has really come of age in this one. It is his best job to date. He definitely had the advantage of working with pros.

Getting down to the camera work and production details, you won't find a more technically-superlative job of black and white photography in the past three years than is found in "Sons and Lovers." It's been a long time since I've seen close-ups done well with a cinemascope lens. Director Jack Cardiff and Producer Jerry Wald should team up with a few more of these "from-the-pages of-the-novel" productions — the picture was so good, you'd swear it was a foreign release. Capsule Comment: Passion and Compassion in Coal Mining Fashion!

LET'S NOT Leave the Family Out: If you haven't seen "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" yet, give it a whirl. It's fine family entertainment. The kids will also enjoy James Cagney in "The Gallant Hours," which we reviewed a number of weeks ago. "Pollyanna," the Walt Disney production, has been in the Chicago Loop for awhile and probably won't get into suburban territory as soon as we'd like, unless the Catlow in Barrington scoops everybody again — at any rate, it's a relaxing bit of technicolor hocus-pocus for fans of the "storyland" school! (Bill

'Crack in the Mirror' At Prospect Theatre

"Crack in the Mirror," Darryl F. Zanuck's exciting and uniquely different suspense drama, bringing together the veteran talents of Orson Welles, the incredibly gifted and beautiful Juliette Greco, and the suave and handsome Bradford Dillman, each of whom play double roles, opens at the Prospect Theatre for one week August 19 through August 25.

"Crack in the Mirror," a Twentieth Century-Fox release, is unlike any picture that Zanuck has ever made. For the first time in his long and award-filled producing career, he has his actors playing dual roles — that is, each of the stars playing two parts.

Orson Welles, last seen in the Clarence Darrow role in "Compulsion" — he earned a Cannes Film Festival "Best Actor" award for this performance — again plays a lawyer, at least in one of his two parts. In the other, he portrays a brutish and aging laborer. Welles found the dual role assignment one of the most challenging and rewarding of his acting life.

Juliette Greco, who gained wide acclaim for her stunning performances in "Roots of Heaven" and "The Naked Earth," emerges as a major star as a result of her two very different but equally passionate portrayals of a well-kept lady and a destitute young mother.

Lana Turner Film at 53

Three attractions are scheduled for the 53 Outdoor theatre to be seen on one program starting Friday, August 18 for one week. Attraction number one stars Lana Turner who was once responsible for popularizing the sweater and a hair style known as "the Lana Turner" bob and now introduces a new unusual hair-do called the "frosted blonde" in the motion picture, "Portrait in Black," co-starring Anthony Quinn, John Saxon and Sandra Dee. Attraction number two will be "Carry On Nurse," a very funny and exciting comedy. Attraction number three will be Walt Disney's "Johnny Appleseed", in color featuring Dennis Day.

Art Workshop Planned By Hoffman Clubwomen

by LUCILLE ERNST

That talented and interesting young woman Carol Vassmer, called me the other night. Carol is the new art chairman of the Hoffman Estates Woman's club. She is planning a truly unique year for the members of her special interest group.

Many of the meetings will be utilized in a workshop so that members may become proficient in their particular medium. Carol is arranging for artists in the community to give demonstrations and lectures in various techniques for the remaining meetings.

William Gallagher, Arlington Heights, one of our better known area artists, will be on hand for the September meeting to advise and answer questions from interested new painters. Any member of the Hoffman Estates Woman's club who is curious about art or artists, contact Carol Vassmer at TW 4-6046.

CARE TO try an experiment? Ask 10 men their favorite color. I'll bet most of them will favor blue. Blue is a cool and relaxing color which should tell us something about most men.

Yellow is a favorite color of children for this is a happy color. Red is an exciting color and you will see it before all other colors. Green is quiet and like blue, tends to recede in space. Orange is warm but not as exciting as red. Purple is sombre and majestic. White, the reflection of all colors, is the symbol of purity; black, the absorption of all colors, stands for evil and death.

If you are saying to yourself, "but I knew all that," you are quite right. Artists, especially expressionistic artists, count on your knowing the symbolism of color although you may never have consciously thought about it before. We all shared common ancestors who had strong feelings about that source of all life, a yellow sun. They look across a peaceful green field at an even more peaceful blue sky. They felt danger and excitement at the sight of fireand blood and they were afraid of the black night.

COLORS are as two sided as people, however, and this too we all recognize in our every day expressions. Having the "blues" is an accurate statement, for blue may be depressing. A dining room should never be painted green as it can quite literally cause a loss of appetite. We call a coward, "yellow." This too is apt. The slightest graying of yellow makes one feel the same way we feel when we know a man is not brave. We expected more.

We all have an instinctive reaction to lines too. Horizontal and vertical lines give one a feeling of stability, short broken diagonal lines represent violence and action.

The long "S" line is restful which is why landscape artists will find a nice meandering river or road to carry your eye through the painting.

This then is the language of all artists but the abstract expressionistic artist makes special use of these tools. Instead of painting a realistic painting, he uses the colors and lines which will tell you what he wants to say.

TAKE ANOTHER look at that painting that appealed to you but which you thought you didn't understand. It could be that rather than painting a particular battle scene, the artist will use reds, oranges and blacks. He might use short diagonal forms which would portray all battles at all times. You would instinctively know that this picture spoke of fear, danger and excitement. our own imagination will strengthen the impact and make you a partner in the painting. There is really nothing modern about expressionism. It is as old as man. (Bill

Popular Melodrama Is Slated by Shady Lane

For a gala finale to its 19th summer season, Shady Lane Playhouse will depart from its customary schedule of comedies and farces to present its traditional melodrama.

For two weeks beginning August 23 (except August 29), the calliope out front of the barn theatre on Route 20 will be whistling its invitation to come inside and see America's most enduringly popular play, "The Drunkard: or, The Fallen Saved."

"The Drunkard" has become known in the last 30 years as a hilarious melodrama, customarily played in slapstick style as a jest at prohibitionists, and usually for an audience with pretzels and beer or something stronger at hand. But it started life as a serious temperance tract, and it was one of the most respected, as well as one of the most successful, plays on the American stage in the mid-nineteenth century.

IT WAS WRITTEN in 1843 by William Henry Sedley, a Welsh-born actor and theatre manager who used the pen name William Henry Smith. He was managing the Boston Museum, which was having a poor season, when he undertook the writing of the drama decrying man's use of alcohol. His play was given its world premiere at the Museum on February 12, 1844, and turned the tide of fortune for the ailing playhouse. Smith, no victim of modesty, subsequently wrote his own drama review.

"There could not have been a better time chosen for the production of this most successful and Domestic Drama, than the season it was first performed at the Boston Museum. No unprejudiced person will attempt to deny that it was the cause of much good, and materially aided the Temperance movement it was meant to advocate. In the representation it was a powerful and living picture, and all that saw it, felt it, for it was true. No one who had not seen it would feel inclined, from the mere reading, to believe the very powerful effect producd.

"Mr. Smith's personation of Edward, evidently the result of accurate and laborious study, and deep knowledge of human frailty, was at times terribly real, particularly the scene of delirium tremens which though far short of the horrors of that dreadful malady, and appearing, to those unacquainted with the disease to be overstepping the bounds of nature was true to the letter, and universally acknowledged to be the most natural, effective acting ever seen in this city. In this scene, and those depicting the distress of the family, it was no uncommon thing to see scores of men and women in the auditory weeping like children, while at the next moment their faces would radiate with smiles at the quaint humor of Bill Dowton, or the pompous peculiarities of Miss Spindle."

SHADY LANE'S new musical version, adapted by Matt Conley from the original by William Henry Smith, will be embellished by fourteen new songs, with music by Robert Procter and lyrics by Caroline Kellog, under the direction of Allan Ray. Among the songs will be 'Oh, Old Demon Rum's a Bosom Friend to Me," "For I am a Drunkard's Wife," "Pass the Hat and Save a Sinner," and "Clang, Clang the Cymbal, To Celebrate the Ending of Demon Rum." Its new scenic investiture and its costumes in the gaslight era's style have been designed respectively by Don Werner and Madge Stagg. Frank Bryan, the cornfield impresario of Shady Lane, intends his version of "The Drunkard" to be a period-piece staging, much as it might have been presented a century ago — no longer a straight melodrama, but an enduringly quaint piece of American art appealing for the indulgent laughter of today's audience. The authentic archaic flavor on stage will be matched by the oldtime savories which the candy butchers in the aisles will peddle, guaranteeing a prize in every package.

That calliope will be playing at Shady Lane Playhouse, three miles west of Marengo, before curtain times at 8:45 Tuesdays through Fridays, 7 and 10 on Saturdays, and 7:45 Sunday evenings. Closing performances will be Sunday, September 4. Country style dinners and city cocktails are served at Shady Lane Farm adjoining the theatre. Reservations for the dining room are recommended before 8:45, at Jordan 8-7218. (Bill

by LUCILLE ERNST

That talented and interesting young woman Carol Vassmer, called me the other night. Carol is the new art chairman of the Hoffman Estates Woman's club. She is planning a truly unique year for the members of her special interest group.

Many of the meetings will be utilized in a workshop so that members may become proficient in their particular medium. Carol is arranging for artists in the community to give demonstrations and lectures in various techniques for the remaining meetings.

William Gallagher, Arlington Heights, cne of our better known area artists, will be on hand for the September meeting to advise and answer questions from interested new painters. Any member of the Hoffman Estates Woman's club who is curious about art or artists, contact Carol Vassmer at TW 4-6046.

CARE TO try an experiment? Ask 10 men their favorite color. I'll bet most of them will favor blue. Blue is a cool and relaxing color which should tell us something about most men.

Yellow is a favorite color of children for this is a happy color. Red is an exciting color and you will see it before all other colors. Green is quiet and like blue, tends to recede in space. Orange is warm but not as exciting as red. Purple is sombre and majestic. White, the reflection of all colors, is the symbol of purity; black, the absorption of all colors, stands for evil and death.

If you are saying to yourself, "but I knew all that," you are quite right. Artists, especially expressionistic artists, count on your knowing the symbolism of color although you may never have consciously thought about it before. We all shared common ancestors who had strong feelings about that source of all life, a yellow sun. They look across a peaceful green field at an even more peaceful blue sky. They felt danger and excitement at the sight of fireand blood and they were afraid of the black night.

COLORS are as two sided as people, however, and this too we all recognize in our every day expressions. Having the "blues" is an accurate statement, for blue may be depressing. A dining room should never be painted green as it can quite literally cause a loss of appetite. We call a coward, "yellow." This too is apt. The slightest graying of yellow makes one feel the same way we feel when we know a man is not brave. We expected more.

We all have an instinctive reaction to lines too. Horizontal and vertical lines give one a feeling of stability, short broken diagonal lines represent violence and action.

The long "S" line is restful which is why landscape artists will find a nice meandering river or road to carry your eye through the painting.

This then is the language of all artists but the abstract expressionistic artist makes special use of these tools. Instead of painting a realistic painting, he uses the colors and lines which will tell you what he wants to say.

TAKE ANOTHER look at that painting that appealed to you but which you thought you didn't understand. It could be that rather than painting a particular battle scene, the artist will use reds, oranges and blacks. He might use short diagonal forms which would portray all battles at all times. You would instinctively know that this picture spoke of fear, danger and excitement. our own imagination will strengthen the impact and make you a partner in the painting. There is really nothing modern about expressionism. It is as old as man. (Bill

Popular Melodrama Is Slated by Shady Lane

For a gala finale to its 19th summer season, Shady Lane Playhouse will depart from its customary schedule of comedies and farces to present its traditional melodrama.

For two weeks beginning August 23 (except August 29), the calliope out front of the barn theatre on Route 20 will be whistling its invitation to come inside and see America's most enduringly popular play, "The Drunkard: or, The Fallen Saved."

"The Drunkard" has become known in the last 30 years as a hilarious melodrama, customarily played in slapstick style as a jest at prohibitionists, and usually for an audience with pretzels and beer or something stronger at hand. But it started life as a serious temperance tract, and it was one of the most respected, as well as one of the most successful, plays on the American stage in the mid-nineteenth century.

IT WAS WRITTEN in 1843 by William Henry Sedley, a Welsh-born actor and theatre manager who used the pen name William Henry Smith. He was managing the Boston Museum, which was having a poor season, when he undertook the writing of the drama decrying man's use of alcohol. His play was given its world premiere at the Museum on February 12, 1844, and turned the tide of fortune for the ailing playhouse. Smith, no victim of modesty, subsequently wrote his own drama review.

"There could not have been a better time chosen for the production of this most successful and Domestic Drama, than the season it was first performed at the Boston Museum. No unprejudiced person will attempt to deny that it was the cause of much good, and materially aided the Temperance movement it was meant to advocate. In the representation it was a powerful and living picture, and all that saw it, felt it, for it was true. No one who had not seen it would feel inclined, from the mere reading, to believe the very powerful effect producd.

"Mr. Smith's personation of Edward, evidently the result of accurate and laborious study, and deep knowledge of human frailty, was at times terribly real, particularly the scene of delirium tremens which though far short of the horrors of that dreadful malady, and appearing, to those unacquainted with the disease to be overstepping the bounds of nature was true to the letter, and universally acknowledged to be the most natural, effective acting ever seen in this city. In this scene, and those depicting the distress of the family, it was no uncommon thing to see scores of men and women in the audience weeping like children, while at the next moment their faces would radiate with smiles at the quaint humor of Bill Dowton, or the pompous peculiarities of Miss Spindle."

SHADY LANE'S new musical version, adapted by Matt Conley from the original by William Henry Smith, will be embellished by fourteen new songs, with music by Robert Procter and lyrics by Caroline Kellog, under the direction of Allan Ray. Among the songs will be 'Oh, Old Demon Rum's a Bosom Friend to Me," "For I am a Drunkard's Wife," "Pass the Hat and Save a Sinner," and "Clang, Clang the Cymbal, To Celebrate the Ending of Demon Rum." Its new scenic investiture and its costumes in the gaslight era's style have been designed respectively by Don Werner and Madge Stagg. Frank Bryan, the cornfield impresario of Shady Lane, intends his version of "The Drunkard" to be a period-piece staging, much as it might have been presented a century ago — no longer a straight melodrama, but an enduringly quaint piece of American art appealing for the indulgent laughter of today's audience. The authentic archaic flavor on stage will be matched by the oldtime savories which the candy butchers in the aisles will peddle, guaranteeing a prize in every package.

That calliope will be playing at Shady Lane Playhouse, three miles west of Marengo, before curtain times at 8:45 Tuesdays through Fridays, 7 and 10 on Saturdays, and 7:45 Sunday evenings. Closing performances will be Sunday, September 4. Country style dinners and city cocktails are served at Shady Lane Farm adjoining the theatre. Reservations for the dining room are recommended before 8:45, at Jordan 8-7218. (Bill

50 YEARS AGO
August 19, 1910
Arlington Heights:

The editor prayed for rain several weeks but so many farmers were not ready, wanting to get their haying, harvest and threshing done, that the Lord granted their wishes. Now they are ready to start fall plowing, the rain came and all nature rejoices.

The Woman's Club Library has been moved to the new school building . . . Several adults in Arlington Heights have the aeroplane craze in the form of kite flying. . . . F. W. Muller & Sons soda and mineral water business has constantly grown to such proportions that they have added an up-to-date auto delivery wagon to their mammoth equipment. If it works right, they will soon get several more motor trucks.

Married: Miss Louise Hardtke and Mr. William Beckman, of Park Ridge were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siemro, Saturday evening, August 6. Miss Meta Duenn was bridesmaid and Mr. Carl Hardtke was best man.

Obituary: Emma Kruse, born Dec. 7, 1871 in Elk Grove, married Herman Scharringhausen Feb. 28, 1890; to this union were born nine children, eight of whom survive; she passed away Aug. 12, 1910, aged 38 years, 8 mo. 5 days.

Palatine

Lamp lighting and Police Committee recommended that a contract be made with the North Shore Electric Co. for lighting the streets of Palatine with 36 forty candle power and four 60 candle power tungsten lights.

Itasca

Sunday, Aug. 28, the Lutheran parochial school will celebrate its 25th anniversary in Wm. Wischstadt's grove, Itasca. There will be two services, Rev. T. John Grosse preaching in the morning, and Rev. F. Zerson at three p.m. Prof. A. Kastner's Band will furnish music.

40 YEARS AGO
August 20, 1920
Palatine:

J. D. Perry has installed electric clippers at his barber shop. The class of 1920 will distribute the "Palahi" within the next few days. The "annual" is the first ever issued by the local high school.

Arlington Heights

About 100 people turned out to hear the speaking and enjoy an evening picnic at Meyer's Park, Sunday. . . . Arlington Heights Band will hold their annual picnic in Meyer's Park, Aug. 29, to raise money to buy music and pay their expenses. We all enjoy their free concerts and ought to cheerfully help them by the price of a ticket even though we don't care to dance. Encourage our band.

From Council Proceedings: Mr. A. F. Volz stated that the right of way for the Northwest Highway had been secured up to village limits in the east, and as the State Highway Surveyor was ready wanted to know about the right of way through the village. This was left in the hands of the committee for immediate action.

Schaumburg

During the storm Thursday a bolt of lightning struck the Henry J. Kruse barn, setting it on fire. It was totally destroyed, also the other buildings; the house was saved. Mr. Kruse and sons were stacking grain when the shower finally drove them into the barn with a half load of bundles still on the wagon. They had scarcely closed the doors when the bolt struck, which immediately set fire to the wagon on the barn floor with the horses still hitched. In an effort to save the horses the door was again thrown open but the animals were beyond control and made a dash for the open and down the north road with a full blazing wagon back of them, while tails and manes of the horses were also ablaze. The poor animals were so badly scorched that they were ordered shot to end their suffering.

Bensenville

Does prohibition prohibit liquor selling? Before the dry law went into effect, Bensenville had only two saloons. Now there are eight or nine places where you can buy drinks.

Arlington Heights

Mr. Richard Boeger, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Boeger, and Miss Pearl Johnson of Riverview were united in marriage by Rev. Theo F. Bierbaum at the home of the groom's parents, Wednesday evening. Miss Anna Boeger was bridesmaid, and Mr. Lyman Nichols groomsman.

Only two more weeks of vacation, then we'll hear the school bells ring again. . . . Otto Landmeier has redecorated with red paint the front of his building occupied by the hardware and drug stores —quite an improvement.

30 YEARS AGO
August 12, 1930

By-laws for the new A. H. Public Health Committee were submitted by Supt. of Schools E. D. Whitmore. Mrs. G. L. Parker, was elected Vice president, and the chairman, Mrs. John Allen, announced a full corps of committee chairmen and workers. The work is now supported partly by the village board, organizations, schools, and individuals; partly by Christmas seals and the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute.

The reopening of the Arlington Theatre Sunday under the North West Theatrical Enterprises, and with complete new equipment, was attended by a continuous stream of people. The feature picture, "Cut Short" with Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, was screamingly funny.

These red headed icemen seem to take naturally to athletic stunts. Not many years ago Wheaton earned considerable fame by being the home of Red Grange, noted University of Illinois football player. And now along comes Arlington Heights into the limelight as the home of Elroy Harris, another carrot topped husky, who is gaining considerable renown as a boxer and who also is reported to keep in trim by hustling the ice cakes. Harris scored another knockout the other night at the boxing show at Dean's race track when he put away Art Molenhauer of Palatine in the second round. . . .In the 125 lb. class Herb Chidley of Arlington Heights won the decision over Welber Koehling, also of Arlington. Both boys were willing and aggressive, but Chidley was the coolest and displayed the best form.

Schaumburg

Mr. Louis Gathman, born here 74 years ago, spending the greater part of his life on farms in Schaumburg, prominent in religious work, and leaving many descendents, passed away Aug. 8, 1930, at his home at 114 W. Fremont st., Arlington Heights. He was born in Schaumburg, March 9, 1856; March 21, 1879 he married Miss Emma Scharringhausen.

With grain yields surpassing anything ever known in this neighborhood, Palatine township might well be called the garden spot of America. Yields of oats are running consistently up around 70 to 80 bushels per acre; wheat around 40 bushels; barley up to 90 bushels, and so on. But it remained for Emil Schroeder to set the all time record when he threshed 421 bushels of oats from four acres, or a yield of 105¼ bushels per acre. His yield is authentic, being measured at 36 lbs. per bushel, and on four acres of government measured land.

The long talked about WPA sidewalk project is about to be started in Palatine. If a property owner wants a sidewalk all he has to do is pay the price for the material, about 50 cents per running foot. Two other WPA projects have been in operation for some time in Palatine; one is the recodifying and typing of the village ordinances; and the other, the systematizing of the special assessment records.

Arlington Heights

The Junior Drum & Bugle Corps of Merle Guild Post 208 will participate in the 2d annual Tournament of Music at Riverview Park, Chicago, August 17. D. R. Rippey, corps chairman announced today.

Obituary

Herman Rotermund, born Aug. 21, 1861, near Bensenville, died Sunday, Aug. 4, 1940. He had reached the age of 78 years, 11 months and 13 days, his entire life having been spent in this vicinity.

Itasca

Mr. Louis Wolf with help of relatives and friends will celebrate his 82nd birthday August 16. He has been a resident of Itasca for over fifty years, worked for the C.M. & St. P. Ry. for 39 years, and for 38 years has been a reader of the DuPage Register.

It is expected that by the time school starts over 1000 students will register for the 1950-1951 term, and that by February the enrollment will reach 1050.

Arlington Heights village trustees find that with the present war scare it is a necessity to continue the control on rents. It was cited that various places in Arlington Heights were asking between $100 and $150 a month rent for four and five room apartments, and houses.

Pleasant little Miss Hooker who greeted patrons in the business office of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., Arlington Heights, retired Thursday, after almost 34 years with the company.

Mr. and Mrs. George Petersen of 1324 N. Dunton will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary August 19 by holding an open house.

Northwest Area

More veterans are being called back into service. Edwin Schmidt, 158 N. Benton, Palatine, was called back last week. Mynderse Taylor, East Euclid, Arlington Heights, reported to O'Hare field Thursday. Albert Parkhurst is another Palatine veteran who has been called back into service. Sergeant Andrew E. Voigt of Palatine left Wednesday for Sempter, S.C. for service with the 437th troop carrier wing at Shaw Field.

Future Homes 4-H Elects Officers

The first meeting of the new year for the Future Homes 4-H club was held in the home of Ellen Ostrowski recently.

The following officers were elected: Suzanne DePalma, president; Cathy Ciolac, vice president; Candy Dale, secretary; Donna Thibault, treasurer; Sherry DePalma, program chairman; Elizabeth Carroll, reporter; Mary Morrison, recreation chairman.

Also Patty Ciolac, librarian; Cindy Agnes and Sharon Hammeislie, health; Sandra DePalma and Terry DePalma, safety; Marge Moder, tour chairman; Pam Blakely, flag bearer; Ellen Ostrowski, scrapbook.

Mrs. Noel Foss, group leader, announced several projects to be pursued for the coming year, and it was decided that the club picnic will be held August 20 at the DePalma residence.

TNT Officers Are Elected

The regular meeting of the TNT 4-H club was held recently in the Schanken home. An election of officers was held with the following named: Alice Bollman, president; Donna Pasvogel, secretary; Alice Miller, treasurer; Laura Schanken, reporter; Ruth Von Bergen, vice president; Abbye Carter and Shirley Mueller, scrapbook; Judi Stiffer, 4-H master of ceremonies.

A meeting was planned for August 29 at 10 a.m. in the home of the Heinkels.

Two Volunteer To Beautify Hospital Land

Two area men have volunteered to help beautify the grounds of Northwest Community hospital.

John S. Schmidt, Dundee rd., is moving the weeds and discing and harrowing the land to prepare it for seed. Carol Klehm, Algonquin rd., Arlington Heights, will provide the grass seed, fertilizer, and labor necessary to start the hospital lawn.

Klehm expects to have the lawn seeded by September.

Motorist Penalties Announced

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier reported this week that area motorists had received three revocations, 14 suspensions, and four probationary permits.

Revocations went to Charles I. Larsen, 147 Richards dr., and Robert E. Cline, 1343 Portage, both of Palatine; and Jesus M. Torres, Landmeier rd., Bensenville.

Larsen lost his license for driving under the influence of alcohol. Cline and Torres committed three violations.

Mr. Prospect residents receiving suspensions were Thomas L. Elia, 410 N. Prospect Manor; Thomas V. Geocaris, 219 S. Pine st.; Raymond W. Godfrey, 920 S. Ioka; Michael R. Murphy, 612 E. Shabonne; and James R. Peck, 806 N. Woodriver.

Arlington Heights residents receiving suspensions included David M. Kelhi, 1428 N. Mitchell; Luther Legg, 1007 Palatine; Carl Pasquale, 1805 N. Walnut; and Phillip M. Pailey, 702 S. Belmont lane.

Other suspensions went to William L. Mac Shane, 3403 Meadow dr., Rolling Meadows; Arthur J. Eldredee, 6N734 Gates ave., Medinah; Chester S. Gurnicz, 210 Myrick, Addison; Ralph E. Hyslop, 416 N. Oak st., Itasca; and Robert N. McCommon, RR 3 Box 215, Bensenville.

Receiving probationary permits were Ronald A. Naumann, 1501 E. Fremont, Arlington Heights; Barron J. Daly, 2N686 Lincoln, Addison; Thomas Ioanou, 17 W355 Belmont; and George F. Kraft, 471 Lombard rd., Itasca.

Two Weeks More To Pay Your Tax

Local tax collectors are so busy crediting tax payments they could not announce Monday the percentage of bills that have been paid.

A comparison with a year ago does not give the answer because the gross this year is so much greater than in previous years.

The taxing bodies are particularly interested because payments made in Chicago after September 1 will not reach the local taxing bodies especially the schools, until several weeks, although the interest of tax warrants will be piling up.

Thus, it is in the interest of those who want lower taxes to make payments to the local collector before September 1.

FOLLOWING are the township collectors, their offices and hours:

Palatine township: George W. Howes, 12 W. Chicago ave., Palatine. Hours Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays 9 a.m. to noon only.

Elk Grove township: Arnold Scharringhausen, 2 E. Busse ave., Mt. Prospect. Hours 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. except Wednesday, 8:30 a.m. to noon. Friday nights 6 to 8.

This was left in the hands of the committee for immediate action.

Schaumburg

During the storm Thursday a bolt of lightning struck the Henry J. Kruse barn, setting it on fire. It was totally destroyed, also the other buildings; the house was saved. Mr. Kruse and sons were stacking grain when the shower finally drove them into the barn with a half load of bundles still on the wagon. They had scarcely closed the doors when the bolt struck, which immediately set fire to the wagon on the barn floor with the horses still hitched. In an effort to save the horses the door was again thrown open but the animals were beyond control and made a dash for the open and down the north road with a full blazing wagon back of them, while tails and manes of the horses were also ablaze. The poor animals were so badly scorched that they were ordered shot to end their suffering.

With grain yields surpassing anything ever known in this neighborhood, Palatine township might well be called the garden spot of America. Yields of oats are running consistently up around 70 to 80 bushels per acre; wheat around 40 bushels; barley up to 90 bushels, and so on. But it remained for Emil Schroeder to set the all time record when he threshed 421 bushels of oats from four acres, or a yield of 105¼ bushels per acre. His yield is authentic, being measured at 36 lbs. per bushel, and on four acres of government measured land.

Two Weeks More To Pay Your Tax

Local tax collectors are so busy crediting tax payments they could not announce Monday the percentage of bills that have been paid.

A comparison with a year ago does not give the answer because the gross this year is so much greater than in previous years.

The taxing bodies are particularly interested because payments made in Chicago after September 1 will not reach the local taxing bodies especially the schools, until several weeks, although the interest of tax warrants will be piling up.

Thus, it is in the interest of those who want lower taxes to make payments to the local collector before September 1.

FOLLOWING are the township collectors, their offices and hours:

Palatine township: George W. Howes, 12 W. Chicago ave., Palatine. Hours Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays 9 a.m. to noon only.

Heirloom Wedding Band Worn by Carol Borgeson

The sentimental gold band wedding ring of her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Von-Zehe, which also was worn by her mother, Mrs. R. A. Borgeson, 24 years ago, when she and Mr. Borgeson were united in marriage, was worn as "something old" by Carol Jane Borgeson of Prospect Heights for her July marriage to Ronald Michael Holappa of Evanston. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. H. J. Aigner in St. Paul Lutheran church Evanston.

The chancel was decorated with white gladioli, stock, mums and cymbidium ferns for the candlelight wedding.

Soloists were Mrs. Pat Cotsakis, who sang "Beloved, It is Morn" and "Oh, Perfect Love" and the bride's brother, David Borgeson, who sang "The Lord's Prayer." They were accompanied by Mrs. Thelma Michelson, organist.

THE BRIDE chose a princess style gown of traditional satin with re-embroidered alencon lace fashioned with a full skirt ending in a cathedral train. A regal crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil in place, and white amazon lilies and stephanotis formed her bridal bouquet. A star-sapphire and diamond pendant, a gift of the bridegroom, complemented her attire.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. James LaRosee of Watertown, Mass., served as matron of honor, and Miss Judy Dehmlow of Evanston was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Norman Spear of Evanston, Miss Carol Ann Asper of Pontiac and Miss Diane Woolsey of Joliet. The Misses Dehmlow, Asper and Woolsey are sorority sisters of the bride. All attendants wore identical gowns of blue silk organza, street length with full skirts and deep hems. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and blue delphiniums.

PAUL JUNG of Palatine was best man, and ushers were James La Rosee of Watertown, Mass.; the bride's brother, David Borgeson of Prospect Heights; Oliver Geiger of St. Louis, Mo., and Wesley Brill of Chicago.

A reception for 250 guests was held later in the Evanston Elks club, where the bride's mother greeted guests in a princess style street length dress of beige lace over pink taffeta. She chose beige accessories and a corsage of amazon lilies. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a powder blue sheath dress of silk organza with a flowing back drape. White accessories and an orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

Following a week's honeymoon at the Wagon Wheel and in Wisconsin, the couple is residing at 106 E. Palatine rd., Prospect Heights, until September when Mr. Holappa will receive his master of science degree in mechanical engineering from Northwestern university. The couple will then move to Dearborn, Mich., where the bridegroom will be employed with the Ford Motor company. The bride is presently employed in the office of Evanston high school.

Mount Prospect Man Takes Zion Girl as His Bride

In a July 30 service in Memorial Methodist church, Zion, a Mt. Prospect man, Robert Bruce Ferguson, took as his bride, Miss Arlyle Amanda Anthony of Zion. The bride's parents are the Karl G. Anthonys of Zion and the groom's parents are the Robert Fergusons of Dallas City, Ill.

Rev. R. Norman Herbert of Mt. Prospect officiated at the 2:30 service which was followed by a reception in the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional gown with bateau neckline. The bell-shaped skirt with its basque waist ended in a chapel train. A seed pearl crown held her fingertip veil and she carried a yellow-throated orchid with stephanotis on a white Bible.

MISS KAREN Anthony was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Miss Brenda Ferguson of Dallas and Miss Carol Brozak of Evergreen Park, roommate of the bride.

Miss Anthony's gown was of mint ice and the bridesmaids were in lemon ice and lavender mist. A basket of pink daisies was carried by the maid of honor and baskets of yellow daisies by the bridesmaids. Their headpieces matched their ensembles.

Two candle-lighters, cousins of the bride, Margaret Anne Pelton of Dane, Wis. and Marsha Jane Anthony of Arlington Heights, wore dresses matching the bridesmaids.'

ROBERT Spotswood of Maywood was best man and groomsman was Robert Wilson of Mt. Prospect. Donald Venvertlon of Plainfield and Robert Brown of Elk Grove Village were ushers.

The new Mrs. Ferguson was graduated in 1958 from Illinois State Normal university. Mr. Ferguson received his B. E. and M.A. degrees from Western Illinois university.

After a Wisconsin honeymoon, the newlyweds are residing at 1208 Robert dr., Mt. Prospect.

High School Girls Model Fashions

The high school fashion board of Wieboldt's in Evanston will present a "Bandstand Review of Fashion" at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 19. The show will include the latest in back-to-school, party and sports clothes.

The 27 members of the fall fashion board represent 13 schools. Among these are Barb Baughman, 15 N. Forrest, Arlington Heights, Peggy Remsen, 700 Edgewood, Mt. Prospect, and Valorie Vorhees, 422 W. McDonald, representing Prospect high school. From Arlington high school are Jill Dedering, 1120 W. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, and Linda Trimmel, 1119 E. Olive, Arlington Heights.

Setting for the show will be in the Young People's shop of Wieboldt's in Evanston. It is hoped that all high school girls in the area will be there to see the fall clothes which are now being featured in the latest fashion magazines.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

She Misses Children

Dear Peg:

I'll probably never remember after they've been home for a couple of weeks how much I missed them while they were enjoying their annual two week vacation in Indianapolis. Megan and Bridget went back with Aunt Dot, who was here for a long weekend. The funny thing is that it's the irritating little things they do that I miss the most: telling them to pick up their clothes and mak their beds, to stop arguing about who's going to wash and who's going to dry the dishes, to stay around when I want them to fee the baby or take her for a ride in her stroler, instead of quietly trying to slip out of th house and to stay out of the refrigerat right before dinner. Their room is neat an clean (even to the fresh, crispy white cur tains, canopies and dust ruffles). Bridget's paper dolls and collection of rocks from the beach are out of sight and Megan's china collection, bulletin board and books have been straightened and arranged neatly. In other words, the bedroom is lovely - and unlived-in looking.

I must admit that I also miss their help, especially the baby-sitting. I can't even scoot over to the grocery without Patrick, Joseph and Deirdre. Also, feeding and walking Captain (supposedly not my responsibility) has become my daily chore.

The house is too quiet - even with the little guys still around. When the girls are here there are at least 3 or 4 other girls around - running up and down the stairs, watching TV or listening to records (oh yes, or eating).

The boys are basking in the added attention. Yesterday Patrick helped make cupcakes (this is help?) and the day before we peeled apples and made pies - this, of course, after he picked up all the apples that he and Joseph had rolled down the steps of the back porch! The boys miss their sisters too. A good deal of their fun is watching what the girls do and following them around (at a safe distance). Somehow children in a large family find it difficult to adjust to less children and more quiet for any length of time.

If anyone misses the girls more than their family it's the boys next door. The four of them ranging in age from 6 to 14 are real girl-haters, you know. However, I've been watching them looking wistfully over into our backyard and yesterday one of them even had the courage to ask casually when the girls would be home.

I've decided this whole phenomonen is a case of its being difficult to live with them but impossible to live without them!

My love,
Patty

Simple Ceremony Unites Palatine Couple July 23

Only the immediate family and close friends witnessed the July 23 wedding of a Palatine couple, the former Leona Engelking, daughter of the Harvey Engelkings, 49 S. Brockway, and George Loeber, son of the Martin Loebers, 2114 S. Meacham rd. Following the afternoon ceremony, held in Immanuel Lutheran church of Palatine a dinner was given at the local supper club for 21 guests and later an open house was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Highlight of the post-wedding festivities was a surprise charivari given for the newlyweds by a card club to which the bride's parents belong. The serenade took place during the open house, with the club members parading past the home waving an assortment of noise makers.

THE COUPLE spent a week in Wisconsin for their honeymoon and are now at home at 205 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights. The bride, a graduate of Palatine high school, is employed as a secretary for the Crop Insurance Group in Palatine. Her bridegroom, also a Palatine high graduate, attended the University of Colorado and is associated with Loeber Motors, Inc., in Chicago.

For her wedding the bride chose a street length dress of off-white linen in a sheath style with short sleeves, peter pan collar and bib-type yoke on the bodice. Her hat was of white seed pearls, and she carried a white Bible pinned with a white orchid and stephanotis.

ELAINE Engelking, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and was dressed in a light blue linen sheath dress trimmed at the waist with a blue satin cummerbund. She carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations, stephanotis and ivy. Best man was Paul Loeberd, the bride's brother.

For the simple ceremony, at which Rev. Robert Sauer officiated, the bride's mother wore a light blue linen sheath dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a pale floral print sheath. Both had corsages of white feathered carnations and stephanotis.

'Candidates' Candid' Set by Demo Women

Soaring ahead like the temperature, but as cool as the proverbial cucumber, members of the 13th Congressional District Democratic Women's club plan their "Candidates' Candids" meeting. During a luncheon-meeting at the Evanston home of Mrs. Stanton Ehrlich, final arrangements were formulated for a September 14 conference to be held at the Lake Forest academy, to which all Democratic women are invited.

Hon. John Brademus of South Bend, candidate from the predominately Republican Third congressional district of Indiana, will speak on "What it Takes to be a Representative." Another guest slated to speak candidly will be Dr. Tyler Thompson, Evanston Democratic candidate for Congress. Judge Otto Kerner, Glenview Democratic nominee for governor, Mrs. Kerner, and Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, wife of Democratic incumbent Senator Paul Douglas, will be among guests of honor at a candidates' reception.

Mrs. Robert Holman is among the officers and chairmen planning the meeting.

A FORMER MUSIC teacher in the Mount Prospect public schools, Miss Elizabeth Burgoyne, daughter of Mrs. William R. Burgoyne of Winnetka, was married to Samir Badawi in Pullman, Wash., June 5. Both are attending Washington State university at Pullman during the summer session. The bride has been teaching for the past year in Pullman while working on her master degree and will continue teaching there in fall. Her bridegroom was born in Beirut, Lebanon, and received his engineering degree from the American university there. He holds a master degree from Colorado State university and will receive his doctor of philosophy degree from Washington State next June. The new Mrs. Badawi taught in Mt. Prospect for two years after graduating from the school of music at Northwestern university. (S

Arlington Heights Bride Makes Home in Elmhurst

Four vases of pink snapdragons and white carnations decorated the altar of Faith Lutheran church of Arlington Heights for the June 18 wedding of Kay Ann Standfest, daughter of the Frank Standfests, 820 N. Highland ave., Arlington Heights, and David Hadley Knight of Milwaukee. The couple met while attending Elmhurst college, where the bridegroom was graduated in June and his bride will graduate next January. The bridegroom is the son of Captain and Mrs. Roy H. Knight.

The evening ceremony was performed by candlelight by Rev. Edgar Behrens and was followed by a reception in the parish hall, at which 125 guests were served a buffet supper. After a week's honeymoon in Michigan the couple is at home at 285 Highland, Elmhurst, as Mr. Knight is employed at the Elmhurst YMCA.

THE BRIDE came down the aisle on the arm of her ther and wore a white silk organza full length gown with chapel train. The dress had a scalloped neckline, short sleeves and daffodil appliqued bodice. Her headpiece matched the bodice in a daffodil motif and held a 3-tiered waist length veil in place. The bride's bouquet was of white orchids and stephanotis.

Three attendants preceded her down the church aisle for the double ring rites. All were gowned alike in street length dresses of aqua silk shantung with scalloped neckline and lace bodice. All wore white gloves and carried bouquets of pink carnations with greens. Matron of honor was Mrs. Barbara Moss of Denver, Colo., and bridesmaids were Mrs. Dorrie Larsen of River Grove and Miss Lenore Strand of Chicago.

SERVING as best man was William Hahn of Chicago: ushers were Peter Proulx of Milwaukee and Richard Tabatt of Bellwood.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Theodore Lams, organist, and soloist was David Austin, director of the Men's Glee club of Elmhurst college.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Standfest wore a beige silk organza dress with rose pink appliques, beige accessories, a pink hat and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of white lace over avacado green, white accessories and white orchid corsage.

Golden Wedding Date for Zycs

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary recently were Mr. and Mrs. Kasper Zyc of Palatine. The couple was married in Chicago August 10, 1910, and has lived for the past 36 years in Palatine.

A dinner was given for the couple August 6 by their five children and families at the Pantry in Park Ridge. Included in the celebration were their six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The following day, Sunday, the Zycs held an open house at their home, 143 W. Robertson, for friends and neighbors. They were thrilled by the many cards and good wishes extended to them on the occasion.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

She Misses Children

Dear Peg:

I'll probably never remember after they've been home for a couple of weeks how much I missed them while they were enjoying their annual two week vacation in Indianapolis. Megan and Bridget went back with Aunt Dot, who was here for a long weekend. The funny thing is that it's the irritating little things they do that I miss the most: telling them to pick up their clothes and mak their beds, to stop arguing about who's going to wash and who's going to dry the dishes, to stay around when I want them to feed the baby or take her for a ride in her stroller, instead of quietly trying to slip out of the house and to stay out of the refrigerato right before dinner. Their room is neat an clean (even to the fresh, crispy white curtains, canopies and dust ruffles). Bridget's paper dolls and collection of rocks from the beach are out of sight and Megan's china collection, bulletin board and books have been straightened and arranged neatly. In other words, the bedroom is lovely - and unlived-in looking.

I must admit that I also miss their help, especially the baby-sitting. I can't even scoot over to the grocery without Patrick, Joseph and Deirdre. Also, feeding and walking Captain (supposedly not my responsibility) has become my daily chore. The house is too quiet - even with the little guys still around. When the girls are here there are at least 3 or 4 other girls around - running up and down the stairs, watching TV or listening to records (oh yes, or eating).

The boys are basking in the added attention. Yesterday Patrick helped make cupcakes (this is help?) and the day before we peeled apples and made pies - this, of course, fter he picked up all the apples that he and oseph had rolled down the steps of the back orch! The boys miss their sisters too. A ood deal of their fun is watching what the irls do and following them around (at a afe distance). Somehow children in a large amily find it difficult to adjust to less children and more quiet for any length of time.

If anyone misses the girls more than their family it's the boys next door. The four of them ranging in age from 6 to 14 are real girl-haters, you know. However, I've been watching them looking wistfully over into our backyard and yesterday one of them even had the courage to ask casually when the girls would be home.

I've decided this whole phenomonen is a case of its being difficult to live with them but impossible to live without them!

My love,
Patty

Simple Ceremony Unites Palatine Couple July 23

Only the immediate family and close friends witnessed the July 23 wedding of a Palatine couple, the former Leona Engelking, daughter of the Harvey Engelkings, 49 S. Brockway, and George Loeber, son of the Martin Loebers, 2114 S. Meacham rd. Following the afternoon ceremony, held in Immanuel Lutheran church of Palatine a dinner was given at the local supper club for 21 guests and later an open house was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Highlight of the post-wedding festivities was a surprise charivari given for the newlyweds by a card club to which the bride's parents belong. The serenade took place during the open house, with the club members parading past the home waving an assortment of noise makers.

THE COUPLE spent a week in Wisconsin for their honeymoon and are now at home at 205 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights. The bride, a graduate of Palatine high school, is employed as a secretary for the Crop Insurance Group in Palatine. Her bridegroom, also a Palatine high graduate, attended the University of Colorado and is associated with Loeber Motors, Inc., in Chicago.

For her wedding the bride chose a street length dress of off-white linen in a sheath style with short sleeves, peter pan collar and bib-type yoke on the bodice. Her hat was of white seed pearls, and she carried a white Bible pinned with a white orchid and stephanotis.

ELAINE Engelking, sister of the bride, was her only attendant and was dressed in a light blue linen sheath dress trimmed at the waist with a blue satin cummerbund. She carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations, stephanotis and ivy. Best man was Paul Loeberd, the bride's brother.

For the simple ceremony, at which Rev. Robert Sauer officiated, the bride's mother wore a light blue linen sheath dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a pale floral print sheath. Both had corsages of white feathered carnations and stephanotis.

'Candidates' Candid' Set by Demo Women

Soaring ahead like the temperature, but as cool as the proverbial cucumber, members of the 13th Congressional District Democratic Women's club plan their "Candidates' Candids" meeting. During a luncheon-meeting at the Evanston home of Mrs. Stanton Ehrlich, final arrangements were formulated for a September 14 conference to be held at the Lake Forest academy, to which all Democratic women are invited.

Hon. John Brademus of South Bend, candidate from the predominately Republican Third congressional district of Indiana, will speak on "What it Takes to be a Representative." Another guest slated to speak candidly will be Dr. Tyler Thompson, Evanston Democratic candidate for Congress. Judge Otto Kerner, Glenview Democratic nominee for governor, Mrs. Kerner, and Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, wife of Democratic incumbent Senator Paul Douglas, will be among guests of honor at a candidates' reception.

Mrs. Robert Holman is among the officers and chairmen planning the meeting.

A FORMER MUSIC teacher in the Mount Prospect public schools, Miss Elizabeth Burgoyne, daughter of Mrs. William R. Burgoyne of Winnetka, was married to Samir Badawi in Pullman, Wash., June 5. Both are attending Washington State university at Pullman during the summer session. The bride has been teaching for the past year in Pullman while working on her master degree and will continue teaching there in fall. Her bridegroom was born in Beirut, Lebanon, and received his engineering degree from the American university there. He holds a master degree from Colorado State university and will receive his doctor of philosophy degree from Washington State next June. The new Mrs. Badawi taught in Mt. Prospect for two years after graduating from the school of music at Northwestern university. (S

Arlington Heights Bride Makes Home in Elmhurst

Four vases of pink snapdragons and white carnations decorated the altar of Faith Lutheran church of Arlington Heights for the June 18 wedding of Kay Ann Standfest, daughter of the Frank Standfests, 820 N. Highland ave., Arlington Heights, and David Hadley Knight of Milwaukee. The couple met while attending Elmhurst college, where the bridegroom was graduated in June and his bride will graduate next January. The bridegroom is the son of Captain and Mrs. Roy H. Knight.

The evening ceremony was performed by candlelight by Rev. Edgar Behrens and was followed by a reception in the parish hall, at which 125 guests were served a buffet supper. After a week's honeymoon in Michigan the couple is at home at 285 Highland, Elmhurst, as Mr. Knight is employed at the Elmhurst YMCA.

THE BRIDE came down the aisle on the arm of her ther and wore a white silk organza full length gown with chapel train: The dress had a scalloped neckline, short sleeves and daffodil appliqued bodice. Her headpiece matched the bodice in a daffodil motif and held a 3-tiered waist length veil in place. The bride's bouquet was of white orchids and stephanotis.

Three attendants preceded her down the church aisle for the double ring rites. All were gowned alike in street length dresses of aqua silk shantung with scalloped neckline and lace bodice. All wore white gloves and carried bouquets of pink carnations with greens. Matron of honor was Mrs. Barbara Moss of Denver, Colo., and bridesmaids were Mrs. Dorrie Larsen of River Grove and Miss Lenore Strand of Chicago.

SERVING as best man was William Hahn of Chicago: ushers were Peter Proulx of Milwaukee and Richard Tabatt of Bellwood.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Theodore Lams, organist, and soloist was David Austin, director of the Men's Glee club of Elmhurst college.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Standfest wore a beige silk organza dress with rose pink appliques, beige accessories, a pink hat and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of white lace over avacado green, white accessories and white orchid corsage.

Golden Wedding Date for Zycs

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary recently were Mr. and Mrs. Kasper Zyc of Palatine. The couple was married in Chicago August 10, 1910, and has lived for the past 36 years in Palatine.

A dinner was given for the couple August 6 by their five children and families at the Pantry in Park Ridge. Included in the celebration were their six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The following day, Sunday, the Zycs held an open house at their home, 143 W. Robertson, for friends and neighbors. They were thrilled by the many cards and good wishes extended to them on the occasion.

POOLSIDE PLANNING session by members of Arlington Heights center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago recently served to complete final plans for the group's first benefit, a Sunday brunch to be held August 28 at the Anvil club, a private key club in Dundee. Mrs. Stanley Billick Mrs. Clayton Lyons, Mrs. John Otzen and Mrs. Thomas Egan were among the center's members who enjoyed the pool at the home of the group's president Mrs. William Ball. (S

I NEED 2 MEN
FOR DU PAGE COUNTY

The men I am looking for may now be employed in an office, they may be semiskilled workers, or they may be in the advertising sales. They are dissatisfied with their present position & would like a job with a future. They enjoy meeting people. They are aggressive & hard working men, but they would like to join a company where their income is in direct proportion to their ability & willingness to apply themselves. If you are one of these men, we offer you a permanent position in the sales promotional field. Minimum guarantee of $500 per month & promises a 5 figure income in 1st year. Car necessary. No canvassing, call backs, or collections. Call

Lessons In English

OFTEN MISUSED

Do not confuse carton (a pasteboard box) with cartoon (a pictorial caricature).

Distinguish between vocation and avocation. That which calls us away from our regular employment (vocation) is called an avocation. Thus, a man whose vocation is medicine may have golf for his avocation.

Do not say, "Several notary publics have their offices in this building." Say, "Several notaries public."

Do not say, "All of us do not think we shall succeed." It is better to say, "Not all of us think we shall succeed."

Do not say, "Six miles are too far to run." Say, "Six miles is too far to run."

In Appreciation

CARD OF THANKS

Our recent bereavement leaves us with grateful hearts toward relatives and friends and especially Pastor Allen H. Fedder and Walter C. Oehler and his staff. Your helpfulness and comforting expressions of sympathy will always be remembered.

OFTEN MISUSED

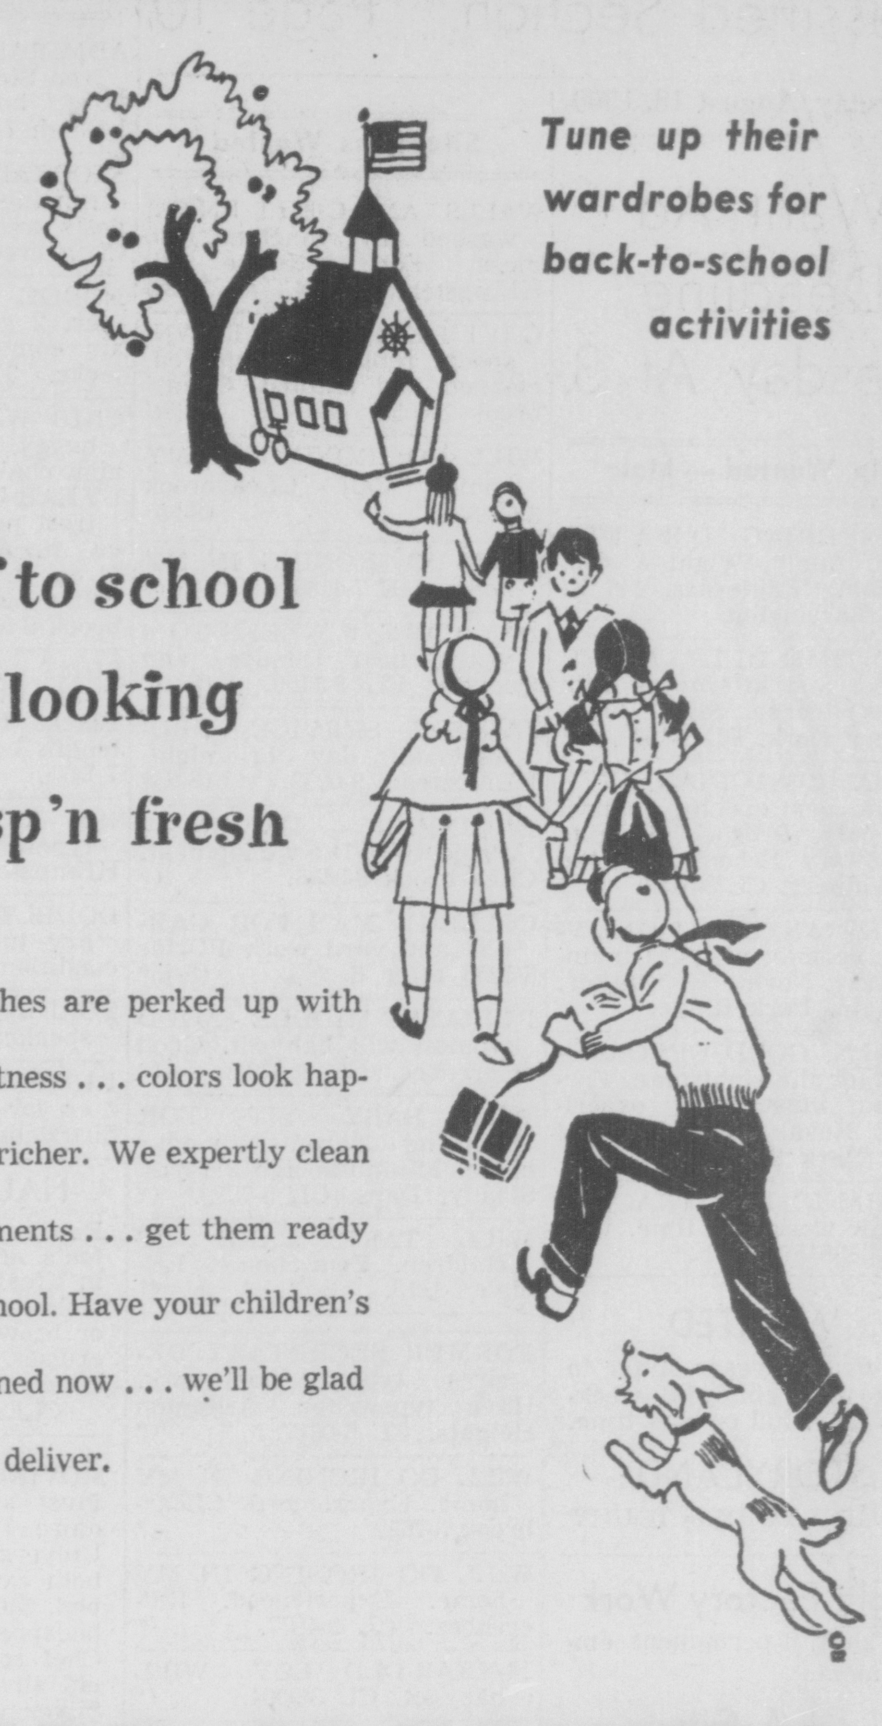
Do not confuse carton (a pasteboard box) with cartoon (a pictorial caricature).

Distinguish between vocation and avocation. That which calls us away from our regular employment (vocation) is called an avocation. Thus, a man whose vocation is medicine may have golf for his avocation.

Do not say, "Several notary publics have their offices in this building." Say, "Several notaries public."

Do not say, "All of us do not think we shall succeed." It is better to say, "Not all of us think we shall succeed."

Do not say, "Six miles are too far to run." Say, "Six miles is too far to run."



Tune up their wardrobes for back-to-school activities

Off to school looking crisp'n fresh

Children's clothes are perked up with new fall brightness . . . colors look happier, textures richer. We expertly clean and press garments . . . get them ready for back to school. Have your children's wearables cleaned now . . . we'll be glad to pick up and deliver.
